Upon March 3 the Mayor approved a contract with Taylor, Symonds Company for furnishing approximately 60,000 yards of toweling (crash) to the Park Department. These bids were taken on a readvertisement of this material, as bids were originally opened on February 12 and thrown out because bidders were restricted to furnishing material made in Massachusetts. The total low bid received on the readvertisement is lower by $102 than the amount of the low bid received on the original advertisement. In other words, opening the bids to out-of-state competitors induced the Massachusetts mill to submit a lower price. Bids, opened February 23, were as follows:

Approximately 60,000 Yards Toweling (Crash).—Sparrow-Chisholm Company, 4.5 cents per yard, original bid; total, $2,700; 4.36 cents per yard, superseding bid; total, $2,616; both bids deposited in time for opening; Jennings Linen Company, Incorporated, 4.75 cents per yard, No. T. CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 4.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
BOSTON, March 2, 1934.

To the Heads of Departments.

The heads of the various city departments are requested to instruct all employees to pay their poll and personal taxes immediately and to require the exhibition of a receipt showing that they have been paid.

Yours truly,

FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

LAND-TAKING IN WEST ROXBURY.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for a public improvement, consisting of the laying out and construction of Welles terrace, West Roxbury district, as a highway, from Wellesmere road northeasterly, with the name of Wellesmere terrace or some other distinctive name, bounded and described as follows:

A highway named Wellesmere terrace is hereby laid out, from Wellesmere road northeasterly for a distance of approximately two hundred and twenty-one feet, and ordered constructed; the cost thereof to be charged to Federal Funds allocated under the Civil Works Administration program for Massachusetts.

Said highway and the land, exclusive of trees or structures standing upon or affixed thereto, in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Southwesterly by Wellesmere road, forty feet; northwesterly by the northwesterly line of said Wellesmere terrace as hereby laid out, two hundred twenty and 42–100 feet; northeasterly by the northeasterly line of said Wellesmere terrace as hereby laid out, forty and 4–100 feet; and southeasterly by the southeasterly line of said Wellesmere terrace as hereby laid out, two hundred twenty-two and 29–100 feet.

No betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Voted, That this Board determines that no person sustains damage in his estate by the making of the public improvement, consisting of the laying out and construction of Wellesmere terrace (formerly Welles terrace), West Roxbury district, as a highway, from Wellesmere road northeasterly for a distance of approximately two hundred and twenty-one feet, under the order of the Board of March 1, 1934, and awards no damages therefor.

MAYOR APPEALS FOR AID FOR C. W. A. WORKERS.

Upon March 3 the Mayor forwarded the following messages to Washington:

BOSTON, March 3, 1934.

HARRY L. HOPKINS, Federal Administrator, Washington, D. C.

City of Boston requires $300,000 for materials to carry on worth-while projects to completion. One million dollars allotted by you to Massachusetts for materials are available. Massachusetts C. W. A. officials ruled today no part of this fund is to be granted to Boston. In all fairness Boston should receive and I expect proportionate share of this allotment.

FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD,
Mayor of Boston.

BOSTON, March 3, 1934.

HARRY L. HOPKINS, Federal Administrator, Washington, D. C.

The original ratio of Boston C. W. A. workers to number allotted to Massachusetts was one sixth. Due to recent reductions Boston ratio now but one tenth, because these reductions were based on actual number workers as of February 8 pay rolls. Severe weather conditions prevented approximately 20 per cent of workers appearing on pay rolls that period. In fairness the original ratio of one sixth should be maintained in all ordered reductions for the City of Boston. The net result of change in ratio in ordering reductions is a loss to the City of Boston of approximately twenty-three hundred C. W. A. workers. Your assistance is respectfully requested to an adjustment which will allow Boston to continue C. W. A. workers in a reduced number but consistent with the original ratio of one sixth of the total for the state.

FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD,
Mayor of Boston.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 434.

A trial board consisting of Captains Campbell, McGrath and Daley, having heard by reference a complaint made by Harry N. Dickinson, captain, Division 11, against Edmund P. Reid, patrolman, Division 11, for alleged violation of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

Charge 1: Neglect of duty.

Specification: In that on the twentieth day of February, 1934, the said Patrolman Edmund P. Reid, while on duty and assigned to Route 16 and one half of Route 15, did fail to signal his station for orders from 6.10 p. m. to 8.10 p. m., a period of two hours although he knew that he was required to so signal the station every forty minutes.

Charge 2: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification: In that on the twentieth day of February, 1934, the said Patrolman Edmund P. Reid, while on duty and in uniform, was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent that he was unable to properly perform police duty,— has submitted the following finding and recommendation:

"The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented, accepts the plea of guilty by the said Patrolman Edmund P. Reid. In view of the recommendation of Patrolman Reid's commanding officer that the extreme penalty of dismissal from the Police Department be not imposed; the fact that Patrolman Reid has been in the service for eight years and never before had been warned for breaches of discipline, and the promise of the officer to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquor in the future, the Board respectfully recommends that the said Patrolman Edmund P. Reid be suspended from duty for a period of thirty days, effective as of February 22, 1934, at 5.45 o'clock p. m., and that at the expiration of the said period of suspension the said Patrolman Edmund P. Reid be ordered to perform 210 hours of punishment duty."

The Acting Police Commissioner accepts the finding and the recommendation of the Trial Board and hereby orders that the said Patrolman Edmund P. Reid be suspended from duty for a period of thirty days, effective as of February 22, 1934, at 5.45 o'clock p. m., and that at the expiration of the said period of suspension the said Patrolman Edmund P. Reid perform 210 hours of punishment duty.

The Acting Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

MARTIN H. KING,
Acting Police Commissioner.

General Order No. 435.

A trial board consisting of Captains Campbell, Gleavy and Casey, having heard by reference a complaint made by Thomas S. J. Kavanagh, captain, Division 9, against John F. Finnerty, patrolman, Division 9, for alleged violation of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

Charge: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification: In that on the seventeenth day of February, 1934, Patrolman John F. Finnerty of Division 9, while on duty and in uniform, was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent that he was unfit to properly perform his duties as a police officer. This act being contrary to good order and police discipline and tending to bring into disrepute and criticism his brother officers and the Police Department as a whole,—

has submitted the following finding and recommendation:

"The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented, accepts the plea of guilty by the said Patrolman John F. Finnerty. In view of the recommendation of Patrolman Finnerty's commanding officer that Finnerty be retained in the Police Department, Finnerty's promise to the Board to take a pledge with his spiritual adviser to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquor in the future, and his assurance to the Board that he will not again allow private troubles to interfere with the performance of his duties as a police officer, the Board respectfully recommends that the said Patrolman John F. Finnerty be suspended from duty for a period of thirty days, effective as of February 19, 1934, at 7.45 o'clock a. m., and that at the expiration of the said period of suspension he be ordered to perform 210 hours of punishment duty."

The Acting Police Commissioner accepts the finding and the recommendation of the Trial Board and hereby orders that the said Patrolman John F. Finnerty be suspended from duty for a period of thirty days, effective as of February 19, 1934, at 7.45 o'clock a. m., and that at the expiration of the said period of suspension the said Patrolman John F. Finnerty perform 210 hours of punishment duty.

Civil Service Rule 23, Section 3, requires approval of the Civil Service Commission before reinstatement.

Rule 23.

Section 3. With the consent of the Commissioner, upon good cause shown, an appointing officer may reinstate in the same position or in a position in the same class and grade any person who has been separated from the service; provided, however, that the Commissioner shall not allow reinstatement of a person discharged for cause.

MARTIN H. KING,

General Order No. 436.

A trial board consisting of Captains Campbell, Gleavy and Casey, having heard by reference a complaint made by Thomas S. J. Kavanagh, captain, Division 9, against Patrick M. Yarnell, patrolman, Division 9, for alleged violation of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

Charge: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification: In that on the seventeenth day of February, 1934, Patrolman Patrick M. Yarnell of Division 9, while on duty and in uniform, was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent that he was unfit to properly perform his police duties. This act being contrary to good order and police discipline and tending to bring into disrepute and criticism his brother officers and the Police Department as a whole,—

has submitted the following finding and recommendation:

"The Board, having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented, accepts the plea of guilty by the said Patrolman Patrick M. Yarnell. In view of the recommendation of Patrolman Yarnell's commanding officer and the recommendation of the lieutenant commanding the platoon to which Patrolman Yarnell has been assigned for the past year, that Yarnell be allowed to remain in the department, inasmuch as they are confident that he is capable of proving himself a good police officer; having in mind also that this is the second offence of a similar nature within a period of slightly more than three years for which Patrolman Yarnell has been before a trial board, and that the present complaint justifies the imposition of the extreme penalty of dismissal from the department; the Board, out of deference to the recommendations as made by Patrolman Yarnell's superior officers, the fact that no complaints were received from citizens concerning the condition of Yarnell on the street, and the serious private troubles alleged to be directly responsible for the present lapse of discipline on the part of Patrolman Yarnell, respectfully recommends that the said Patrolman Patrick M. Yarnell be suspended from duty for a period of sixty days, effective as of February 19, 1934, at 7.45 o'clock a. m., and that at the expiration of the said period of suspension the said Patrolman Patrick M. Yarnell be ordered to perform 210 hours of punishment duty."

The Acting Police Commissioner accepts the finding and the recommendation of the Trial Board and hereby orders that the said Patrolman Patrick M. Yarnell be suspended from duty for a period of sixty days, effective as of February 19, 1934, at 7.45 o'clock a. m., and that at the expiration of the said period of suspension the said Patrolman Patrick M. Yarnell perform 210 hours of punishment duty.

Rule 23.

Section 3. With the consent of the Commissioner, upon good cause shown, an appointing officer may reinstate in the same position or in a position in the same class and grade any person who has been separated from the service; provided, however, that the Commissioner shall not allow reinstatement of a person discharged for cause.

A trial board consisting of Captains Campbell, McGrath and Daley having heard by reference a complaint made by Thomas F. Casey, captain, Division 10, against James F. Connors, patrolman, Division 10, for alleged violation of Rules 27 and 41 of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

Specification: In that on the nineteenth day of February, 1934, Patrolman James F. Connors, while on duty in plain clothes, with Patrolman Francis J. Murphy, assigned to patrol Washington street, from Guild row to Camden street, from 10.30 p. m., February 18, 1934, to 4.30 a. m., February 19, 1934, did absent himself from said detail at or about 12.30 a. m., without permission or knowledge of the officer in charge of the station.

Charge 2: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification: In that on the nineteenth day of February, 1934, Patrolman James F. Connors, while detailed to plain clothes duty, from Guild row to Camden street, on Washington street, was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent that he was unable to properly perform police duty if called upon to do so, and that, by so doing, he was guilty of an act contrary to good order and discipline of the department and tended to bring into disrepute and criticism his associates on the force and the department as a whole,—

has submitted the following finding and recommendation:

"The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented accepts the plea of guilty by the said Patrolman James F. Connors. In view of the recommendation of Patrolman Connors' commanding officer, the solemn promise of Patrolman Connors that he would never again be brought before a trial board on a similar offence, and his promise to take a pledge with his spiritual adviser to refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors in the future, the Board respectfully recommends that the said Patrolman James F. Connors be suspended from duty for a period of thirty days, effective as of February 19, 1934, at 7.45 o'clock a. m., and that at the expiration of the said period of suspension the said Patrolman James F. General Order No. 432

The following communication from the Chief of Police of the town of Needham, Mass., is published for the information of the Department:

POLICE DEPARTMENT,
TOWN OF NEEDHAM, MASS.,
SCHOOL STREET, March 1, 1934.

MARTIN H. KING, Superintendent of Police.

DEAR SUPERINTENDENT,—I want to extend my heartfelt thanks to you personally and to all of the officers who so willingly helped to solve our recent bank robbery, which resulted in the murder of two of my officers.

Also I wish to thank Inspector George Augusta, who gave me the letter addressed to Buddy Messenger, Mermaid avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. In my opinion that letter was the means of locating Murton and Irving Millen and also the two Messenger men, who at this time are being held as material witnesses.

Thanking you all again for your cooperation which I have had from your department at all times, I am,

Very truly yours,

ARTHUR P. BLISS,
Chief of Police.

The Acting Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

MARTIN H. KING,
Acting Police Commissioner.

General Order No. 433.

A trial board consisting of Captains Campbell, Casey and Daley, having heard by reference a complaint made by Harry T. Grace, captain, Division 15, against Henry F. King, patrolman, Division 15, for alleged violation of Rule 41 of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

Charge 1: Conduct Unbecoming an Officer.

Specification 1: In that on the 15th day of January, 1934, the said Patrolman Henry F. King, while on duty and in uniform, brought to Station 15 one Helen Everett, alleging her to be drunk, and did request his superior officer to book the said Helen Everett on the charge of drunkenness, whereas in fact the said superior officer was of the opinion that the said Helen Everett was in fact not drunk, and, further, in view of the fact that the said Patrolman Henry F. King having stated that when the said woman was first seen she was drunk, the said superior officer did book the said Helen Everett for drunkenness.

Specification 2: In that on the 15th day of January, 1934, the said Patrolman Henry F. King, while on duty and in uniform, is alleged to have assaulted and abused one Helen Everett whom he had placed under arrest for drunkenness.

Charge 2: Insubordination.

Specification: In that on the 15th day of January, 1934, the said Patrolman Henry F. King was disrespectful and discourteous in speech and behavior to his superior officer, namely, Lieut. John F. Lyons, all tending to bring into disrepute and criticism his associates on the police force, and the department as a whole,— submitted the following finding and recommendation:

"The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented, finds the said Patrolman Henry F. King guilty on all charges and specifications thereunder. The fact that no evidence was offered to show that the officer was justified in making the arrest and preferring such a charge as drunkenness, and according to the testimony submitted he had assaulted and abused the said Helen Everett while making the arrest, and also that he was disrespectful and discourteous to his superior officer, namely, Lieut. John F. Lyons, an officer of rank in the Boston Police Department for the past seventeen years whose integrity is unquestioned, and who is well qualified to pass upon the condition of prisoners brought before him as to their condition of sobriety, and who in his testimony emphatically stated that this prisoner had no symptoms of intoxication, and so testified before the Charlestown Court and also the Trial Board, and also taking into consideration the recommendation of his commanding officer, Harry T. Grace, that he be dismissed from the department in view of the fact that he had warned him before and that if the Board saw fit to retain Patrolman King in the department that he be transferred to another division; in view of the above facts, therefore, the Board respectfully recommends that the said Patrolman Henry F. King be dismissed from the Police Department."

The Commissioner accepted the finding and the recommendation of the Trial Board and ordered that the said Patrolman Henry F. King be dismissed from the Police Department. Due written notice of such dismissal with the reasons therefor was duly and specifically given in hand on February 13, 1934, to the said Henry F. King.

On the fifteenth day of February, 1934, the said Henry F. King requested, in writing, a public hearing as provided by law, and the Police Commissioner set down Tuesday, February 27, 1934, at 9.30 o'clock a. m. at the office of the Police Commissioner as the time and place of said hearing, and duly notified the said Henry F. King.

On February 27, 1934, at 9.30 o'clock a. m., a public hearing was called at the office of the Police Commissioner, at which the said Henry F. King failed to appear, and wherein the Acting-Police Commissioner found the foregoing charges and specifications sustained.

Therefore, it is hereby ordered that the said Henry F. King shall stand dismissed from the Police Department.

The Acting Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

MARTIN H. KING,
Acting Police Commissioner.

LOAN AND GRANT AGREEMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 26, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—As I advised your honorable body on February 19, 1934, when I submitted for your examination and consideration a specimen copy of one of the proposed loan and grant agreements between the United States of America and the City of Boston, I have been informed by the Federal Emergency Administrator of Public Works that the five agreements relating to the five projects heretofore approved must be properly executed and delivered to the Administrator at Washington not later than March 5, 1934, if the city is to proceed with these projects. These loan and grant agreements relate to the following five Public Works projects:

1. Reconstruction of streets at an estimated cost of $1,000,000.
2. Construction of one new high school and one new intermediate school at an estimated cost of $2,000,000.
3. Replacement of Brookline avenue water main at an estimated cost of $350,000.
4. Construction of new surgical building at City Hospital at an estimated cost of $1,500,000.
5. Construction and reconstruction of sewers at an estimated cost of $1,000,000.

Your honorable body gave a first reading to the five loan orders authorizing borrowing by the city for these five projects on February 12, 1934; and I am informed that you contemplate taking further action on these five loan orders at today's meeting. It is necessary that these five loan orders be given their second and final readings by your honorable body and approved by me, before any action can be taken with respect to the loan and grant agreements.

I am submitting five orders approving and authorizing, in accordance with the instructions of the Administrator, the execution and delivery to the United States of America of these five loan and grant agreements, each of which orders sets out and contains a complete and accurate copy of the particular agreement. I recommend prompt consideration and passage by your honorable body of these orders, after the five loan orders relating to the five projects have been given their second and final readings and passage and after they have been approved by me. Prompt action is necessary because of the limited time available for the execution and delivery of these agreements.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Mayor be, and he hereby is, authorized to execute and deliver to the United States of America for and in behalf of the City of Boston three counterparts of the agreement hereinafter set forth; and that said agreement be, and the same hereby is, approved:

(Annexed were orders approving loan agreements for the five projects set forth in the message, said agreements being substantially in the form of the agreement printed in the City Council Minutes, pages 42–48.)

Referred to Executive Committee.

APPROVAL OF NEW SURGICAL BUILDING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 26, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—By direction of the Executive Committee of your honorable body a letter dated February 15 was addressed to me to ascertain whether or not I had made any decision in regard to retaining in the list of P. W. A. projects a new surgical building for the Boston City Hospital. In reply I beg to state that I shall approve a loan order for the carrying out of this project if such an order is passed by the Council.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

WITHDRAWAL OF NEW CITY HALL ORDER.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 26, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I wish to withdraw the loan order which I sent to you on February 12, 1934, for a new City Hall, or if it may not be withdrawn, to ask you to reject it.

I am fully satisfied that a new City Hall is as necessary as any public work which Boston could contemplate at this time, and in addition to that, that it would more than pay for its maintenance in economies effected by the saving of rentals now paid for private buildings in which city departments are housed.

Information from officials in Washington, however, indicates that the $1,500,000 which has been allotted to the City of Boston for the erection of a surgical building cannot be applied to any other public works project. In other words a new City Hall cannot be substituted for the surgical building and the only way in which a new City Hall can be provided for among the P. W. A. projects will be to add it to those already contemplated. This would entail such a serious addition to the funded debt of the city that I cannot approve of a program which would include both projects at the present time.

It is therefore necessary to choose between the surgical building and the City Hall. If the City Hall project be chosen as the one with which we are to proceed we will not obtain the $1,500,000 which has now been allotted to us for the hospital project and I am advised by officials at Washington that the likelihood of an allotment for the new City Hall is slight, because of limited funds, until there is a further appropriation by the Congress of funds for public works.

Whether or not such an appropriation will be made and whether, if made, we will receive adequate funds for the construction of a new City Hall is not certain. In view of the pressing importance at this time of increasing opportunites for employment and in view of the fact that I am advised by the Board of Trustees of the City Hospital that a new surgical building is a pressing necessity I recommend that your honorable body pass the loan orders now before you with the exception of the loan order authorizing borrowing for a new City Hall.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

INFORMATION IN RE CITY HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 26, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen, I attach hereto a copy of a report from the trustees of the City Hospital containing certain information which your honorable body requested me to obtain in its order adopted on February 19, 1934.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the trustees of the Boston City Hospital be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to furnish the City Council with the following information for its assistance in passing upon the pending loan order for a new surgical building:

1. The daily average number of bed patients accommodated during the year 1933.
   Answer. Main Hospital, 1,272.6; Haymarket Square Relief Station, 8.1.
2. The number of additional beds which will be made available if the proposed building is constructed.
   Answer. 288.
3. The number of nonresidents of Boston furnished with beds during the year 1933, and the approximate daily average.
   Answer. 1,363 patients; 4, approximate daily average.
4. The number of bed patients who paid, in whole or part, during the year 1933, and the total amount in dollars collected from bed patients; and the percentage of bed patients.
   Answer. Main Hospital, 3,312 pay patients, or 8.3 per cent; $150,687.43; Haymarket Square Relief Station, 133 pay patients, or 7.1 per cent; $1,259.15.
5. What steps are taken to determine whether persons admitted have a residence in Boston?
   Answer. Upon application for admission a history is taken of all patients, which includes the residence of the patient. Also daily, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., except Saturday afternoons, Sundays and holidays, a clerk from the Settlement Office (part of the Department of Public Welfare of Boston) interviews all ambulatory cases and takes this information to determine their settlement before admission. After admission, for those not previously obtained, this information is requested from the patients on the wards.
6. What steps are taken to determine whether persons admitted can afford to pay, in whole or in part?
   Answer. Clerks of the Settlement Office when taking settlement, either before admission or after while on ward, question the patients as to their ability to pay. Also if a patient has evidence of wealth such as cash, bank accounts, or other evidences on his person upon admission, this information is received from the Valuables Office. This information is recorded on patient's account cards for follow-up.

   On automobile accidents the patient while in the hospital is asked the name of his lawyer. Later, in most of these cases, the patient requests a copy of his hospital record or gives permission to the insurance company to obtain same and at that time on his request blank we ask the name of the patient's lawyer; this is recorded on patient's account card.

   On prenatal cases the patients are interviewed by our Social Service Department, who go into the patient's home conditions, etc., very carefully, and if patients are able to pay in whole or in part that information is put on patient's account card.
7. How many beds in the City Hospital are occupied by continued-treatment patients who might more properly be accommodated at Long Island or at some other institution?
   Answer. The total of patients on February 1, 1934, in the hospital over a month was 187. Of them, 158 were Boston settled and 29 non-Boston settled. Many of these are held here because there are not accommodations at Long Island or elsewhere.
8. What is the approximate per diem expense, exclusive of interest on investment in plant, of maintaining a bed patient in the City Hospital?
   Answer. For year 1932, Main Hospital, $4.77; Haymarket Square Relief Station, $4.75.
9. What has been the capital outlay on the City Hospital plant in the last ten years, and how many beds have been added to its accommodations during that period?
   Answer. Expenditures on new buildings and furnishings and land, exclusive of Sanatorium, past ten years, approximate $7,643,702.05. Main Hospital added 655 beds; Haymarket Square Relief Station added 2 beds.

10. Having in view the interest and amortization charge on a new surgical building and the operating expenses of such building, could not the city at less expense arrange with existing hospitals for the accommodation of persons eligible for admittance to the Boston City Hospital who cannot be accommodated there by reason of lack of space?

Answer. Not having an accurate knowledge of the number of patients that it would be necessary to transfer, and not having a knowledge of the contractual charges that might be made by other hospitals, we believe it would be impossible to answer Question 10 with any satisfaction in the time allowed.

PROPOSED REDUCTION OF ASSESSED VALUES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 19, 1934.

To the Honorable the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith a letter from the Assessing Department, in reply to your order of January 29, 1934, concerning the proposed reduction of the assessed value of real estate in Boston.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Assessing Department, February 19, 1934.

Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—Pursuant to the order of the City Council, under date of January 29, 1934, regarding the advisability of directing the assessors to immediately make plans for the reduction of the assessed values, I beg to advise you that the Board of Assessors are considering applications for abatements for the year 1933, the last day for filing these petitions being December 31, 1933.

The result of the decisions by the Board of Assessors on these abatements, for the year 1933, will undoubtedly affect the valuations for 1934. If reductions are made for 1933, the same consideration may be observed for the year 1934, providing conditions remain the same.

Regarding the amount, namely, 200 million dollars, as a figure set for this reduction, it is absolutely impossible in any way to determine what the amount of these reductions will be. The Board of Assessors will place a fair valuation upon real estate for the year 1934. What that figure will be and the amount of the reduction over the valuation of 1933, it is impossible at this time to determine.

Respectfully,
EDWARD T. KELLY, Chairman.

3.

Number of recipients taken from dependent aid rolls to be employed in the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Answer.

Of the total enrollment of boys in the Civilian Conservation Corps 852 families received allotments averaging $25 a month. The average amount of aid being allowed these families amounted to $12 a week. Reduction in aid to the families approximated the monthly allotments from the boys. Aid was discontinued in sixty-two (62) families since the allotments in these families approximated or exceeded the amount of aid being granted.

Number of recipients taken from dependent aid rolls to be employed on civil works projects.

Answer.

Skilled workers	2,387
Unskilled workers	3,734
Total	6,121

5.

The schedule of rent allowances to recipients and the manner in which the payment of such allowances for rent is checked.

Answer.

Schedule of Rent Allowance.

1 person	$2.00 per week.
2 persons	2.50 per week.
3 persons	2.75 per week.
4 persons	3.00 per week.
5 persons	3.25 per week.
6 persons	3.50 per week.
7 persons	3.75 per week.
8 persons and over	4.00 per week.

The department issues rent receipt cards to the recipients. These cards are presented to the paymasters each week showing the signature of the landlord or owner for the amount of rent paid which must be in keeping with the amount allowed for rent by the department. All complaints arising in connection with rentals are handled by an assistant supervisor who is assigned this particular work.

The methods by which the department attempts to determine private employment of recipients or refusal of recipients to accept such employment.

Answer.

At the time of application the last employer of the applicant is contacted to verify applicant's statement as to reason for loss of position. All able-bodied unemployed men are required to work for the aid rendered, the number of days assigned being based on the amount of relief allowed. Refusal of work when available constitutes ground for refusal of aid and subsequent action in the courts on a charge of nonsupport if it becomes necessary to aid the wife and children.

7.

The methods by which the department attempts to secure private employment for recipients.

Answer.

The department maintains an employment division for women and men. This group visits business houses, department stores, factories, etc., particularly those listed as former employers of applicants. In view of the limited opportunity to secure work during the past three years the number of positions secured by this division has been extremely good.

8.

The basis of allowances made to recipients and the means employed by the department to assure the expenditure of allowances to recipients in accordance with the specific allocation to food, fuel, clothing and other purposes.

Answer.

Schedule of Allowances to Dependent Aid Cases.

2 persons	$7 per week.
3 persons	9 per week.
4 persons	10 per week.
5 persons	12 per week.
6 persons	13 per week.
7 persons and over	15 per week, maximum.

The basis for these allowances follows: (a) food budget compiled by the State Department of Public Health in cooperation with the Community Health Association of Boston; (b) rent allowance in accordance with number in family; (c) light allowance approximately $1 a week; (d) fuel is provided during April and November in the amount of one quarter ton per family and in the amount of one half ton per family during the months of December, January, February and March. If oil is used instead of coal fifty gallons allowed for April and November and seventy-five gallons for other four months. Expenditures for rent are checked as described in No. 5. The department does not distribute supplies directly to recipients. When grocery vouchers are given the recipient is permitted to place the order with any market or store within the limits of the city. Fuel is supplied on vouchers presented by the applicant to the fuel company. Medicines are supplied on prescriptions issued by doctors, hospitals or dispensaries.

The types of supplies purchased by the department for recipients and the manner in which such purchases are made, inspected and distributed.

Answer.

No supplies are purchased by the department.

10.

The improvements made and contemplated by the department in its case and financial record systems.

Answer.

(a) The major improvement made in the department as a whole was the adoption of the Fox plan, definitely establishing certain key positions and a specific line of demarcation as between the two branches in the department, namely, the relief or social service division and the financial or disbursing division. A promotional examination held by the Civil Service Commission established the assistant supervisors' positions and these officials have been appointed and are now operating in accordance with the plan of organization as adopted. An assistant supervisor is charged with the supervision of three districts, the city being divided into fifteen districts, each district in charge of a senior visitor with a staff of junior visitors. Relief is granted only on approval by the assistant supervisor in charge.

(b) Rechecking by means of revisiting all persons receiving relief is carried on by a special group of investigators under the direction and supervision of the dependent aid supervisor. This division operates as an independent check on the district visitors' work.

(c) Establishment of divisions of Dependent Aid, Mothers' Aid and Old Age Assistance within the department. Each of the divisions is under the jurisdiction of a trained and experienced supervisor and each division has its staff of field workers.

(d) An employment division for men consisting of a supervisor of employment and four field solicitors was set up in April, 1933. All men are classified according to trade or profession. All able-bodied men are assigned to some form of work for the city and those not able to perform manual labor are required to report to the district offices at stated periods during each week. For the week ending February 3, 1934, the following assignments were made:

Men assigned for 1 day each week	3,140
Men assigned for 2 days each week	2,110
Men assigned for 3 days each week	2,672
Men assigned for 4 days each week	3,168
	11,090
Men reporting only	661
Total	11,751

The solicitors or field workers in this divsion visit business houses, department stores, factories, etc., as described under answer to Question 7. A detailed record on file in the department discloses that four hundred twenty-four (424) men were placed at work by this division during the period April 7, 1933, to December 31, 1933, inclusive. In like manner an employment division for women has been set up. Contacts have been made with personnel managers in stores and factories and a number of women and girls have been placed at work to date.

(e) A division of special investigation under the supervision of a police officer assigned by the Police Department has been operating for the past two years. All desertion, nonsupport, fraud cases and others are subject to special investigation by this division and proper legal action instituted through the Law Department of the city. The Law Department has cooperated fully by assigning an assistant corporation counsel to assist in this work.

(f) New forms for first application have been put in effect. Residences are verified at the time of application and almost immediately thereafter the ownership of real estate, court records, bank accounts, etc., are verified.

(g) Establishment of a new system for receiving reapplications for relief has been effected. An affidavit containing the applicant's oath regarding financial status and sundry data is attached and made a part of all new and reapplications.

(h) A central file, supply and record room was established. All case records are housed in the central file and released only on written requisition. Supplies are in like manner distributed on requisitions signed and approved by division officials.

(i) Grocery vouchers issued by the department may be used in any store or market within the limits of the city rather than in any selected store or group of stores as was the system a few years ago.

(j) Checks are now issued weekly to approximately seventy-five hundred recipients. This includes all Old Age Assistance cases, practically all Mothers Aid cases (some persons in this group still prefer to call for cash payment) and to a miscellaneous group in the Dependent Aid class who are unable to call at the office for their relief allowance.

(k) A banking division has been set up which handles all inquiries and correspondence to the banks and checks all returns and replies, etc.

Contemplated Changes in Case Record System.

(a) Through cooperation of the State Emergency Relief Administration a sum of money has been allocated to the department for the purpose of making a survey of the methods in administering relief and the general administration of the department. The plan calls for the appointment of two expert consultants to the Executive Director and staff as needed.

An Expansion of the District Office Plan.

(b) For a great many years the department has operated district offices and at present has offices in the several health units and other municipal buildings. These offices have been used primarily to provide for interviews as between district visitors and recipients and for other minor activities. The department has been working on plans for the establishment of district relief units for some time. An adequate program of this character involves many problems and of necessity must be developed cautiously. An expansion of the Hyde Park district office was made several months ago as an experiment and has been watched by the department to determine the strength and weaknesses of the plan generally. It is to be understood however that the Hyde Park district unit as now set up is not in fact the set-up the department plans for in the establishment of adequate district relief units. His Honor the Mayor has assured the executive director of his full cooperation and assistance in carrying out this program.

Changes in Financial Record System.

(a) Revision has been made of the method and record of payments of relief and a system of internal check controlling all disbursements has been installed.

(b) Addressograph equipment has made it possible for all relief orders including checks and work cards to be made out with this equipment effecting a substantial saving in the cost of printing.

(c) Visible statistical records of all cases aided by the department has also been installed.

(d) A system of inter-departmental communications between the divisions disbursing relief and the paying and auditing divisions has been effective for several months. By means of this system all sections of the department are notified immediately of any changes in amounts of payments, suspensions or stops.

(e) Over a year ago the method of issuing vouchers for groceries and fuel was revised. The department under this revision obtains in addition to the signature of the recipient, a record of the actual items furnished.

Contemplated Changes in Financial System.

(a) A study has been made of our case records and disbursement records and it is planned to install certain statistical equipment which will permit of a speedy and accurate taking off of statistics from both the financial and relief divisions. It is expected that this equipment will be of great value in auditing disbursements and annual bills to the Commonwealth and other cities and towns. An appropriation to permit of the installation of such equipment has been requested in the budget of this year.

(b) Installation of a system whereby the department appropriation will be encumbered at the time of issuing vouchers and orders rather than at the time bills are paid.

(c) The acquisition of additional office space for the paying division in order to relieve congestion and thereby eliminate to a large degree delay now unavoidable due to overcrowding.

(d) The appointment of a consultant to the executive director to make a further survey and study of the financial and disbursing system as now operated and to make such recommendations and changes as may be considered advisable. The State Emergency Relief Administration has provided funds to finance this program.

Respectfully,
WALTER V. MCCARTHY,
Executive Director.

REPAVING PIKE'S ALLEY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 19, 1934.

To the Honorable the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith a letter from the Board of Street Commissioners relative to your order of January 15, 1934, concerning the repaving of Pike's alley, Ward 3.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

February 15, 1934.

Mr. Joseph F. Mellyn,
Secretary to the Mayor.

Dear Sir,—Inclosed please find correspondence in regard to order passed by the City Council "That his Honor the Mayor instruct the Commissioner of Public Works to repave Pike's alley, Ward 3."

Pike's alley is a private way and the Board of Street Commissioners on January 30, 1934, heard a petition for the repaving of said Pike's alley. What the petitioners really desire is the laying out of Pike's alley as a public way and then an order for its construction and widening by the Public Works Department.

This work would require a considerable amount of property to be taken by the city and the total cost, according to the estimate of the chief engineer, would be approximately $50,000.

It is the opinion of the Board that the cost of this project makes it prohibitive and especially because there does not seem to be any public demand or necessity for the same.

Very truly yours,
OWEN A. GALLAGHER, Chairman.

On February 21, 1934, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 17, nays 0.

7. Ordered, That to provide temporarily money to meet the appropriations for the financial year 1934, the City Treasurer may issue and sell, at such times and in such amounts as he may deem best, notes or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston not exceeding $28,000,000 in the total, in anticipation of the taxes of the current municipal year; that all such notes or certificates of indebtedness be dated the day the money for the same is received, be made payable with the interest thereon within one year of their date and bear interest from their date until the same are made payable at such rate as the City Auditor, the City Treasurer and the Mayor may determine.

On February 21, 1934, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 17, nays 0.

President DOWD—Unless there be objection, the Chair will put the question on the passage of Nos. 1 to 7, inclusive, on the calendar. Is there any objection?

Coun. SHATTUCK—I would like to make sure, Mr. President, in regard to these seven orders that we are voting upon. Are they rescissoins?

President DOWD—Some are rescissions.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Are there any bond issues?

President DOWD—Nos. 1 and 2 are bond issues, No. 1, $250,000 for sewerage works; No. 2, $250,000 for reconstruction of streets; No. 3 is a rescission, No. 4 is a rescission, No. 5 is a rescission

No. 6 is a rescission, and No. 7 is the new temporary loan order.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, may I ask whether any of these items are the P. W. A. loan orders?

President DOWD—No.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, may I ask that Nos. 1 and 2, under which we are appropriating half a million dollars for streets and sewers, be voted upon separately?

President DOWD—The question comes on the passage of No. 1 and No. 2 on the calendar, and the clerk will call the roll.

Coun. NORTON—I am going to vote against all orders except those of an emergency nature.

President DOWD—In order that there may not be any misunderstanding, the question comes on the final second reading and passage of Nos. 1 and 2 on the calendar.

Nos. 1 and 2 on the calendar were given their second and final reading and passage by roll call, yeas 20; nays—Coun. Norton, Shattuck—2.

President DOWD—Unless there be objection, the question now comes on the passage of Nos. 3 to 7, inclusive.

Coun. McGRATH—Mr. President, for purposes of the record, I would like to ask the City Clerk, through the Chair, whether it is necessary to rescind some of these following orders in order to make the same amounts available for other appropriations and work in Boston? I asked the same question of the Corporation Counsel in a meeting of the Committee on Finance, and he informed me that it would in no way affect future borrowing of a similar amount, but that for the purpose of clearing the thing up it would be a nice thing to rescind. I ask that question because I don't want to go on record as voting against new prison buildings on Deer Island, the Wayfarers' Lodge and the fire stations unless it is absolutely necessary to vote in favor of rescission in order to make a similar amount available for other projects.

President DOWD—The Chair would state that under chapter 366 the Council approved these loans, but that the loans were disapproved by the Emergency Board at the State House. So as it stands now, while these loans are carried on the books of the city, we cannot spend the money.

Coun. TOBIN—Do I understand that that ruling does not include Item 7?

President DOWD—It simply includes all rescissions.

Nos. 3 to 7, inclusive, on the calendar were given their second and final reading and passage, yeas 22, nays 0.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. GREEN, for the Committee on Finance, submitted the following:

1. Report on message of Mayor and six orders (submitted February 12), $1,000,000 for Reconstruction of Streets, $2,000,000 for one New High School and one New Intermediate School, $350,000 for Replacement of Brookline Avenue Water Main, from Brookline line to Beacon street, $1,500,000 for New Buildings, City Hospital, $1,000,000 for Construction of Sewers, $700,000 for Water Main Construction—recommending passage of same.

The report of the committee was accepted.

President DOWD called up, under additional unfinished business, at this point Nos. 8 to 13, inclusive, viz.:

The following orders were read once and passed on February 12, 1934, yeas 20, nays 0, and were referred to the Committee on Finance for further consideration:

8. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 366 of the Acts of 1933, and acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, the sum of $2,000,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the School Committee, for one New High School and one New Intermediate School, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

9. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 366 of the Acts of 1933, and acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, the sum of $350,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works, for Replacement of the Brookline Avenue Water Main, from the Brookline line to Beacon street, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

10. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 366 of the Acts of 1933, and acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, the sum of $1,000,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works, for the Reconstruction of Streets, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

11. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 366 of the Acts of 1933, and acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, the sum of $1,000,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works, for the Construction, Reconstruction and Replacement of Sewers and the Covering of Open Water Courses, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

12. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 366 of the Acts of 1933, and acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, the sum of $1,500,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Hospital Trustees, for New Buildings and Alterations and Equipment, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

13. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 366 of the Acts of 1933, and acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, the sum of $700,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works, for Water Main Construction, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

The report of the committee was accepted, and the question came on the second and final reading of the above orders.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, personally I am going to vote against about every appropriation mentioned by the clerk. If there is no objection, I had just as soon have them all taken upon one vote, unless somebody wants to vote for some and against others.

President DOWD—Is there any objection to voting on these as a unit, Nos. 8 to 13, inclusive?

Coun. TOBIN—Mr. President, in a matter of this kind I believe we ought to vote on each item separately. Therefore, I object.

President DOWD—The question first comes on the passage of No. 8 on the calendar.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, No. 8 calls for the expenditure of $2,000,000 on schools. The City of Boston has in its forty-three square miles of area today more schools than any like city in the world, more than 300 school buildings, costing some $68,000,000, from the elementary schools clear up to the highest grades, and while the number of children is decreasing, because of people going to other parts, the expenditure for schools has been increasing. On account of the general economic situation and in view of our position today, being unable so far to collect more than 70 per cent of the taxes of 1933, while for the previous two years we have collected up to the present time 92 per cent, I am going to vote in favor of emergency expenditures only, bearing in mind this fact, that in my opinion the paramount issue before the people of Boston is the increase in taxes during the last few years and the even greater increase threatened for the future. There are over thirty pages set forth in the six City Records of tax sales pending in my own ward for this year, because the people of my ward have been particularly afflicted in this matter, but it is also a fact that all over our city people are unable to pay their taxes. Before running up more debt I here declare that I intend to vote against everything here that can be postponed. The schoolhouses of Boston take care of 137,000 children. It costs more to educate children in Boston today than in any other city in the world of half a million population—$130 for each child in the public schools of our city. The average cost in other such cities of America, such as Philadelphia, Cleveland and New York, is under $100. We have been building medieval castles in Brighton and elsewhere and buildings that we cannot afford to build, and it is the apparent intention to continue that sort of thing. As I say, our school expenditure is larger than that of any other large city in the world, and I do not intend to add to it by voting $2,000,000 more at this time.

Coun. DONOVAN—Mr. President, I come from a district that would benefit to the extent of $1,000,000 under this Public Works program. I believe that additional expenditures for schools is badly needed in that district, because of the fact that every building over there is over fifty years old. The Hawthorne School is a fire trap, over one hundred years old, and over two hundred children from five to nine years of age are receiving primary education there. The Florence School is another old building, four stories high, eighty-four years old, with wooden floors and stairways. If a fire ever started in that building while school sessions were on, practically everyone in the school would probably perish. Hawes Hall is also old and in bad shape; the Lincoln School is fifty years old; the Norcross, Thomas N. Hart, Shurtleff, John A. Andrews, Benjamin Colt and Benjamin Dean Schools are also antiquated buildings and a fire menace. I certainly believe that the new school structures contemplated under the Public Works program should be built, and I trust that these orders will be passed.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, I shall vote against this order and the other orders that follow, and what I say applies to all of them. These loans, including several which are coming up in a few days, also under the P. W. A. program, aggregate about $8,000,000. The interest charge of the Federal Government will be 4 per cent, or $320,000 a year. They will be paid serially, about one-twentieth each year, and the serial installments will amount to about $400,000 a year, a total annual sum beginning with the first of the year of about $720,000, slightly decreasing in subsequent years as the installment payments are made. That, Mr. President, means $720,000 added to the burden of our citizens. Now, where does the money come from? We have rather limited resources in the matter of revenue in the City of Boston and in the other cities and towns of the Commonwealth. We get a share of the income tax, a fixed percentage, the amounts decreasing with the decreasing incomes of the last few years. The source from which all additional expenditures must be taken is the real estate tax. That must stand the burden, because the income tax and other sources of revenue are far less than the normal expenses of the city. Therefore, the total amount of this additional burden comes upon real estate and upon persons who are now finding it exceedingly difficult to pay their taxes, to pay their mortgage interest, to keep their places from foreclosure. The Federal Government is in a very different position. It has absorbed in large part the big items of revenue, particularly the income tax with a graduated step-up, with the excess profits and surtax provisions, and so forth. Of course, it has always had the impost taxes, and the taxes on tobacco and liquor to such an extent that local taxation of those items is almost impossible. Thus, the Government has absorbed the great sources of revenue. Furthermore, it has the power to issue money, it has control of gold, it can sell bonds when no other community can sell bonds, it can raise money when no other community can raise money. Very different is the case of the cities and towns, which are substantially in a strait-jacket in so far as revenue is concerned, in which, in order to meet their ordinary expenses, to meet their pay roll, to meet the debts they have incurred, are struggling under a burden that they can hardly bear. Now, sir, I am not willing to add to that burden, to add to the difficulty of meeting existing obligations in the way of pay rolls, debts, and so on. I do not believe we can borrow ourselves out of this situation; we cannot load debt on debt without courting disaster. Therefore, sir, I shall vote against all these measures.

Coun. ROBERTS—Mr. President, I want to agree with a great many things that my brother councilors Shattuck and Norton have said about these particular orders. But there is one thing that we cannot lose sight of. We have had 13,000 people on C. W. A. work, receiving revenue in that way. Some of us know of cases, know what they have done with their money. We know that they have paid back debts, room rent and grocery bills. That is one of the beneficial results of Civil Works and Public Works appropriations. It has been further intended, I understand, that the Public Works program shall take up the work of the C. W. A. program and that as these 13,000 workers are laid off under C. W. A. appropriations they will be absorbed in the big Public Works appropriations. The unfortunate thing, of course, is that the property owners of Boston must bear this burden. That is something that we cannot control or alter. There is not a single city or town in the nation that is not concerned, and that in many cases has not approved public works, and many of them in western and southern cities are already in progress. If we approve these projects now under consideration it means that there will be no slack to take up in the C. W. A., that the people will go on under the Public Works program and that the Federal ideas in this respect will be carried out. It is unfortunate, of course, that property owners here and in other places must bear the burden. We all know that taxes are high, but we also know that the plan is to take care of these people who are unemployed and who without some such means would not be able to support their families or pay their rent. Those people will be enabled to support themselves and to pay their bills. I will admit that I don't believe in many items on the program. The upkeep of the buildings will also be saddled on the taxpayers. It is too bad that we could not get some other program. But just think, we have had only a few days to approve of any program. The people of the Commonwealth, the people paying the taxes, are asking, "What is Massachusetts doing for the workers?" The people of the City of Boston, whom we represent, say to us, "What has Boston done towards approving the Public Works appropriation?" I recall that last year when we adopted some items that were then under consideration the same question arose, and at that time the feeling was not unanimous as to items then before us. There were different ideas. There were questions as to how much money should be spent on slum elimination, and so on. It is too bad that we cannot have our ideas approved. But, on some of these projects that are being planned, whether they agree with our ideas or not, they will result in putting some draftsmen and craftsmen at work. We have succeeded in having some provisions in regard to providing for labor of the City of Boston. That, at least, is a step in the right direction, giving them preference. Certainly, unless we do something, some of our constituents at some time in the future will have occasion to ask us, "What did you do to help alleviate the situation?" We may answer, "We didn't like the particular program." The reply will be, "Whether your ideas can be carried out or not, at least something should be done, and here you have a program." In Chicago, New York and other cities they have approved the contracts, gone to work and started things, and people are looking to us to do something. This program will at least provide some work, and will answer the question, "What has Boston done on the P. W. A.?"

Coun. GOLDMAN—Mr. President, as for myself I am going to vote for every one of these items from 8 down through 15, and in opposition to the proposed new City Hall. I cannot conceive of the reasoning of my colleague from Ward 18 (Coun. Norton) or my colleague from Ward 5 (Coun. Shattuck). I don't see how they can possibly think of throwing away $3,000,000 given to us for nothing under a program that will rehabilitate in a good measure the unemployed situation of Boston. In regard to the question that is bothering some, about paying back the money that is raised for this program, whether we get the money or not, we will pay back the money that is being raised by the Government, through income taxes or otherwise. Every city or town in the United States will pay it eventually, and we will pay our proportionate share, and we will do that whether we receive any benefit from it or not. So we had better get whatever benefit we can. I think that Councilor Norton and Councilor Shattuck will admit that good work has been done in the municipality, necessary work, under the C. W. A. program, that it has helped out in the employment situation and enabled many of our people to pay their bills. I think they must admit also that the carrying out and completion of this hospital program will give Boston the finest institution of the kind in the country. So, Mr. President, inasmuch as our people will have to pay the bills anyway, I feel that we should get whatever benefit we can obtain through this action by the Federal Government.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, I go along quite a distance with the gentleman from Ward 5 (Coun. Shattuck) and the gentlemen from Ward 18 (Coun. Norton) with reference to the burdens placed on the real estate taxpayers of the City of Boston; but, on the other hand, I think there is a happy medium between being fooled by the cry, "You can get a million from the United States Government if you will only spend two millions," and the cry that we should suddenly stop all spending of money. I have in mind the Boston City Hospital Surgical Building, which was not initially a part of the P. W. A. program at all, but was a part of a program initiated by Mayor Curley as long ago as 1924. The surgical building is a building much needed by the public of Boston, and is the culminating point of that whole program, and it is something for the interest of those who do not have homes to pay taxes upon. So, irrespective of P. W. A., and having in mind that it is the final culmination of the great hospital movement started ten years ago, I would vote for No. 12. I would also vote for No. 10, involving an expenditure of a million dollars for the reconstruction of streets, and for No. 11, to be expended for the construction, reconstruction and replacement of sewers and the covering of open water courses. I feel that those are also matters interesting all our citizens, dealing with things that are necessary to be done and that we are therefore justified in acting favorably upon these orders. While, as I say, I am not fooled by the cry that we should spend two dollars to get one, I still feel, even though we are in a depression, that Boston has not yet become a deserted village and that we should keep our streets in repair and sewers under the streets. With respect to the schoolhouses, under Item 8, I still believe, as a result of examination into the matter by the Finance Committee, that West Roxbury and Roslindale are justified in demanding a high school, and that the proposed intermediate school should be placed in South Boston. We in other sections, who have sufficient school accommodations for the children of the sections, should not, I feel, take the attitude that because our sections are amply provided we will punish the South Boston and West Roxbury sections which do need additional school accommodations for their children. And, after all, it is the children whom we are now educating who will pay the bills on these things in the future. So I feel that those sections which have been slower in getting accommodations for the education of their children should have our help in obtaining the assistance they need in the matter. I do feel that at the present time we do not need a new City Hall, nor do I feel that we need a new Northern Avenue Bridge. The present bridge can be repaired, I understand, at a probable expense of about $200,000, and will then last at least twenty years. Thus, as I have indicated, I feel that there is a happy medium between squandering the city's money, whether in Washington or Boston, and economy carried to a point where we become a deserted village and actually go down with the ship.

Coun. GREEN—Mr. Chairman, I will say for the members of the Committee on Finance that we are holding Nos. 14 and 15 in committee until Wednesday, when we have our special meeting, but I would like to have No. 16 brought up on the question of rejection.

Coun. FINLEY—Mr. President, I am particularly interested in Item 8 of these matters now under discussion, and I wish to plead with the members of the Council to give favorable consideration to the request for a new high school for the West Roxbury and Roslindale district. I would like to inform the members of this honorable body that that high school is needed in a district that has approximately one-sixth of the entire population of the City of Boston; that the fight for that high school has been made for a period of over a quarter of a century. And I can say this without fear of contradiction, that there is not a district of its size anywhere in the State of Massachusetts where there is not a high school to take care of the number of people living in that particular district. Previous members of this honorable body in their sessions in other years have gone on record, I believe, without a dissenting vote in favor of this high school. The people of my district have been very patient. They have fought year after year for a high school without success. Only a year ago they appeared before the Massachusetts Legislature, putting in a bill to have a high school in that section which should be built under a bond issue; but, realizing the financial condition, as set forth by various organizations of the district, they adopted a liberal attitude, asking to have that bill withdrawn. Everybody in that locality feels that at this particular time the request for the hospital should be granted, because of the fact that money that will help pay for it can now be obtained under conditions that possibly will not exist in the next era. They feel that there is not a project that has been proposed before the Federal or State Board, the high authorities of this state and nation, which possesses more merit than the West Roxbury high school. As a new member of this body, I trust that the other members will give to this project the same consideration that has been shown by the State Board, the Federal Board, and the authorities in Washington. There has been up to the present moment absolutely no argument against this particular project, and I stand here and pray your earnest consideration, trusting that this particular project will be given the vote of this honorable body.

Coun. McGRATH—Mr. President, I think, first, that the Committee on Finance deserves some credit in connection with this program because of the way they have met every two days, have gone into these matters with the greatest care and have in their official capacity familiarized themselves with the different projects that have been submitted to them. I feel, as does every member of the Council, that the first consideration must be given to those in our city who have to shoulder the most serious responsibility and burden, those especially who own small homes in every section of our city. But we cannot help being impressed by the statement of the councilor from Ward 6 (Coun. Donovan) and the statement of the councilor from Ward 20 (Coun. Finley). When you go into the South Boston district you find that they apparently never heard of birth control. On the streets of South Boston there are hundreds of little ones who must be cared for. Every day we hear about the tremendous cost to society because of the fact that we have not properly trained our children, and we find that if we had given to every child an opportunity to get proper schooling, even if it was only in the primary and grammar grades, we would not later on have been worried a hundredfold because some have not made a better contribution to society. When we come to the West Roxbury district, we find a section that is growing more rapidly than any other in the city; and you will find hundreds of families going into that section because they want to have a single home, being forced to get that home because they have many in their families, and they want to properly provide for them. So when we go to such sections we cannot begin to economize on education and expect to profit thereby. We have considered these various appropriations carefully; we have called in the Corporation Counsel; we have called in various heads of departments, because we wanted to be properly directed. Might I say a word on the City Hospital appropriation, because apparently we want to expedite votes when we once start voting? There is a crying necessity for additional facilities in our Boston City Hospital, and it is in the interest of our citizens that such facilities should be provided. Those of our people who go to that hospital are suffering because of the lack of certain facilities. They are unable to employ the services of specialists or to hire rooms in private institutions. During the entire discussion of this appropriation I have been disturbed by an organization in Boston which dwelt on the fact that we should limit the facilities of the Boston City Hospital in order to force into private institutions hundreds of those in our city who are suffering. I wondered if it had occurred to those gentlemen how many there are in families in our cities who cannot afford to pay for the services of these private institutions. We have in the West End of our city one of the finest hospitals to be found anywhere, the Massachusetts General Hospital, and even in this depression they are making plans to spend $6,000,000, in order to afford more facilities for their patients. So when private institutions in our city feel the need for additions to their present facilities, what about the City Hospital, where the unfortunates go? The entire Board of Trustees came to the meeting of the Finance Committee last Friday and gave us the history behind the proposed surgical building, and we found that not since 1912, twenty-two years ago, has there been any addition to the surgical buildings of the Boston City Hospital. We were told by this same outside private association that the entire proposed building was to be used for cots but we find from the trustees that 55 per cent of the building will be used for surgical purposes. We have in Boston a City Hospital that is looked up to by every city in the country, because it is the outstanding municipal hospital, and a hospital that is as well governed as any municipal hospital in the United States. And so there come to in this matter the pleas of the suffering in this city, who say to the Municipal Research Bureau, "Gentlemen, you are the affluent men of the city, and you lose sight of the fact, when you call on us to avail ourselves of the services of private hospitals, that we have not the money to do it." At this juncture may I say to you that if your Finance Committee had not been working, you would be voting today for a City Hall to cost $1,800,000, to house those who are well and healthy, and you would be abandoning in your ward, Mr. President, one of the most necessary buildings that could be receted in this great city. For the fact that the City Council is not so acting, thanks are due to you, Mr. President, for your efforts, and to the members of the Finance Committee, who stood their ground when they were told by a high official of the city at our Finance Committee meeting that the City Hospital Trustees had abandoned the idea, thought that the proposed surgical hospital was no longer necessary. We called in those trustees, and everyone of them—Mr. Manning, a business man of standing in Boston; Mr. Dreyfus, another business man; Karl Adams, Doctor English and Doctor Sears—stood up and said, "We cannot too strongly urge the building of this proposed hospital." Different projects went to the two local state boards and later to a board in Washington, and they turned down fire stations, they turned down a hospital and prison buildings on Deer Island, they turned down the Wayfarers' Lodge, but after scrutinizing this request for a new surgical building, they passed it. After some criticism of the wording, it came back here; and we then found that his Honor the Mayor wished to ignore the appeal not only of the trustees but of the suffering of this city. I am glad that finally the light dawned on him when he found that this Council would not pass the new City Hall and abandon the hospital, and that today he has shown the wisdom to send to us a request that his order looking to a new City Hall be withdrawn. For every item upon which we are called to vote here—schools, reconstruction of streets, construction, reconstruction and replacement of sewers and hospitals—there is a crying need today. They represent services that the taxpayers, even the overburdened taxpayers, demand from the city. I do not believe there is an item included therein that is not of vital importance to the taxpayers. On streets and sewers in the outlying districts, in many places where voters live in large numbers, little consideration has been given to them. No, Mr. President, I think the Council will be wise today in passing all these items.

Coun. KERRIGAN—Mr. President, as a member of the Finance Committee I voted in favor of all these projects, and I think every member of the Council should vote for any project that will put men at work. This whole program has been initiated for the purpose of putting men at work, on useful projects, of course, and I think we should all be in favor of such a program. At the present time South Boston is in need of a school. In some cases the children of the district are going to school in portable schoolhouses. What is the result? Youngsters going to those places on cold days are dying of pneumonia. I think this whole situation can be cleared up by every member here voting for the school projects, and voting for these other items that will put men at work and also supply the needs of the citizens of our city.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, as I stated before, I am not going into the merits of these several projects as individual projects. Of course they have merit. There are a great many things on which we might spend money to advantage. But last year, in order to meet our pay roll, in order to meet our welfare expenses, in order to meet the running expenses of the city, we had to borrow money to a large extent and through the favor of the Federal Government, because our credit was not sufficient to get it outside that. We do not know how we are coming out this year; we have not received the budget. We don't know whether we are going to be able to find the revenue to meet our pay rolls and our necessary welfare and other operating expenses. Until we know that, until we know where we stand, and can see that we have the revenue to pay our ordinary bills, I believe we should not go into further debt, adding to the burden that the city now has to bear.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, if I thought all these millions would put 1,000 men to work I would vote for them. For four long years I opposed the chief executive of this city, who insisted that the way to start prosperity was to have bands playing "Happy Days are Here Again," "Prosperity is Just Around the Corner," that the way to progress was to let him spend millions. He was allowed to spend millions. No city in America, with the money that was available, spent more than we did. We have more schoolhouses, fire stations, police stations, subways, more of everything of the kind, than any like city in the world. If I thought that these millions would put 1,000 men at work in Boston next spring, I would vote for them. But let us not be fooled by these projects. C. W. A. has brought about good results, because it has quickly put two and one quarter millions into our city that has enabled people to get work and to pay their bills. Those men have gone to work, but that is a different thing from some of these other projects. We built the Jeremiah E. Burke High School in Roxbury, the Mayor of Boston saying, "I want that money spent there in order to put men at work," and there were not one hundred men who went to work on that school for the $1,100,000 that was spent. How many men are going to work if these millions are provided? No man wants more than I do to put men at work. I come from a section that is poverty-stricken as a result of this great depression, that has twice as many men in need of public relief as there are in any section except two of the residential wards. Do I want to put men at work? Yes; certainly I do. Is there any member here who can show me where there will be 1,000 men who will go to work in Boston as a result of these proposed projects? Can you point to one other project that the city has ever engaged in, in this line, that has put any number of men at work? There were the millions that were appropriated for the East Boston Tunnel, which we were told would put 3,000 men at work. How many men have actually worked on that project? How many men do any of you members here know of who were sent to work on it? Can you, or you, or you mention ten, or can you mention five? The gentleman from East Boston (Coun. Selvitella) is concerned about the men employed on the tiling, for example. It seems that not a man from his section is working there. I want to put men at work. Show me where these things will put 1,000 men at work, show me where they will help out the people who are today being burdened by the tax rate, and I will vote for the orders. We all know the talk about the number of men who would be employed on Hyde Park avenue, with the large expenditure made there, and I don't think there were one hundred. But they say, "Put men at work." I have stated what happened in connection with the construction of the Jeremiah E. Burke High School, and we all know the history of the other projects for which we have been appropriating money for years. Orders have been continually introduced here for the appropriation of large sums of money, with the argument that they would put men at work. But there was no large number of men put at work until we received the two and one quarter millions in Boston under C. W. A. That did put men at work. If I thought times would get good this year or next year, I might feel differently, but you know what my opinion is. You have heard me stating it here for four years. I hope I am wrong. No, Mr. President, the way out is a long, long road. We were years getting into this, and we are going to be years getting out. No trick in regard to money, nothing we can do, will speed the hour of coming back to economic progress. So why not prepare for what we still have to meet? We hear talk about hospitals. We have spent over thirty million dollars on hospitals since 1860, when the first municipal hospital was established here. As shown by the hospital trustees, in the last decade we have spent millions on the City Hospital. I will vote in favor of a hospital at Forest Hills or some adjacent station that will take care of certain areas, but on that small area known as the City Hospital area we have spent more money than has been spent on any similar hospital area in the world. It was the center in 1860. It is not the center now. Furthermore, every private hospital in Boston today is in need of patients. I am not asking any poor person in Boston who cannot afford to pay, to pay for care in a private hospital, but I am saying this, that the City of Boston can easily arrange with the Massachusetts General, with the Beth Israel, with the Carney, with the St. Elizabeth's hospitals and many other splendid institutions in Boston, and it will not cost one cent more than it now costs the city to take care of our patients in the City Hospital, and they will not then be kept in crowded, unsanitary buildings, such as we now have up there, as I know them. Other cities are doing it. Why not send unfortunates who cannot properly be taken care of at the City Hospital to the Massachusetts General or to some other of these hospitals, the city paying the bill under an agreement with the particular institution? What is wrong with that? That is what I would like to do. You can dump $20,000,000 more into the City Hospital and not have proper hospitalization until you segregate your patients there. You have the acute, the chronic and the convalescent. As long as they are jumbled together it will be a bad institution. One of the ablest authorities, Dr. S. S. Goldwater, when called in by the Mayor of one of our large cities, called attention to the fact that until patients are segregated—acute, chronic and convalescent—and not put all together as they are at our City Hospital, there will be congestion and confusion. South Boston needs schools, yes. Hyde Park needs schools; Roslindale needs schools. I have heard something about the need for schools in South Boston in particular. South Boston is as well taken care of as is our Hyde Park section, because we have one of the finest school systems of its kind in America, in South Boston and in Hyde Park. But even our city system. I don't believe is as good as the parochial school system. The Father in charge of the parochial schools of the archdiocese in an article in the Pilot two months ago gave figures of the cost to educate a child in a City of Boston parochial school and a City of Boston school alongside the parochial school, and the figures were all in favor of the parochial schools. It is too bad that we have not double or treble the number of schools in this city. They are caring for 30,000 children in the parochial schools here today, and still the expenses of our Boston schools are the highest that they are in any part of the country or any part of the world.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, I have no desire to prolong the discussion, which I think has already been entirely too long, but some things that have been said recently bring me to my feet. I am in favor of this program that is before us today for several reasons. One of the main reasons is that these are items that the City of Boston will have to take care of this year, next year or the year after, and we now have an opportunity to get some help in providing the amount necessary for these functions. If it is not done this year, under the conditions now offering themselves, we will have to replace these old archaic buildings that are being used for schools at some time or other, and will have to start somewhere or other. The great need at the present time happens to be in South Boston and West Roxbury. Next year it will very likely be in some other part of the city. But these are things that we must provide for, in the interest of the taxpayers and the people of Boston, and if we cannot raise enough funds to meet ordinary expenses, the city will be indeed in a bad plight. I do not believe, however, that Boston has got to the point where it cannot raise the funds to run its ordinary business. As one of the previous speakers said, the Committee on Finance has gone over the program and has sought and obtained the assistance of officials of the City of Boston in arriving at a just conclusion. They have spent many hours upon the matter, in order to try to arrive intelligently at something that would be of the most benefit for the taxpayers of Boston, as well as putting a fair proportion of unemployed men at work, thereby helping out the purposes of the Federal plan now in effect in every city and town throughout the United States. We have found, after it had been originally planned, that we could spend $20,000,000; that we are now down to $6,000,000 as a good conservative figure for a city as large as the City of Boston. I think that more than 1,000 men will be employed under these projects. I think 2,000 men will be placed at work under this program that we have arranged at the present time. I hope that the entire program will pass.

Coun. ROBERTS—Mr. President, just a few words more. I think there should be a reply to Councilor Norton's remarks. This is not a program of our making. There was one program of the previous Mayor that would involve $26,000,000, under various projects in which it was contemplated that a large number of men would be put at work. Now, there is no need for deceiving ourselves as to the number of men who will be put at work. I don't know whether the number will be 500 or 1,000. But we haven't any other alternative, any other program. As a matter of fact, we have not much to say about the thing. The only question today is whether we are going to accept any part of the P. W. A. program. Perhaps these projects will not increase employment, particularly but we have 13,000 men who will at some time in the near future be thrown out of work. I dare say the majority of us, if we could do so, would vote to continue the C. W. A., because under that program there is more money put into circulation. But this is the best we can do. The City of Boston is given a chance here by the Federal Government to expend money in this way, and no alternative is offered. Therefore, I trust that we will pass the orders that are before us, and I now move the previous question.

The main question was ordered, and No. 8 was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 20; nays—Coun. Norton, Shattuck—2.

The question came on giving the remaining orders their second and final reading and passage.

Coun. TOBIN—Mr. President, as I understand the procedure today we are now giving a second reading to a number of items on the calendar?

President DOWD—That is correct.

Coun. TOBIN—Following the first reading two weeks ago. I believe, for purposes of the record, so that there will be no further technicalities raised, we should take up those items separately.

President DOWD—The Chair asked if there was any objection to taking them up together. There now being objection, the Chair will call up No. 9.

No. 9 was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 20; nays—Coun. Norton, Shattuck—2.

President DOWD—We will now take up No. 10 on the calendar.

No. 10 was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 20; nays—Coun. Norton, Shattuck—2.

President DOWD—No. 11 on the calendar is now before us for action.

No. 11 on the calendar was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 20; nays—Coun. Norton, Shattuck—2.

President DOWD—No. 12 on the calendar.

No. 12 on the calendar was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 20; nays—Coun. Norton, Shattuck—2.

President DOWD—The question now comes on the passage of No. 13 on the calendar.

No. 13 on the calendar was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 20; nays—Coun. Norton, Shattuck—2.

PROPOSED NEW SNOW REMOVAL EQUIPMENT.

Coun. WILSON offered the following:

Ordered, That the sum of $400,000 be, and the same hereby is, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works, for departmental snow removal equipment, and to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, I wish to explain this order very briefly. Despite much of the talk we have had today against the passage of any further loan orders, before this is sent, as I assume it will be, to the Committee on Finance, I think there should be just a word of explanation of its importance. We are all familiar with the actual breakdown of the City of Boston in the matter of snow removal, through no fault of the Public Works Department, in the last ten days. In the Nichols administration, back in 1926,—as some of the older members of the Council who voted on the matter at that time will remember,—a similar order was passed for the purchase of snowplows and snow removal equipment, a five-year loan order. I am informed by one of the yards in Boston that the expense to which we were obligated for the removal of snow in connection with the recent snowstorm amounted to $40,000 a day. I might also say that in the part of Dorchester with which I am familiar there has been an expense of $5 an hour for each truck engaged in such work, which for nine trucks has amounted to $45 an hour, and for thirteen hours, $650 a day. That is simply in a particular section that I know about. We will say that these trucks cost $6,500 apiece. That would mean, the way that we have been going, that we would pay for a truck in a very short time. I urge, therefore, that such an amount as I have suggested in my order be appropriated for the purchase of departmental snow removal equipment, which the City of Boston should have to meet emergencies such as we have just been through. Certainly a city like Boston should try to be reasonably up to date, and not isolated or as hard to get out of or into as the island of Nantucket. So I trust that we will replenish our snowplow and other such equipment, through a short term loan, so that we may be able to keep open communication between the heart of the city and such outlying sections as the one where I live. This is not simply a luxury, but is as important as ambulances, fire department apparatus, milk wagons and other such things as have to go through our streets for the convenience and safety of the public. I certainly hesitate to think what the result might be in the Dorchester district, for example, in the next few days, if there were a serious alarm of fire.

The order was referred to the Committee on Finance.

LOAN FOR NEW CITY HALL.

Coun. FITZGERALD offered the following:

Ordered, That the sum of $1,800,000 be, and the same is hereby, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Public Buildings Department, for a new City Hall and the demolition of the present structure, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, at the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

INFORMATION FROM CITY PLANNING BOARD.

Coun. FITZGERALD offered the following:

Ordered, That the City Planning Board be requested to furnish the City Council with the following information:

1. What was the population of Boston at the different census taking dates, beginning in 1900, and ending with the date of the last census?
2. What was the population as of the same dates of Brookline, Cambridge, Newton, Malden, Medford, Quincy and Belmont?
3. Furnish a tabulation showing the increase in percentage form of these suburbs compared with the change in the population of the City of Boston.
4. What, in the opinion of the Planning Board, is the reason for this great increase in the outlying suburbs compared with the increase or decrease in Boston?
5. Has the City Planning Board any suggestions to offer to the City Council to make Boston, and particularly the older part of the city, that is, the North End, West End and South End, a more desirable place so that the population that has left this part of the city can be replaced?

Coun. FITZGERALD—Mr. President, as the councilor in this body representing the oldest part of the city, namely, the West End, North End, South End and the business district, and realizing how the value of real estate in this district is being imperiled due to vacancies and inability to collect rents, I desire the cooperation of the Board to assist me in requesting that the City Planning Board make a survey or a report on what can be done to preserve the solvency of this great business and residential center. On April 1, 1928, Ward 3, which I have the honor to represent, was assessed for $685,624,000, which was 38 per cent of the total value of the entire city of $1,779,663,000 on that date. On April 1, 1933, real estate in the same ward was taxed for $591,278,000. The assessed values of Ward 3 do not mean anything, as real estate is selling for a great deal less than it is assessed for and has been for five or six years. In the West End it is a frequent occurrence for properties taxed for $30,000 to sell for $10,000, and only recently a building that was taxed a few years ago for $40,000 sold for 30 per cent of its assessed value. These are not isolated cases. It is frequently what happens. In the South End the same is true. Real estate on Shawmut avenue, lower Tremont street and Washington street and all the way out to Northampton street, within the Ward 3 limits, and outside, is being sold at 25 to 40 per cent of its assessed value. Now this cannot go on forever. For that reason I am asking the Planning Board, which is very capably operated by Miss Herlihy, who has had great experience in city planning, what, in their opinion, is the cause of this loss of value, and whether they have any recommendations to make to retard this depreciation. The City of Boston is moving away from its center. We should determine why this is so. Is it a desire on the part of the people to move to a more ideal community? Is it the automobile, or what is it? These factors are going to determine the value of real estate in the older part of the city. While our real estate in the West End, North End, South End and even in the business district around Scollay square, Fort Hill and the leather district, has been depreciating yearly in value, other communities have not felt the severe blow that we have. All one has to do is drive through the suburbs, such as Cleveland Circle, Belmont, Arlington and other places, and compare the rents of these stores, which are only a few years old, with the rents of our downtown district, and one will be amazed. Fifteen years ago real estate at the corner of Spring and Chambers streets was in great demand and there never was a vacancy. Today these stores are vacant and cannot be rented for one-fourth of what they formerly brought. The same applies to the apartments. Either something must be done to make residence in the city more popular and attractive or there has got to be a wholesale revision of values, not only in the residential districts of the old city but also in the business district. For that reason I would like to secure the views of the City Planning Board and therefore request that this order be passed.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. GOLDMAN, at 5.40 p. m., to meet on Wednesday, February 28, 1934, at 2 p. m.

On motion of Coun. GALLAGHER, the Council voted at 2.18 p. m. to go into executive session. The members reassembled at 2.34 p. m. and were called to order by President DOWD.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORTS

Coun. GREEN, for the Committee on Finance, submitted the following:

1. Report on message of Mayor and order (recommitted February 12) that $1,000,000 be appropriated to be expended under direction of Commissioner of Public Works for Northern Avenue Bridge -that same ought not to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the rejection of the order.

Coun. DONOVAN—Mr. President, I rise at this time, for Coun. Kerrigan and myself, to ask that this loan order for $1,000,000 for new Northern Avenue Bridge be laid on the table, because of the fact that we have had several differences of opinion expressed in regard to the cost of repairing the Northern Avenue Bridge. We have heard from one source that it might cost $75,000 and from another source that it might cost $200,000. In order that we may get definite information, I move that the order be laid on the table.

The order was laid on the table.

2. Report on order (recommitted February 12) that sum of $350,000 be appropriated, to be expended under direction of Police Commissioner, for police communications system—that same ought to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I move that this matter be laid on the table.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, I realize that debate is not in order on a motion to lay on the table, but I ask unanimous consent to speak.

There being no objection, Coun. WILSON was allowed to proceed.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, I very frequently find myself agreeing with the councilor from the adjoining ward on certain matters, but in this particular case, while I hold no brief for the Police Commissioner of the City of Boston—being impressed, however, with the fact that he has the confidence of the men under him, always a good sign on a football team, in an army, or in a police department—it is true that this project has been approved all along the line. Personally, with conditions as they are, I am strongly in favor of it. We have been advised by the Corporation Counsel that, while the dead line on this particular order, as well as on the late lamented City Hall order and the now pending Northern Avenue Bridge order, is not March 5, as a practical proposition it is very urgent, if we desire any action under the order, that it should take its second reading as soon as possible, and go on to Washington; that otherwise its chance in Washington will be jeopardized. I don't think that needs much argument, with the forty-eight states of the country and all the cities and towns rushing in to get under the Public Works program. So it seems to me foolish not to give this project, which in my opinion is much needed, a second reading today; that by refusing to do so we will certainly jeopardize and probably kill it, as far as obtaining any assistance from the Federal Government is concerned.

Coun. NORTON (having obtained unanimous consent)— Mr. President, I dislike very much to have to disagree with the colleague on my left. This Council last year appropriated $75,000 for radio for the Police Department. This bill is incorrectly named. It should be named "police communications" without any reference to radio, because this body passed the money for a police radio system last year. We are not holding up the police radio system, never have done so. This body has always insisted that the department should take advantage of the greatest instrument for the prevention of crime, police radio, and has furnished money to put a police radio system into operation. This order is for wires, for red lights, telephone communication between police stations, and not for radio. If what is proposed under this order is to be carried out, I would like to see $10,000 or $20,000 a year appropriated for that purpose, and not have this whole appropriation made at once. There is some question whether the United States Government will approve this project, since most of the money goes for material and supplies, and very little for labor, and the Government is emphasizing labor. Personally, I do not believe the Government will approve a communications system for the Boston Police Department, as shown by the fact that it has only approved of late those projects that represent a large percentage of labor. I am not going to bother the Council with data in my possession from various cities in the country showing what has been done in the way of police radio; but certainly red lights and wires have nothing to do with police radio. I understand that the opinion of the Commissioner of Public Safety at the State House is that efficiency of a police radio system has nothing to do with a telephone system. In other words, the department at the State House is sending out information and keeping in touch with different parts of the state without police boxes or red lights, but, owing to the wonderful medium of police radio, is getting splendid results. I have information from the chief of police of Berkeley, California, whose expert knowledge was used in the Wickersham report. He does not think that red lights or telephones have anything to do with the efficiency of police radio. Now, Mr. President, I favor police radio, and the members of this Council favor it. The question is, whether we want to spend $75,000 for police radio, and then on top of that $240,000 for wires and red lights. We are now given to understand that the $75,000 appropriation is to be rescinded. We don't know what this present order calls for. It is a sort of prize package, and we have not yet been able to find out what the Police Commissioner intends to do. We have been kept in the dark in regard to this whole matter. It is certainly not an appropriation for radio. So I see no harm at the present time in holding this over for one week, putting it on the table, and I trust that that action will be taken.

Coun. BRACKMAN (having obtained unanimous consent)—Mr. President, I think it is rather dangerous at this time for the Council to indulge in dilatory tactics regarding this appropriation. This is an old matter so far as the Council is concerned. It has been pending for some time, and I think we ought either to pass or reject it today. I, personally, am in favor of the proposed expenditure of money, feeling that the money will be well spent. I think the communications system for the department as set forth by the commissioner, is probably just as vitally important as the radio. When it comes to comparing conditions in Boston with state-wide conditions, you cannot compare the conditions here in a large city with the conditions out in the country. We must have a communications system, must have boxes, because not all the police officers on duty in Boston are in automobiles where they can receive radio messages. There must be some other way of reaching foot policemen, either at a fixed post or on their beat. Because of present conditions we should not delay further and tie the commissioner's hands by not giving him the appropriation he has asked for and the need for which he has explained to the Council as well as he possibly can under the circumstances. I don't suppose upon a scientific matter like this radio question you would get two experts to agree, any more than you would get them to agree on any scientific subject. Of course, you have many conflicting interests in the radio business and in other lines. For one reason or another, one company comes along and says that two-way radio is not feasible or practicable, and another says it is. It is simply a matter of difference of opinion between experts and companies. I don't think you can get an agreement on which is the best type. I think the commissioner should obtain the best advice he possibly can and that we, in order to uphold his hands in dealing with the crime situation in this city, should pass this order.

Coun. AGNEW (having obtained unanimous consent). Mr. President, I don't believe there is one member of this Council who opposes the installation of police radio. If my memory serves me correctly, last year—while I was not a member of this body—there was considerable talk and discussion about appropriating money for the installation of radio. The members of the Council at that time refused to vote the amount asked, which would cover different things, but did vote to make an expenditure of $75,000 for radio. If I am incorrect in my statement, Mr. President, I wish you would correct me. We are not opposed to the installation of radio but I, for one, would like to know in detail what the $350,000 that is asked for is going to be used for, whether it is merely for radio or for accessories that go with it. The Corporation Counsel has been asked various questions and up to the present time we are awaiting an opinion from him. The Police Commissioner has appeared before the Committee on Finance, I understand, and was unable to explain to the committee in a satisfactory way how the money was to be spent, what it was to be used for. Today, when we meet here, we find before us a fourteen-page statement concerning the so-called communication system of the Police Department, including radio, which we are asked to read and digest, trying to understand what it is all about. I don't see why the Council should be asked to vote on a matter of this kind without an opportunity to look into it and vote intelligently. I see no reason why the matter cannot be laid on the table, giving the members of the Council an opportunity to digest the facts that are before them, so that when we do vote we may vote intelligently. I also ask that this may lie on the table for at least one week.

Coun. GREEN (having obtained unanimous consent). Mr. President, as chairman of the Committee on Finance, I may say that we invited the Police Commissioner to two or three of our meetings. We had three or four meetings, trying to secure the information. The commissioner notified us that he had extraordinary powers created with his position, and that he could go along and obligate the City of Boston on his own initiative, which he has done to the extent of $80,000 for equipment, up to date. There was no other alternative for the committee than to report this order out "ought to pass." We sought information from the Corporation Counsel and from the commissioner. The commissioner has left town, and we are now in about the same position that we have been in all along. We sought information, got all we could, and the commissioner dwelt on the fact that he had extraordinary powers or discretionary powers to go ahead and obligate the city, which he has done to the extent of $80,000 up to date. I wish to inform the members that that is all the information we have received on the so-called radio.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, I would like to ask the City Clerk, through you, if the $75,000 that we appropriated last year for radio for the Police Department has been rescinded.

President DOWD—The Chair will state that the $75,000 has never been rescinded.

Coun. GOLDMAN (having obtained unanimous consent). Mr. President, speaking for myself, I am going to vote in favor of the passage of the order. Examining the record I find that on February 13, 1933, the Mayor of Boston at that time asked for $300,000, and was of the opinion that the order should pass for that amount. But the Council reported a new draft, allowing $75,000, which was passed. I might also remind the members at the present time, in connection with this proposed appropriation, of the 30 per cent clause, which means that over $100,000 of the $350,000 will come back, if we pass this now. We are told that if we do not pass this now we may lose it, that we may lose it in any event, but certainly if there is an opportunity to get it we should not lose the chance to avail ourselves of it if possible. This is not only radio, but the entire system, blinker system, call system, radio, everything. We all know that there is a lack of cooperation between the Police Commissioner's office and the office of the District Attorney, that Rip Van Winkle, and that as a result of lack of cooperation between them, we are getting nowhere with the crime situation in the City of Boston. I say that we ought not to wait one moment, that we should not even table the order, but should pass it at once.

Coun. Norton's motion to lay on the table was declared lost. Coun. GLEASON doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to lay on the table was lost, yeas 7, nays 13:

Yeas—Coun. Agnew, Englert, Fitzgerald, Gallagher, Gleason, McGrath, Norton—7.

Nays—Coun. Brackman, Doherty, Donovan, Dowd, Finley, Fish, Goldman, Green, Kerrigan, Roberts, Selvitella, Tobin, Wilson—13.

President DOWD—The question now comes on the passage of the order.

Coun. McGRATH—Mr. President, I think there are a few matters that should be clarified as far as the Council is concerned in regard to appropriation for radio in the City of Boston. Last year, as the councilor on my right has said the then Mayor submitted an order to the City Council calling for $300,000, and the papers all carried the story that it was for radio purposes. We sent for those in charge of the Police Department and were informed that some $75,000 of this would be spent for radio and that the balance would be spent for a wiring system. I voted to lay this matter on the table because I was impressed by what the councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Norton) said in regard to information that was coming from a real police head—General Needham, in charge of the state force, because the councilor felt, from reports in the papers recently, that this wiring and communications system, the red lights and so on, in large measure, was an extravagance. But the councilor did favor radio communication and pointed out that many towns in the country whose police systems are on a very efficient basis and that had radio messages in their police department had no blinker system. Mr. President, there have been hundreds of thousand spent in this city on lights at crossings, and every time when that money was spent we were told that it would relieve a policeman. Upon the statement of the Police Commissioner the lights at crossings for automobiles and pedestrians have never relieved a single police officer. Under former Mayor Nichols at one time we gave the Police Department 300 additional policemen. Still, crime goes on and we still find more men tagging automobiles and more men assigned to raiding speakeasies in spite of the repeal of prohibition, and more men directing traffic than we find out patrolling the streets of our city. I was told that on a given night some months ago, from Northampton street, the South End, down to North End Park, from one o'clock to eight o'clock in the morning, there were only five police officers on foot. I questioned the Police Commissioner when he came in and would like to question him again, but he is so interested at this moment in what the Council may do and so interested in the crime wave that, at your expense and mine, he is taking a month's leave of absence in warm Bermuda. That is how interested he is in what the members of the Council will do at this moment. When he gets back some one may inform him of the crime wave here, while in the meantime "Police Commissioner" Schwartz remains in charge, transferring officers, threatening those who do good work because of the fact that he still retains a law business that in large measure is dependent on the activity of certain lawyers. So much for the Police Commissioner, who so resented the questions that were asked of him in the Finance Committee that he told your chairman, other members and myself that he had extraordinary powers, that he did not even have to come to the Council, that he could spend all the money he wanted to spend, and we had nothing to do about it. That was some weeks ago before he went on his southern trip. We sent for the Corporation Counsel and asked him ten days ago for a ruling on the question — has the Police Commissioner such extraordinary powers that, for example, if he wanted to spend $10,000,000 today under those powers we could not stop him? The Corporation Counsel has been before your committee three times since and has told us that when he gets around to it we will get an opinion, that he did not want to give a curbstone opinion but would write to the Council his opinion as to just how far the Police Commissioner can go under his extraordinary powers. And so, through no fault of the Council or any committee of the Council we are still waiting for this opinion. We appropriated every dollar necessary for radio last year, and month after month went by but the Police Commissioner would not avail himself of that appropriation, until finally an indignant public rose up in its might and demanded that he go through; and up to that very hour practically every paper in Boston carried the story that the reason why the crime wave was going on in our city was that the commissioner could not install radio, because the City Council was dilatory and refused to give him the money. We had given him the money months before, but he refused to spend it. He has been reported as saying that he wants $250,000 of this money for the blinker system, and he has also told men in the hall about the way that he works his blinker system. After midnight cruising cars are used. Well, do those cruising cars go around to different parts of the city, are they cruising around in unusual places so that our citizens do not have to depend for protection merely on officers on the beats, whose location can be known as they go from one end of the beat to the other and ring their boxes? Do the cruising cars serve that purpose of being in unusual places at unexpected time? It seems not. A car stops and watches a light, and when some citizen has telephoned to a local station house the light in turn is flashed in the signal box, and a man in the cruising car gets out and answers the box. He is told that something has happened on a certain street, and then a rush is made to try to apprehend the criminal. But that does not happen until the citizen has given a warning of a crime being committed, and a belated notification of it comes in that way. The Police Commissioner is sold on the spending of more money on the blinker sustem, on the red light on the box that is in no way connected with the radio. We gave him at the first of last year money for radio. He has now advertised, bids have been received, and we are soon to have installed radio as the result of the appropriation which this Council gave last year and which you, Mr. President, have just told the gentleman from Ward 16 has not been rescinded. Now, sir, because of the extraordinary conditions in our city, because of the crime wave, because of the amount of publicity that has been given to this matter, I for one am going to vote for this entire $350,000, because I know that every Boston paper tomorrow morning will hold up to the public gaze the members of the Council who do not vote for it and will not be fair enough to say that last year we gave to the commissioner the money necessary for the radio. He already has advertised and received bids for that radio, and there is nothing the Council could do to stop it. But under this plan of the commissioner, which the councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Norton) says that General Needham, the head of the State Police, believes has never been proven workable, we are asked to appropriate the greater part of this $350,000, and if we fail to appropriate it the morning papers will probably carry the story, "City Council Blocks Police. City Council Approves of Crime Wave. City Council Refuses to Allow the Commissioner Money for the Apprehension of Criminals." And, unfairly, we will be given a black eye. They will not carry the story that the City Council meets for the second time in the week earnestly trying to settle this and other matters, while the Police Commissioner is comfortably settled in Bermuda, that the City Council is on the job while the commissioner is on a month's vacation, leaving "Police Commissioner" Schwartz in charge, more interested in the concern that will get this wiring contract than in dealing with the present critical situation. Perhaps I am showing cowardice, but under the circumstances I will vote for something that will cost $250,000 and which is no more needed than I need two heads, sir.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, owing to the fact that we have already given $75,000, I move that this order be cut by $75,000, so as to leave $275,000.

President DOWD—Coun. Fish moves that the order be amended to read $275,000 instead of $350,000.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, I am afraid that there are two errors involved in that. One is that the very detailed report we have in front of us from the Police Commissioner states, I believe, that the $75,000 was rescinded; and, whether or not that is so, he never spent that money and says on page 10 of the report that the spending of that money would be a total waste of the city's money. There is the additional important reason that if this order for the appropriation of $350,000 is forwarded to Washington and is approved, the Government will stand one third of the expense, although I am not so hopeful about the fate of the order on the Washington end. So I don't think we should amend the order.

President DOWD—The Chair will rule the amendment out of order under section 2 of the city charter, which reads as follows: "No amendment increasing the amount of loans or altering the disposition of purchase money or of the proceeds of loans, shall be made at the time of the second reading and vote." In view of the fact that this is the second reading, the amendment is out of order. The question now comes on passage.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, before the vote is taken on the $350,000 order, for the sake of the record I wish to make a statement in substantiation of my negative vote. All Boston wants police radio. This Council four years ago started demanding police radio. Last year we voted $75,000 for it. But what the Council is now asked to pass is an order which will give to the Police Commissioner $240,000 for wires, red lights, more boxes, that sort of thing. In the name of common sense why should not the Police Commissioner in carrying through a project of that sort take $20,000 a year, as the previous commissioner, Commissioner Wilson did, gradually replacing the old system? The leading police commissioners and chiefs of America have stated their opinion that when police radio is properly operated the old-time wire and red light system will be obsolete. Gentlemen, you may think that I am merely trying to influence the votes here. Listen to what J. A. Greening, the very efficient chief of police of Berkeley, California, has to say:

"It is hard to believe that anyone could consider that the police box communication system is more important than means of communication by radio."

And still our Police Commissioner proposes to spend $240,000 for red lights and wiring and but $75,000 for police radio. Police radio is the most wonderful thing that was ever devised in the war against crime. With a proper radio system, if a crime has been committed—and this has been demonstrated, in two minutes an officer is at the door of the house. What a wonderful thing! Out in Hyde Park a young man came to a place and said to the woman there, "Sister, give us the money," and took $200, went out on the main street, right in the heart of the place, and then "sister" went out looking for a policeman. How long do you suppose it was before a policeman was on the scene—and this was right in the business area? Twenty-eight minutes! I am not saying this in any derogatory spirit as far as the police officers are concerned. But we do know that there are more police officers on the basis of population in the City of Boston than in any other city of the world, except in lower Manhattan, where they have wonderful congestion. Of course, under the present system, that sort of thing is to be expected, and what I say is intended in no spirit of criticism or derogation of the men in the department. A policeman may be in the next room and a holdup may be going on here. The Needham job was done right in front of police headquarters, with men sitting there and looking out the window. But they, under the circumstances, undoubtedly were not to blame. Therefore, I repeat that what I say is not in any way derogatory of the men in the Boston Police Department, but I am merely calling attention to the fact that the greatest instrument in dealing with crime and leading to arrest is the radio system. Therefore, I am and always have been in favor of the police radio. I am at this time, however, against having $240,000 spent for wires and red lights. And if this should go through, if the grant should be made, let us not fool ourselves in regard to getting back 30 per cent of the allotment, because in the end it will cost us more when we conform to the Government restrictions. Furthermore, I don't believe the Government will pass this, because they have been constantly for four months throwing down items of this nature, where it is largely a matter of supplies and materials, and where a minor part is for actual labor. I do not believe this will be approved by the United States Government, but that it will come back into our laps eventually. I am not going to take any more time on this. We have been looking for months to have steps taken for the introduction of a radio system in our police Department, and we have appropriated money for the purpose. There is no question but what radio is now considered the thing in all the leading police departments of the country. I have here articles from the Traveler under date of January 17 and February 4, pointing out that red lights have gone by, that the red light theory has been abandoned, that the theories and practices of six years ago are now obsolete. Commissioner Needham is planning for the Massachusetts State Police the best radio system in the country. At present fifty-six cities and towns outside of Boston have 145 radio equipped cruiser cars on the road, and the time between the request from one of these cities and towns for a cruiser car until that car reports averages about seven minutes for the state. In addition there are about seventy radio-equipped state police cars. Commissioner Needham also is in receipt of reports from different towns in the state that the old system of signalling with red lights operated from the station or telephone exchange is giving way to radio-equipped cars. So you can see the trend at the present time. But our Police Commissioner from the start has been against radio. He has always stressed the objections, that there was too much interference because of high buildings and vacant lots, dead spots and all that sort of thing, and then there was the fact that crooks would be listening in. Those arguments were repeatedly made for eighteen months against the city getting radio, until finally the verdict of the great American cities became so unanimous that it crashed right into Boston. Not only did New York adopt the radio system for the police department, but along Broadway in the stores notices were put up telling the public how to act in connection with it; that if you wanted a policeman you should call the headquarters operator and within two minutes the policeman would be at your door. Gentlemen, it is the most wonderful medium for crime detection and apprehension from the police standpoint that was ever known. But we were unable to get the police radio here. Well, time went on, crime became more rampant, and finally the Governor of the Commonwealth said to General Needham, "What can we do to stop crime here?" And General Needham replied in effect, "Get police radio." So finally the Governor called upon our Police Commissioner two months ago and was told, so far as Boston was concerned, that the system would have to wait. The Governor said, "You get radio, and get it quick." So while at first the Police Commissioner thought the radio system was wrong, within twenty-four hours he came out with another statement that it wasn't so bad. But not a member of the Council knows what this money is going to be spent for. You have never had it satisfactorily explained to you what it is all about. You don't know whether it will be one-way or two-way radio. So far as you know, they can put a red light over every building here. The greatest company in America, the American Radio Corporation, has told you that in their opinion the two-way radio system at this time is impracticable. Here is an extraordinarily interesting thing as bearing on this whole question. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology in a report states that, in their opinion, an expenditure of any money except this $200,000 odd spent on wires and so on, is a waste of money. I do know that Professor Dugald C. Jackson, who made the reports is the head of the engineering concern that is to install this new radio and is working on it at the present time.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, speaking very briefly on this question, I would state, first of all, that I am one of those councilors still waiting for the opinion of the Corporation Counsel of the City of Boston, one who naturally wants to be enlightened on the so-called extraordinary powers of the Police Commissioner. But my vote on this particular matter is not governed by what the opinion of the Corporation Counsel or any other person may be on that or any other such question at the present time. Nor am I particularly interested in the fact that the Police Commissioner, if such be the fact, is at present taking a vacation in Bermuda or other parts. My personal opinion is that the Boston Police Department, while not perhaps 100 per cent perfect, might have received a good deal of newspaper credit for their action in apprehending the murderer of the little girl on Hudson street if the Needham story had not broken at the time it did and eclipsed the other. I do not believe the Police Department is quite as bad as it is sometimes painted, although it might stand some improvement. Neither do I feel that it is any particular crime to get away on a vacation, because I have in mind the ablest Mayor Boston ever had who had brains enough to frequently spend considerable time away on vacations, which enabled him after he got back to do the good job he always did. With reference to the $75,000 that we appropriated for radio, I am impressed, although I never attended that institution, by the statement, which appears on page 10 of the report before us today, coming from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, as to the advisability of spending $75,000 for a police radio system without any work being performed on the general communications system. "The Institute was of the opinion that this would be a waste of city money." While I am not a graduate of Tech, I do realize that this particular project is an engineering problem, a technical question and, with all due modesty on a question of that kind, I am content to string along with the Institute of Technology. I realize that, perhaps with more or less reason, there has sometimes been bad blood between the Police Commissioner and members of the Boston City Council; but I for one do not care to see the public of Boston at the present time placed between the Council and the Police Commissioner because of any argument as to the Police Commissioner's powers. And personally I do not care to see the papers tomorrow morning carrying the story that other members of the Council and myself endeavored to prevent Boston obtaining this modern improvement, for which Boston would have to pay only something like two thirds of the total expense. Nor, so far as my personal action here is concerned, do I propose to send the members of the Boston Police Department against the organized forces of crime in Boston today figuratively with one hand tied behind their backs. If this $350,000 proposition, an engineering project, is going to give help, give to those under-paid men who are protecting the public an even break in an unfair fight, I am going to vote for it, whether the papers like it or not.

The order was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 19, nay Coun. Norton—1.

3. Report on message of Mayor and five orders (referred February 26) authorizing the Mayor to execute loan agreements with the United States for the following named Public Works projects:

1. Reconstruction of streets at an estimated cost of $1,000,000.

2. Construction of one new high school and one new intermediate school at an estimated cost of $2,000,000.

3. Replacement of Brookline avenue water main at an estimated cost of $350,000.

4. Construction of new surgical building at City Hospital at an estimated cost of $1,500,000.

5. Construction and reconstruction of sewers at an estimated cost of $1,000,000—that the orders ought to pass.

The report was accepted, and the orders were passed, yeas 18, nays 0:

Yeas—Coun. Agnew, Brackman, Doherty, Donovan, Dowd, Englert, Finley, Fish, Gallagher, Gleason, Goldman, Green, Kerrigan, McGrath, Roberts, Selvitella, Tobin, Wilson—18.

Nays—0.

Coun. TOBIN—Mr. President, do I understand the vote we have just had recorded here applies to all those individual loan orders, to every bond issued on an individual loan order?

President DOWD—The action we have just taken applies to the five individual loan agreements that have been agreed to in Washington, the five projects under the Curley administration.

Coun. TOBIN—Mr. President, I desire further information. Do I understand that for every loan order passed the same form of bond is approved by this body, or that there are separate bonds for each loan order?

President DOWD—The action taken on the five orders is final, if Washington approves them

Coun. TOBIN—Then, Mr. President, I raise the point of order whether this one vote approving the form of bond can be regarded as a vote of approval of the five loan orders?

President DOWD—The Chair will rule that the point of order is not well taken.

Adjourned at 3.35 p. m., on motion of Coun. ROBERTS, to meet on Monday, March 5, 1934, at 2 p. m.

APPROPRIATIONS AND EXPENDITURES FOR 1933

A communication was received from the Business Manager, under date of Dec. 31, 1933, submitting the final statement on the cost of maintenance of the public schools for the financial year 1933, showing the appropriations, the expenditures, and the balances for the financial year 1933, the expenditures for the financial year 1932, and the increases and decreases in the several items.

Placed on file.

Chairman: In this connection the Chair would state that in 1932 the School Committee expended for maintenance a total of $16,558,853 and in 1933, $14,908,463—a net saving of $1.650,390. I don't think that this statement truly reflects the close scrutiny the Committee has given the budget during the past three years when we consider that three years ago the budget amounted to approximately twenty millions of dollars and at the present time, for 1933, it amounted to fifteen millions of dollars,—a net saving of twenty-five percent, or approximately five million dollars. I think the Committee can take pride in this fact and I don't know of any elective governmental group in New England that can point to a saving of twenty-five percent in the same period, taking into consideration the fact that no function in the School Department has been made to suffer during this period.

FEDERAL EMERGENCY RELIEF ADMINISTRATION EDUCATION

Opportunity School for Adults

The Superintendent made the following statement:

The School Committee, in cooperation with the Federal Emergency Relief Administration in Education, has decided to open an Opportunity School for Unemployed Adults. The facilities of the Continuation School will be utilized for this purpose and the session will be from 2.30 to 5.30 P. M.

The general purpose of the work is two-fold: (1) to provide constructive employment for unemployed persons in need of relief and competent to teach, and (2) to provide a constructive program in education for persons desiring to avail themselves of the opportunities for further education and training.

As far as possible the teachers will be selected from the lists of those eligible for appointment in the Boston schools. No teachers will be employed who have other employment and the need of relief is a definite requirement stipulated by the federal authorities as a basis for the selection of teachers.

We shall be glad to organize classes in the regular school subjects, such as English Mathematics, History, and Reading. Classes in Commercial subjects—Stenography, Typewriting, Bookkeeping, and Salesmanship easily may be accommodated. Also the facilities of the school make it possible to give occupational training in such subjects as Drafting, Printing, Woodworking, Auto Mechanics, Power Stitching, and Dressmaking. In fact, classes will be organized in any subject for which there is a sufficient number of applicants to warrant.

Applications will be received at the Continuation School from 2:30 to 5:30 P. M. every day this week, and it is hoped that classes may begin on Friday of this week.

Pre-School Centers

On Wednesday, Jan. 31, 1934, Pre-School Centers were opened in the various Health Units in the West End, South End, North End, Roxbury, Charlestown, South Boston, and East Boston, for the admission of children between the ages of three and five years.

For ten days previous to that time, teachers were in training for this pre-school work, studying the problems in the district in which they were assigned and gathering the children for their classes. Due to the extremely cold weather last week not many children appeared, but the numbers are increasing.

RADIO SPELLING MATCHES

Dr. Mackey: May I submit for your earnest consideration the marked possibilities offered by John Shepard, 3d. of WNAC for both individual and collective competition in our Boston schools, by the sponsorship of weekly radio matches, in Spelling, American History and Geography.

You probably all will agree with me that the use and pronunciation of words occupy but a part of the pupil's training in English courses; and that the final and most lasting identification of a word is impressed securely in the pupil's mind only when his ability to remember how the word is broken up into syllables and correctly spelled, is assured.

Final examinations, essays, theses and the life long obligation of communication by letter-writing, all are dependent for best results on correct spelling in the answers to questions asked, or the words to be used by the letter-writer.

For the time being the competition could be limited to High Schools. Each of the schools could promote matches within the district. The winners of these matches then could be sent to meet winners of similar contests from other districts for final competition on the air. Not only would the students themselves give impetus to spelling, but hundreds of sacrificing parents would find great joy in listening to their own or their neighbors' children. In short, much of Boston's population would immediately become aware of the Committee's desire to further the art of learning, and because of this, the parents would automatically lend a more vigorous hand at home.

History and Geography could be handled in the same manner. There are thousands of questions that could be asked of the students, all rather simple and capable of producing marked competition. I daresay that hundreds of parents would find much of gain for themselves, and while we are immediately interested in the education of the children, we are happy to hold out any degree of aid to those who desire to learn.

Merely as a suggestion, I respectfully present for local competition among the districts, the award of some sort of banner, much the same as is awarded for drill competition, and insist that the school or district must have three legs on the emblem before it becomes the permanent property of the winning class. In this way, we could provide a suitable token, yet keep within a minimum of expense. For the final trophy, we could procure a small number of cups, perhaps two, for awards to the schools which finished FIRST and SECOND, and possibly tag along the three legs idea for the same reason of expense. If all other avenues are closed to us for budgeting this expense, I feel sure that there are many public-spirited citizens who would co-operate gladly with our committee to the end that these prizes would be available.

It is my honest belief that where there is opportunity for public display of ability there is a greater expenditure of effort by all who have an opportunity to compete. Here everybody will have that opportunity. There will also be a more intense school spirit, for in the final analysis, the students of schools with a member who has survived the preliminary tests and is entering final competition over the air with other school representatives, will be as much interested in their co-students' success as they are in any of our recognized sports.

I would ask that the Committee carefully consider the proposition which I have outlined and which is made possible through the generosity of Mr. John Shepard, 3d, and would remind the Committee that it was through Mr. Shepard's generosity that the facilities of WNAC were afforded the School Committee for the purpose of broadcasting educational programs sponsored by the Committee.

Chairman: I can see great merit in the recommendation of Dr. Mackey and the very kindly offer of Mr. John Shepard, 3d I would suggest that if it is agreeable to Dr. Mackey, his proposition be referred to the Board of Superintendents for study and early recommendation to this Committee.

With the consent of Dr. Mackey, the plan was so referred.

The Committee adjourned.

MAYOR MANSFIELD BATTLES TO SAVE LOCAL SUGAR INDUSTRY.

As the sugar refineries in and around Boston are operating on part capacity and part time, Mayor Mansfield, on the request of 3,000 workers in the industry, has wired President Roosevelt and Senator Walsh of the urgent necessity of establishing a quota on the importation of refined sugar in order to keep the business in this part of the country and protect the welfare of the employees.

The telegrams are as follows:

CITY OF BOSTON,
MAYOR'S OFFICE, March 1, 1934.

HON. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President of the United States, White House, Washington, D. C.

As Mayor of the City of Boston I am following closely action by Congress on sugar in hopes that a limitation will be set on importations of refined sugar to continental United States from insular possessions and Cuba so that Boston's large sugar refineries now operating at part capacity with part time employment will not close entirely with complete loss of employment to about three thousand workers, and business, to transportation, service and supplies and large taxes. In relation to the Costigan Bill I believe in the case of Cuba refined sugar importations from that country should be limited to not more than fifteen per cent of the proposed quota of all Cuban sugar to be admitted to the United States and strongly urge such limitation.

FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

CITY OF BOSTON,
MAYOR'S OFFICE, March 1, 1934.

HON. DAVID I. WALSH, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

I have just wired the President, "As Mayor of the City of Boston I am following closely action by Congress on sugar in hopes that a limitation will be set on importations of refined sugar to continental United States from insular possessions and Cuba so that Boston's large sugar refineries now operating at part capacity with part time employment will not close entirely with complete loss of employment to about three thousand workers, and business, to transportation, service and supplies and large taxes. In relation to the Costigan Bill I believe in the case of Cuba refined sugar importations from that country should be limited to not more than fifteen per cent of the proposed quota of all Cuban sugar to be admitted to the United States and strongly urge such limitation."

CITY RECORD

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 26. SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1934. NO. 11

MAYOR MANSFIELD TELLS CITY CLUB MEMBERS NO CONSCIENTIOUS CITY EMPLOYEES WILL LOSE THEIR JOBS UNDER HIM—HE IS DETERMINED, HOWEVER, TO WEED OUT DRONES AND UNNECESSARY WORKERS IN ORDER THAT THE BURDEN BORNE BY TAXPAYERS SHALL BE LESSENED—HAS PUT IT UP TO DEPARTMENT HEADS TO FURNISH HIM NAMES OF THOSE TO BE DISPENSED WITH—DETERMINED TO REDUCE BUDGET EXPENSES.

At a luncheon given in his honor by the City Club, on March 8, Mayor Mansfield discussed city problems and the necessity of keeping down the budget for 1934. He stated that in some departments very little if any saving could be made because only persons absolutely necessary for the proper conduct of the department were employed and in those departments very little could be saved on equipment or departmental expenses. In other departments where it was rumored that there were many unnecessary employees on the city pay rolls the Mayor declared that he would place the responsibility of determining what employees were essential and what were unnecessary directly upon the shoulders of the heads of departments. They have all been asked to reduce their budgets by 20 per cent if that is possible, and with that fact in mind the heads of the departments, who are best qualified to judge of the merits of the workers in their various departments and the necessity of their remaining upon the pay roll, have been asked to supply the Mayor with a list of city employees whose services can be dispensed with. There has been so much gossip in the last few years about the increase in the number of city employees both temporary and permanent that it is apparent there must be some foundation for the impression that the pay rolls have been padded with unnecessary help purely for political reasons and for the sake of building up and perfecting somebody's political machine.

The Mayor said that he regretted very much to discharge anyone from any employment, but that the plight of the taxpayer must be considered also, and that it was nothing short of criminal to retain unnecessary city employees upon the pay rolls, holding down soft jobs without doing any work to speak of, while the taxpayers, many of whom are without jobs at all, are compelled to find the money with which to pay these political job holders their salaries. The natural attrition of the pay rolls by retirements, deaths and pensions will gradually reduce the number on the rolls, but in addition to that the Mayor made it very clear that all unnecessary employees holding their jobs through political preference and doing very little, if anything, to earn their money must go. He further said that no conscientious city employee who did an honest day's work for the money received need have any fear whatever about losing his job.

The Mayor reiterated his policy of refraining from unnecessary expenditures of public money except in so far as adherence to the national program compelled it, and in those cases that his theory was that only those projects which were self-supporting when finished ought to have the support of the Mayor and that those which required substantial sums each year for upkeep ought not to be undertaken.

He explained the Neptune Gardens project and made it clear that the owners of that land were not profiting by one single dollar, that none of the money to be advanced came from the city treasury and that for a small expenditure of between $65,000 and $85,000 the city would be creating a taxable land and housing development which would bring in between $50,000 and $100,000 yearly in taxes and would place at work almost immediately over one thousand laborers and skilled mechanics for over a year.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

NEW EAST BOSTON TRAFFIC TUNNEL TO BE READY FOR OPENING CEREMONIES BY MAY 1, WITH MAYOR MANSFIELD TAKING LEADING PART — WHEN OPENED, WILL BE BOON TO ALL NORTH SHORE AND IS EXPECTED TO ENHANCE VALUES OF REAL ESTATE IN ENTIRE EAST BOSTON SECTION OF CITY — WORK WILL HAVE BEEN COMPLETED MONTHS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE, A RECORD FOR THE TRANSIT DEPARTMENT.

Work on the new East Boston Vehicular Tunnel has moved along so far that the Transit Department is now making plans for its opening to the public early in May. Elaborate plans are being made for this event, one of the first major public events relating to public construction in which Mayor Mansfield will play the leading part.

An inspection has been made by Mayor Mansfield who appeared impressed with the tube. He said it was well lighted and ventilated. The motor trip was made in two minutes in company with Chairman Thomas F. Sullivan of the Transit Commission and Percival I. Giering, electrical engineer.

While the exact date has not been set, according to officials of the Transit Department tentatively the occasion of the opening of the tunnel to traffic, when the army of car drivers will begin to stream into and out of the city by way of this tube, has been set for May 1. This week the department is advertising for high tension cable for the tunnel, and other work is rapidly being completed.

The longest task, that of installing the wall tiling, is far along now, and when this is completed there will be a gradual tapering off of the job until the completion.

Walls will be white, glistening, lighted by a series of overhead bulbs, all of which are in place and which on either side cast a light effect which gave the semblance of full daylight within.

The top of the cement platform for use of police patrol and employees is $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet wide with a 6-inch allowance included for the 4-foot tall iron pipe fence and a $\frac{3}{4}$-inch space on the wall.

The power station on the Boston side will be completed, it is expected, around the date set for the tunnel opening, though less than a month, it is estimated, will be needed for winding up construction and equipment work at the power station on the East Boston side.

These twin stations are focal features in the tube operation. Without their fourteen huge fans each, ventilation inside the tube would at once break down. Together they represent one of the monster ventilation plants of the world.

Forty Miles of Wiring.

More than half the tremendous electrical equipment of the tunnel has been installed. It includes forty miles of wiring, traffic signal lights at regular intervals as well as the installation of a telephone system for police and general operation use with phones every 405 feet.

The granite surface of the tunnel highway itself has been laid at the East Boston side. Some work in finishing the ceiling with its slit-like ports for taking care of the exhaust air still has to be done.

Outside, the contract for smoothing up the Boston entrance and approach has been let, sewer water pipes and public utility underground service has been laid and a contract also has been let for the new granite block (Chelmsford) paving for this arterial approach.

New aspects of the mammoth tube as it begins to near completion make it the object of nation-wide interest from the angle of the automobilist.

Linked With Turnpike.

When opened it will have been practically three years in the building. It will prove its intrinsic value many times over, automobile experts declare, the moment its "doors are thrown open." That value represents a cost of $16,000,000 from portal to portal, a $3,000,000 outlay from the Boston entrance to termination of the street widening project along Cross street to and northwest through a new Haymarket square traffic circle to Portland and Chardon streets, another expenditure of approximately $5,000,000 in widening and traffic circle construction through from the East Boston entrance to a link-up with the Newburyport turnpike. Work is progressing on this latter part of the lengthy connection that promises to enable riders to clip 20 to 30 minutes from present running time to the turnpike.

The linking road now in the "polishing stage in parts" will be 100 feet wide with a 30-foot middle strip.

Approaching the tube at either end the car rider will halt at one of the trio of toll stations at intervals across the narrowing entrance highway here. Toll station buildings still remain to be constructed.

Inside the car drops slightly as the rider proceeds until at the very circle center at the middle of the tube a slight rise begins and continues until the East Boston end is achieved.

Two-String Tunnel.

It is a two-string tunnel with room in the $21\frac{1}{2}$-foot driveway for cars to pass around a chance stalled machine. Telephones for operation use, traffic lights and fire extinguisher service have stations at the regular 405-foot intervals, so that a police patrol in case of emergency has only practically 200 feet between himself and means of calling help or halting traffic by operating the red light signals throughout the tube.

Normally all lights will be set on green and there will be no change from green except in case of "trouble." Thirty miles per hour will be the average speed of moving strings so that the 5,650-foot distance from end to end can be made in less than two and one-half minutes under normal conditions.

The twenty-eight blower fans with their immense linked-up motors, and ventilating system, of themselves set the tunnel apart as an epic in modern construction. The practically finished building at the East Boston terminus, four stories, each with an 85 by 55 floor space soon to be operated in conjunction with the Boston side sister building, through its fan series will effect a perfect ventilation inside the tube at all times.

PLENTY OF PURE AIR.

No chance here for failure, Consulting Engineer Giering, in charge of electrical installation, will tell you. Ingoing fresh air sucked through the so-called blind-like louver windows of the ventilation buildings is driven along the tunnel in the 6½-foot tall 17-foot wide space underneath the driveway, passes into an expansion chamber extending along the lower part of the side walls and issues into the tunnel proper through a narrow slit above a series of steel baffle plates extending from one end to the other.

Exhaust takes place through the roof ports, the used air being expelled from stacks on the roof of each of the ventilation buildings.

There will be peak loads and loads in ventilating that necessitate the use of only one or two fans at one time. In the control room of each station there is maintained a continuous graph showing the amount of carbon monoxide in the exhaust air, by means of a meter clock on the control board.

Should the amount of poison gas rise above a certain amount more fans are immediately placed in operation. In lighting, should the power fail, lights automatically would be switched onto battery service. There are two sources of power for each of the buildings and ventilation normally can be taken care of by any one of the four.

Should ventilation break down in the last analysis, cars could be run through the tube for several hours without operators getting into danger of foul air—that is, time would be ample for clearing the tunnel in case ventilation went bad.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.
BOSTON, February 17, 1934.

HON. FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—The Board of Commissioners of this department suggest and do approve of the Superintendent of Construction making an investigation in the cities of St. Louis, Chicago, Philadelphia, New York, Cleveland and Detroit, of the functions of comparable departments, in these respective cities, and to render a report to them on new methods of construction, means of handling contracts, improvements in architectural service, furnishings, grounds and any and all other matters that may be pertinent.

Arrangements are made, subject to your approval, for me to leave here February 23, returning March 12, and taking with me one male secretary and nobody else.

This is considered an administration expense of this department for which we have the funds in hand now and if you will be kind enough to signify your approval, the auditor will release the necessary advance payment, for which an accounting will be made. We feel that this is money well expended and might readily give to the city a return of many times the value of the trip. The estimated cost of this trip is $800. Will you please signify your approval.

Respectfully yours,

WM. W. DRUMMEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.
BOSTON, March 7, 1934.

HON. FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—In December, 1933, the Soldiers' Relief Department arranged, through the then Superintendent of Supplies for the purchase of eighteen filing cabinets and 36,000 index cards for the indexing and cataloguing of their records. The Superintendent of Supplies, assuming that C. W. A. funds were available under their project, No. 1329, and after receiving bids from four reputable office furniture dealers, awarded the contract to the Thorp & Martin Company, 66 Franklin street, Boston, in the sum of $1,708.92, and the files and cards were subsequently delivered.

On January 26, 1934, I received a request from Soldiers' Relief Commissioner Carey to assume the cost of this equipment under my general appropriation, his department not being permitted under the law to make expenditures of this nature. I have taken the matter up with the Budget Commissioner and the above sum has been included in my budget estimates under Item C–7, "Furniture and Furnishings."

In consideration of the foregoing, I respectfully request permission to reaward the contract for furnishing eighteen filing cabinets and 36,000 index cards to the Thorp & Martin Company in the sum of $1,708.92, without the usual form of advertising.

Respectfully yours,

ROSWELL G. HALL,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Lighting Service).
BOSTON, March 7, 1934.

To His Honor the Mayor of Boston.

The lighting of Boston, by gas, during the past ten years was under two contracts; one for the furnishing to the city delivered at the lamp-post connected with the mains of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company of the manufactured gas required, etc., and the second contract was for the equipment and the lighting and extinguishing of gas lamps, etc. Both contracts terminate on the last day of March, 1934. The second contract calling for the equipment and the lighting and extinguishing of gas lamps for the City of Boston contains in paragraph twelve of said contract an extension whereby the city has an option to be signified in writing not later than January 1, 1934, and may extend the contract for a period not exceeding six months. This option was taken advantage of and accepted by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company. The contract for the furnishing of illuminating gas for street lights contains no option and terminates on the last day of March, 1934.

This office has been in communication with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and we are in receipt today of a letter from Mr. Dana D. Barnum, president of said Gas Company, that they would be pleased to make a contract for furnishing gas for the gas lamps for six months after the expiration date of the present contract and at the same price which the city is now paying for approximately 9,606 lamps, the sum of $8.42 per lamp per year making a monthly payment of approximately $6,740.21. The severe weather of the past two months has interfered with a detailed survey of the future handling of the lighting proposition.

I respectfully request your permission to enter into a contract, without advertising, with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for a period not exceeding six months for furnishing illuminating gas for street lighting at a price of approximately $6,740.21 per month.

This method of award is recommended as the Gas Company is the only concern which can furnish the gas for street lighting.

Respectfully,

C. J. CARVEN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Water Service).
BOSTON, March 5, 1934.

To the Mayor of Boston.

Fire at carpenter shop of the Water Department, Albany street, Boston, on February 24, destroyed the second and third floors of said building, including portions of the roof.

As a result of an examination this morning by the chief inspector of the Building Department, we were ordered to immediately remove one half of the second floor and overhanging timbers that were burnt away and were by them considered dangerous.

As a result of this fire I respectfully request permission to award a contract, without advertising, to William J. Driscoll of 1190 Morton street, Dorchester, to remove timbers and debris at an expense not exceeding $1,500. This work cannot be delayed for the receiving of bids as there is serious danger of the floors collapsing.

Respectfully yours,

C. J. CARVEN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, February 16, 1934.

To the Mayor of Boston.

The Water Division of the Public Works Department is meeting conditions today which have not existed since the severe winter of 1917. The sub-zero weather for the past two weeks or more has forced the frost into the ground to a depth of four or five feet, and as a consequence a great number of service pipes have frozen and are freezing.

Up to date the division has thawed out 246 service pipes and have a list on hand of 135 service pipes to attend to, and for the past two or three days are receiving calls at the rate of thirty per day.

The Water Service pipes are thawed out by the use of electrical machines. In addition to the machines, the property of the Public Works Department, we have been obliged to engage three electrical machines from the Edison Electric Illuminating Company. The rental of these machines is at the rate of $165 per day, and at the present time it is estimated that we shall require the services of these machines in addition to our own for a period of at least two weeks.

At this total cost will amount to over one thousand dollars, I respectfully request your permission to make a contract, without advertising, with the Edison Electric Illuminating Company for the rental of their equipment to the amount of approximately twenty-five hundred (2,500) dollars. This will not admit of delay as many houses are without water and public health is endangered.

Respectfully yours,

C. J. CARVEN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, March 8, 1934.

To the Mayor of Boston.

On March 5 I sent a request to your Honor for the award of a contract, without advertising, to William J. Driscoll, 1190 Morton street, Dorchester, to remove timbers and debris at an expense not exceeding $1,500 in the building occupied by the Water Division of the Public Works Department, Albany street, which was seriously damaged as the result of a recent fire. This permission was granted by you on March 6, 1934, but since that time the building inspectors made a new and more thorough examination of the building and as a result they have ordered us to do extra work necessitating the expenditure of $300 additional. Consequently I am asking you to void the previous request for $1,500 and substitute this letter for $1,800 which will cover all the work desired by the Building Department and to permit me to award a contract without advertising, for $1,800, to the said William J. Driscoll to do all the work necessary to comply with the request of the Building Department.

This work cannot be delayed for the reissuing of bids as there is serious danger of the floor collapsing.

Yours respectfully,

C. J. CARVEN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.
BOSTON, March 8, 1934.

HON. FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without publicly advertising the same, to the Noyes-Buick Sales Company for furnishing to the Traffic Commission the following:

One 1934 five-passenger Buick sedan, painted black, four-door, 100 horse power, for the sum of $1,565; less a Federal tax of $33.70; less turn-in value for one 1931 seven-passenger Hupmobile sedan, $250; net amount of contract, $1,281.30.

As the Noyes-Buick Sales Company are the direct representatives of the manufacturer, no advantage would accrue from publicly advertising for same.

Respectfully yours,

WARREN W. LOOMIS,
Superintendent of Supplies.

MESSAGES BY THE MAYOR TO THE CITY COUNCIL ON MARCH 10.

To the City Council.

GENTLEMEN,—I am returning herewith without my signature and with my disapproval the order of March 5 to construct a sidewalk of artificial stone with granite edgestones upon the entire length of Perrin street, Ward 12, Roxbury, on both sides of the street. I am informed that there is a brick sidewalk now existing on both sides of this street, that there is no pressing necessity for substituting artificial stone for the bricks, and that the proposed improvement would cost $3,300 which the city can ill afford to spend at this time. Under these circumstances I must decline to approve the order.

Respectfully,

FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD,
Mayor.

To the City Council.

GENTLEMEN,—I am returning herewith without my signature and with my disapproval the order of February 26, 1934, to construct an artificial stone sidewalk on the Franklin Field side of Talbot avenue, from Blue Hill avenue to the southerly line of Franklin Field. I am informed that this construction properly comes within the jurisdiction of the Park Department and not of the Public Works Department to whom the order was addressed; that there exists now at this place a suitable gravel sidewalk with granite edgestones and seats and that the cost of the improvement would be about $5,200 which the city cannot afford to spend at the present time upon a project which does not seem to be necessary. Under these circumstances I must decline to approve the order.

Respectfully,

FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD,
Mayor.

To the City Council.

GENTLEMEN,—I am returning herewith without my signature and with my disapproval the order of February 26 for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks on Bayard street, Brighton, from North Harvard street to Myrick street. I am informed that artificial stone sidewalks were constructed upon this street only a few months ago at a cost of about $2,500, that they are in excellent condition and that a replacement of these sidewalks is wholly unnecessary. Under these circumstances I must decline to approve the order.

But I am further informed that an examination of the records shows that the required lien order of the City Council which is necessary to make assessments against the abutters was not presented to the City Council. If the purpose of the order which I am returning herewith without my approval is to legalize the assessments against the abutting properties, I would respectfully suggest that the order be redrawn to disclose that purpose and submitted to me again in which case I shall probably approve of it.

Respectfully,

FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD,
Mayor.

LAND-TAKING IN DORCHESTER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for sewerage works, to be constructed as follows:

The right and easement is taken to lay and maintain sewerage works in the following described lands, exclusive of any interest in trees, buildings or other structures standing thereon, reserving to the owners thereof the right to use the lands for any purpose except such as may injure or obstruct said works, and except for placing or maintaining any structure on said lands not authorized in writing by the Mayor of said city; trees, buildings or other structures standing upon or affixed to the land in which an easement is hereby taken are to be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said taking for the purpose of constructing said sewerage works. Said lands are in that part of Boston, formerly Dorchester, and are bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Phillips place, bounded:

Southerly by Dudley street, six feet; westerly by another part of Phillips place, one hundred fifty-three and 5–100 feet; northerly by the same, six feet; and easterly by the same, one hundred fifty-three and 5–100 feet, containing nine hundred and eighteen square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: One hundred and sixty linear feet of 10-inch pipe sanitary sewer, in the above-described premises, being part of the private way known as Phillips place, leading northeasterly from Dudley street for a distance of approximately one hundred and fifty-three feet.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the abutting lots of land on both sides of Phillips place, and at the northerly end of said place, excluding the lots at the corners of Dudley street, will receive benefit or advantage, beyond the general advantage to all real estate in said city, from the improvement herein ordered; each of said lots to the amount hereinafter respectively set against it; said lots and the supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Plan No. 1129, Sewerage Works, Phillips Place, Dorchester, January 31, 1934, William J. Sullivan, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

The following communication was received:

City of Boston—Department of School Buildings.

Feb. 28, 1934.

School Committee,
City of Boston,
15 Beacon Street,
Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen:—

Under date of Feb. 28, 1934, the following proposed orders were forwarded by the School Committee to the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings, City of Boston:

ORDERED, That out of the sum of $2,000,000.00 appropriated by the City Council of the City of Boston, by order passed on Feb. 12, 1934 and Feb. 26, 1934, and approved by the Mayor on Feb. 27, 1934, to be expended under the direction of the School Committee for one new high school and one new intermediate school, the sum of $1,200,000.00 be and the same hereby is appropriated for one new high school; and that the Washington Irving Intermediate District in West Roxbury be and the same hereby is designated as the school district within which said school shall be erected.

ORDERED, That out of the sum of $2,000,000.00 appropriated by the City Council of the City of Boston, by order passed on February 12, 1934, and February 26, 1934, and approved by the Mayor on February 27, 1934, to be expended under the direction of the School Committee for one new high school and one new intermediate school, the sum of $800,000.00 be and the same hereby is appropriated for one new intermediate school; and that the Shurtleff District in South Boston be and the same hereby is designated as the school district within which said school shall be erected.

Under date of February 6, 1934, the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings set forth in a letter to the Mayor of our City, its reasons for advocating that the present Washington Irving School, now used for an intermediate school, be made a high school for the West Roxbury District. In this communication we pointed out that that was the original idea when the Washington Irving School was completed in 1925.

We stated in that letter that we believed that another intermediate school should be built in the Roslindale section of West Roxbury and then, West Roxbury having a centrally located high school and two intermediate schools, would be adequately provided for until the district had grown sufficiently to warrant another high school for West Roxbury, when one could be used for boys and the other for girls.

It is unnecessary to set forth at length here the arguments in full that led us to these conclusions. However, it seems that notwithstanding the views of the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings, the School Committee in order to avail itself of the funds coming from the United States Government in addition to the proceeds from bonds issued by the City of Boston for the purpose of meeting the cost of a high school in West Roxbury as well as an intermediate school in South Boston, desire to proceed as set forth in the two accompanying orders.

The Board of Commissioners of School Buildings therefore, while they still adhere to their views as expressed in their letter of February 6th to His Honor, the Mayor, do not wish to obstruct the carrying through of the program which now seems favorable to the Mayor, the City Council and the School Committee, and therefore have voted to approve the foregoing orders.

Very truly yours,
Board of Commissioners of School Buildings,
By Richard J. Lane,
Chairman.

Place on file.

The following was offered:

ORDERED, That out of the sum of $2,000,000.00 appropriated by the City Council of the City of Boston, by order passed on February 12, 1934 and February 26, 1934, and approved by the Mayor on February 27, 1934, to be expended under the direction of the School Committee for one new high school and one new intermediate school, the sum of $1,200,000.00 be and the same hereby is appropriated for one new high school; and that the Washington Irving Intermediate District in West Roxbury be and the same hereby is designated as the school district within which said school shall be erected.

Passed by the following vote:

YEAS—Messrs. Lyons, Mackey, Sullivan and Tobin—4.

PROPOSED NAME OF STORROW BASIN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 1, 1934.

To the Honorable the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith a letter from the Park Department, concerning your order of February 19, 1934, relative to changing the names of Charles River Basin and Charlesbank Park to Storrow Basin, in honor of the late James J. Storrow.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, February 23, 1934.

Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of an order from the City Council that the Park Commission change the same of Charlesbank Park to Storrow Basin, in honor of the late James J. Storrow, and stating that Mrs. Storrow recently gave a million dollars for the reclaiming and completion of the basin.

Charlesbank was the first playground established in America. It is known all over the country as "Charlesbank."

The million dollars donated by Mrs. Storrow was used in reclaiming the basin above the bridge. The area under the jurisdiction of the Park Department is strictly a playground.

Personally, I do not think the name should be changed. Unofficially, I know that Mrs. Storrow does not want to have the area called after her late husband. Her idea is a memorial of a different nature.

The Metropolitan District Commission states that the improvements made below Longfellow Bridge was paid out of an appropriation of $400,000 made by the City of Boston and not from any of the Storrow fund.

Very respectfully yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

City of Boston,
Collecting Department,
March 3, 1934.

Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—Reference is here made to a communication to this department for information according to an order passed by the City Council bearing upon the Boston Port Development Company.

For the years 1930 and 1931, the name of this concern was the East Boston Development Company.

The tax for 1930 amounted to thirty-three thousand, eight hundred and forty-nine dollars and fifty-five cents ($33,849.55) with interest and costs of thirty-nine hundred and nineteen dollars and sixty-five cents ($3,919.65). This was paid on February 27, 1932.

For the year 1931, the tax amounted to thirty-four thousand and sixty-one dollars and eighty-three cents ($34,061.83). That with interest and costs of twelve hundred and twenty-four dollars and seventy-seven cents ($1,224.77) was paid on February 27, 1932.

The tax for the year 1932 with a total of thirty-five thousand, four hundred and eighty-six dollars and eight cents ($35,486.08) on which various amounts of seven hundred and fifty-two dollars and sixty cents ($752.60) have been paid to date. There is due interest and costs of four thousand and sixty-five dollars and twenty-two cents ($4,065.22), thus making an amount now due of thirty-eight thousand, seven hundred and ninety-eight dollars and seventy cents ($38,798.70).

For the year 1933, the total tax was thirty-one thousand, five hundred and fifty-six dollars and two cents ($31,556.02) on which have been paid various amounts of two hundred and twenty-six dollars and thirty-two cents ($226.32). Interest and costs to date amount to eleven hundred and fifty-seven dollars and seventy cents ($1,157.70), thus making for this year an amount of thirty-two thousand, four hundred and eighty-seven dollars and forty cents ($32,487.40).

There has been no tax sale of this property. The records of this office do not contain any statement as to why there was no tax sale. However, the department is preparing a list of the remaining 1932 unpaid taxes for the purpose of obtaining tax titles.

Very truly yours,
JOHN F. DOHERTY,
City Collector.

REINSTATEMENT OF MICHAEL SANTIANO.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Penal Institutions Department,
March 2, 1934.

To the Members of the City Council.

Gentlemen,—Permission has been received from the Civil Service Commission as of date of February 14, 1934, for the reinstatement of Michael Santiano as officer at the House of Correction, Deer Island, Boston Harbor, effective January 21, 1934.

Officer Santiano was absent on leave without pay from November 23, 1933, to January 4, 1934, because of an emergency which arose wherein he was called back to work temporarily at the Boston Navy Yard. Leave was granted because we had, at the House of Correction, Deer Island, enough temporary officers to properly supervise the inmates.

I trust that this reinstatement will meet with the approval of the members of the City Council.

Sincerely yours,
WILLIAM G. O'HARE,
Penal Institutions Commissioner.

DATE OF DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

Coun. GREEN offered the following:

Whereas, It has been decided to hold the Democratic State Convention during the month of June; and

Whereas, The City of Boston each year, through its Public Celebrations Department, devotes considerable time to the preparation of a program for the proper observance of Bunker Hill Day, June 17; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston respectfully requests the chairman of the Democratic State Committee, Hon. Joseph A. Maynard, to take into consideration this fact in setting a date for the convention, in order that it will not be held during the week of June 17 to conflict with the celebration of Bunker Hill Day.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

IMPROVEMENTS ON PERRIN STREET.

Coun. BRACKMAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Perrin street, entire length, both sides, Ward 12, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

It was voted, on motion of Coun. McGRATH, that when the Council adjourns today it be to meet on Monday, March 19, 1934, at 2 p. m.

HOUSE BILLS 1046 AND 1047.

Coun. ROBERTS offered the following:

Resolved, That the Boston City Council favored the passage of House Bills Nos. 1046 and 1047, or any similar legislation which would bring about an investigation of all charges made by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company and calculated to bring about more equitable charges to the citizens of the city.

Coun. ROBERTS—Mr. President, this is an order similar to one passed by the City Council last year, in favor of similar legislation. The bill of last year was defeated by but very few votes in the Legislature, and to all appearances there will be a very close vote on the bill this year. I understand that most of the Boston representatives favor it. Having in mind the fact that it takes about two years before any representative citizen of a city or town can get an adequate hearing before the Department of Public Utilities on any given rate case, this proposed legislation was brought before the Legislature with the purpose of having a special commission investigate these charges. The only organized position I know of outside of that by the telephone company is from the fact that it might cost money. I understand, however, that the committee might very likely report a bill stating that all reasonable charges shall be paid by the telephone company itself, and in such case there would be no cost for this unpaid commission suggested in House 1046.

The resolution was passed under suspension of the rule.

AUTOMATIC TRAFFIC SIGNALS, WARD 6.

Coun. DONOVAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Traffic Commission be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install automatic traffic signals at Flood square, Ward 6.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REINSTATEMENT OF MICHAEL SANTIANO.

Chairman GALLAGHER offered the following:

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 320 of the Acts of 1933 the reinstatement of Michael Santiano in the employment of the Penal Institutions Department as an officer at the House of Correction, Deer Island, be, and hereby is, approved.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ANNEXATIONS OF BOSTON.

East Boston in 1637; South Boston in 1804, being set off from Dorchester; Roxbury in 1868, a city of Norfolk County since March, 1846; Dorchester in 1870, a town since September, 1630; Charlestown in 1874, a city of Middlesex County since February, 1847; Brighton in 1874, set off from Cambridge and incorporated as a town of Middlesex County in February, 1807; West Roxbury in 1874, set off from Roxbury and incorporated as a town of Norfolk County in May, 1851; Hyde Park in 1912, a town of Norfolk County since April, 1868.

These annexations, which added 24,312 acres of land to the original land of Boston, were by area as follows: East Boston, 1,435 acres; South Boston, 795; Roxbury, 2,450; Dorchester, 5,600; West Roxbury, 8,075; Brighton, 2,664; Charlestown, 424; Hyde Park, 2,869. Filled land increased the area later by 1,396 acres. In 1875 the annexed territory had a population of 201,250, or 58.86 per cent of city's total; in 1910 its population had increased to 477,311, or 71.18 per cent, Hyde Park not included. By 1915 the total was 549,139, or 73.67 per cent of city. By 1925 the total was 607,519, or 77.92 per cent.

SAND, CINDERS AND SALT IN DULUTH.

About 385 miles of sidewalk are sanded every year and about 250 miles of streets are snow-plowed and sanded. Ordinarily, flat grades are not sanded, this work being confined to steep grades where dangerous ice conditions exist. During the past season the maintenance department used about 500 cubic yards of cinders, 500 cubic yards of sand, and 5 tons of calcium chloride on the streets.

The use of salt, or sodium chloride, has been discontinued entirely, because of its injurious effect on concrete walks and pavements. The action of salt is not clearly understood, but it is much more active during cold weather than in summer, and is apparently due to the formation of crystals after penetrating the surface, the force of which disintegrates the concrete. Calcium chloride does not seem to be entirely free from this difficulty, but is much less active than sodium chloride.

JAMAICA SPENDS $1,000,000 ANNUALLY ON ROAD CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE.

Jamaica, an English possession, has a highway system which is almost entirely constructed of waterbound macadam, some 70 miles of which has been surface-treated. Many of the roads are under the supervision of the Department of Public Works and various parochial boards. There are about 2,500 miles of bridle and foot paths. The highway system connects all parts of the island in a very satisfactory manner, and the problem is not that of the construction of new roads, but the improvement of old ones, the surfacing and widening of these roads, and protective coatings. The roads are well maintained and, as there are not many heavy trucks, the maintenance is satisfactory. There are approximately 4,000 miles of highways, or 1.11 square miles of area to one mile of highway.

About a million dollars per year is spent on new construction and maintenance, the machinery used being both European and American.

(From a report of the American Road Builders' Association.)

BOSTON AS A TOWN.

From its foundation until 1755, or a period of 125 years, Boston was not only the most outstanding but the most populous town in the American colonies. In 1760, Philadelphia's population was ahead, viz., 18,756, Boston's then being 15,631 and New York's about 14,000. In the last year of town government, viz., 1821, Boston's population was about 45,000 and its public debt $100,000, all incurred for new county buildings.

The history of Boston as a town during a period of nearly two centuries surpasses in civic interest that of Boston as a city because of the untiring zeal and successful efforts of its townsmen to realize more of true democracy than had ever been attained before. Their obligations were held as sacred as their liberties.

MASSACHUSETTS BAY COLONY.

The first chartered colony in New England, charter granted by Charles I on March 4, 1629. About a year before, a patent had been granted to six prominent men of Dorchester, west of England, among whom was Capt. John Endicott. He sailed in June, 1628, with a party of fifty or sixty persons, arriving in September and settling at Naumkeag, afterward named Salem. In the spring of 1629, the Bay Company fitted out three ships conveying about four hundred persons and arriving at Salem in June. Endicott sent a small party to effect a settlement on the Bay in Mishawum, afterward named by the settlers Charlestown, the first town in New England to assume the town polity, Plymouth and Salem being governed by a governor and council. Endicott was appointed in London as the first resident governor on April 30, 1629. The Massachusetts Bay Company was reorganized in London on October 20, 1629, when John Winthrop was chosen as governor. He arrived at Salem on June 12, 1630, soon proceeded to Charlestown with a large following and finding that place unsuitable, finally settled in Boston. Winthrop served thirteen years as governor in four different periods ending in 1649 and Endicott fifteen years at various times ending in 1665. Other governors were Thomas Dudley, Richard Bellingham, John Haynes, Henry Vane, John Leverett and Simon Bradstreet, the latter serving twelve years until 1692 when the Bay Colony and the Plymouth Colony were merged, becoming the Royal Province of Massachusetts Bay, which existed eighty-two years to 1774, the governors being appointed by the King.

The name, Massachusetts, is Indian and signifies "near the big hills."

BOSTON INCORPORATED AS A CITY, 1822.

The act of incorporation was passed by the Legislature on February 23, 1822. On March 4 following, the voters of Boston accepted said act, chapter 110, 1821-22, as its first city charter by a majority of 916 in a total vote of 4,678. The vote was 2,797 yeas, 1,881 nays. Previous attempts to incorporate as a city had been made in 1650, 1659, 1667, 1708, 1744, 1762, 1784, 1791, 1804 and 1815. The charter was revised in 1854, 1885 and 1909. Amendments to the 1909 charter were enacted in 1910, 1912, 1914, 1918, 1919, 1921, 1922 and lastly in 1924 (see "Municipal Register" for 1928, pages 19-43).

CITY RECORD

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 26. SATURDAY, MARCH 24, 1934. No. 12

MAYOR MANSFIELD DISCUSSES MUNICIPAL PAY ROLL AS RELATED TO HIS ECONOMY PROGRAM FOR CITY — POINTS TO FUTILITY OF ANY ATTEMPT AT REAL REDUCTIONS IN BURDENS WITHOUT TAKING INTO CONSIDERATION THE IMPERATIVE NEED OF REDUCTIONS IN THIS BRANCH — OUTLINES HIS EFFORTS IN REGULAR WEEKLY BROADCAST FROM CITY HALL STATION.

In his regular weekly broadcast on March 19 Mayor Mansfield discussed the municipal pay roll as follows:

It is futile to attempt any real program of economy in the city government while ignoring the imperative need of reducing the cost of the municipal pay roll. At the present time the 21,000 employees of city and county departments receive more than $38,000,000 per year. That sum is equivalent to over $200 to every family in Boston. It represents almost one half the annual cost of the municipal government. It has increased substantially since the depression began, although the ability of the public to meet the cost has been reduced severely.

In the years of prosperity preceding 1930, local governmental services expanded rapidly and new functions were added. Considerations of economy were not deemed important. The pay rolls increased in each year both as to number employed and compensation paid. Since the depression the pay rolls have continued on an inflated prosperity-time basis, and, in addition, hundreds of new employees have been added, and many salary increases have been granted. In the short space of fourteen years, the annual pay roll appropriation of city departments alone jumped from $10,000,000 to $21,300,000, a 113 per cent increase.

There is always a great temptation to be liberal with the public money on the municipal pay roll. But the time has come when the interests of the public who pay the bills must be considered. The city government cannot afford to keep a single unnecessary employee on the pay roll nor to continue rates of compensation at pre-depression heights.

In February, 1932, a fourfold policy for economy in the city pay roll was announced. Unnecessary positions were to be eliminated; vacancies would not be filled; salary increases would not be granted; recipients of public welfare aid would be used instead of hiring many temporary employees; and no overtime payments would be allowed. As far as it went this policy had all appearances of genuine economy. But the facts prove that no substantial savings from the operation of this policy were expected or planned by city officials. The total 1932 pay roll appropriations in city departments, including those for the Park Department which were taken from Parkman Fund income, exceeded the amount actually expended in 1931.

Performance Needed.

These are unusual times. Mere lip-service to economy, which is not followed by actual performance, will not appease a public which is being called upon to pay more in taxes than it can afford, and more than is necessary. The policies as to the municipal pay roll that were promised but not performed by the city administration must be put into actual effect to the maximum possible extent and the public must be given the benefit of the savings which would inevitably result.

Public employees have enjoyed a certainty of employment which is enviable even in normal times. During the depression they have been retained at full-time pay, with no lay-offs and with vacations and pensions. With the decline in the cost of living, the purchasing power of their income had increased steadily, so that for a long time they had been receiving the equivalent of a twenty per cent increase in pay. On the other hand, most of those who must bear the cost of the municipal pay roll have suffered severe reductions in pay, are on part time, or have no jobs at all.

It has been argued that reduced pay rolls in public employment mean lower buying power. The money to pay these wages comes from the public. It is worth just as much in buying power to them as to public employees. Moreover a reduction amounting to no more than the decrease in living costs would leave intact the purchasing power which public employees had in the days of prosperity. If anything less than this is done, public employees will be permitted to profit from the distress of others. One of the principal causes of the larger purchasing power of public employees is the lowered income of those privately employed. The public employee is now able to pay less to those in private employ who supply him with food, clothing and other commodities. It is not unreasonable for the private employees to expect the public employee also to contribute something to the general welfare.

MAYOR MANSFIELD URGES CITIZENS OF BOSTON, IN ADDRESS BEFORE MEMBERS OF CHARITABLE IRISH SOCIETY AT ANNUAL DINNER ON MARCH 17, TO BE PROUD OF HERITAGE OF NATIONAL LEADERSHIP, GRATEFUL THAT ALL ARE BOSTONIANS AND CITIZENS OF NO MEAN CITY — DISCUSSES PROBLEMS THAT MENACE TODAY IN COMPARISON WITH THOSE OF OTHER DAYS.

The following is the address, in part, of Mayor Mansfield at the Charitable Irish Society dinner, March 17:

In the century and twelve years of Boston's life as a city, the toast — "The City of Boston" — has been given times without number and in those years has been responded to by many eloquent and distinguished men. And the toast has been given upon many occasions and under varying circumstances. On grave occasions and on gay occasions, and on solemn occasions and on gala days.

This toast has been given to celebrate and commemorate the anniversary of great events important in the life of our nation and it has been given in times when the very life of our nation and of the city itself was at hazard. But I think that no Mayor has ever risen to respond to this sentiment under circumstances more grave than those which now confront our beloved city. True, it is not a war that menaces us at the moment. A military enemy is not at our gates. Our port is not blockaded and the country is at peace. But, nevertheless, we have been beset in nation, state and city by conditions potentially as grave and as alarming as though the war drums were sounding in our ears.

For a decade of years prior to the summer of 1929, after the termination of the World War, the people had been spending money lavishly. Wages were high. Work was plentiful. Happiness and prosperity appeared to wax and grow great daily until in the closing month of that decade the nation was on a spree. Then came the collapse of the stock market, the deflation of the dollar, and untold suffering and loss to hundreds of thousands of people. The entire country trembled at the shock and well it might for it had been struck by a financial earthquake. Every state and every city suffered, some more, some less, than others.

Boston Suffers.

I am happy to say that Boston, in comparison with other large cities, is coming through the test very well indeed. But Boston, too, and her people have been the victims of overindulgence in the free spending of the people's money. Huge sums have been spent on projects that were unnecessary. Money has been lavishly squandered, apparently with no thought whatever of the day of reckoning. In many instances pay rolls have been padded by the enforced addition of temporary appointees whose services were wholly unnecessary and whose appointments were purely political.

Boston has been an "easy boss." I know very well that a city cannot be run on the close rigid principles of a private corporation. I know that a city must maintain many activities which are costly but necessary where a private corporation would discontinue at once any activity which would not show a profit. I know that there are many things that ought to be done, and could easily be done in a private corporation, but can never be accomplished in a political corporation, but I also know that many things can be accomplished to improve the conditions in Boston, and those things I am trying to do. I have explained to the people many times that Boston has the highest tax rate of any large city in the country, larger than New York, Chicago, Philadelphia or any city excepting very small municipalities, and I have further explained that if the tax rate were fixed upon the true valuation of real estate in Boston we would have the highest tax rate not only of any city in this country but any city in the civilized world.

In 1932 we had the highest tax rate in the history of the city, $35.50 per thousand. In the following year, because of borrowing and a Federal grant, the tax rate was fixed at $32.80 but without the borrowing and the grant it would have been the same as the year before, $35.50.

I am striving to keep the tax rate down this year. The taxpayer in Boston has been the forgotten man. The city employee finds plenty of champions to go to the front for him and apparently it makes no difference whether he is merely a recent temporary employee appointed for purely political reasons by my predecessor or whether he is an employee of long service in the city whose appointment was won and kept by merit. The voices that are raised to hold the city employees on their jobs are legion. The voices that are raised on behalf of the taxpayer are few and far between. They have been voices crying in the wilderness, and despite all their warnings and all their protests the tax rate in Boston has steadily mounted. But this year I think the people are "tax conscious," to use a rather hackneyed expression. They realize at last that they are paying the freight and they demand that the frills and the unnecessary trimmings of municipal government be eliminated in order that the burden resting upon them shall not be greater and in the hope that it may become less.

That is what I want to accomplish among other things. I am striving to keep the department budgets down to a figure which will insure efficient service but which will eliminate all unnecessary expenses. The temporary political appointees whose services are wholly unnecessary and whose salaries are coming out of the taxpayers' pockets must go. Other employees in departments where business has fallen off because of the depression and which, accordingly, are overmanned, probably must adjust themselves to a shorter week or to alternate weeks of work.

Unless every reasonable effort is made to keep the budgets down our tax rate is bound to be higher than it was in 1932 and if it is increased substantially it will mean that there will be more defaults in the payment of taxes, that collections will fall off and that the city will have less revenue to conduct its affairs than it has had.

It has been said that he who dances must pay the piper. I doubt the accuracy of that old "saw." Apparently those who dance leave it to those who come after them to pay the piper, and that is what has happened to Boston today. We sowed the wind and we are reaping the whirlwind.

Coming Through Well.

I said a moment ago that Boston was coming through this test wonderfully well. Have no doubt of that, my friends. It is written of St. Paul that when he was apprehended and about to be cast into prison he was asked, "Art thou a Roman citizen?" And he replied, "I am a citizen of no mean city, I was born free." And so in rising to respond to this toast to the City of Boston I take immeasurable pleasure in the honor given to me to respond to it to bring to you the greetings of our beloved Boston and to say to you that we are citizens of no mean city. That we are coming through this test glorious and triumphant. That we were born free because of the services rendered by our forefathers in the American Revolution. Boston it was that supplied the spark that fired the nation. Here in 1768 the first resistance to an imposition of customs was encountered by the British. Here, two years later, in 1770, the first blood of the American Revolution was shed—shed by a black man, whose sacrifice helped to free a people which enslaved his own. Here we are thrilled by the recollections of Lexington and Concord and Bunker Hill, and among all these local events which are important in the life of a nation none more important that that which happened upon the day we commemorate, the Evacuation of Boston by the British, one hundred and fifty-eight years ago. If that evacuation had not been accomplished, who knows how history may have been written. If the fire had been quenched in Boston it might have died out in the entire country.

And, of course, no man who rises to speak upon the occasion can fail to be struck by its dual aspect. Because to a Bostonian the 17th of March means two things. It means St. Patrick's Day and Evacuation Day. And, of course, all of us, every school boy and school girl knows the history of Gen. John Sullivan in the Revolution, who himself connected the observance of a great saint's day and military precaution when he sent out the order that the countersign for the day was to be "St. Patrick." Many Irish soldiers were in the ranks fighting for freedom in the American Revolution. And Irishmen everywhere have always shed their blood gladly for freedom not only for their own freedom but the freedom of other oppressed nations in the world. I know that the speaker who is to follow me, and who is to answer to the toast, "The Day We Celebrate," will do ample justice to St. Patrick and the Irish nation. I shall not encroach upon his field, but I could not forbear to say a word for Ireland.

And now, my friends, members of the Charitable Irish Society, Boston greets you — Boston with all its glorious traditions of patriotism and with all its heritage of leadership of the nation. For nearly two hundred years now you have been part of Boston's history and contributed largely to its success and prosperity. Let us be proud of our heritage and let us be grateful that we are Bostonians and citizens of no mean city.

BROADCAST BY MAYOR.

There is no danger that such action by the city government would establish a precedent and encourage private employers to follow. Private employment has not waited for any such precedent. The force of economic necessity has already compelled action. Nor should there be any fear that the morale of public employees would be destroyed. Although they are in a position to attract strong political support and public sympathy, it is mistaken kindness to encourage them to believe that they are in a favored class that can demand immunity from economic vicissitudes at the expense of those on whom the burden of a depression inevitably falls.

COMMUNITY INCOME HAS DIMINISHED.

This is the fifth year of the depression. In each previous year the cost of the city government has increased, but the community income which must pay that cost has diminished. The principal source of tax revenue for the city is the income from ownership of property, from salaries and wages and from the operations of business firms. At the present time tens of thousands of persons are idle. Not only are many of them unable to contribute their share of the cost but they are being aided by public funds at a rate of over $1,000,000 per month. With few exceptions those who are working are on reduced income; some are receiving less than is necessary for satisfactory living and in many cases they are receiving even less than the city is paying others who are unemployed. The earning power of real estate has been decreased severely. Many business firms which normally employed large numbers of workers and which themselves paid a large part of the cost of government, are closed or their operations are severely curtailed.

These facts indicate clearly that the city government can no longer spend money in practically every department on a prosperity basis, and that it will be impossible for the public to meet this increasing burden of taxation without serious economic damage. It seems inevitable that failure to reduce the cost of government will postpone a return to better times; will reduce community purchasing power, and will increase the number of persons without employment, business failures and mortgage foreclosures.

BORROWED MONEY.

Many of the expensive undertakings of the city are paid for from loans. The money is appropriated and bonds are issued which must be paid by the city when they become due and until they become due a certain amount must be set aside each year to provide for the payment of interest on those bonds and for a certain sum to be paid off on the principal. Because these undertakings are paid for from loans and are not paid out of the current revenue of the city many people who do not pay much attention to these matters imagine that the taxpayer is not in any way affected but these loans are nothing more or less than borrowings of money.

Skillful political salesmen have spread the notion far and wide that public improvements, when done with borrowed money, cost the people little or nothing. "Just put out a bond issue," they say, "and your neighborhood can have a new street or public building delivered at once. There will be only a trifling down-payment, and the future will carry all charges in easy installments."

Take, for example,— some details of the 1932 payments on recent bond issues show how rapidly the costs of borrowing money for new public works come home to roost on the doorsteps of the people who must pay the bills:

For sewer construction, the city borrowed $3,000,000 on twenty-year bonds in 1930 and 1931. In 1932, it had to meet a charge of $260,000 for interest and serial bond charges. Special assessments covered part of this cost, but most of it came from general revenue.

For reconstruction of streets, the city borrowed $3,000,000 in 1930 and 1931 on five and ten year bonds. In 1932 it had to pay $600,000 on this debt.

For laying out and constructing new streets, the city borrowed $2,680,000 in 1930 and 1931 on fifteen and twenty year bonds. In 1932 it had to pay $265,000, part of which will be met by special assessments.

For the police boat, authorized in 1929, but not yet put in commission because of unsuitable design, $200,000 had been borrowed. The public had to pay charges of $17,400 in 1932 on this debt. The entire debt will not be paid off until 1950.

For the golf course in Hyde Park, which has been under way since 1929, but is not yet completed, on which $500,000 has been borrowed on twenty-year bonds, the 1932 debt payments were $45,000.

For the roadway around Castle Island and for the adjacent automobile park, the city had borrowed $225,000 from August, 1932, to date. The 1932 payments on this loan were $20,000. The entire debt will not be paid until 1951.

Regardless of the merit or demerit of some of these projects, the record proves one thing conclusively. The cost of public improvements can neither be evaded, nor long postponed, by borrowing money to buy them on the installment plan. Not only do the bond issues cause increasingly heavy annual charges, but also many of the new improvements immediately create an added yearly expense for maintenance and operation.

In the past, when business was prosperous and tax values were rising, the dangers of such steadily growing municipal cost lay concealed. The burden of past bond issues could be borne more easily and the attractiveness or necessity of the improvements had a justifiable appeal. Now, when the economic tide has turned, Boston faces the results of an era of liberality in expenditures for public improvements largely paid for by borrowed money.

CONTRACT AMENDED.

SEEK INFORMATION ON MOST POPULAR RECREATIONAL ACTIVITIES AMONG THOSE PROVIDED FOR CITIZENS — MAYOR MANSFIELD COMMENTS ON EFFORTS BEING MADE TO KEEP CITY MENTALLY WHOLESOME AND PHYSICALLY HEALTHY.

Upon March 19 the Mayor issued the following statement concerning the recreational activities and facilities of the city:

While the free recreational activities provided by the City-Wide Emergency Committee on Health and Recreation are particularly needed and enjoyed by the unemployed, it is not true, as some people think, that they are intended for the unemployed alone. Every citizen of Greater Boston, whether employed or unemployed, is eligible and cordially invited to take advantage of these recreational opportunities.

As a matter of fact, nearly twenty-five per cent of the people already taking part in free recreational activities in Boston are employed, either on part-time work or on short hours because of the N. R. A. codes. As unemployment lessens, the percentage of employed people engaged in these activities will, of course, increase proportionally. The trend is toward shorter hours, and even if, through some miracle, unemployment should cease altogether, there would still be a need to provide pleasant, and at the same time, constructive uses for the spare time of the people.

Recently I read an article in a local newspaper, in which the writer characterized free public recreation as a "means of keeping the idle out of mischief." This, it seems to me, is a rather negative way of putting it. Our intention, in providing free recreational facilities for the public, is something more than that. We hope to make it possible for people to live fuller and richer lives—in short, to make life more livable.

Although hampered by limited funds, the City-Wide Emergency Committee on Health and Recreation has already, after practically only two weeks of work, accomplished a great deal in that eminently worthwhile direction. Working in close cooperation with the joint sectional planning committees, it has organized efficient recreational subcommittees in every section of the city. Seven community orchestras and eight community choral groups have been formed. Two of the orchestras have already begun to give public performances. Free weekly entertainments have started in several sections. Four dramatic organizations are already in existance. Three reading and game rooms have been established, and more will be established as soon as appropriate locations can be obtained for them. Besides the seven university lecture courses, attended by more than eight hundred people at the Old South Meeting House every week, free educational courses are being given locally in three sections of the city. And, last but not least, nine extra periods of athletics, in which to play basketball and learn boxing or tap dancing, etc., have been made available in nine municipal gymnasiums as the contribution of the Park Department to the recreational program.

In the meantime 100 men are busy distributing 20,000 questionnaires throughout the city in an attempt to discover which of the recreational activities already provided are most popular and what activities, as yet unprovided, would be popular if they were provided.

Thousands of people already have enthusiastically grasped the opportunity to fill their empty hours with pleasant and profitable activity. Thousands more will grasp that opportunity as soon as they learn that it is available to the general public. It seems to me, therefore, very worthwhile to broadcast information about the work of the City-Wide Emergency Committee on Health and Recreation as widely as possible.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

Upon March 21 and 22 the Mayor approved the following requests of the Acting Superintendent of the Department of School Buildings and the Superintendent of Supplies:

BOSTON, March 14, 1934.

HON. FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—On Sunday morning, March 11, there was a fire in the Sharp School, located at No. 3 Pinckney street, city proper, on which an alarm was sounded at approximately 7 o'clock. I arrived at the scene of the fire at approximately 7.50 a. m. and remained there until I found the actual conditions that had to be remedied in order not to interfere with the school accommodations of the children of this building.

When the fire was extinguished, I called on the services of the M. S. Kelliher Company to immediately close the building to the elements and get the interior prepared for occupancy on March 12 and the sessions were resumed in the regular order on the 12th.

To date the M. S. Kelliher Company has performed the following work:

Closed roof and broken windows temporarily with canvas and boards, cleaned the building of water and rubbish, removed dirt and rubbish from yard and removed portion of roof where damaged.

In order to make this building permanently habitable it will be necessary to do the following work:

Install new timbers, purlins and boarding, remove present slate where necessary, furnish and install new slate where missing on repaired part, new lath and plaster ceiling in classroom and patch walls where necessary, new metal ceiling in classroom, patch metal ceiling in corridor and walls of corridor, new sash where broken, refinish floor in classroom, set broken glass, paint classroom walls and ceiling, paint metal ceiling and walls in top floor corridor, paint cornice and gable where patched and renewed, scrape charred trusses, purlins, timbers and boarding and give one coat of whitewash, repair and replace electric work and fixtures.

An estimate in the sum of $4,478 has been received, checked and found reasonable, therefore I respectfully request your approval to the award of the contract without advertising, in this emergency, in accordance with chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, to the M. S. Kelliher Company, 38 Chauncy street, Boston, Mass.

I await your action on this matter.

Respectfully yours,

P. J. OSBORNE,

REPORT OF PATRICK T. CAMPBELL, SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS, ON ANNUAL MEETING OF THE DEPARTMENT OF SUPERINTENDENCE OF THE NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION.

The following is the Report of the Superintendent of Schools Patrick T. Campbell on the Annual Meeting of Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association:

The sixty-fourth annual meeting of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association was held at Cleveland from February 24 to March 1, 1934, together with the Department of Secondary School Principals.

The program of activities filled a booklet of thirty-one pages, besides the larger leaflet which listed the seventy or eighty allied educational bodies which held their annual meetings in conjunction with the Convention of Superintendents. To list only a few of these organizations, the following allied groups held meetings on Wednesday, February 28:

The Department of Elementary School Principals.

The American Educational Research Association.

The Department of Rural Education.

The Department of Secondary School Principals.

The Department of Supervisors and Director of Instruction.

The Department of Vocational Education.

The Department of High School Instructors and Supervisors.

The National Council of Childhood Education.

The National Association of College Teachers of Education.

The National Association of Adult Education.

The mere enumeration of such a list gives one an idea of the wide range of educational subjects covered during the week. All together these bodies brought to Cleveland not less than 10,000 or 11,000 persons. All the hotels were crowded, restaurants and shops did a thriving business which must have added a great sum of money to the income of the citizens of the city.

The convention was organized into nine general sessions, beginning Sunday at 3.30 and continuing every morning, afternoon and evening through Thursday, March 1. These general meetings were held either in the great Arena or in the beautiful Music Hall. These two were but a part of the Public Auditorium building situated opposite the City Hall. These meetings were general sessions. The program at each meeting opened with a vocal or instrumental concert provided by the school children of the city under the guidance of the Music Department. The concerts were excellent and reflected great credit upon their instructors.

The Board of Education in Cleveland was extremely generous in its welcome, and in its support of the superintendents gathered for the convention. In instrumental music Cleveland seems to have gone much further than the department in Boston. More than one hundred players were seated on the platform at many of these performances. The evening of Sunday, February 25, was marked by a premiere showing of the sound film, "The Human Adventure," by Dr. James A. Brasted, Director of the Oriental Institute of Chicago University. The picture and explanatory vocal description traced the activities of the archæologists in uncovering period monuments of the past ages.

For the first time the general body of the department for this convention was divided into seven general subject committees with a chairman and secretary. Each of these committees was divided into six to sixteen topic groups averaging twenty to twenty-five individuals. Each group met in the afternoon of Monday, February 26, and in the afternoon of Tuesday, February 27, in the parlors of the different hotels, and in the rooms of the Cleveland College Building. In these groups definite portions of the general field were canvassed by prepared papers and by free discussion among the members. The findings of these groups reported by the committees' secretaries will appear in the Annual Proceedings of the department and will furnish valuable material for each superintendent and will supply concrete suggestions for the solution of specific problems in education.

THEMES DISCUSSED.

Running through all the discussions were two or three main themes. First, the problem of financing public education at present in order to preserve the schools as they now exist. Second, How should the schools prepare the pupils to meet the changing social order and the new era that we may expect to be evolved from the present confusion?

The discussion of finance emphasized two phases, the critical needs of the moment, and, second, a reorganization of the means of raising school funds for the future. It was the almost unanimous feeling of the speakers and the members that the schools could be saved in many parts of the country only by a great Federal loan of $100,000,000 to $5,000-000,000 to finance local school districts. In this connection there was a very gratifying insistence that coupled with this grant of Federal aid should go absolute assurance that the state authorities would be free in the use of funds from Federal domination and bureaucratic control. Those who dealt with the subject of future finance of education advocated a wider taxation unit than the city, or town, or district which is now the basis of raising school funds. Nearly all the speakers felt that the state should be the smallest tax unit for educational purposes —that the burden should in some way be shifted from the local real estate.

The discussion of the general topic of the schools in a new social order ran the whole gamut, from the suggestions of the extreme radicals who would scrap the whole present educational system and build a wholly new system in keeping with what they believe will be the new order of tomorrow, to the most conservative recommendations presented by Mr. Howell Cheney, a business man from Connecticut, who advocated the preservation of the schools as they are with added emphasis on the improvement of educational output through the raising of standards. The middle course was upheld by Doctor Briggs of Columbia, who expressed great impatience with those who would scrap all that we now have. Doctor Briggs advised a careful conservation of all that is worthwhile in the schools of today. the product of ages of experience and labor. He urged extreme caution in changing over our educational process to fit a future of which we have no certain knowledge.

STRESS SOCIAL STUDIES.

All the speakers emphasized the need of greater stress upon the social studies, history, civics and allied subjects. In this connection more than one speaker pointed out that the schools of yesterday and today must bear their share of the blame for the present financial chaos, shortcomings of financial leaders and the errors of political officials. Some contend that the downfall of our economic system was due not to the failure of the teachers to inculcate lessons of honesty and uprightness, but was due to the fact that the people trained in an era of expansion forgot the lesons learned at the teacher's desk.

Most telling speeches perhaps were made by Doctor Zook, the Federal Commissioner of Education, Senator Copeland of New York and Doctor Briggs of Columbia. Not far behind these we should mention Dr. Payson Smith, State Commissioner of Education in Massachusetts, and Mr. Filene of Boston.

Many speakers stressed the importance of increased attention to character training, and the development of the spiritual qualities of our pupils in order that they may be able to meet the stresses of the future better perhaps than we of this generation have been able to do. In all this discussion it was pleasing to note that Boston had done so much more than most of the other cities in formal character training. It was a bit troubling to note that in all this discussion of character training and spiritual development not once was mention made of the Deity, or that we should train our pupils in character because it is the command of God,— and I wonder if our forgetfulness of this principle in the past may not be in a large measure responsible for the miscarriage of our efforts in this direction.

On Wednesday evening the superintendent spoke at a dinner meeting of the National Association for Adult Education. Judge Fiebelman, while he did not stick very closely to the assigned subject, brought out the fact that we had not trained a body of citizens able and willing to think and decide for themselves, and illustrated his point by many amusing references to unfortunate results in various election contests throughout the country in the past ten years.

A summary of the superintendent's remarks is given here.

"For more than fifty years Boston was one of the great entry ports for the vast streams of immigrants. It was inevitable that great numbers of these new comers should get no farther from the dock than they could walk. Soon after the close of the Civil War the school authorities began the struggle with the problem of fitting these strangers for the duties of that citizenship which they claimed at the earliest possible moment. It was in 1868 that the first evening elementary school was opened. There are now fourteen of these grade schools with five branches to which have been added ten high schools with three colonies and one trade school with three branches.

"A glance at the enrollment of these groups tells a very interesting story. In 1913–14 there were enrolled 13,824 pupils in the evening elementary schools and 6,649 in the high schools. Today the elementary population has dropped to 4,561 while the high schoool enrollment has grown to 8,965. The explanation is, of course, the limitation of immigration. The decline in the elementary evening schools is and should be a source of great gratification to all interested in the schools and in the welfare of the city. Clearly the schools have trained, at least in the fundamentals, that great stream that rolled in upon us especially in the 80's and 90's and are now as it were picking up the strays. The continued growth of the high school is strong proof that the young men and women who never had the chance to attend the day high schools are seizing the opportunity to improve their cultural background and to prepare themselves for a better performance of their daily tasks and to secure for themselves advancement and a greater satisfaction in their work. The high schools although devoted in a large measure to instruction in commercial subjects offer a wide range of cultural subjects from which the candidate may choose. Attendance three evenings a week from October 1 to April 1 for three years will secure a diploma for those who have done satisfactory work.

"The Evening Trade School has increased from 938 in 1913–14 to 1,276 in the present year. In this school is offered instruction in almost any industrial activity that a reasonable group may select. The instructors here, as in the high schools, are chosen from the regular day school faculties with the restriction that no one may serve in both schools for more than five years in succession. Many men who did not desire trade instruction wanted a chance to use their hands and to develop that manual facility that we have so largely lost by our concentration into cities. The Evening Opportunity Classes opened in 1929, drew an enrollment of 429 which had grown to 451 by 1932 when lack of funds compelled us to abandon this very attractive work.

NEEDS OF MOTHERS.

"The needs of the mothers for instruction in homemaking were cared for by the establishment of Day Practical Art Classes in March, 1920, with one group of twenty-four—the highest point 1922, twenty classes—557. In June, 1932, when lack of funds forced us to discontinue this activity, there were seventeen classes and an enrollment of 398. The classes met in the late afternoon in the neighborhood school building, twice each week. The teachers were drawn largely from our industrial list and taught cooking, sewing, diet and everything that could help the mother to make home a better family center. Of course it was necessary to include instruction in reading and writing.

"Although the evening schools catered to the immigrants, ignorance of English kept many earnest men and women out of these classes. To remedy this condition Voluntary Classes for Immigrants were set up at the Continuation School in 1911 and in 1915 classes for mothers who had little or no knowledge of the vernacular were opened in various parts of the city, staffed by young women who had been trained in kindergarten work. This venture proved of so great value that in 1917, under authority of the State Legislature, we opened the Day School for Immigrants. The state reimburses the city for 50 per cent of the cost of this school.

"Here again the effects of the limitation of immigration are apparent. In 1923–24 there were enrolled 2,023 adults in seventy-five classes, housed in fifty-two buildings. In 1933–34 the school has shrunk to 594 pupils in twenty-five classes in twelve buildings. The time is not far distant when we shall be able to abandon this activity as no longer needed.

"Care for adult education took an altogether different form in the founding of the Department of Extended Use of School Buildings. The field of this new activity falls into two parts, the so-called School Center and use of other buildings for educational, social, civic, recreational and philanthropic organizations. There are at present fourteen school centers in different parts of the city each under a manager, with club leaders, instructors and helpers. These centers offer a bewildering assortment of activities, of which I read you a partial list. Although we have been obliged to curtail these centers at least one third during the last two years, we find fourteen school centers functioning two evenings a week with a total attendance of 424,780 persons.

"Under the management of the department, forty-three Home and School Associations have held meetings in school buildings, and other civic and social organizations to the number of 107 have occupied schoolhouses in the evening, with an estimated total of 254,969 in attendance.

"Boston then has cared for the training of adults from 1868, when the first evening schools were opened, by maintaining Evening High Schools, Evening Trade Schools, Day Practical Arts Classes, Evening Opportunity School, the Day School for Immigrants and the Department of Extended Use of School Buildings."

It was gratifying indeed to discover that in the matter of evening schools at least Boston was doing very much more than, for example the city of Cleveland, which has a much larger school population. It was interesting to discover that while Boston charges only a fee of $1 for registration, Cleveland requires a payment of $5 for each course which the student undertakes. The result of this heavy charge, of course, is a great restriction in numbers enrolled. A description of our activities in the Department of Extended Use of School Buildings was very well received, and made a great impression upon the gathering.

PATRICK T. CAMPBELL,
Superintendent of Public Schools.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 440.

Patrolman Francis O'Reilly of Division 9 is commended in General Orders and granted two days' additional vacation for meritorious police duty performed in the early morning of March 7, 1934, in connection with the arrest of a person discovered while engaged in breaking open a safe.

The Acting Commissioner is pleased to recognize and commend the efficient and alert manner in which Patrolman O'Reilly performed his duty in accomplishing the arrest of this dangerous criminal, who is now on parole from State Prison for a similar offence.

The Acting Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

MARTIN H. KING,
Acting Police Commissioner.

General Order No. 441.

A trial board consisting of Captains Campbell, Casey and Daley, having heard by reference a complaint made by Thomas S. J. Kavanagh, captain, Division 9, against Frederick T. Mayo, patrolman, Division 9, for alleged violation of Rule 41 of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit,—

Charge: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification 1: In that on the third day of March, 1934, Patrolman Frederick T. Mayo, while not on duty and not in police uniform, was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent that he would be unable to properly perform police duty if called upon to do so.

Specification 2: That on the third day of March, 1934, about 2 a. m., did enter a house at 1677 Washington street, and did create a disturbance, frightening the inmates, and when approached by a patrolman of Division 4, did have his service revolver in his hand for no specific police duty or purpose.

Specification 3: That on the third day of March, 1934, when requested to go to the Police Station of Division 4, did go to the street, where he resisted to such an extent that it was necessary for the police officer to strike him once with his police club to overcome his resistance, all this in prejudice to good order and police discipline and tending to bring into disrepute and criticism his associates on the police force and the department as a whole,—

has submitted the following finding and recommendation:

"The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented, accepts the plea of guilty by the said Patrolman Frederick T. Mayo to Specification 1 of said charge; finds the said Patrolman Frederick T. Mayo guilty of Specification 2 of said charge; and finds the said Patrolman Frederick T. Mayo not guilty of Specification 3 of said charge. The Board has also taken into consideration the previous excellent record of the officer (to which Patrolman Mayo's commanding officer testified); the recommendation of Lieutenant Hinchey of Division 4 (formerly of Division 9); the truthfulness of Patrolman Mayo before the Trial Board, and his admittance that he believed Patrolman Miles acted in good faith. Patrolman Miles of Division 4 is to be complimented on the efficient manner in which he handled this case inasmuch as he performed his duty as he saw it. The Board believes Patrolman Mayo made an honest mistake when he went into the house at 1677 Washington street, and in view of Patrolman Mayo's promise that there would be no further trouble with him, and Captain Kavanagh's belief that Patrolman Mayo's promise to the Board will be kept faithfully, the Board respectfully recommends that the said Patrolman Frederick T. Mayo be suspended from duty for a period of thirty days, effective as of March 3, 1934, at 7.45 o'clock a. m., and that at the expiration of the said period of suspension the said Patrolman Frederick T. Mayo be ordered to perform 210 hours of punishment duty."

The Acting Police Commissioner accepts the finding and the recommendation of the Trial Board and hereby orders that the said Patrolman Frederick T. Mayo be suspended from duty for a period of thirty days, effective as of March 3, 1934, at 7.45 o'clock a. m., and that at the expiration of the said period of suspension the said Patrolman Frederick T. Mayo perform 210 hours of punishment duty.

Civil Service Rule 23, Section 3, requires approval of the Civil Service Commission before reinstatement.

Rule 23.

"Section 3. With the consent of the Commissioner upon good cause shown, an appointing officer may reinstate in the same position or in a position in the same class and grade any person who has been separated from the service; provided, however, that the Commissioner shall not allow reinstatement of a person discharged for cause."

The Acting Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

MARTIN H. KING,
Acting Police Commissioner.

General Order No. 442.

The use of the present departmental requisition will be discontinued on March 17 and the new forms are being forwarded at once by the property clerk. The requisitions are in triplicate. The first and second sheets will be forwarded to the property clerk when supplies are needed in the same manner as heretofore. The third or triplicate copy will be retained by the unit or division as its record. The new form will serve as a requisition as well as a receipt.

When articles are issued the property clerk will note the amount and articles issued in the column marked "Quantity issued." This copy will accompany the delivery of the goods, and whoever receives the articles will sign for same under the words "Articles issued received by," after which the copy will be returned by the delivery clerk to the office of the property clerk for their records.

The property clerk will deliver no goods of any description, except uniforms and uniform equipment, without a signed requisition.

All requisition forms now on hand will be returned forthwith to the stock room of the property clerk.

BUILDINGS RAZED.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Building Department to raze the following structures as fire menaces and nuisances:

The building at 70 Athens street, Ward 6.

The building at 88 Silver street, Ward 6.

The building at 10–14 Polk street, Ward 2, is in a dilapidated condition, windows out on side and rear, clapboards and shingles falling off, roof badly sagged, posts out of plumb, recommend that building be taken down. The owner, Patrick H. McCormack of 182 Bunker Hill street, Charlestown, has been notified of the unsafe condition of the building, but nothing has been done to remove the cause of complaint.

The building at 38 Essex street, Ward 2, the trusses supporting upper two stories are burned and rotted and in a dangerous condition, wood column supporting truss out of plumb about 6 inches. The owner, the Ellen M. Sullivan Estate of 88 Dunster road, Jamaica Plain, has been notified of the unsafe condition of the building, and a notice has also been posted on the external wall of the building, but nothing has been done to remove the cause of complaint.

The building at 40 Essex street, Ward 2, is badly sagged and out of plumb, upper stories unoccupied for several years. The owner, the Ellen M. Sullivan Estate of 88 Dunster road, Jamaica Plain, has been notified of the unsafe condition of the building, and a notice has also been posted on the external wall, but nothing has been done to remove the cause of complaint.

The building at 44 Fay street, Ward 3, the east party wall, now exposed due to the razing operations on the adjoining building, No. 48, is unsafe and dangerous. This is an 8-inch bearing wall, structurally weak with poor bond, particularly at chimney sections and front and rear ends. In the basement this party wall is bulged toward No. 44, and the granite levelers on the piles, exposed at two sections, are tipped toward No. 44. The four exposed pile tops show signs of decay. The rear wall is bulged outward at basement and first story, unsafe. The owner, Charles Balber of 44 Fay street, Boston, has been notified of the unsafe condition of the building, but nothing has been done to remove the cause of complaint, and he informs the Law Department that he has no money to repair or remove the building.

COST OF MILK FURNISHED TO SCHOOLS

Dr. Mackey: Mr. Chairman, the Women's Educational and Industrial Union has been quoted recently as saying that the organization has been purchasing milk at five cents per bottle and selling it to the schools at four cents.

I am informed that a reputable milk concern located in this city and receiving milk from within a thirty-six mile radius has for the past four years been offering bids to the Union at the rate of three to three and one-half cents a bottle.

In view of these statements, I would ask that Assistant Superintendent Snow give us a report on the matter in accordance with my recent request to him. As a physician, I feel that the furnishing of milk is a matter of vital importance to the health and well-being of the children in our schools and I would therefore ask for an early report from Mr. Snow.

The Superintendent agreed that a report will be forthcoming.

REPORT OF MISS SUSAN J. GINN, DIRECTOR OF VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE, ON MEETING OF THE NATIONAL VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE ASSOCIATION, AT CLEVELAND.

The School Committee has approved and accepted the following report of attendance at the National Vocational Guidance Association, Cleveland, Ohio, February 21-24, 1934:

En route to Cleveland, Tuesday, February 20, was spent at Syracuse, New York, where I had been invited to address the Kiwanis Club at noon, the Student Deans at Syracuse University at three o'clock in the afternoon, and to speak at the banquet and meeting of the Syracuse Vocational Guidance Association which was held that evening. I arrived in Cleveland Wednesday morning, February 21.

The convention opened that afternoon at two o'clock. The subject for the first day was "Our Association in 1934." The President of the National Vocational Guidance Association, Prof. William M. Proctor of the School of Education, Stanford University, reviewed conditions among branch associations during the past year. He spoke with regret of the loss of the vocational guidance program in the city of Chicago, but remarked that that is the only city in the country that has given up its program. He further stated that in many places the need of vocational guidance is recognized as never before. In some places the work has been strengthened and in others vocational guidance work was begun for the first time.

The subject of the afternoon discussion was the "Field and Work of the Guidance Movement." Prof. George E. Myers, University of Michigan, discussed the topic "Assets from Twenty-five Years of Guidance History." Among other things he stated that vocational guidance is a specialized service which is needed in every school system. It should be one of the school enterprises under expert workers. A new emphasis is being laid upon exploratory experiences for children as an objective in education. More provision is being made for differences in children. The need of occupational and informational material in secondary schools is being recognized. Through placement work deficiencies in curriculum are being discovered.

Mr. Carroll R. Reed, Superintendent of the Minneapolis Public Schools, spoke on the subject "Maintenance versus Retrenchment in a National Emergency." He spoke of the year 1934 as being the low point in school support. Classes have been increased, pay rolls decreased, quantity of education reduced, services eliminated, and yet minimum programs maintained. Heterogeneous grouping, complexity and confusion in our life today, make guidance more essential than ever. Young people must reconstruct their plans and they must be guided in doing so. The guidance service must be integrated with all phases of education. It should be properly articulated with the rest of the school system; in fact, it should be close to the trunk of the tree. Guidance is a function that is requiring teachers to study differences of the individual pupils. In the Minneapolis schools the philosophy of education has been based on the principle that the educative process must be adapted to the individual child. He is the first consideration and the curriculum should be planned in terms of the above. The address closed with the statement "the more complex the school program, the more need of guidance."

Mr. Donald G. Paterson, Professor of Psychology at the University of Minnesota, spoke on the subject "Scouting Along the Frontier," a review of the year's researches. He made the following statements:

"Personnel directors have been handing out jobs—when there were any to hand out—on the basis of a lot of artificial labels, such as age, sex and high school education.

"This year is a milestone in vocational guidance in so far as there is a tremendous burst of research going on all over the country. The guidance movement is becoming increasingly critical of its methods and results."

He also added that education and industry are becoming "guidance minded."

At an informal supper meeting, presided over by a principal of one of the local high schools, four students from the various high schools spoke of their problems from their point of view. A young colored man referred to the race question, another spoke of the difficulty in getting an opportunity to have working experience, and two others regretted that they are unable to get the opportunity to do the sort of work they are anxious to follow. They told of the help received from the counselors in their schools.

The evening meeting was given over to a discussion of the aims of the association. As first vice president, it was my privilege to preside at this meeting. The first speaker was Mrs. Woodhouse from the Women's College of North Carolina. She emphasized the need of scholarships for counselors, so that there may be more well-trained people doing counseling work. Miss Stewart, Assistant Director of Indian Education, said there should be more adaptability in our work and that we should think of our guidance program as an "informing process." Professor Kitson of Columbia University stated that there is too much separation between educational and vocational guidance. Perhaps we should speak of a "job" or "work" guidance, rather than "vocational" guidance. We should bear in mind that occupations are constantly changing and should think of industry as a stream, not as a pond. Professor Kefauver of Stanford University emphasized the fact that all phases of vocational guidance should be closely integrated. The personality of the child should be considered. There is danger of our overstressing one point and forgetting all other qualities in children.

Thursday morning the subject was "Our Society in Crisis and Reconstruction." It was discussed by Dr. Harvey N. Davis, President, Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, New Jersey, from the point of view "Some Notable Recent Trends and Their Significance for Social Progress." Among other things he said that we are facing now an economy of plenty instead of a scarcity economy. A surplus economy will engender new modes of thought. There will be a shift from things to people. Conservatives will have difficulty in catching up. Psychology is being put to work in industry. To be on the wrong job is demoralizing to human character.

Arthur E. Bestor, member of the Advisory Committee on Adult Education to the United States Commissioner of Education, reviewed the work of the F. E. R. A. He stated that the educational results were a by-product of a relief program. The education organization is entirely on the "states' rights" plan and there is no money for supervision. The continuing of education is fundamental to the continuing of a democratic civilization. He referred to the British Ministry's report of fifteen years ago, which stated that adult education is a permanent national necessity.

Mr. Henry M. Busch, Director of Informal Adult Education at Western Reserve University, spoke of the objectives of the guidance program. First, he stated, was the need of knowledge of the world in which we live and its people, of the great range of occupations and the new vocational ventures. We must take cognizance of the recent trend toward shorter working days, and the vast improvement in modern machinery. We must also bear in mind that the bulk of the work of the world is done by unskilled people. Regardless of skill, very few people are able to guide themselves. The social setting must be borne in mind.

At the luncheon meeting the subject was "Our Community Responsibility for the Adjustment of Persons." This meeting was presided over by Judge Carl D. Friebolin of the United States District Court, who also is President of the Cleveland Adult Education Association. There were four short descriptions of programs in operation, namely, Rochester, New York, Minneapolis, Philadelphia, New York City.

The afternoon was given over to informal group conferences with such subtopics as the following: "The National Re-employment Program," "The Collectivization of Industry," "The Renaissance of Rural Life," "The Re-education of the Adult Citizen," "The Redemption of Leisure," "The Conflict of Proposed Social Programs."

Mr. Goodwin Watson, Associate Professor of Education, Teachers College, New York City, was the chairman of the last-named group. He spoke of the need of a planned society—present organization too loose. There must be continuous planning to build up a movement and not a party.

The evening meeting was given over to a discussion of "Occupational Trends and the Society of the Future." Mr. M. B. Givens, a member of the Committee on Government Statistics, Washington, D. C., stated that there must be a fluidity of personnel into changing groups. There must be a new definition of apprenticeship.

Colonel Bingham of the Personnel Research Federation, New York, stated that every vocational guidance counselor should spend part of every day or week out in the business or industrial field. We were reminded by Professor Edgerton that one certainty in modern life is change. We cannot grow without it.

On Friday the attention of the convention was directed to the improvement of the profession. A discussion of "the use of technical resources in dealing with the individual" was followed by group conferences dealing with "the improvement of our counseling procedure." At the Public School Counseling Group it was emphasized that wherever there are definite choices to be made the individuals must have help. Milwaukee reported a study of the records of children, beginning with the kindergarten. Personnel study of each child is necessary at periodic interviews, including all available tests.

At the noon luncheon two experimental programs of professional interest were explained, namely, the National Occupational Conference Policy and the training program of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

In the afternoon a program of evaluation was followed by group conferences on the following topics: "Individual Counseling," "Classroom Teaching of Occupations," "Scholarship Administration," "Vocational Education," "Placement," "Following Up and Prediction," "Occupational Research," "Training Counselors," "City-wide Administration," "Public Relations."

Friday evening was given over to a discussion of professional standards for guidance workers.

At the final session of the convention on Saturday morning, the policies as developed during convention discussions were discussed and voted upon as an advanced policy of the National Vocational Guidance Association. A few of these follow:

"Preamble.

It is imperative that workers in vocational guidance possess a philosophy with respect to our social-economic system. When guidance fails to take such account it becomes sterile. In the interest of a better environment in which to carry out the purposes of vocational guidance, the National Vocational Guidance Association desires to take its stand as favoring a society which shall take account of the welfare of all the people as against the selfish interests of the few. We believe that such a social order would be in the interest of the progress of mankind. In convention assembled we recommend the following:

I. Maintenance of Guidance Services.

It is our conviction that Guidance is a specialized service which meets such an important social need that it should be maintained at the highest possible point of efficiency. There is even greater need for such services during a depression than during normal times.

II. Reformulation of Aims of Guidance.

That the trustees of the National Vocational Guidance Association appoint a committee to study and reformulate the 'Principles and Practice of Vocational Guidance.'

. . . . . .

VI. Avocational Guidance.

That in view of the increased amount of free time and energy which the workers of the coming generation are likely to have, we recommend that any program of vocational guidance include provision for guidance in the constructive use of such time and energy for vocational, recreational and other creative pursuits.

VIII. Junior Placement.

1. (a.) That the placement of juniors (boys and girls under twenty-one) be considered as an integral function of the school system.

(b.) That close cooperation should be established between junior placement and other public employment services.

(c.) That funds from federal, state, or municipal employment appropriations or from private sources should be utilized for junior placement work under the administration of the school system.

(d.) That the National Vocational Guidance Association appoint a committee to make a study of qualifications for employment counselors.

(e.) That the National Vocational Guidance Association emphasize the greater need for junior placement offices during times of unemployment than during normal times.

XII. Record Forms.

That the National Vocational Guidance Association strongly urge the use of cumulative record forms as indispensable in all guidance work.

. . . . . .

XIV. Protection, Guidance, and Training of Apprentices under the National Recovery Act.

That President Roosevelt be requested to call a conference at an early date to formulate plans for the training and adjustment of skilled workers under the N. R. A. codes, at which conference shall be representatives of all groups interested and actively working upon this problem by virtue of their own program. That the protective, guidance and training factors, such as terms of apprenticeship, automatic wage increase, teaching schedule, recognition as craftsman, etc., be considered at such conference."

Respectfully submitted,

SUSAN J. GINN,
Director.

NOTE.—The Director of Vocational Guidance of the Boston Public Schools was elected President of the National Vocational Guidance Association for the year 1934-35. It is hoped that the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association and the National Vocational Guidance Association will come to Boston in February, 1935.

S. J. GINN.

HISTORICAL DATA ABOUT WARDS.

The term "ward" first appears in a fire-protection order, approved by the Town on August 29, 1679, dividing the Town into 4 quarters with 2 wards each. The 8 wards had previously been military districts.

On August 11, 1713, the Selectmen "agreed upon a distribution of the Town into distinct Wards or Precincts."

On February 1, 1715, it was "voted to make a new division of the Town into eight distinct Wards."

On March 9, 1735, it was voted to divide the Town into 12 wards to facilitate the work of the Overseers of the Poor.

On March 13, 1822, the Selectmen divided the Town into 12 wards on the basis of the U. S. Census of 1820.

By an ordinance which took effect on the second Monday of December, 1838, there was a revision of the wards.

On April 29, 1850, the City Council accepted Chap. 167 of the Acts of 1850, which altered the wards on the basis of legal voters rather than on the number of inhabitants.

By ordinance taking effect on November 15, 1865 new ward lines were established.

In the annexation period, 1865-1875, the number of wards was increased from twelve to twenty-one.

By Chap. 243, Acts 1875, the City Council was ordered to cause a new division of the City into twenty-four wards in the year 1875 in such manner as to include an equal number of voters in each ward. This division was made, taking effect on December 13, 1875. On May 27, 1876, the City Council, in accordance with Chap. 242, Acts of 1876, divided one of the wards in two, making a total of 25 wards for the City.

By ordinance passed April 20, 1895, under authority of Chap. 437, Acts of 1888, and Section 96 of Chap. 417, Acts of 1893, ward lines were established on the basis of the number of voters registered at the City election of 1894, there still being 25 wards.

The annexation of Hyde Park, effective January 1, 1912, made an additional ward.

By enactment of December 28, 1914, under authority of Chap. 630, Acts of 1914, the City Council redivided the City into 26 wards.

TAX LEVY, 1932.

CITY RECORD

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 26. SATURDAY, MARCH 31, 1934. NO. 13

CONSOLIDATION AND SIMPLIFICATION OF BOSTON'S ADMINISTRATIVE MACHINERY GIVES OPPORTUNITY FOR BETTER GOVERNMENT, MAYOR MANSFIELD TELLS RADIO AUDIENCE IN WEEKLY BROADCAST FROM CITY HALL—CHIEF EXECUTIVE EXPLAINS IN DETAIL THE FEATURES OF MEASURE HE IS ASKING LEGISLATURE TO PASS IN ORDER THAT HE MIGHT EFFECT ECONOMIES AND RELIEVE TAXPAYERS OF BURDENS OF WHICH THEY COMPLAIN.

In his regular weekly broadcast from City Hall on March 26 Mayor Mansfield spoke as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen of the Radio Audience.

Last week I spoke to you concerning two big problems now facing the city government in Boston. The first of these problems was the necessity of reducing the excessive pay roll of the city in order to prevent a prohibitive tax rate this year. The second problem was that of meeting the interest and installment charges on debt contracted for extravagant and unnecessary projects by my predecessors at City Hall.

Today I want to talk to you about another of the city's problems. This concerns the necessity of organizing our city departments on a more business-like basis to enable the city to meet the present crisis and to give the citizens of the city more efficient and economical government.

The government of the City of Boston is in many respects the largest business enterprise in all New England. Its annual expenditures exceed $100,000,000 or the equivalent of $130 for each man, woman and child in the city. The number of city employees exceeds 21,000.

Control of Expenditures Limited.

It is true that much of this expenditure is beyond the control of the Mayor. He has, for example, little or no power relative to the school, police, and county departments, and state taxes and assessments. Nevertheless, the duties and responsibilities borne by your Mayor are tremendous, complicated and far-reaching. Departments largely under the control of the Mayor make expenditures for current purposes of about $35,000,000 annually, and employ some 11,500 persons.

To indicate how large city business really is, the following are given as but a few examples of the services rendered to you by the city: Relief to more than 100,000 dependents; the care and upkeep of streets, sewers, bridges, ferries, traffic tunnel, water system, street lighting, parks, playgrounds and city buildings; the management of our huge hospital facilities; health activities; fire protection; traffic regulation; maintenance of libraries; child welfare work; and tax assessment and collection.

The charter and public opinion make me, as Mayor of your city, responsible for the administration of all this work. Obviously if so huge a business is to be carried on successfully, particularly in the present time of stress, the city must build up the best possible business organization. A loose, unbusinesslike departmental organization penalizes every citizen by inferior service, or unnecessarily high taxes. In short, the citizen does not obtain a dollar's worth of service for a dollar's worth of taxes.

Upon assuming office as Mayor of Boston I inherited a hopelessly antiquated and inadequate departmental set-up. No comprehensive rearrangement of departments by functions had taken place in decades. A small number of closely knit departments is essential for good management; yet I found our city government being run by more than forty separate departments and boards.

Now, what is the practice elsewhere? The immense activities of the Federal Government in Washington are consolidated in ten executive departments. The Constitution of the Commonwealth limits the number of state departments to twenty. In spite of this and the example of other cities operating with from five to fifteen departments, Boston has been spreading its city government over more than forty departmental agencies.

Difficulties Cited.

The system operates in a manner which makes it extremely difficult for your Mayor to give the best administrative direction and control to the far-flung activities of the city government. I am convinced that the number of departments should be small enough so that the Mayor may bring together his department heads in an informal but highly important cabinet similar to that of the President of the United States. Such a cabinet should meet frequently to deliberate, consult with the Mayor and receive his general orders and directions. With fewer departments, the Mayor would be in a far better position to keep in touch with the many and varied activities of the city. With fewer departments, administration would be greatly simplified; there would be fewer persons to receive orders and fewer heads to be held accountable for their satisfactory execution. All this is but a simple and reasonable matter of better government.

But at present all this is virtually impossible since there are one hundred and twelve department heads and board members. How could so large a number be made a workable cabinet? How can a Mayor be expected to keep in constant touch with so many executives? Obviously "too many cooks are spoiling the municipal broth."

BROADCAST BY MAYOR.

This over-division into departments, and over-complication of the administrative structure affects city services and raises costs all along the line. The existence of too many departments is resulting in expensive duplication of services, personnel and facilities. This duplication has been evident time and time again during the extensive budget deliberations of recent weeks. In a number of cases the work of several departments is of similar nature and could be combined, thus bringing better services and large savings to the taxpayer. The maintenance of separate administrative, supervisory, inspectional, and other forces by each of the departments is unduly expensive. Salaries of paid department heads, for example, cost the city in excess of $200,000 a year.

APPEALS TO LEGISLATURE.

Unfortunately your Mayor lacks the power to make a comprehensive reorganization of departments. Approximately a score of them are protected by the charter and special statutes from inclusion in any general and thorough reallocation of functions. Accordingly I am seeking, and the Legislature is now considering, legislation to permit me to establish a workable set-up in the city government. This would involve giving me the power to reorganize, abolish or consolidate city departments, exclusive of the schools and departments under appointees of the Governor.

My request of the Legislature is thoroughly just and reasonable. I am charged with the great responsibility of seeing that the city departments do their work well. Why then should I not be given the power to reorganize them on a business-like basis?

A number of objections will naturally be raised to granting me the power asked for. It has been charged that I seek dictatorial powers. In reply it should be said that the proposal is directly in line with the spirit of the charter of the city which seeks to centralize executive responsibility and power in the Mayor. By every principle of home rule, such power of consolidation can better be given a Mayor elected by the people than rigidly formulated by statute.

Others object that I have presented no specific plan of reorganization. The matter of the exact plan which should be followed is of such great importance that it must await a careful survey and the securing of the best expert advice obtainable. As a matter of fact my attention for many weeks has been concentrated on adjusting the city's 1934 budget to the budget crisis confronting Boston. I shall give early consideration to the details of proper consolidation, if the Legislature gives me the power; but I have not had time as yet to do that extensive work.

ABOUT CITY COUNCIL.

There is no provision in the bills I have filed for City Council participation in the reorganization plan. I should welcome any aid the Council might give me, but the present crisis calls for quick and decisive action. This action can naturally be gained more quickly and decisively if left to the Mayor rather than to the cross-currents of peculiar political conditions in twenty-two wards. Economies and major changes are almost always troublesome in some political quarters, and my plan in reality spares the Council all the criticism and unpleasant responsibility involved. Under my bill an emergency set-up would be made by the Mayor alone; thereafter I should have no objection to joint power of the Mayor and Council relative to future changes in the set-up.

It has been suggested that my bill be amended so as permanently to limit the number of city departments to twenty. If the Legislature in its wisdom passes such a regulation, I should anticipate no great difficulty in complying.

To summarize: As your Mayor I am charged with the responsibility of carrying on the huge business of city government. The charter and special statutes now prevent me from setting up the business-like organization which the people of Boston deserve. I am seeking power to make the changes necessary from the current session of Legislature.

The task of reorganization will be unpopular among the special interests and groups benefited by the present loose organization. Selfish opposition and criticism will not deter me, for I am convinced that along the path of consolidation and simplification of our administrative machinery lies an opportunity for better government in our City. This is one of the chief methods by which we are striving to redeem Boston.

If given the power I shall not shrink from assuming the full responsibility which must go with such a grant of power. If the power is refused me, those responsible for such refusal must bear, in part at least, the responsibility for future undesirable developments in the present financial crisis facing the city.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 445.

A trial board consisting of Captains Campbell, Casey and Daley, having heard by reference a complaint made by Thomas S. J. Kavanagh, Captain, Division 9, against Thomas E. Griffin, Patrolman, Division 9, for alleged violation of Rules 27 and 41 of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

Charge 1: Neglect of duty.

Specification 1: In that on the 7th day of March, 1934, the said Patrolman Thomas E. Griffin of Division 9 was detailed to duty at the First National Bank at 113 Dudley street and failed to report there for duty thereby leaving this bank unguarded for a period of more than one hour and exposing it to the depredations of the criminal element.

Specification 2: In that on the 7th day of March, 1934, the said Patrolman Griffin after leaving this station in uniform to go upon a detail did return to the station without the knowledge of the officer in charge, removed his uniform and left the station in civilian clothes. At 6 p. m. of the same date at the close of the day tour of duty he failed to report at the station to be relieved from duty.

Charge 2: Absence without leave.

Specification: In that on the 7th day of March, 1934, from 3 o'clock in the afternoon to 8.30 o'clock of the morning of March 9, 1934, was absent from duty without leave, or permission from his commanding officer.

Charge 3: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification: In that on the 9th day of March, 1934, the said Patrolman Thomas E. Griffin when brought to this station by Sergeants Sullivan and McLaughlin was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent that he was not fit to perform police duties if called upon so to do.

Charge 4: Disobedience of orders.

Specification: In that on the 8th day of March, 1934, the said Patrolman Thomas E. Griffin was ordered to report to his station immediately by an officer of rank and failed to obey this order. These acts being contrary to police discipline and good order and tending to bring into disrepute and criticism his brother officers and the department as a whole,—has submitted the following finding and recommendation:

"The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented, accepts the plea of guilty by the said Patrolman Thomas E. Griffin. Patrolman Griffin had a very important assignment guarding a bank, left the assignment without permission, came to the station house, changed his uniform clothes to his citizen's clothes and left without permission. On the morning of March 8th he was instructed by the sergeant to report to his captain forthwith, which he did not do, and was disrespectful to the sergeant at the time. He did not return for duty for two days and had to be brought there by the sergeants from the division.

"In view of the fact that Patrolman Griffin's commanding officer made no recommendation in the disposition of the case, and also testified he had on previous occasions warned him about the use of liquor while on duty, and also that Patrolman Griffin has been before the Board on a previous occasion, the Board, upon considering all the facts, has come to the conclusion that he is irresponsible and unfit to be a police officer and respectfully recommends that the said Patrolman Thomas E. Griffin be dismissed from the Police Department."

The acting police commissioner accepts the finding and the recommendation of the Trial Board and hereby orders that the said Patrolman Thomas E. Griffin be dismissed from the Police Department, effective as of March 16, 1934, at 5.45 o'clock p. m.

The Acting Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

MARTIN H. KING,
Acting Police Commissioner.

The Acting Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDER.

General Order No. 27.

I. LIGHTING BILLS.

The attention of the department is again called to the instructions sent out concerning the use of electricity in the fire stations of the department. A comparison of the charges for the various months, with the corresponding months in previous years, shows a marked increase in the use of electricity. Commanding officers should give their personal attention to the use of electricity to see that there is no unnecessary or superfluous use of the same. It is expeoted that all houses will be operated with a high decree of safety and comfort and this can be done at a lower cost than at the present time.

Upon March 26 the Mayor approved contracts with various bidders for furnishing surgical supplies to the various city departments for a period ending December 31.

On item No. 33, calling for gastric intestinal sutures, the lowest bid was submitted by a company whose product has never been used at the City Hospital. Under the provisions of chapter 297 of the Acts of 1931 the City of Boston was granted the power to fix fees for licenses or permits for which a fee was collected at the time of the passage of the act. Up to the present time no advantage has been taken of this authorization. In my review of the budget with departmental officials and employees, it has been evident that in a number of cases the present fees charged for services rendered and privileges granted by the city are wholly inadequate when compared with the value of the service or privilege extended by the city. It is my desire to remedy this situation as speedily as possible. Department heads, therefore, are directed to prepare at once for submission to the Mayor's office a statement concerning the various items of income received in their department in the course of a financial year. This statement should be prepared in columnar form, and should contain the following information:

1. TITLE OF LICENSE, PERMIT OR CHARGE FOR SERVICE RENDERED.

Under this heading, each specific item of income should be listed. For illustration, a few of the entries which should be made under this heading are enumerated:

Beverages and soft drinks; fireworks, sale of; garages, erection of; hackney carriage; occupation of streets and sidewalks, etc.

2. NUMBER ISSUED IN A YEAR.

Under this heading should be inserted the average number of each license, permit or service, issued or rendered, in the course of a year's business.

3. BASIC CHARGE.

Under this column, enter the present fee, charged for the license, permit, or service, i. e., 50 cents, $1, etc. In case the city does not receive the entire proceeds from the original charge, this fact should be indicated. If any change in the basic charge has been made in the last five years, kindly indicate the nature of the change.

4. SOURCES OF AUTHORITY.

Under this heading, specify the particular authority (statute, ordinance, etc.) under which the various charges are made.

In addition to the above information, department heads are requested to mention any service, now rendered or performed by their department, without charge, on which, in their opinion, a charge could properly be established. In this respect, it might be well to consult with employees in your department, who, because of long service, may possess ideas as to possible sources of new revenue.

In case no regular income of the kind covered by this inquiry is received by your department, kindly reply stating this fact. All replies should be received in this office on or before April 1, 1934.

Respectfully,

FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

VETOES OF SIDEWALK ORDERS.

The following were received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 10, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,— I am returning herewith without my signature and with my disapproval the order of February 26, 1934, to construct an artificial stone sidewalk on the Franklin Field side of Talbot avenue, from Blue Hill avenue to the southerly line of Franklin Field. I am informed that this construction properly comes within the jurisdiction of the Park Department and not of the Public Works Department to whom the order was addressed; that there exists now at this place a suitable gravel sidewalk with granite edgestones and seats and that the cost of the improvement would be about $5,200 which the city cannot afford to spend at the present time upon a project which does not seem to be necessary. Under these circumstances I must decline to approve the order.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 10, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,— I am returning herewith without my signature and with my disapproval the order of February 26 for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks on Bayard street, Brighton, from North Harvard street to Myrick street. I am informed that artificial stone sidewalks were constructed upon this street only a few months ago at a cost of about $2,500, that they are in excellent condition and that a replacement of these sidewalks is wholly unnecessary. Under these circumstances I must decline to approve the order.

But I am further informed that an examination of the records shows that the required lien order of the City Council which is necessary to make assessments against the abutters was not presented to the City Council. If the purpose of the order which I am returning herewith without my approval is to legalize the assessments against the abutting properties I would respectfully suggest that the order be redrawn to disclose that purpose and submitted to me again, in which case I shall probably approve of it.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 10, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,— I am returning herewith without my signature and with my disapproval the order of March 5 to construct a sidewalk of artificial stone with granite edgestones upon the entire length of Perrin street, Ward 12, Roxbury, on both sides of the street. I am informed that there is a brick sidewalk now existing on both sides of this street, that there is no pressing necessity for substituting artificial stone for the bricks, and that the proposed improvement would cost $3,300, which the city can ill afford to spend at this time. Under these circumstances I must decline to approve the order.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

Severally placed on file.

CENSUS OF UNEMPLOYED.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 9, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,— I beg to acknowledge receipt of your order of March 5 wherein I am asked to consider the advisability of having a census of the unemployed taken in Boston by the police when they start their annual listing. In accordance with your order I have written to the Police Commissioner and have stated to him that if it is a practicable thing I am in favor of it.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

Placed on file.

LEASE OF ARMY BASE, SOUTH BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 15, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—The order adopted by your honorable body on February 19, 1934, relative to the advisability of leasing or purchasing the Army Base in South Boston was referred by me to the Boston Port Authority for a report. I inclose herewith for your information a copy of the report which I have just received.

Boston Port Authority,
1600 Custom House,
Boston, March 9, 1934.

Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mayor Mansfield,—At a meeting of our Board, held this morning, there was brought up for consideration the order of City Council of February 19, 1934, as to the advisability of leasing or purchasing the Army Base in South Boston. This order was transmitted to us by the City Clerk, through your office, and a report in triplicate was requested.

In the first place, the Board wishes to point out that there is no possibility of purchasing the Army Base. This facility was constructed during the World War at a cost of approximately twenty million dollars, and is the property of the United States Government. The title to it rests in the hands of the War Department and a part of it is leased to the United States Shipping Board Bureau of the Department of Commerce. This Bureau, in turn, now leases that section of it over which it has control to the Boston Tidewater Terminal, Inc., a private terminal operator.

On the question of leasing the Army Base, this Board has more than once gone on record to the effect that we are in favor of the Shipping Board's leasing that part of the Base under its jurisdiction to a private operator, rather than attempting to run the property itself or leasing it to the state or the municipality. Private operation of the Base, particularly in the last year or two, has demonstrated that by this kind of operation the Port has been well served and additional inward and outward cargo has been attracted. We are satisfied that for this particular facility private operation continues to be desirable, if the Terminal Company conducting the operation is at all times bearing in mind the best interests of the Port.

In behalf of the Board, therefore, I am directed to say to you that we are not in favor of the city's purchasing or leasing the Army Base and that we are in favor of continued private operation of the property.

Yours very truly,
BOSTON PORT AUTHORITY,
RICHARD PARKHURST,
Vice Chairman.

PROPOSED PURCHASE OF LAND, TENEAN BEACH.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 6, 1934.

To the Honorable the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith a letter from the Park Commissioners, relative to your order of February 26, 1934, concerning the purchase of land in the Tenean Beach section for park purposes

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, March 5, 1934.

Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of an order from the City Council that the Park Commissioners be allowed to purchase, at the present assessed value, the property adjoining Tenean Beach, owned by Edward and George P. Hamlin.

The property in question is assessed for approximately 10 cents per square feet. It would cost $25,000 additional to fill and develop said area, or approximately $115,000.

While the Board of Park Commissioners realize that Tenean Beach is one of the most popular bathing sites the city has under its jurisdiction, it feels it is very inadvisable to ask for any such amount of money for the purchase of land at the present time, due to economic conditions.

Very respectfully yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

Q. 3. Furnish a tabulation showing the increase in percentage form of these suburbs compared with the change in the population of the City of Boston.

A.

Cambridge	21,757 persons.	24

Malden	24,372 persons.	72
Medford	41,470 persons.	227
Quincy	48,084 persons.	201
Belmont	17,819 persons.	453

Q. 4. What, in the opinion of the Planning Board, is the reason for this great increase in the outlying suburbs compared with the increase or decrease in Boston?

A.

Transportation.

Transportation is doubtless one of the major controlling factors. Automobile registration alone has increased from 3,743 in the State of Massachusetts in 1903 (the earliest record available) to 932,041 in 1933. This fact, together with the gradual improvement in main thoroughfares such as the Northern Artery, the Gallivan Boulevard, the Old Colony Parkway and the Worcester Turnpike, has resulted in making the question of distance from the main business, shopping and social center a matter of less importance. At the same time this ability to reach the suburbs easily has been further emphasized by the congestion prevailing throughout the streets of Boston, the difficulties of parking and the general traveling inconvenience which is part of the transportation problem of any large city.

For those who do not make use of automobiles in reaching the suburban communities a similar service has been provided through the development of the rapid transit system, including the Boston Elevated, the Washington Street Tunnel, the Cambridge-Dorchester Tunnel and Extensions and the East Boston Tunnel. Surface car lines are greatly facilitated through the Tremont Street Subway, the East Cambridge Viaduct, and the Boylston Street Tunnel; while the more remote localities are rendered accessible by means of publicly and privately operated bus lines.

All of these facilities tend to lead people away from the large centers of population into districts less crowded and with more advantages in the way of open areas and more rural environment.

Housing.

Housing conditions are another important consideration. Naturally the houses in the older sections of the city are becoming, in a general way, less desirable for living purposes, due to the absence of modern facilities, inconvenient room arrangement, or lack of open areas, while the convenience of proximity to the business center has become of less moment as transportation facilities have improved. There are comparatively few vacant areas available for large scale building operations within the physical limits of the City of Boston at the present time. It is also true that as one gets further away from the center, land values and also rents are lower. There is at the same time an apparent desire on the part of many people for larger open areas in connection with housing facilities and these, of course, are only possible in the less crowded sections. The recent action of the Federal Government in sponsoring subsistence homesteads is indicative of the present trend toward more spacious living accommodations.

Taxation.

So far as tax rates are concerned it would not appear that the suburban sections had any particular advantage over Boston. The following figures are quoted from the 1933 table of tax rates:

Boston	$32.80 per $1,000.
Brookline	20.90 per 1,000
Cambridge	33.50 per 1,000.
Newton	24.80 per 1,000.
Malden	33.70 per 1,000.
Medford	32.80 per 1,000.
Quincy	29.60 per 1,000.
Belmont	24.00 per 1,000.

Annexations.

In the "Engineering News-Record" of February 9, 1933, is an article by Howard M. Green. Boston, St. Louis and Cleveland were taken as examples and the process of growth and decay of cities was told in a single quoted paragraph.

"The original city areas become populous and the inhabitants begin to migrate to adjacent outlying areas. This territory then becomes annexed to the central city, becomes populous in turn, and the process continues. The original areas meanwhile become less and less suitable for residences and are used to a growing extent for commercial and industrial establishments. The area once given over to fine old homes is invaded by business, some of the families move away, and their dwellings become cheap lodging houses. At this period the area is of little value for residential purposes, and business has not yet expanded sufficiently to demand it. Residential values decline, and values are only maintained by the hope that business will some day pay high prices for downtown property. In other words the area is blighted. Finally the dwellings are razed, and their sites are used for new hotels, office buildings, and commercial undertakings of all sorts. The displaced population moves into newer and more spacious areas, thereby hastening the necessity for further annexations."

Since 1880 Boston has had only one annexation, that of Hyde Park, when an area of less than 3,000 acres and 16,000 people became a part of Boston in 1912. Further efforts towards annexations have met with opposition. The densely populated cities to the north, west and the south already have the convenience of transportation and other facilities between the central city and the suburban areas and can see no advantage in annexation to balance the strong characteristic feeling for local self-government. Hence as far as annexations are concerned, there is apparently little opportunity until the time comes when metropolitan Boston will be incorporated as a unit with a new structure of municipal government.

Immigration.

There is also the question of immigration. From 30,000 immigrants into Massachusetts in 1895 there was a steady rise to a maximum of 101,000 in 1913 with nearly as many in 1914. From 1915 to 1919 there was a decided slackening due to the war when the average per year was about 20,000. The average for the next five years jumped to 46,000 when quota restrictions were adopted in 1924 and from 1925 to 1930 caused a gradual decrease of from 30,000 to 18,000. In 1931 immigration dwindled to 7,200, the lowest figure since 1860, when it was 7,800, and in 1932 there were but 2,500 immigrants.

In General

The evidence at hand seems to support the theory that all cities go through a process of growth and decline. This is not only true of a city itself, but even when it is broken down into districts. Boston is the oldest example in that it includes some of the first settlements in this country. Charlestown for the last quarter-century has decreased in population, as has also the South Boston section. East Boston shows evidence of having passed its high point with indications that its curve will tend to go down in the future. Boston Proper shows a decrease in the last twenty years. This, of course, is to be expected in the older sections. The newer and less densely populated residential sections still show room for expansion. Roxbury is at the turn. Dorchester and West Roxbury are the most heavily populated and are really the districts carrying the increase in population for the city itself. This is due to the fact that these two districts are not only the largest in area, but have had undeveloped tracts to which the population turned in the general outward growth of the city from the center. Hyde Park and Brighton at the extreme south and west ends of the city show the lowest densities and show much smaller rates of increase than Dorchester and West Roxbury.

The reason for the apparent continuation of growth in the cities and towns surrounding Boston lies in the fact that the population trend having started later than that of Boston, or having lagged behind, has not yet reached the point of radical decrease in rate of increase. This is true in all cases except Cambridge where the downward trend is even ahead of that of Boston and a decline of over 5 per cent is shown in the last census. This coincides with the fact that the older the section, the less rapid the rate of growth.

Q. 5. Has the City Planning Board any suggestions to offer to the City Council to make Boston and particularly the older part of the city, that is, the North End, West End and South End a more desirable place so that the population that has left this part of the city can be replaced?

A.

Taxation, annexation, immigration and natural causes appear to have little to offer in the way of a solution to the problem at the present time leaving transportation and housing as the two major possibilities.

Of these, transportation has received a fair share of attention in recent years but there are still many fundamental defects in the street plan of the city. A street plan, however, should not be designed to promote either centralization or decentralization. Rather it should be designed to promote safety, comfort and speed of movement between all parts of the community. This fact was recognized in the Report on a Thoroughfare Plan for Boston submitted by the City Planning Board in 1930. The report was the result of three years of careful investigation, during which an unusually complete traffic analysis and forecast was prepared. Ten major projects were submitted and sixty-four secondary projects, together with a definite construction program covering a period of twenty-five years, and a financial plan.

It was the hope of the City Planning Board that this report might serve as the basis for an official plan to be prepared under the provisions of chapter 168 of the Acts of the year 1930, that it would be subjected to careful examination and constructive criticism by public and private interests, and that it might be amended, supplemented, perfected and eventually approved as the official Thoroughfare Plan of the City of Boston.

The adoption of such an official Thoroughfare Plan, accompanied by appropriate construction and financial programs, will do much to promote the safety, comfort and convenience of both business and residential sections. It would also encourage building developments and tend to stabilize occupancy and valuations.

A more immediate and definite possibility is to be found in the field of Housing, however. In this the experience of Boston is no different from that of any other large city. There is a lack of open areas in connection with houses in the older sections of the city; a minimum of sanitary facilities have been installed; and in a majority of cases, little or nothing has been done to add to the appearance of the building or the comfort or well being of the occupants.

The only real solution is a long range program of rehabilitation and reconstruction in the older sections of the city in order to make them attractive, wholesome and desirable as places of residence.

It is generally admitted that such a program is an economic impossibility through private capital although it would require the cooperation of the private owner. It would also require the cooperation of the city in the provision of open spaces and public facilities, and in tax adjustments. It would also require the cooperation of the Federal Government in the initial financing. England, having provided in fifteen years more than one million low cost homes with financial assistance from the government, is now working on a five-year program for slum clearance which calls for the demolition of 210,000 houses and the erection of a quarter of a million new dwellings. Holland has rehoused nearly one-seventh of its population with governmental aid. In Vienna more than 60,000 dwellings have been built for the wage earners in the lowest brackets. The United States Government has now set apart $100,000,000 for low cost housing operations by the Federal Government and stands ready to an even greater extent to assist in the carrying out of limited dividend projects.

The City Planning Board through its Civil Works Project has been making an intensive study of housing conditions in the different sections of the city with the idea of determining potential sites for low cost housing developments. A somewhat similar study has been carried on by the Regional Plan Association, Inc., of New York, in districts where large population losses have been suffered in the decade from 1920 to 1930. The Federal Public Works Administration has allocated $25,000,000 for suitable housing projects that may be developed under the New York City Housing Authority. The adoption of House Bill No. 770, now pending before the Committee on State Administration of the Massachusetts Legislature, would permit the appointment of similar housing authorities in the State of Massachusetts with similar eligibility to governmental funds.

The following editorial from the Boston Transcript of February 27, 1934, is timely:

"Warning to the Cities.

A new note is heard in the discussion of housing problems. Cities are reminded that they must compete with outlying communities in the creation of attractive conditions for living as well as for working. For if the outward movement of population keeps on, it will mean heavier tax burdens for those who remain, and heavier tax burdens will tend to drive out industry.

Leaders in city planning, assembled in New York at the suggestion of Mayor LaGuardia, were told by Ralph T. Walker, president of the New York chapter of the American Institute of Architects, that the population of the city was moving away from the center as if propelled by some centrifugal force. He added: 'Unless New York City is made just as fine a community as the outlying communities, it will continue to lose population. This is certain to affect the city's tax structure. Taxes would have to be raised to meet the city's debts, and thus would cause industry to move out of the city.'

If this is sound doctrine, it may come to pass that the central cities in urban districts will fight to keep their people at home as a matter of good business as well as sentiment. But it obviously means city planning on a large scale. It involves the provision of many open spaces available to young and old for purposes of recreation. It suggests the alteration of business and residential neighborhoods according to plans differing widely from the zoning methods now familiar. Perhaps under such an order, the people who preferred the city would offset in numbers those who sought homes in the suburbs.

However that may be, the remarks of the New York architect indicate that consideration of the almighty dollar may become an argument for more comprehensive city planning. There may be those who have thought of the dollar as an argument against it."

The City Planning Board hopes to carry forward its housing studies in order to be in readiness to cooperate fully and constructively with State, Regional and Federal authorities. To that end there has been established in fourteen different sections of the city, Local Joint Planning Committees composed of citizens representing all the civic organizations and elements of the district. In addition there are two city-wide advisory committees, established to cooperate with the City Planning Board,—the Advisory Committee on Public Improvements and the Advisory Committee on Housing. The Advisory Committee on Public Improvements was established in 1924, its function being to bring to bear on all suggested public improvements a cross-section of public opinion through representatives of all city-wide civic and professional organizations The Advisory Committee on Housing was appointed in 1932 for similar cooperation in the study of housing conditions.

It is generally agreed that a long range program for the construction of houses will meet better than any other program the needs of unemployment relief and that money spent for such work will be distributed more widely over the community than money spent in any other way.

The City Planning Board believes the concern expressed by the City Council in the foregoing order is justifiable. It believes the most effective remedial step is to be found in improved housing conditions, particularly in the older sections of the city. It has sponsored constructive housing measures. It has assembled in part the basic data necessary to permit of the adoption of a sound reconstruction program and policy. It stands ready to cooperate with all other agencies, public and private, to the end that tax values may be maintained and strengthened; that services already installed may be adequately availed of; that population figures may be stabilized at a point consistent with good living conditions, and that those desiring to live in close proximity to the center of the city may have the opportunity to do so in comfortable and attractive surroundings.

Yours very truly,
FREDERIC H. FAY,
Chairman.

FORESTATION ON HARBOR ISLANDS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 19, 1934

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I have been advised that there is a possibility that the director of Emergency Conservation Work, appointed under the provisions of the Act of Congress entitled "An Act for the relief of unemployment through the performance of useful public work, and for other purposes," approved March 31, 1933, will cause forestation work to be done on the islands in Boston Harbor belonging to the City of Boston, if permission to enter upon the islands and do the necessary work is given by the City of Boston to the Federal Government.

I am therefore submitting for your consideration a form of order relating to such permission, the passage of which I recommend.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

PROPOSED REINSTATEMENT OF SECOND ASSISTANT ASSESSORS.

Coun. SELVITELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That the Board of Assessors, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to consider the advisability of reinstating the ten second assistant assessors recently discharged and placing them on a stagger basis in the department.

Coun. SELVITELLA—Mr. President my purpose in introducing this order is to get a complete understanding of this matter that has been brought to our attention and to find out whether there is any way of stopping this movement now going on, under the head of economy, but which will apparently result in the ruthless discharge of men and women from the city departments. I don't want it to appear that I am quarrelling with the Mayor, but I have a right as a councilor representing a district in this city to do my share in trying to alleviate a condition that for the past year under the able leadership of our President we have been trying to avoid. We hear every day that the President of the United States and those working under him are doing everything they can to fight the depression, spending millions of dollars for the purpose. We are slowly emerging from the depression, yet we find the Mayor of Boston taking a position contrary apparently to the policies of the President and starting a "Stop Roosevelt" program here in Boston. Three weeks ago ten second assistant assessors were discharged. Of that group only one came from my district. The average pay of these men and women has been $1,200 to $1,500 a year, making a total of possibly $13,000 that might be saved for the entire year, and it will simply mean a cut in the tax rate of about 3 cents. I do not believe there is a property owner in Boston who would not be ready and willing to spend that 3 cents if it meant the re-employment of these men and women and the alleviation of the sufferings of the many children affected by the ouster. Under the guise of economy, 3 cents is saved on the tax bill; yet the Mayor within two weeks appointed a new man as Superintendent of the Long Island Hospital at a salary of $4,500 a year—a position, mind you, that was abolished almost a year ago. If the Mayor was really serious and sincere he could have put back at least eight of these people in these positions that were abolished, if they were placed on a stagger basis. Most of these discharged employees have large families, and I have been informed that in several cases there has been a good deal of sickness in the family for years. I would not be at all surprised if some of them will have to be placed on the rolls of the Public Welfare Department, and if on those rolls they would be entitled to at least $15 a week. So I say that this body should at least take some steps to prevent the wholesale further discharge of employees. We can certainly save many or all of such jobs by placing the employees on a stagger basis. The Mayor of Boston is receiving $20,000 a year less 15 per cent. I personally would be willing, in order to help save the jobs of some of these employees, to take a cut of 5 per cent, and I know that other members of this body would take the same position. I feel that the Mayor, by taking such action as I have proposed, will be able to solve a situation that is bringing distress to a great many families here in Boston. The Mayor sees fit to go to Needham and give a $7,500 job under this city government to a resident of that town; he goes to Newton and hires another man in the same way. In other words, he is prepared to go to these outside cities and towns, New Bedford or other places, and give fat salaried positions in the City of Boston to people who are not even residents of Boston. I say the principle is wrong and, although we have not the power to stop him, at least we ought to point the finger at him and question his sincerity in giving city jobs to people who do not reside in Boston, when there are 800,000 residents of Boston from whom he can choose. He is giving these position to men who are not even familiar with the life of Boston, who do not know the impulses and the feelings of Boston residents, who have everything they want in this world and don't care about the people who live here. So I am going to ask you, Mr. President, and members of this Council, if it is not about time that we took some step here such as I have proposed. We are sent here to protect our districts and stop, if possible, false economy programs, put through to punish those who were opposed to the Mayor in the last contest. He told the body that visited him about ten days ago, composed of senators, representatives and councilors, that he was going to discharge any many who opposed him. Is that the economy that he wishes the people of Boston to understand that he is putting into effect? Is that the economy that he is exercising at the expense of suffering families here in Boston? I want economy, but I don't want to see human suffering. We all want economy, but we don't want to see a ruthless discharge of men and women who are being sacrificed on the political altar, resulting in placing poor mothers and children on the streets and forcing them to go on the Welfare rolls. So I am going to ask for the passage of this order, in order that we may at least put these people back on a stagger basis.

Coun. TOBIN—Mr. President, I move that the matter be referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, I move that we take a vote upon it on the floor now, suspending the rule, and passing the order.

President DOWD—The question first comes on the motion to refer to the Executive Committee.

The motion to refer the order to the Executive Committee was declared carried. Coun. MURRAY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to refer to the Executive Committee was carried, yeas 16, nays 5:

Yeas—Coun. Agnew, Brackman, Doherty, Donovan, Dowd, Finley, Fish, Fitzgerald, Gallagher, Gleason, Goldman, Kerrigan, McGrath, Shattuck, Tobin, Wilson—16.

Nays—Coun. Englert, Murray, Norton, Roberts, Selvitella—5.

DISCHARGED SECOND ASSISTANT ASSESSORS.

Coun. ROBERTS offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor request the Board of Assessors to make a thorough investigation to determine whether the necessary economies can be effected in the department so that the discharged second assistant assessors who were recently discharged and who are really in need of employment and whose records are meritorious, can be re-employed.

Coun. ROBERTS—Mr. President, I am offering my order at this time in order that it may be considered along with Councilor Selvitella's order. The only difference between the two orders is that his suggests the stagger system, which I am not entirely certain will be necessary to adopt in working out a plan for re-employing these people. I agree with a great deal that Councilor Selvitella has said. Of the ten employees who have been discharged I know only two intimately. Those are both widow ladies who have worked for the City of Boston, eight years. So far as appears from the records of the department they have never been subjected to a single criticism from any of their executives, and it is a fact that they were never called upon to explain their position, were never given an opportunity to have a hearing, before they were discharged. They received notice of only two or three days before the effective date of their discharge and, so far as I know, they were never given a chance to defend themselves in their position, and practically all they know about the thing is what has appeared in the public press. Of course, we all know that they have no appeal. If they are discharged in the interest of economy they have no right to claim a hearing before the head of the department or the Mayor. I may say that immediately upon the discharge of the two ladies referred to I wrote to the Mayor and informed him that I was interested in those ladies, that I knew one of them was the main support of an invalid mother and that the other had children attending the Boston schools; that they received but a paltry sum from the city, not involving a large amount, and that I felt that a great hardship was being imposed upon them. I wrote the Mayor, under date of March 8, informing him of the situation as I understood it, and suggesting that if reforms had to be carried out and it was found necessary to discharge some of the personnel it would be a good idea to discharge all the married women in the Assessing Department whose husbands were gainfully employed. Some time afterwards I received an answer from the Mayor in which he requested me to give him the names of all such individuals so employed in that department. Of course, that was a ridiculous request. The correct ones to give him such information are the Assessing Board. They can give him the necessary information, and I submit, gentlemen, that right in that department are people occupying positions who cound be easily replaced, where in some instances the families are receiving two and three separate salaries from the City of Boston. And it is very strange that, taking all of the ten who have been discharged, I am informed that not one of them campaigned for the present Mayor of the City of Boston. Some took no part in the campaign whatsoever, but that made no difference. They were all discharged. But there is something more at stake in this matter, Mr. President, than even the reinstatement of these ten people whom we would like to see reinstated. Last week the Mayor spoke before the Committee on Cities of the Legislature and asked for the power to reorganize city departments. At that time I understand that he was asked what reorganizations he proposed or intended to make. He said that he was not in a position to state. I might say also that these ten people who were discharged, some few days before election, received a campaign letter from Frederick W. Mansfield in which he solicited their support and told them that if he was elected no person doing an honest day's work for the city would be discharged. Whether or not he felt that they were doing an honest day's work, I submit that, so far as they were concerned, he was then soliciting their votes, which was some evidence of his feeling toward them in that respect at that time. I accuse the Mayor of not being sincere, and I submit that if the Legislature gives him power to make these reorganizations the Council should have authority to vote upon the matter, that if they are not represented in the action taken a great injustice will be done. When I say that, the evidence is right here, in these ten people who have been discharged, either because of their taking no part in the Mansfield campaign, or else voting or showing a preference for some other candidate. We all want economy. As a matter of fact, this City Council has done a lot in the line of economy, in many orders that have been acted upon in the body. We would all like to see economy, we all want to see the tax rate cut down, but we are not kidding ourselves the same as one candidate for Mayor did in the last election, when he said that he would cut down the tax rate a certain percentage. It cannot be done. Those of us who have had experience in the budget know that we have no power over the Police Department or over the School Department; we know that while we may effect some economies in City Hall it is very difficult to affect the tax rate materially. The councilor from East Boston (Coun. Selvitella) says that the discharge of these ten employees will made a reduction of 3 cents in the tax rate. I hate to disagree with him, but I doubt whether the discharge of these ten employees will make a difference of half a cent in the tax rate. But I say that what we have seen in this instance is concrete evidence that if we give this Mayor the power to discharge employees without recourse to any one it may be very dangerous. Is he going through City Hall discharging every individual who was against him? Is that where he is going to start in with his economy? I think we all stand for a fair, square deal. I have here given you two examples of what these discharges that have been made mean, these two ladies out of the ten of whom I have personal knowledge, these two widows. The Lord knows how soon they will be obliged to apply for welfare. They have been discharged without any recourse, any attempt to save them is of no avail, because the discharges are made under the plea of economy. Therefore, I say we ought to take some action showing that we stand, first, for the fair deal for city employees, second, of course, for the taxpayer. He too, should have, as we all recognize, a fair deal. But certainly in the case of these employees, who have no recourse, no appeal to the Council or anybody else, no chance for a hearing, it stands to reason that every citizen of Boston would demand in such a case that employees of the city be given a fair deal.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

SLUM CLEARANCE.

Coun. FITZGERALD offered the following:

Resolved, That the Boston City Council go on record as favoring slum clearance and rehabilitation of present structures used for homes in Boston as outlined by the National Housing Division of Washington, D. C.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS, WARD 3.

Coun. FITZGERALD offered the following:

Ordered, That the Traffic Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install automatic traffic signals at the junction of Albany street and Broadway, Ward 3.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

ROPING OFF STREETS.

Coun. ROBERTS and Coun. SHATTUCK offered the following:

Ordered, That the City Messenger be authorized to rope off such streets as may be necessary, as in former years, in connection with the Marathon race to be held on April 19, 1934, under the auspices of the Boston Athletic Association, the expense attending same to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Flags, Ropes and Stakes.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

Coun. FITZGERALD offered the following:

Ordered, That a special committee of five (5) members of the City Council be appointed to investigate the expenditures, distributions, conduct and management of the Public Welfare Department of the City of Boston and to report to the City Council on or before the ninth day of April, 1934.

Coun. FITZGERALD—Mr. President, my purpose in introducing this order is that in past years we have been informed by the Corporation Counsel that when this Council has once passed the budget all authority in relation to the Public Welfare Department or the other departments ceases, so far as the Council is concerned. I have said on other occasions that I did not agree with the Corporation Counsel in that respect, did not think he was right. But the only way in which we could test the thing out would be by bringing it before the Supreme Court. Very shortly the budget will be before the Council, and the limited time that we will have to go into details with reference to the Welfare Department will not allow us to do the matter justice. That department is expending close to $14,000,000 yearly, and it will probably reach $15,000,000 this year. We have just heard two of the councilors here speak on behalf of men and women who have been separated from their places in the city service on the ground of economy. We know that the chief executive of this city is faced with a situation such as no other Mayor in the history of Boston has ever been faced with, and that something has got to be done. I, like every other member of this body, want to see justice done. We want to have no man or woman rightfully entitled to justice, denied it. We want no one who is entitled to any right or privilege deprived of it. But we have a situation in which something must be done. We find one of the men in authority in that department given another position, and for months he has been absent from his post of duty. It is impossible for any one man to look after the interests of that department unless he is on the job all the time. We find one member of the trustees, a dear friend of my own, who originally came from the section of the city that I have the honor to represent, who for quite a few years has been a sick man. I know that he has been in the West; that for three years or more he has been away from our city. He certainly could not give the requisite time to the work of this Board. Other members of the Board are not there at regular intervals. They are away. The whole management of the department is in the hands of an irresponsible man, irresponsible, I say, in the sense that he is responsible to no one. Now, this Council has power, plenty of power, but we have been allowed to be swayed from our duty here by opinions of the Corporation Counsel, naturally influenced by the Mayor's Office, and any powers that we may have have naturally been soft-pedalled. We know that the former Mayor on certain occasions placed special investigators there, who brought in true reports, that have never been published, that have been smothered. What is the answer? Why? The people of this city are crying out, because they are suffering from taxation and are losing their homes. Several thousand city employees are threatened with the loss of their positions. The gentleman from East Boston (Coun. Selvitella) may cry out to high heaven, the gentleman from Ward 4 (Coun. Roberts) may cry out to high heaven, but the Mayor has the power under the charter and, whether he gets additional power from the Legislature or not, he can separate these employees from the pay roll. The Supreme Court has so ruled in the cases of Fall River and New Bedford, that he has that power. But I believe the Mayor is trying to do an honest job, that he is a humane Mayor, trying to do the best he can. Now, we are all practical here. There is not a man here who has not had practical experience in politics. Men in this body, who have been elected to the Council, have seen men stand at the polls against them, using various methods to defeat them, and would like to see such men cut off the pay roll, no doubt. I am sympathetic with employees of the city and am also sympathetic with those who are paying the taxes. My mind reverts back thirty-five or forty years to employees in banks in this city, to employees of Jordan Marsh, White's, and other establishments who, when they became old, broken down, infirm, were separated from the pay roll without a pension and thrown out into the world, because they were engaged in private employment and when their usefulness ceased their employment came to an end. But nobody saw fit to raise their voices in their behalf. We are faced with a situation here, with a condition, and it may well be that the Mayor in connection with this one department will be able to lop off $4,000,000 or $5,000,000, so that he will not have to disturb a single employee of the city or be faced with an increased tax rate. Many of our people are troubled with the tax situation and with the increasing burden it is placing upon our citizens. We hear that the tax rate is going up to $40, and the Tax Commissioner himself cannot see how it is to be reduced below $38. The gentleman from the Back Bay stated, if correctly reported, that it might go up to $50 or $60, and he knows something about city and state finances. If that is the situation, what is going to become of the city? We are fast becoming a decadent city. All one has to do is to go over to Cambridge and see the industries that are going there from Boston, stores and other establishments, and to see the way they are crowded at Christmas and other times. Our taxable property is leaving us; business is leaving, and in general we are becoming the sucker city. It is estimated that thousands are coming to this city from other parts of the metropolitan district to get on our relief rolls, because cities like Everett, Revere, Malden, and others will only give them a certain amount. If we are going to continue to put up with that sort of thing, where are we going to get off? There are thousands of cases in each section of the city that will bear close investigation. There was one case where 293 cards were picked out at random, and practically a hundred of those were shady cases. Was anything done? No. You will find two and three in one family receiving aid. The reports show that they were registering from vacant lots, gasolene stations, all that sort of thing. How long is this condition of affairs to continue? Is it to go on until the bottom comes out of the barrel? We have talked about the situation there for a long time, but no action has been taken. Now, let the thing be settled, once and for all. Let a special committee of the Council be appointed to go down there, get the facts, and obtain some intelligent idea of the situation in the next two weeks, before the budget has an opportunity to go through. If anything is wrong, let it be righted. If the committee can make a true report to the people of the city that everything is all right, very well. But we will have to do something to economize in city expenditures if we are going to save positions to employees and if we are going to protect the interests of the property owners. Some of our people have made their homes in West Roxbury, Jamaica Plain, Brighton, and the other outlying districts, trying to get homes for their families, and the first thing they know their places are snatched away from them through the increased tax rate. We see thousands walking our streets out of employment, business stagnated, on account of the millions that are going into the pockets of these nonresidents who are coming here, obtaining fake and fictitious residences, and obtaining money from our Welfare Department. Something must be done. There is, of course, the rule of five years' residence here before a man can get a settlement and be in a position where he can demand relief from the city. There were forty men sent from Long Island the other day because they hadn't a settlement, many of them men born in Boston, but who, because they may have been away for a short period of time, have lost their residence and therefore have been sent to Tewksbury or placed somewhere on paupers' rolls. But aliens, nonresidents, can come in here and they find no difficulty in getting help. And these things are piling up here, Mr. President; the burden is becoming greater and greater all the time. There is only one way in which it can be stopped, and that is by a true and honest investigation. Everybody wishes all the help possible given to honest people who are really in need, but this thing has become a racket, gentlemen. I went down there one afternoon last week and saw hundreds of men in line, and I counted a number of whom I could truthfully say, to my way of thinking, that they were not actually in need of welfare. There were people there with sealskin coats, men dressed in the height of fashion, people who would get out of automobiles and then get in line. Something is radically wrong, and something must be done. If we are going to save these men who have lost their positions and who are threatened with loss of position, in the Assessing Department, the Building Department and other departments, this is the place to start. Everybody has been afraid to do it. But the time has now come for the Council to take action, and I ask that this order be passed under suspension of the rule, that the president appoint a committee of five members to investigate, and that they report back not later than the ninth of April.

President DOWD—If the councilor has no objection, the Chair will refer the matter to the Committee on Rules.

Coun. FITZGERALD—I do object, Mr. President, because the time is very short, and I cannot see any reason why this matter should be referred to the Committee on Rules. This is one of the rights that the Council has; I am quite sure that we have all the power necessary to investigate, and it should not go to the Committee on Rules. I find, if my authority is right—I have not given it a thorough looking-into, but it appears—that under chapter 128 of the Acts of the Legislature of 1864, a board of twelve overseers of the poor for the City of Boston was established, whose rights and duties are therein set forth. That act provided in section 4 that "said overseers shall render such accounts and reports of their expenditures, acts and doings as may be required by the City Council, and the same shall be audited and allowed, if according to law, in such manner as the City Council shall from time determine." While the charter has been changed since that time, we still retain a legitimate and proper interest in the doings of the Overseers. Now, it is important in a matter of this kind that we should act quickly. If this is referred to the Committee on Rules, and the Council should then adjourn for two weeks, all that time would be lost. In fact, time will be lost anyway by reference of this matter to a committee. I think we must all realize the importance of quick action. Let us vote today for the passage of the order. If the Council votes the order down, it can accept the responsibility. Coming from the ward which pays 46 cents out of every dollar of the tax rate, I feel, in the interest of the taxpayers in the ward as well as in the interest of taxpayers throughout the city, it is imperative that action be immediately taken. I say that the relief rolls of this city are padded, and I want to see the thing cleaned up. I do not hesitate to say that, Mr. President. I believe there are hundreds and hundreds claiming residence in certain parts of my own ward who do not truthfully and rightfully belong there. If the Council wants to send the order to the Committee on Rules, they can do so, but I am going to insist upon a vote upon the order today.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, I heartily agree with the councilor from Ward 3 (Coun. Fitzgerald) that this Council has the right to investigate this matter, and I am heartily in favor of a committee of five members of this body going down and investigating the Welfare Department.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, I also agree with the councilor from Ward 3 (Coun. Fitzgerald) in reference to this particular department. It was for that reason that back in January, on January 15, I placed an order in the Council requesting a systematic and detailed survey of the Welfare Department by the Statistics Department of the city, and looking to the enlargement and completion of the consolidated index cross-reference system now being compiled by the Statistics Department. I understand that an index is bekng made of both the Welfare and the Soldiers' Relief lists. Certainly, if we are going to make an investigation of this kind, it should be done promptly, so that when we come to consider the budget for the Welfare Department, amounting at the present time to something like $14,000,000 a year, we may have the facts before us. I think the present Mayor of Boston has been making efforts looking towards economy. I am beginning to believe that in some instances, certainly, he is aiming at the wrong target, however. With every desire to see economies effected, I cannot see the great importance, looking to that end, of the discharge of some unfortunate doctor down the harbor or of ten assessors, some of whom have been employed by the city for ten or twelve years, at a saving of perhaps $10,000, while the sort of thing we are all familiar with is going on in the Public Welfare Department. I believe, as I know the members of the Council do, that at least 25 per cent of the $250,000 or $300,000 a week now being spent by the Welfare Department as the year is starting in should not be spent at all. I know how the members of the Council feel about the necessity for economy and how his Honor the Mayor is endeavoring to do the best he can to pare down the expenses of city departments, that he is even burning the midnight oil so that department expenditures can be lopped off—a city position here, a sidewalk there, and so on. But while burning the midnight oil he is saving perhaps $1,000, $2,000, and so on, here and there, he can, starting out with the new administration, get after this Public Welfare Department, which is spending from $250,000 to $300,000 every seven days, of which at least 20 or 25 per cent is absolutely being stolen from the city. And so I agree with the effort here being made by the councilor from Ward 3 (Coun. Fitzgerald), feeling that it will, first, result in a godsend to city employees who may otherwise lose their positions because of inability to pay them, second, to the taxpayers, who will thus get some relief on their tax bills through the stopping of this unnecessary and wrong expenditure, and third, to the people who are on the welfare themselves, the deserving ones, who will thereby not suffer because of this 20 or 25 per cent that is being wrongfully expended, and will be better able to support their wives and children. I don't see how the City Council is going to pass intelligently on the Mayor's budget in a matter of this kind without having some intelligent idea of the situation in that department. Therefore, I feel that there is necessity of immediate action. It should also be a comprehensive investigation, a fair and square investigation, and we should have a report in the matter before us when we are acting on the budget, so that we may more intelligently act upon the requirements of this and the other city departments. I agree with the councilor from Ward 3 that we must have the facts and figures which would be thus brought out in acting intelligently upon this year's budget.

Coun. McGRATH—Mr. President, it seems like a far cry back to seven years ago, when I stood on the floor of this Council and called attention to the fact that appropriations for the Welfare Department were then passing $1,000,000 and that as time went on an expenditure of $2,000,000 and perhaps the exorbitant figure of $3,000,000 would be reached. That was in good times. People were not then greatly concerned with public welfare. Everyone was making a dollar and apparently everybody was happy. Then we came along to the time of the depression and we saw every department receiving orders from the Mayor's office to cut down on the budget, and to my mind they did a very good job. We saw every department come before the Committee on Appropriations of the Council with a reduced budget, reaching perhaps in the total a reduction of $3,000,000. But it was not enough, because here was the Welfare Department which had gone up from $2,000,000 and $3,000,000, to $10,000,000 and finally to $14,000,000, and in spite of this reduction of $3,000,000 in other departments through economies, it was therefore necessary in addition to curtail further in other departments to the extent of $1,850,000 in order to get through the year, taking it out of city employees, while this year the amount will reach $5,000,000. Last year the figures of every department were gone over with a fine-tooth comb, and were reduced $8,000,000, but the department that has not been reduced, and the department that has been causing all this trouble, has gone from a little over $1,000,000 seven years ago to $14,000,000. Our tax rate has been advanced to a point where the whole thing has almost fallen down, to a point where home owners cannot pay their tax bills. Still the Welfare expenses are going up, the full brunt being borne by the taxpayers of this city. That has been the result after seven years of fighting by former Mayors and City Councils, and we now have this situation facing the present administration. You will remember that when former Mayor Curley went to Europe, I, as Acting Mayor, brought down the chairman of the Statistics Department, Mr. Balfe, who had in his possession an order passed by this Council to get certain information from the Welfare Department. Then the trouble started. There could be no more horrible example of lack of cooperation than was seen when that department was told, "You have in your possession every card available dealing with welfare recipients," and we then found that they were 7,000 cards short. I called in the Corporation Counsel, Mr. Samuel Silverman, and I put the entire investigation into his hands. As the councilor from Ward 3 (Coun. Fitzgerald) said, certain cases were picked out at random at that time. He took those cases and turned them over to his private investigators, who were city employees. The results were astounding. They found a case, for example, in Dorchester, where the landlady owning a home there, said that in the fourteen years she had owned that home there was never a person of the name given as one receiving aid from that home who had lived there. But every once in a while some lady called and inquired about the particular case, and each time the landlady became very indignant and said there was never such a family living there; that she had lived there for fourteen years and would know. I was interested then in the visitor's report, what the visitor had said about the particular case; but it appeared that, unfortunately, the entire record had been lost, and Mr. Silverman said, "Why investigate that case further?" Then there was another case where a woman owned a home on Tremont street, in the South End, where a certain recipient was supposed to live, and the landlady said that she never heard of her. She was told that she must be wrong, because checks had been sent out and the checks had been cashed, and the question arose, who cashed the checks? It seemed that they were cashed at a little corner grocery. The woman said she owned another house, on Appleton street, but that in that place there was no such recipient, and had not been for years. And so the thing went on, and nothing was cleared up for months in the investigation of that case. But finally when we held our last meeting downstairs, and when practically every case under consideration had been investigated, what did we find out from that landlady? Up to that point it seemed that it might be a case of mistaken identity, but on the day of that last meeting this lady, although she had not previously furnished the information, stated that she owned an additional house at 38 Gray street, and it appeared that the person receiving aid lived there. She had forgotten about it at the time previously. And so it went on, and in the final upshot of the matter the cases suddenly became as white as snow. In fact, incidentally, the Boston newspapers got quite irritated with me, saying I had intimated that there was fraud in the department and that suggestions of that kind were not for the good of the service; that if it had not been for some of these later developments the department would have stood condemned in the eyes of the public. And so the thing has gone on. But there were cases investigated, and the investigation was carried on by Corporation Counsel Silverman. I sat there in an impartial, neutral capacity, and he recommended certain things as a result of the investigation. So the thing has gone on, until we now have this order introduced by the gentleman from Ward 3, an order which seems to me a necessary order under all the circumstances and one that should be passed at this time. I do not criticize the Mayor in the present instance because he is new to the office. He is getting his bearings, and he will have his problems in connection with the administration of the affairs of the city. He has the sole power to look into those records of the Statistics Department. Only upon the written order of the Mayor can even the members of the City Council see those records. But we have had here in this state studies carried on in criminology and sociology by high-class men and women who have had access to the records, and there has been some access that has brought about questionable results. I had a case brought to my attention two years ago of a school teacher in Dorchester, having a row with another school teacher, and saying to her, "What can you expect of a family who were city paupers?" Because the first person had seen in the records something that you cannot see, Mr. President. You are an elected official here, and yet you cannot look at those records, but every single student in Harvard College or in Simmons College can walk in and see records dealing with the most personal relations of people in this city, people who are taxpayers and residents. Those records are sacred only in so far as the members of this Council are concerned; and so, unless his Honor the Mayor will give to the committee of the Council the right to look into the records upstairs, we will be powerless. The board of twelve, two years ago, voted their full power to Mr. McCarthy, who runs that department, and then the Federal Government, after the Civil Works Act was passed, for the first time in Boston's history, had this entire list of recipients turned over to a Federal Administrator here in Boston who was to be appointed by the Federal Government and who would have a right to see the name of every recipient and investigate the case. Then, what happened? We were told that the reason why Mr. McCarthy could not come to this chamber while he was at the head of the Department of Public Welfare was because he was too busy, because his department had given him the authority over the expenditure of $14,000,000 a year; and then we see Mr. Bartlett, a splendid gentleman, appointed at the head of the state department of Civil Works, find that there is a conference between Mr. Bartlett and Mr. McCarthy, and that then Mr. McCarthy is appointed to investigate the department of which he has charge; that Walter V. McCarthy, the man who was so busy that he could not come to the Council to give us information in regard to welfare recipients, was now placed in an even busier position, and that the only check on the Welfare Department which was being run by Walter V. McCarthy was through Walter V. McCarthy, appointed by the Federal Government. Now, sir, when it comes to doing all that can be done for the needy poor, there was never a man who sat in this body, regardless of how he might preach economy, who would deny to any of the people of this city bread, a home, and a little warmth. There is not a member of this body today who would not reach into his own pocket, regardless of how he preaches economy, and contribute to the deserving poor of this city. But I don't think there is a man in this body who wants to see, as has happened, a person who runs a grocery store, a man who owns and drives a Packard car, going to this department for relief. Those obtaining relief from the Welfare Department are becoming a political force in this city. They are entering into politics. If you take the ground that there should be an investigation and a limitation of the expenditures of that department, you are told, "Don't you dare to trifle with the Welfare Department." Those who are beneficiaries of that department are becoming one of the strongest organizations in Boston. When private social agencies in this city break down, you will find that they transfer their heritage to the city-controlled Welfare Department. The most important way to reduce taxes in this city today is to put that department under close and strict supervision, so that it will be confined only to its proper and legitimate activities in helping the deserving poor. If you do that there will be no necessity whatever of cutting salaries of city employees or of cutting out city employees. Seven years ago, and in the years since, I have been intensely interested in this matter. I have told you that one day there would arise a Frankenstein in this city, that the welfare recipients would become so powerfully organized that they would control the government. There was a man who ran against me, and on his card it said, "I stand with the Welfare recipients." There was a man who spent $2,000 in trying to get elected to this body, and Commissioner Lydon and Mr. McCarthy admitted that he was on the soldiers' and welfare relief rolls, and his family, his father, also. Only two years ago in this very chamber I called attention for the first time of then Corporation Counsel Silverman to the fact that even the Soldiers' Relief and Public Welfare did not compare their lists with each other, and in that year, in the March 17th parade, a man who was on public welfare rode in the parade in a privately owned seven-passenger automobile ahead of the councilors, a man with plenty of money, who was running that car for pleasure and yet he was on the soldiers' relief and on public relief for the full amount, and is yet. That sort of thing cannot go on, sir. I asked for information from Morgan Ryan, the registrar, giving the name of every person in the City of Boston who owns and runs an automobile for pleasure. There are many who are on public welfare that are in that list. I was not after the little fellow who has perhaps paid $10 for a car, which he leaves out in his back yard, who does not have money enough to register it. But, sir, I was after such people as a man of whom I know a father of a family, who testified that he had no automobile, but he has living at home with him a son of twenty-three years of age and a daughter of twenty-five, each owning and operating an automobile for pleasure. Of course, this sort of thing is going to put some of the recipients of public welfare in bad, but we have got to put some persons in bad, sir, if we are going to do justice to people who have struggled for a lifetime to put a roof over their families, only to find that they are being engulfed because a lot of fakirs, who wouldn't even work in 1928, when there was work to do, are now being supported by the city; a lot of fakirs, men who were bums in good times and who will try to get help from the public as long as they live, and they are ruining the little fellow who owns a home and whose taxes are becoming so excessive that he cannot carry the burden. And the Federal Government comes along and says, "If you are on welfare we will take care of you; you can get coal, shoes, whatever you need." And then we find many of this class to whom I have referred on welfare. The only man who is being penalized is the man who is suffering because of his frugality, the man who has worked hard, and who has been trying to get a home—whether in the heart of Dorchester, Jamaica Plain, Brighton, Charlestown or elsewhere; the man who, after years of labor trying to get a home and to protect his wife and children, is getting caught like a rat in a trap and cannot get out. Yes, he can get out, but the only way is by losing his home, losing his job and living off the City of Boston. And so, sir, I believe that we should here and now suspend the rules and pass this order, that this committee should be appointed, and that we should immediately get in touch with the facts concerning some of these recipients of welfare. They will not tell the truth. They will go outside and say that the councilors have little to do when they engage in such business as this! They will say that we are taking away the slice of bread and the glass of milk from the children. That is the sort of charge that we have had to meet all these years when we have tried to have this department placed on a good and honest basis. And you may have a fight on your hands from these very people when you go back to your constituents to be returned. We must meet the situation confronting us in this city before there has been such a Frankenstein erected that it will run our city. They had their candidates in every ward in the City of Boston this year, and made a determined fight to turn this body over to the control of the Welfare Department, and they were not far from achieving their purpose in some of the wards, sir. As the days go on, a common cause will bring them together. You know that they are fakirs, you all know that in your wards. When we are asked to name them, you, gentlemen, will not act as police officers, and neither will I. But there are those who are entrusted with the duty of looking after the affairs of this city who can properly be called upon to bring forth the facts. Let us take the lists that are upstairs in Mr. Balfe's office, as a result of the investigation, and turn them over to the Corporation Counsel's office to investigate. Let them put back the system that the twelve members of the Board voted for, at my suggestion, once a month to have every recipient of welfare sign a receipt, giving also "the present address." Also, in the case of those who sign by cross, have that witnessed by some member of the department. Then, have your investigation. It will not then simply be the word of an employee of the department against the man who signed by cross, but it will be witnessed so that an investigation will show whether or not it was right. Let us have this committee, sir, and let us have a thorough investigation of this department. Let us take some action to stop the sort of thing we all know is going on. Let us purge the list, and in so doing let us show our wish and intention to cooperate with the Mayor, who has a tremendous burden facing him this year. If he will put into effect down there what the twelve trustees voted to put into effect, signing triplicate copies giving the names and present address of every recipient of welfare, then a proper investigation can be made and the sort of thing that is now going on will cease. This committee, if it is given the right to do so, can go in and investigate those names; we can pick out twenty-five, fifty, one hundred names, present them to the Corporation Counsel's office and have an investigation made within twenty-four hours, and that sort of thing can be continued until this whole business is straightened out. Then, if we get reports from the Corporation Counsel's office that individuals have not lived here or lived there for six months or any period of time, there is something wrong. The trouble is that after the twelve members of that body had so voted unanimously, when they started to put their vote into effect, they found that the list was so faulty that they themselves were ashamed. I challenge the Public Welfare Department of the City of Boston to go through with their unanimous vote, to give us an honest deal, and to get rid of the fakirs.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, I shall vote in favor of this order. I believe it to be a step in the right direction. I believe, however, that we must not "kid" ourselves into thinking that this one step or any one step will be sufficient to pull us out of the situation in which we find ourselves. Last year, partly through borrowing and partly through a grant of the Federal Government, we took about $7,000,000 of our expenditures off the tax levy, and it was only in that way that a reduction in taxation was effected. Otherwise, the tax rate would have been over $35 on a thousand, the highest figure we have ever reached in this city; although if we figured on true value—and that is what led to the figure I referred to the other day at a legislative hearing—the rate in very many cases would be much higher than that. I know a recent case of a house on Marlborough street, in my district, on the sunny side, the side on which ordinarily a house would sell at the better price. That house was sold for $8,500, athough assessed for over $20,000. In other words, it was being taxed at about $100 on a thousand of its real valuation, and that is not an unusual case. I know another house on the same street for which a few weeks ago a prospective buyer offered to give $8,000, and after looking it over withdrew the offer, and that house was assessed for over $20,000. So it is clear that we have reached a point where drastic economy is necessary,—economy in the Welfare Department, so far as is possible cutting off unworthy cases, cutting off fake cases; economy in every department, and doing without unnecessary employees. There is no reason whatever why the City of Boston as a whole should pay salaries to persons who are on the pay roll but who are doing no necessary work. If we stick to essentials and pay for those essentials we will be doing all we can and at the same time will keep our city solvent, paying the wages we have agreed to pay, paying the salaries we have agreed to pay, and meeting our other obligations. So, while this is a step in the right direction, there must be economy all along the line.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, this order is not one that is going to get us anywhere, or one hundred similar orders are not going to get us anywhere, without other necessary action being taken. Who is going to investigate the cases of 100,000 men, women and children? There is just one thing to do in the Welfare Department, first, and that is to decentralize it, and I have introduced over one hundred orders to have it decentralized. There is no reason why West Roxbury and South Boston cannot have what Hyde Park has today, their own welfare headquarters. Then, with the cooperation of school teachers and others, with a properly functioning committee of investigators in each district, health nurses and others, we will know who is on the roll and whether they have a right to be on the roll. Now, why don't you men stand with me and vote, say, for one month's budget? There is only one power we have here, and you can talk here until the end of time and you will not change that fact. Everybody wants people in Boston fed, but why not exercise our power to vote a one month's budget, and then if things are not properly handled, we can bring them to task. But the important thing at once is to decentralize the department.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

President DOWD appointed as said committee Councilors McGrath, Fitzgerald, Tobin, Shattuck and Wilson.

My career has been devoted to driving out of the temple those who preach the gospel of despair. Defeatism has no place in our homes, in our state, nor in our nation. . . . Thus, it seems to me, and I am warranted in believing that you, too, my radio audience, are convinced that at last a good turn is about to be accomplished, when the nation, every state, every city and town are putting their shoulder to the wheel for the restoration of normal conditions"; be it

President DOWD—The Chair will refer the resolution to the Executive Committee.

The resolution was referred to the Executive Committee.

PERMANENT COURT OF INTERNATIONAL JUSTICE.

Coun. FINLEY offered the following:

Resolved, That the Congress of the United States follow traditional American foreign policy and refuse to sanction American adherence to the Permanent Court of International Justice, a creature of the League of Nations, and as such inextricably bound up with Old World intrigues and diplomacy detrimental to the best interests of the United States.

Coun. FINLEY—Mr President, the American people are engaged in a great struggle against those reactionary forces, both political and economic, which threatened our very life as a nation. And we are winning that fight, thanks to the inspired leadership of a great President and the loyalty of a determined populace. But while we concentrate on the battle to gain the heights of prosperity we face an even greater menace from those forces which, since 1917, have been working to involve our great country in the turmoil of European conflict. In 1919, under the leadership of a great United States Senator, the late Henry Cabot Lodge, we were saved from the danger which then threatened us. Braving the wrath of a hostile administration, the great Bay State political leader successfully fought ratification of the Treaty of Versailles incorporating as it did the iniquitous League of Nations. At the next national election the American people, in the largest outpouring of votes up to that time, repudiated that party which dared to suggest a desertion of traditional American nationalism in exchange for a worthless internationalism. Undismayed, the League advocates tried a more subtle method of approach. Their next move was to secure adherence to the Permanent Court of International Justice by the United States. They covered their treachery with sugar-coated phrases about our desire for world peace and the amicable settlement of international disputes. But they wanted us to get into the League of Nations, not in the honest, upright American way, by forthright adherence to the League of Nations, but in the craven, despicable way,—through the back door,—through the World Court. They were very clever about it. They insisted that the World Court had no connection with the League of Nations and that our adherence was merely a friendly gesture of good will to Europe. The first statement is a downright lie and the last is worthless as argument. The World Court was provided for in the same covenant which sets up the League of Nations. Its judges are elected by the League. Their salaries are paid by the League. Their decisions are rendered at the request of the League. In short, the so-called World Court is nothing but a creature of the League of Nations, depending on the League not only for its existence but also for its sanction Without the mailed fist of the League, standing in the background to enforce its decisions, the World Court is a vain and worthless thing. Let the Congress of the United States take this initial step and sanction adherence to the World Court and it will be but a step before we are plunged headlong into European intrigues and conflicts. Mr. President, you and I are acting here today in our official capacity because those who have gone before had the wisdom and the foresight to have ever before them that watchword "America for Americans." It was that watchword which carried the struggling colonies to a breath-taking victory over Great Britain. It was "America for Americans" which sustained us in every trying day in our long and glorious history. It is "America for Americans" which must be our watchword now in these days of reconstruction. Therefore, Mr. President, since our need is pressing and since Congress may act on the World Court at any moment, I ask for passage of this resolution under a suspension of the rules.

Referred to Committee on Rules.

WARD 19 IMPROVEMENTS.

Coun. MURRAY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Street Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to lay out and construct Grover street, Ward 19.

Ordered, That the Street Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to lay out and construct Brown terrace, from Seaverns avenue to Harrison avenue, Ward 19.

Severally passed under suspension of the rule.

DECENTRALIZATION OF WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct the Overseers of Public Welfare to decentralize said department.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, tomorrow there is to be heard at the State House a bill to decentralize the Welfare Department and appoint a single head. I certainly hope that the colleagues who have spoken today so sympathetically and feelingly in this matter will be up there tomorrow in the interests of the people of Boston.

Coun. McGRATH—Mr. President, I suggest that there should be some one man to speak for the Council at the hearings in the State House. I notice that various councilors go up there to speak and, for fear that the opinion of one councilor should be interpreted as the feeling of all, I would suggest that the President of the Council go there tomorrow and speak for the body on the bill that deals with the power of consolidation of departments, as well as the one dealing with a single head for the Welfare Department. I would suggest that the President of the Council, as President of the body, represent the body before the committee.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I trust that no colleague in this body will give up his inalienable right as an American citizen to appear before any committee at the State House. I certainly do not feel that any order, motion or resolution introduced into this Council will take away from any member of the body his inalienable American right. Tomorrow there are bills to be considered by the Committee on Cities under which the Mayor of Boston will be at least supposed to try to do something for the Welfare Department and other departments. I believe that a single head for that department, or practically anything that the Mayor wants, will be better than what we see down there now. No matter how bad the bill may be, it cannot be any worse than what we see down there today. I suppose all my talk on this floor may not mean much as far as having something done in this matter is concerned. It may please some one in the gallery. But we can only do one of two things: First, we can stand here for a one month's budget, and I wonder how many here will so stand when the pressure is put on? Second, we can go to the State House tomorrow, look over the bill that has been introduced, and if we agree with it, as far as reconstruction of the Welfare Department is concerned, talk in favor of it. I don't think, Mr. President, that I as a councilor have got to ask you to appear at the State House and voice my sentiments. I have voiced them pretty well for the last twenty years, and if the Lord gives me power, I will continue to voice them for the next twenty years.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

Coun. TOBIN—Mr. President.

President DOWD—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. TOBIN—I desire to make a statement, Mr. President.

President DOWD—If there is no objection, the gentleman may proceed.

Coun. TOBIN—Mr. President, while my remarks may be considered out of order at this time, I think it might be advisable to state to the members of the City Council that we have a Legislative Committee in this body; that the committee has met and has passed upon over ninety bills affecting the government of our city, and that this committee has not yet reported to the full body of the Council. But, with reference to the particular bill under discussion, or that will be discussed tomorrow, we have had a vote here already, passed by the entire membership of the body, that we favor such a bill. So your Legislative Committee, after we come back from executive session, will report to the City Council their attitude and will state it to the committee of the Legislature tomorrow.

INFORMATION IN RE NEPTUNE GARDENS HOUSING PROJECT.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to inform the Council as to the following matters in his statement relating to the Neptune Gardens Housing Project in East Boston, which appeared in the City Record of March 10, 1934:

1. Who made the vacancy survey of East Boston which showed that 97 per cent of the apartments are rented?
2. Who made the estimate that the cost of branch sewer connections, house connections with water and sewer mains, and street surfacing would be $65,000 to $85,000?
3. The length of branch sewers, the number and length of house connections with water and sewer mains, and the area of street resurfacing which it is estimated must be constructed for this cost of $65,000 to $85,000?
4. Who made the estimate that the project would produce from $50,000 to $100,000 in taxes, when completed?
5. Why, in view of the expenditure of $3,500,000 on this project, it is estimated that it will produce only $50,000 to $100,000 in taxes, which represents an assessed valuation of only $1,500,000 to $3,000,000?
6. The amount of money which he was informed the promoters of the project has invested or would invest?
7. The area of the land which he was informed would be sold to the incorporators of this project, the owners of this land, and the sale price?

Passed under suspension of the rule.

DISCREPANCY IN FIGURES SUBMITTED.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Public Welfare Department be requested to inform the Council, through his Honor the Mayor, why the total expenditures for Dependent Aid, Mothers' Aid, and Old Age Assistance for January, 1934, as reported to the City Council on February 10, were stated to be $1,069,062.09; whereas, the Auditor's Monthly Exhibit for January, 1934, stated that the total expenditures were $964,269.13.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

STAGGER SYSTEM FOR CITY EMPLOYEES.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston be requested to consider the advisability of seeking legislation so that he can place in operation a three or four day week, the so-called "stagger system," as an alternative to the outright discharge of city employees.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SYNCHRONIZATION OF ACCOUNTS.

Coun NORTON offered the following:

Ordered That the Acting City Auditor be requested to synchronize the accounts in the Public Welfare Department with those in his office so that, when information as to expenditures is made public by both departments, the figures will agree.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

UNAPPROVED DEPARTMENT CONSOLIDATION.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, may I ask the clerk, through the Chair, with regard to an order "That the Legislative Committee of the City Council be instructed to oppose the passage of any bill by the Legislature for the consolidation of city departments not providing for approval by the City Council," whether a copy of that order was furnished to our Legislative Committee? That was an order that was passed, supposedly with the unanimous consent of the Council.

President DOWD—The clerk informs me that a copy of the order was sent to the Legislative Committee in the regular course of business.

EXTENSION OF PRESENT LIST OF POLICE APPOINTMENTS.

Coun. WILSON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Police Commissioner, through his honor the Mayor be, and he hereby is, respectfully requested to ask the Civil Service Commission to extend the present list for appointments to the Police Department beyond April 29 until July 1, 1934.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, in reference to that order I might say that my order of February 12, addressed to the Police Commissioner through his Honor the Mayor, requested the commission to fill a substantial number of the vacancies now existing in the Police Department but, in any event, if such appointments are delayed until July 1, to provide for an extension of the present civil service list until such time. The answer came back from the commissioner's office that "I beg to inform you that this is a matter that comes solely within the jurisdiction of the Civil Service Commission and is not within the province of the Police Commissioner." Of course, we all understand that, so I now reiterate our earlier request—namely, asking that the Police Commissioner take favorable action upon our request to fill a substantial number of the vacancies now existing, and that if the appointments are delayed until July 1, some provision be made for an extension of the present civil service list until such time. I trust that favorable action will be taken upon the request, thereby insuring to some of the men on that list, most of whom are supposedly veterans, a possible chance for appointment before the list dies.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

RECESS.

On motion of Coun. FISH, a recess was taken at 3.50 p. m., subject to the call of the Chair, for the purpose of going into executive session. The members reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by President DOWD at 4.55 p. m.

1. Report on order (referred March 5) that reinstatement of Michael Santiano in employment of Penal Institutions Department be approved—that same ought to pass.

Report accepted; said order passed.

2. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred today) for permission for forestation work to be done by Federal Government on islands in Boston Harbor—that same ought to pass.

Report accepted; said order passed.

6. Report on order (referred today) for investigation to determine whether necessary economies can be effected so that discharged second assistant assessors can be re-employed—that same ought to pass.

7. Report on order (referred today) that Board of Assessors be requested to consider the advisability of reinstating the second assistant assessors recently discharged and placing them on a stagger basis—that same ought to pass.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

President DOWD called up, under unfinished business, No. 1 on the calendar, viz.:

1. Action on appointment submitted by the Mayor March 5, 1934, of James Giblin, to be a Weigher of Goods.

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Agnew and Selvitella. Whole number of ballots 18, yeas 18, and the appointment was confirmed.

INDORSEMENT OF HOUSE BILL 950.

Coun. TOBIN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Committee on Legislative Matters of the City Council be instructed to appear at the hearing before the Committee on Cities of the Legislature in favor of House Bill No. 950, An Act relative to Reorganizing the Department of Public Welfare in the City of Boston, and to report the result of their appearance at the next meeting of the City Council.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

A SQUARE DEAL IN ASSESSMENTS FOR TAXATION.

Many cities are finding it greatly to their advantage to have their tax valuations periodically overhauled. The first criterion of any assessment is equity. For every citizen who wants through "pull" or however else to get off easy, there are twenty, nay a hundred, who want a fair and square deal for all.

The appraisal of city real estate is a highly technical affair.

Few things are more important than the equalization of assessments. Particularly in cities that are cramped by an inflexible debt or tax limit, an honest, full value assessment may be a great boon. Without the slightest raise in the tax rate a substantially greater tax yield may be had.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith a letter from the Superintendent of Boston City Hospital relative to your order of February 19, 1934, concerning the advisability of utilizing the buildings formerly occupied by the Federal Government as U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 44, West Roxbury, as a convalescent hospital or for other hospital purposes.

City of Boston,
Hospital Department, March 15, 1934.
(Attention Mr. John Gilmore, Jr.)

Hon Frederick W. Mansfield,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—In reply to the order of the City Council, "that his Honor the Mayor be requested to confer with the City Hospital Trustees to consider the advisability of utilizing the buildings formerly occupied by the Federal Government as U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 44, West Roxbury, as a convalescent hospital or for other hospital purposes," the trustees of this hospital have given careful consideration to the use of the old Veterans' Hospital No. 44, in West Roxbury. They have firmly decided that they have no purpose to which these buildings could be devoted, and they would much prefer that the buildings and grounds be taken over by the City of Boston.

Yours sincerely,
JOHN J. DOWLING,
Superintendent.

Placed on file.

Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—This report is submitted in response to the order of the City Council of March 19, 1934, which reads as follows:

Ordered, That the Acting City Auditor be requested to synchronize the accounts in the Public Welfare Department with those in his office so that, when information as to expenditures is made public by both departments, the figures will agree.

The accounts of the auditor's office and those of the Public Welfare Department have always been synchronized in that they cover the same periods of time.

The auditor is required by ordinance and statute to furnish a monthly exhibit of the actual payments made by the city on behalf of each department.

The accounts of any department which encumbers its books with unpaid liabilities will necessarily differ in any particular month from the auditor's exhibit of cash payments for the same month, but the two statements become reconciled when the outstanding bills are presented and paid.

In the particular instance to which public attention has been called, namely the statements of the auditor's office and the Public Welfare Department for the month of January, there is no real discrepancy as the two reports were not made on the same basis and are therefore not comparable.

Respectfully,
WILFRED J. DOYLE,
Acting City Auditor.

APPROPRIATION FOR SNOW REMOVAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 26, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the attached communication from the Commissioner of Public Works in which he requests that an appropriation be immediately made available to meet expenses incurred during the current year in removing snow from the streets of the city. The commissioner's request is based upon the fact that, prior to the passage of the budget, city departments are limited in their total expenditures to one third of their appropriations for the previous year. Payment of snow removal bills, within this limit, would materially reduce the amount which the Public Works Department may expend for ordinary departmental requirements. Since the major portion of the expenditures of this department in the early months of the year is for pay rolls, any material reduction in the amount which the department is now authorized to expend, in anticipation of the passage of the budget, would undoubtedly result in the holding up of the regular pay rolls of the department. Because of the large number of employees involved I feel it is necessary that action should be taken to protect their interest and welfare.

I accordingly submit herewith an order providing for the appropriation of $750,000 for snow removal and respectfully recommend adoption of this order by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
March 21, 1934.

To the Honorable Mayor.

Chapter 320 of the Acts of 1889 provides that a department of the City of Boston may expend in anticipation of the budget not more than one third of the department amount appropriated for said department for the previous year.

The bills contracted for snow removal since January 1, 1934, amount to approximately $725,000. An appropriation of $800,000 for snow removal has been requested in the 1934 budget. A prolonged delay in payment for work done will involve hardships on many of the parties who have furnished labor, trucks and other equipment and who are not financially able to wait for payment until the 1934 budget is finally approved by the City Council and the Honorable Mayor. Due to the large amount involved it is impossible to consider any payments under the one third provision, as such payments might affect the regular budget items.

I respectfully suggest that consideration be given to the transmittal of a budget covering the snow removal appropriation to the City Council for immediate action. I understand that in previous years such action has been taken on special items.

Respectfully,
C. J. CARVEN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Ordered, That to meet the current expenses payable during the financial year beginning with the first day of January, 1934, of performing the duties and exercising the powers devolved by statute or ordinance, or by vote of the City Council during the year upon the City of Boston, or the departments or officers thereof, the respective sum of money specified in the table hereinafter set forth be, and the same is, hereby appropriated, to be expended for the object and purpose hereinafter stated, that the sum be raised by taxation upon the polls and estates taxable in the City of Boston, and that all orders relating to appropriations, taxes and the interest thereupon apply to the taxes herein provided for.

OPINION ON TAX SALES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 26, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am submitting herewith the opinion of Corporation Counsel Henry E. Foley upon the order adopted by your honorable body on February 14, 1934, relative to the City Collector being instructed by the Mayor not to sell dwelling houses wherein the total amount of taxes due is less than $25.

Yours truly,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Law Department, March 26, 1934.

Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—Under date of February 14, 1934, you asked for a report upon an order of the City Council which reads as follows:

"Ordered: That the City Collector be instructed through his Honor the Mayor not to proceed to sell any dwelling house wherein the total amount of taxes due is less than $25."

The duty of collecting taxes, which has not been abated or suspended as provided by law, is imposed by statute upon the collector, and he is required to furnish a bond for the faithful performance of his duty. Chapter 69, General Laws (Ter. Ed.).

He is a public officer whose powers and duties with regard to the collection of taxes are controlled by statute. See Graten v. Cambridge, 250 Mass. 317.

I am, therefore, of the opinion that you have no authority to direct the City Collector with reference to the subject matter of said order.

Very truly yours,
HENRY E. FOLEY,
Corporation Counsel.

ESTIMATES ON NORTHERN AVENUE BRIDGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 26, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I submit herewith report from Public Works Commissioner, Christopher J. Carven, to which is attached a report from J. R. Worcester & Co., consulting engineers, who had been engaged to estimate the cost of repairing the old Northern Avenue Bridge or building a new bridge and which includes the estimate from the McClintic-Marshall Company as to such cost.

I am not in favor of building a new bridge at a new location which I am informed would cost approximately $2,800,000. Temporary repairs with restricted traffic would cost $100,000, but I think it would be inadvisable to spend that sum which obviously would give only temporary relief and would not open the bridge fully to traffic.

The question to be decided is whether we should spend at least $375,000 to repair the draw, $650,000 to build a new draw, or $1,000,000 to build a new bridge.

Since the draw if repaired would have only from twenty to twenty-five years of life and the new draw would cost about two thirds of the sum required for a new bridge I am of the opinion that a new bridge to cost $1,000,000 would be the most practical solution of the problem. The order appropriating $1,000,000 under P. W. A. is already before your honorable body. I recommend that that order be adopted.

Yours truly,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department, March 22, 1934.

To the Honorable Mayor of Boston.

I respectfully forward for your information the annexed report of the J. R. Worcester & Co. on the Northern Avenue Bridge. In brief they estimate that:

For replacing the present structure for a life of from twenty to twenty-five years an estimated cost of..... $375,000

For a new draw span and repairing the present approach span an estimated cost of..... $650,000

For a new bridge in present location an estimated cost of..... $1,000,000

Their proposal for a new bridge in a new location calls for a continuation of Oliver street across to South Boston and through the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad property until it meets Northern avenue again as shown on the accompanying blueprint. The cost of the new bridge in this location would involve the abandonment of the Fort Hill Receiving Station and a radical revision of freight houses and tracks on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad property; the bridge alone is estimated at a cost of $1,300,000. This estimate does not take into consideration the cost of removing the Fort Hill Receiving Station to a new location and the heavy land damage to the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad property; it would easily call for an additional expenditure of $1,500,000, making a total cost of a new bridge in a new location approximately $2,800,000. The estimate of $100,000 as quoted in the second paragraph on page two of the report covers the putting of the bridge into condition for temporary use for a limited time and restricted travel until a new bridge on a new location could be built.

I am of the opinion that the excessive cost, namely, $375,000 for repairing the present bridge, eliminates the consideration of repair and the consideration should be given to either the second or third estimate, namely, a new draw span and repairing present approach span at an estimated cost of $675,000 or a new bridge costing $1,000,000.

Respectfully,
C. J. CARVEN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Copy of Letter from J. R. Worcester & Co., Engineers, 79 Milk Street, Boston, to Commissioner Christopher Carven, Department of Public Works, Dated March 22, 1934.

Dear Sir,—We submit herewith a more detailed report on the Northern Avenue Bridge than was contained in our progress report of March 19. We shall take up the items in the same order as in the previous report.

Repairing the Present Bridge.

We have gone over the structure very carefully as regards the draw span, the Boston approach span, the short approach span at the South Boston end, together with all of the machinery and operating devices. We have carefully examined the broken members of the draw span, inspected all joints, removing pin nuts at all points on the bottom chord of outside trusses and at numerous points on the interior trusses and occasionally on the top chords. We have carefully examined all movable parts and have a complete record of all parts of the structure examined. We have taken up sections of the flooring, both on the draw span and approach spans to determine the condition of portions of the steelwork which were hidden from view.

As a result of our examination, we prepared a list of work which we considered necessary to put the bridge into substantially as good condition as it was when new. This list consists of eighteen items of work to be done on the draw span, ten items on the approach spans, and four items of a general nature applying to the whole structure. A copy of these items is appended.

This list of items was delivered to the McClintic-Marshall Company after they had made an inspection of the bridge to determine the field conditions. We also furnished them a complete set of drawings of the present structure and requested that they also include the cost of installing electrical operation to replace the existing compressed air equipment.

They have estimated that the total cost of this work would be $325,000, of which $225,000 applies to the draw span and $100,000 to the approach spans. To this should be added the sum of $10,000 for the repair of pit in the draw pier. To these sums should be added 12 per cent to cover engineering work which would consist of numerous detailed drawings illustrating work to be done and a careful inspection of the work at the shops and in the field.

This would bring the entire cost of the repair work to approximately $375,000, which is considerably more than we anticipated at the time when we made our preliminary report dated February 26. At that time we had not started on the examination of the approach spans and had expected to find them in fairly good condition. Upon making this examination, we found a large percentage of eye bars to have lost from 30 to 50 per cent of their sections by corrosion where they pass through the floor. This is quite a serious defect and one which will be expensive to remedy.

In our opinion, it would be unwise to expend the sum of $375,000 to renew the present structure. We believe, however, that the bridge could be put into condition for temporary use for a limited time and restricted travel for approximately $100,000.

Estimate of Cost of a New Structure on the Present Location.

We have estimated the cost of a new structure on the present location, utilizing three of the old piers and the present abutments and constructing three new intermediate piers and a trunnion pier. This bridge would have a capacity for six lanes of travel and sidewalks the same as the present bridge and would consist of girder spans for the approaches and a bascule for the draw span. It would be quite similar in appearance to the new Congress Street Bridge but with a roadway two lanes wider. In preparing our detailed estimate this week with more time at our disposal, we have been able to reduce our previous estimate by the amount of $100,000. We believe, therefore, that the cost of a new bridge as outlined above in the present location could be constructed for the sum of $1,000,000. Below is a summary of the estimate.

Remove old bridge	$75,000
New piers	310,000
Approach spans	187,000
Draw span	202,000
Work on present piers and abutments	25,000
Fender pier	36,000
Dredging	13,000
Draw tender's house and foundation	9,000
Lighting	15,000
Paving	25,000
Railings	9,000
	$906,000
Engineering and incidentals, 10 per cent	90,600
	$996,600
Say	$1,000,000

It is quite possible on consideration of the difference in location, a bridge with lesser architectural treatment would be acceptable, and in such case a further reduction of approximately $75,000 in cost would be anticipated, reducing the total cost to $925,000.

Estimate of Cost of New Bridge on New Location.

The additional cost of a bridge on the new location, described in our earlier report of March 19, would be due to the construction of three more piers, the slightly longer length of a bridge in the new location over the present location, also new westerly approach to Atlantic avenue and short temporary connection on the easterly end leading to existing Northern avenue. In addition to the above, an expenditure of $100,000 would be required to repair the present bridge sufficiently to use it as a temporary structure for restricted travel during the construction of the new one. This would bring the total estimate of cost of this structure up to $1,300,000.

Respectfully submitted,
J. R. WORCESTER & Co.

Because of his length of service in the department, and the fact that his resignation was so recent, your approval of his reinstatement is requested, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 320 of the Acts of 1933.

His reinstatement has already received the approval of the Commissioner of Civil Service.

Yours very truly,

PROPOSING GOOD FRIDAY CLOSING OF CITY HALL.

Coun. FISH offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor close City Hall between the hours of 12 m. and 3 p. m. on Good Friday.

President DOWD—The Chair will rule the order out of order because of the fact that the Mayor has already sent a similar order to all city departments.

LAND ON GROTTO GLEN ROAD.

Coun. DOHERTY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to fill in and put in proper condition land at the end of Grotto Glen road, Ward 10.

Coun. DOHERTY—Mr. President, I would like to explain this order briefly. Three years ago there was some complaint about this land adjacent to the Jefferson School Playground, and at that time the Park Commissioner had a fence placed there. Recently, however, children have been getting through a hole under the fence, and last week two children who had got through in that way were fortunately saved from drowning by the neighbors. Something should be done to fill in and put the land in proper condition, and I have therefore introduced this order. I move its passage under suspension of the rule.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

EXPENDITURES FOR SNOW REMOVAL.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Boston Finance Commission be requested to investigate the expenditure of over $700,000 for the removal of snow during the recent storms and to report its findings to the City Council.

Referred to Executive Committee.

LOCKER BUILDING, CHESTNUT HILL PLAYGROUND.

Coun. AGNEW offered the following:

Ordered, That the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars be, and the same hereby is, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commission, for the construction of a locker building, etc., on the Chestnut Hill Playground, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to Committee on Finance.

SURVEY OF EAST BOSTON STREET LIGHTING.

Coun. SELVITELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to make a survey of the present street lighting system in East Boston, and to furnish the City Council with the following information.

1. The number of gas lamps on Bennington street and Saratoga street.
2. When does the present contract with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for furnishing gas lighting in the East Boston district expire?
3. The number of electric lamps on Bennington street and Saratoga street.
4. What is the cost per annum of electric lamps on Bennington street and Saratoga street?
5. What is the total cost of gas lamps per annum on Bennington and Saratoga streets?
6. The advisability of substituting electric lighting in place of gas lighting on Bennington and Saratoga streets.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

INFORMATION IN CONNECTION WITH BUDGET.

Coun. SHATTUCK offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be, and hereby is, requested to submit to the City Council, with his budget recommendations for the current fiscal year, the following information:

(1) An analysis of the 1933 tax rate and of the probable 1934 tax rate, with supporting estimates of revenues and expenditures.

(2) A tabulation of all budget items for the departments in the regular city and county budgets, showing:
   (a) 1924 expenditures.
   (b) 1933 expenditures.
   (c) 1934 requests.
   (d) 1934 recommendations.

(3) An analysis of salary and nonsalary items entering into all other estimated 1934 expenditures outside the budget, such as those from the proceeds of loans, and revenue sources.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, this order is introduced more or less in anticipation of the fact that at some later date, probably before long, we will receive the budget from his Honor the Mayor. It seems to me desirable that at the same time when we receive it we shall receive statistical information which will enable us to judge of the appropriations asked for as compared with past expenditures, and also that we should get such information as would enable us to see the picture as a whole—that is, the expenditures on the one hand and the means to meet those expenditures on the other hand, taking into consideration both revenue and loan orders, if any. The tabulation asked for under Item 2, as to expenditures, requests and recommendations, is very similar to the statistical information which is given in the state budget. I have made one variation. That is, instead of asking for the expenditures of the last two preceding years, I have asked for the expenditures of last year and then have skipped back to 1924, asking for the expenditures of that year. The purpose is to see what we were spending when we were back at normal, so to speak, and compare that with the expenditures of last year. I think 1924 is the New Deal date to which they are trying to get back in the matter of prices, and so forth. So in this case it would perhaps be an appropriate date from that point of view. I believe this information, if furnished at the time when we receive the budget, will save time and will also enable us to consider the budget more intelligently.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

INFORMATION IN RE WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

Coun. WILSON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Public Welfare Department, through his Honor the Mayor, be, and said Department hereby is, requested promptly to advise the City Council, giving the requested information separately for each calendar year from 1928 to 1933, inclusive:

(a) The total amount of payments by the Public Welfare Department to recipients for the year.
(b) The total expense of operating the Public Welfare Department, other than money paid to recipients for the year.
(c) The total expenses of the Public Welfare Department for the year (a plus b).
(d) The number of persons employed in the work of the Public Welfare Department for the year, not including visitors.
(e) The number of visitors employed during the year by the department.
(f) The total number of employees in the Public Welfare Department for the year (d plus e).
(g) The total number of active cases receiving aid according to the records of the Public Welfare Department as of December 31, each year.
(h) The total amount of payments by the Public Welfare Department of each of said years out of trust funds.

Ordered, That the City Auditor, through his Honor the Mayor, be, and he hereby is, respectfully requested promptly to advise the City Council, giving the requested information separately for each year from 1928 to 1932, inclusive:

(a) The total amount of payments by the Public Welfare Department to recipients for the year.
(b) The total expense of operating the Public Welfare Department other than money paid to recipients for the year.
(c) The total expenses of the Public Welfare Department for the year (a plus b).

Severally passed under suspension of the rule.

BUDGET APPROPRIATION FOR HEALTH UNITS.

Coun. BRACKMAN offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested not to eliminate from the budget any appropriation for personal services affecting the health units.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, it has come to my attention that the Mayor intends to reduce the forces in some of the health units and, in view of the very excellent work done by the health units of Boston in relieving distressed mothers and children, and otherwise, I certainly trust that the Council will go on record as opposed to so cutting the budget that those units will not have the regular force that they have had in the past.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, may I ask the gentleman through you, sir, whether the people he refers to are the cooks in the health units? I understand that there are some health unit cooks who have nobody to cook for.

President DOWD—Does the councilor care to answer?

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, I don't understand what the councilor means. I never heard of cooks in connection with health units, and it was not my understanding that the employees referred to were cooks, but members of the staff of the health units.

Coun. SHATTUCK—I understand that at some time they had some kind of a roof garden recreation place for children on the top of the health units and had cooks to provide meals for them. Last year that activity was taken away, but they still have the cooks, with nobody to cook for.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

POLICE LISTING OF RESIDENTS.

Coun. McGRATH offered the following:

Ordered, that his Honor the Mayor request the Police Commissioner to order an extremely careful check-up on April 1 of all residents in the city as the list is now being used as a basis for welfare payments.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

RECESS.

The Council voted at 2.33 p. m., on motion of Coun. KERRIGAN, to take a recess subject to the call of the Chair. The members reassembled in the Council Chamber, and were called to order by President DOWD at 4.19 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. WILSON, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

1. Report on petitions (referred today) for children under fifteen years of age to appear at places of public amusement, viz.:

Edwin T. Thayer, Hyde Park High School, March 23, 24; Lillafrances Viles, Current Events Clubhouse, May 5; Marion H. Kennedy, High School of Practical Arts, April 5 — recommending that leave be granted on usual conditions.

Report accepted; leave granted on usual conditions.

2. Report on communication from School Department (referred today) requesting reinstatement of Dorothy V. Hennessey as secretary in the High School of Practical Arts—recommending passage of accompanying order, viz.:

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 320 of the Acts of 1933 the reinstatament of Dorothy V. Hennessey as secretary in the High School of Practical Arts be, and hereby is, approved.

Report accepted; said order passed.

3. Report on communication from Fire Commissioner (referred today) requesting reinstatement of Frank V. Falcone as member of Boston Fire Department recommending the passage of the accompanying order, viz.:

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 320 of the Acts of 1933 the reinstatement of Frank V. Falcone in the Boston Fire Department be, and hereby is, approved.

Report accepted; said order passed.

4. Report on order (referred today) requesting Finance Commission to investigate expenditure of over $700,000 for removal of snow during recent storms recommending passage of accompanying new draft, viz.:

Ordered, That the Boston Finance Commission be requested to investigate the expenditure of over $700,000 for the removal of snow during the recent storms, and to report its findings to the City Council.

The report was accepted and the order passed.

5. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred today) that sum of $750,000 be appropriated for snow removal—recommending that same ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, I introduced an order some time ago in the Council, in the form of a questionnaire, to find out if there was not some way to pay the help of the City of Boston—inspectors, foremen and laborers—for work done on snow removal during the last snow storms. As yet I have not received an answer. I would like to know if those men are not to be considered. The commissioner says that all of his men working on snow were given money, and I know some who claim that they have not been. So that is a question that I would also like to have considered, whether payments along that line might not come out of this money.

Coun. SELVITELLA—Mr. President, I am going to record my vote in opposition to this order, because, if we are to believe the statements in the press, out of the $725,000 expended for the removal of snow, only $120,000 has been paid for labor. For that reason, if for no other, I believe we ought to hold up this order until such time as we get complete information. It was stated to us in Executive Committee by the Commissioner of Public Works that there are at least two contractors who, while they were supposed to be devoting their time to the removal of ashes, were also receiving money for the removal of snow, contrary to the terms of their contracts and contrary to the principles of economy that our Mayor wants the people of the City of Boston to believe that he is putting into effect. I cannot see any good reason why the members of the Council should vote for an order of this kind under which a few favored contractors are apparently receiving $500,000 or $600,000, while only $120,000 is paid in wages to the men actually employed in snow removal. I hope the other members will concur in my views and, if possible, hold this matter up until we get a complete report from the Commissioner of Public Works.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, I don't see how the figures that the councilor has just stated as having seen in the press recently can be correct, in view of what the commissioner told us in executive session. Of course, I appreciate the fact that probably the larger part of this expenditure is for the hiring of trucks, which represents the most important part of the snow removal. If there are some discrepancies, we have the word of the commissioner that he intends to look into the matter carefully before he pays for the work that has been done. But I don't see how the Council can hold this matter up, when we think of the number of people who contracted to remove snow and who in many cases cannot afford to wait for their money; and also when we think of the small contractors, men who happen to own trucks, who have laid out money in connection with this work in the hope that they would get their money at an early date. So I do not see how we can properly hold up the appropriation of this money. I think the responsibility for seeing that it is paid out properly is up to the commissioner and the Mayor. Our duty is simply to vote for the appropriation, and it is their duty to see that it is spent properly.

Coun. ROBERTS—Mr. President, there is apparently some doubt as to how this money is to be spent. Nobody wants to hold up men who are entitled to their money, but in view of the doubt that exists in regard to the matter, and the fact that there is a report from the Finance Commission pending, I would move for the time being to reduce the amount from $750,000 to $125,000, which amount, I understand from the information given us by the commissioner, is the amount directly due to the laborers. The balance can be acted upon later at any time after we have received from the Finance Commission and the Commissioner of Public Works information showing that the expenditure is warranted.

President DOWD—The question is on Councilor Roberts' motion to reduce the amount to $125,000.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, I don't know just how the $125,000 was arrived at. Apparently some statement is said to have been published somewhere to the effect that only $125,000 out of the $725,000 was spent for labor. If any such statement was published, I think it was obviously inaccurate. It may relate possibly to some of the labor that was hired, but it is very clear that, directly or indirectly, a very large part of the total appropriation, undoubtedly a good deal more than half of the total, was spent for labor. It would seem to me that if there is sufficient doubt about this matter to warrant it, however, and if the urgency of immediate action is not great, we had better find out a little more about it, rather than adopt an amendment which is merely a shot in the dark, and which does not solve the problem at all. Therefore, sir, I am opposed to the amendment.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I introduced an order calling on the Finance Commission to investigate the whole matter of snow removal. While I cannot prove it offhand, there is considerable feeling around to the effect that a large amount of the money was wasted, probably largely because of the necessity of quick action. The storm came up without warning, and the organization to handle the snow removal was thrown together in a hasty manner. The City of Boston was called upon to pay more money in connection with that snow storm than for any storm that I recollect, having to handle at least forty-three inches of snow. Under the circumstances, I make the suggestion that we place the whole matter on the table for one week or until we get some information from the Finance Commission.

Coun. ROBERTS—Mr. President, with reference to the motion—

President DOWD—The question now before the Council is on laying on the table, which is not debatable.

The motion to lay on the table was declared carried by a voice vote. Coun. FISH doubted the vote and asked for a rising vote.

The motion to lay on the table was defeated by rising vote, 8 to 11.

Coun. ROBERTS—Mr. President, I now press my motion to reduce the principal sum to $125,000. My reason is that the Commissioner of Public Works stated that he would not pay anyone, anyway, until he was satisfied that the money claimed was justly due.

Coun. GLEASON—Mr. President, the last snowstorm was one of the greatest that we ever saw in Boston. But it did furnish work to a large number of people and saved many poor persons from starving, as they were thereby enabled to earn many dollars, enough to help them out. This appropriation ought to go through as it has been presented to us, Mr. President. I realize what it is to be hungry, and I know the situation in which many of the people of my district have been recently. As a result of this snowstorm, many of them were enabled to earn $30 or $40, which kept them from starvation. So I think that the amount of $750,000 is at this time the least that the City of Boston can give to the poor people who have thereby been enabled to get work. Therefore, I want to go on record as voting against Councilor Roberts' amendment. The opportunity given people of Boston to get work because of the snowstorm was one of the greatest things that ever happened here. People who were starving, who needed shoes, who needed clothes, were able to get work and to pay their bills. So I am going to ask the Council today to vote against the amendment offered by Councilor Roberts, one of the best friends I have in the Council.

Coun. TOBIN—Mr. President, I hope this amendment will not be adopted but that the report of the committee will be accepted, and the order passed as it has been presented to us. So that we may know what we are discussing in detail, I think it might be well to bring up the specific figures that were called to our attention by the Public Works Commissioner when he spoke to us in executive session. If my understanding is correct, he stated that of this amount of money now being asked, $750,000, there was $434,235 spent for contractors for the use of trucks and to employ men. These men were employed by contractors in fourteen districts, in accordance with the usual procedure in the Public Works Department, and the men employed in that branch of the snow removal numbered 2,000. There was also, in this figure, $69,000 in addition paid for trucks used by the Public Works Department. There was paid directly in wages by the City of Boston $123,000 for men, that item alone being a specific item for labor. That item covered the employment of 2,800 men. There was also $1,200 for the meals of the different men and $2,500 for hire of tractors, so it can be readily seen that at least half this money went for wages and work that was done, and that the laborers worked under hard conditions. In view of these facts I think the amendment should be defeated.

Coun. Roberts' amendment was defeated, and the order as introduced was adopted, yeas 19, nay Coun. Selvitella—1.

THANKS TO MR. YAWKEY.

Coun. GLEASON offered the following:

Resolved, We, the members of the Boston City Council, wish to extend to Mr. Yawkey of the Red Sox Base Ball Club our sincere thanks for the hundreds of positions that he has provided for the unemployed of the City of Boston and feel that if we had more like him who had the interest of the city at heart it would be a great benefit to our community.

Coun. GLEASON—Mr. President, I want to say just a few words. I think the City Council should go on record as expressing its appreciation of what has been done by Mr. Yawkey, the president of the Red Sox. He has come here and, in rebuilding the Fenway Base Ball Park, has spent millions of dollars to keep our unemployed working all winter. Therefore, I think we should go on record as thanking him for the fine work he has done in behalf of the unemployed of the City of Boston.

The resolution was passed under suspension of the rule.

PAYMENTS TO J. P. McCABE COMPANY.

Coun. FISH offered the following:

Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner hold up further payments to the J. P. McCabe Company until such time as the McCabe Company furnish information to the City Council as to where their trucks were operating during the last snow removal.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

ACCEPTANCE OF HUMPHREYS PLACE.

Coun. KERRIGAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to accept and lay out Humphreys place, Ward 7, as a public highway.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

DISCHARGE OF CITY EMPLOYEES.

Coun. ROBERTS offered the following:

Resolved, That if it be necessary to discharge city employees in the interest of economy, due consideration be given to the financial condition of those to be discharged to the end that no injustice be done to those who have no other means of support.

Coun. ROBERTS—Mr. President, I was present when the case of six women, employees of the laundry department of the City Hospital, who have been discharged, was taken up by the President of this body with his Honor the Mayor. Some time within the last two or three weeks these women received a discharge order to vacate the next day. Of the six women discharged, five were either widows or women with invalid husbands, or single women who had no other means of support and could not obtain any other positions under existing circumstances. Everything points to the fact that these women will have to apply for welfare within a reasonably short period of time. Mr. President, you yourself were present at the conference held with the Mayor in regard to these women, and it was pointed out by the women that among the 100 employees of the laundry department of the City Hospital there were quite a number of the women who were married and whose husbands in some instances were employed in different capacities in the City Hospital. In some instances, their names appeared sometimes two or three times on the City Hospital pay roll. I requested the Mayor at that time, if any discharges were necessary in the interest of economy, to have some responsible investigation made to determine which ones, if discharge was necessary, should be selected. I maintain that in the cases where those names appeared more than once on the rolls of the City Hospital, there was a prima facie case against such employees, as opposed to the ones who were actually discharged. The Mayor admitted that he had not gone over the list and did not know who was in charge, and he did not accept the responsibility for the discharges. Although he is seeking one-man rule at this time and wants to assume all the responsibility for discharging people and making consolidations of departments, in this particular instance he denied responsibilty for discharging these women. My order simply puts the Council on record as giving a fair deal to these widows and other people who have no means of support and who may, if discharged, have to be placed on public welfare where the city will perhaps have to pay them as much as they have been getting. If discharges are necessary let us have some judgment used, not simply discharging citizens haphazard, without any check-up, in the name of economy.

The resolution was passed under suspension of the rule.

STENOGRAPHER, CLERK OF COMMITTEES DEPARTMENT

Coun. GOLDMAN offered the following:

CITY RECORD

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 26. SATURDAY, APRIL 7, 1934. NO. 14

MAYOR MANSFIELD FLAYS FORMER MAYOR CURLEY AS UNTRUTHFUL, WASTEFUL, EXTRAVAGANT TO THE POINT OF RUINATION FOR BOSTON AND TO BE BLAMED FOR PRESENT CONDITION OF CITIZENS AS WELL AS MUNICIPAL EMPLOYEES — MAKES PUNGENT REPLY TO TAMMANY BALL ADDRESS, THEN OUTLINES FOR RADIO AUDIENCE HIS PLANS FOR RESTORING CITY TO NORMAL PROSPERITY — DECLARES HE TAKES NO PLEASURE IN PERFORMING HIS PAINFUL BUT PRESSING DUTY AND NEVER DESIRES TO BRING DISCOMFORT TO ANYONE.

In his radio address over Station WNAC, Thursday, April 5, in reply to former Mayor Curley's Tammany Ball address, Mayor Mansfield spoke as follows:

My talk to you this evening will be divided into three parts: First, James M. Curley as a truthful man; second, James M. Curley as the man largely responsible for the present financial condition of the city; and third, what I am striving to do to save the city from the results of James M. Curley's administrations.

First, then, let us consider James M. Curley as a truthful man.

On Tuesday evening, at the Tammany Ball, he attacked my administration and among other things said he never suspended or ousted a single employee. Let us consider that statement and let me call to your attention certain facts which may have escaped your recollection and which certainly did escape Mr. Curley's recollection when he was making the statement.

On February 22, 1914, the then Mayor Curley removed thirteen engineers from the city pay rolls and Superintendent of Parks D. Henry Sullivan, and the Boston press said: "Mayor Curley swung his hatchet yesterday and chopped off the city pay rolls fourteen officials whose salaries ranged from $1,200 to $7,500 a year."

Later, on the same day, he notified the Public Works Commissioner to suspend thirteen assistant engineers in the Bridge Division. Their compensation ranged from $5 a day to $3,000 a year. The Mayor said that there was no politics in the move but that the city must save somewhere and that whether they would be permanently removed later would depend upon the condition of the city treasury.

On February 26, 1914, the then Mayor Curley suspended nineteen employees of the Park Department. He also removed ten examining physicians who received $150 per year. He said that the Park Department salaries were gratuities and that the physicians' services were superfluous. Dr. Francis D. Donoghue was one of the doctors discharged and two of the other doctors were women.

"Reductions in the city pay roll are preferred to an increase in the tax rate in Mayor Curley's first annual budget message to the City Council. . . . Hardly a city department escaped the Mayor's pruning knife and the indications all along the line are that there are to be many more city employees dropped in the near future." —From Boston Post, March 2, 1914.

On March 4, 1914, the then Mayor Curley announced that there would be a probable removal of 500 from the city pay rolls. The Mayor made the statement at a public hearing before the Street Commissioners.

Other Removals.

On March 5, 1914, the then Mayor Curley removed eleven women piano players in the gymnasiums and ordered department heads to furnish picks and shovels for 100 physical instructors and gave out a list of forty-two lifeguards and janitors who were assigned to pick and shovel duty.

On March 8, 1914, the then Mayor Curley directed the suspension of six more employees of the Boston Park Department and the retirement on one-half pay of five others.

On January 23, 1916, as was noted by an editorial in the Boston Transcript of yesterday, the press contained prominent headlines: "Mayor plans big cuts — City employees to be ousted by wholesale — Curley admits it is cruel but necessary — City expenses must be greatly lowered — 4 of discharged 17 get a hearing."

And only one year ago, on March 30, 1933, seventy employees in the Street Laying-Out Department and sixty-two others in the Public Works Department were discharged. The average wage of the discharged employees was $25 a week.

In that particular case the Finance Commission had demanded the discharge of the men but the Board of Street Commissioners said that the seventy discharged from their department could be used with advantage to the department. The then Mayor Curley in writing to the Finance Commission said that he found himself in agreement with both the Finance Commission and the Street Commissioners but then went on to say that he realized the necessity of curtailing wherever necessary and so he had that day requested the Street Commissioners to terminate the services of those employees. Here is a case where the Mayor laid off seventy employees in the Street Laying-Out Department although the Street Commissioners told him that their services could be utilized to advantage and where the Mayor said he agreed with the statement of the commissioners.

MAYOR MANSFIELD TELLS CITIZENS OF BOSTON ONLY EMPLOYEES WHO ARE UNNECESSARY IN THIS TIME OF CRISIS ARE BEING DROPPED AND ONLY THOSE DECIDED UPON BY DEPARTMENT HEADS THEMSELVES ARE AFFECTED — IN RADIO BROADCAST FROM CITY HALL HE AGAIN PRESENTS HIS MOTIVATING PURPOSES, CHIEF OF WHICH ARE TO RELIEVE TAXPAYERS OF THEIR OPPRESSING BURDEN — HAS NO DESIRE TO CAUSE HARDSHIP AND PUTS IT UP TO WORKERS AND HEADS TO DEVISE METHOD OF CUTTING DOWN AND YET REDUCING BUDGET.

In his radio address over Station WNAC, Monday, April 2, from City Hall, Mayor Mansfield spoke as follows:

Two weeks ago I discussed the municipal pay roll as related to economies which must be effected by the city. I did not think that it would be necessary to refer to this same subject so soon after that broadcast. But there is so much misinformation being published relative to the whole matter of alleged ruthless and reckless discharge of city employees that I am impelled again to talk to you about this very serious situation.

I want the people of Boston to know exactly what the problems are which confront me as your Mayor. I want them to know exactly what I am trying to do and what my program is.

But first let me recall to your mind some of the striking figures which I gave to you two weeks ago because you must have these figures in mind in order fully to understand the problem. There are now over 21,000 employees of the City and County departments who receive more than $30,000,000 each year. This money is paid by the City of Boston. It is equal to more than $200 per year for every family in the City of Boston, and it represents almost one-half of the yearly cost of municipal government.

During the years of the depression the ability of the taxpayers to meet this cost of government has been reduced severely, but the cost, instead of being reduced, has increased. One would think that ordinary considerations of economy would result in a reduced municipal pay roll during depression periods but the opposite was the case. The city pay roll has increased in each year both as to the number of persons employed on the city pay roll and as to the amount of compensation paid. Hundreds of new employees were added to the pay roll and many salary increases were granted. In the short space of fourteen years the annual pay roll appropriation of city departments alone jumped from $10,000,000 to $21,300,000 — an increase of 113 per cent.

Mounting Tax Rate.

I have said many times that the real estate owner is called upon to pay too much of the cost of government. The mounting tax rate in recent years has shown this. In 1932 the tax rate was $35.50 — the highest in the history of the city — and in 1933 it was $32.80, the reduction from the year before being effected by borrowing money and accepting a Federal grant.

Last Tuesday afternoon there was a mass meeting on Boston Common of people who were interested in reducing the tax rate. They adopted certain resolutions. They sent committees to the State House to interview the Speaker of the House and other officials. They not only sent a committee to me at the Mayor's office but they gathered in a large crowd in the courtyard in front of City Hall where I had the pleasure of addressing them.

They had adopted resolutions stating if the tax rate for 1934 was more than $32.80 they would not pay their taxes. Their committee stated to me that they had reached the limit of their ability to pay and they wanted taxes reduced.

Saturday night one of Boston's leading and most conservative newspapers called for a tax rate not to exceed $35.50, which was what it was in 1932. Other editorial comment calls for strict economy in city affairs. The necessities of the times also call for it.

Now, there is only one way to reduce the tax rate in the City of Boston — and that is to reduce the expenses of city government. Budgets must be cut. The amount spent by each department must be scaled down. It is my duty as Mayor of this city to see that these expenses are kept down to the least possible sum which will enable the departments to carry on without impairing their efficiency and without injury to the city.

Mayor's Policies.

In scaling down the budgets presented by the various department heads, reductions were made in equipment, in estimates for supplies, repairs and other expenditures, beside reductions in personnel. I have stated repeatedly what my policy is in regard to the reduction of city pay rolls, but in order to correct misunderstandings and misstatements and misinformation I am outlining it again for the benefit of the people of Boston. It is as follows:

1. In the first place I want you to know that I do not discharge any employees. I am compelled to fix the amount that a department may have to spend and the responsibility of running the department within that sum rests squarely upon the head of the department.

2. All employees who were appointed for purely political reasons and as to whom the head of the department informs me that they are wholly and absolutely unnecessary are laid off first by the head of the department. Such employees must go.

3. As to all other employees the heads of departments have been asked to work out fair and equitable plans by which economies can be effected in the departments but without the necessity of discharge. This may be done by the stagger system, which means that employees will work alternately week on and week off, or three days on and three days off, or month on or month off, as department head and the employees themselves may agree.

It may be done by payless furloughs, so that employees may accept a four weeks' layoff without pay, or one week in each four without pay, or in such other way as the head of the department and the employees may agree.

4. It is not my desire nor wish to deprive any employee of retirement rights or civil service rights. Heads of departments know this and accordingly they are suspending or granting leaves of absence without pay instead of discharging employees.

5. Married women whose husbands are gainfully employed and especially those whose husbands are also on the city pay roll, present another problem. With the advent of the World War and the introduction into many forms of industry of women to take the places formerly held by men, very serious problems have arisen. Certainly no married woman who does not need the job ought to be allowed to work in the place of some married man who actually does need it. And no married woman who does not need the job ought to be allowed to hold one in place of an unmarried woman who needs the employment. In such cases heads of departments, I think, are justified in suspending such married woman.

These briefly summarize my ideas about reducing the expenses of the city. It is absolutely imperative that the expenses be reduced. I am ready to adopt any plan which will reduce the expenses without causing undue suffering. It isn't a pleasant thing for me to insist upon cutting down the money to be spent by a department when that means that some employees must be separated, even temporarily, from the pay roll. But we must either do that or face a situation which probably would mean that there would be no money in the City Treasury with which to pay any city employee any of his pay. It is far better to meet this situation by putting into effect these necessary economies which may mean that the employees will not earn as much as they have earned in the past but which nevertheless insures them of receiving some pay rather than to proceed recklessly as though we were in years of prosperity only to wake up and find that there was no pay at all forthcoming.

Private Business Pared.

These are not normal times. The situation is very serious. Its gravity can hardly be exaggerated. I think I have the support of every thoughful citizen in my endeaver to save the city from utter ruin, re-establish its credit, to reduce the tax rate, and to set Boston on a firm foundation for the future. I am not disturbed by the frenzied criticism of persons whose opposition is obviously political. And I am glad to be able to say to you that I have not yet received any criticism of any kind about the course I am pursuing in endeavoring to reduce the cost of government from any taxpayer.

In the last five years thousands of faithful employees have been suspended or discharged from private employment. Business houses, corporations, individuals have been compelled to reduce their expenses in private business. The inevitable result has been that a great many employees were discharged. From many corporations hundreds of employees were dismissed. That has been taken as a necessary step. No one, not even the employees themselves, protested that such action was unfair, because they all realized that the circumstances compelled it and while they have all suffered there has been no great commotion made about it by politicians. Why is it that when similar absolutely necessary economies are instituted in order to save a city there is so much criticism made by a very few individuals?

The only critics have been men with political axes to grind who imagine, mistakenly I think, that criticism is the popular thing. They may wake up to find that the taxpayer who wants to reduce taxes is a more powerful factor in their political lives than public employees whose only object is to hang onto their jobs at full pay and at full time regardless of the consequences to the city.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACT.

Public Works Department.

N. Cibotti & Co., have been granted a further extension of the time of completion of the contract for the building of sewerage works in Auckland street and Savin Hill avenue, Dorchester, dated June 1, 1933, from February 1, 1934, to April 14, 1934, seventy-three days.

BROADCAST BY MAYOR.

On March 30, 1933, according to an article in the Boston Transcript, the sixty-five workers who were dismissed from the Public Works Department "were left literally on the street . . . to walk through Commissioner Rourke's department this afternoon was like visiting a cemetery."

So much for discharges, suspensions and lay-offs by former Mayor Curley, who said that he never laid any one off. Now let us consider reductions and demotions while he was Mayor.

On February 7, 1914, the then Mayor Curley ordered the City Auditor to make up a list of all city employees who received increases in salary during the six months preceding his administration with the view to putting them back at their original pay.

On February 8, 1914, the then Mayor Curley completed his revision of pay rolls of city departments as a result of which between 800 and 900 employees who had received increases during the preceding months were reduced to their old salaries. The total cut was over $90,000.

On February 28, 1914, the then Mayor Curley ordered his Corporation Counsel, John A. Sullivan, to place back on their old salaries nine employees of the department who received salary increases just before the previous administration closed.

Fire Department Cuts.

On March 5, 1914, reduced salaries in the Fire Department amounting to $65,000 annually. And those included the salaries of fifteen district chiefs, sixty-five captains, ninety-seven lieutenants, fifty-one first-class engineers, forty-seven second-class engineers, and others, bringing the total to over two hundred.

On March 6, 1914, Chief Mullen of the Fire Department was compelled to retire, an act characterized by Fire Commissioner Cole as one of the "most wicked and cruel things in the history of the city."

On March 12, 1914, Chairman McSweeney of the Consumptives' Hospital Trustees said his department appropriation was cut more than $63,000.

On March 13, Police Commissioner O'Meara absolutely refused to adopt Mayor Curley's plan to reduce all salary increases which would amount to about $60,000.

On March 13, reductions of salaries were compelled on the Ferry and Bridge Division. Captains were reduced from $1,500 to $1,320 a year and the quartermasters, $1,000 to $900 and engineers from $4.66 a day to $1,320 a year.

On March 13, Commissioners Coakley and Peabody of the Park Department resigned rather than put into effect Mayor Curley's orders to discharge certain members of the department.

Under ordinary circumstances I would not spend so much time upon details such as I have just given you. But these are not ordinary circumstances. Former Mayor Curley has proceeded to attack me unjustifiably and unfairly and in the course of his attack declared that he had never discharged or suspended employees nor caused reductions in salaries until the spring of 1933. But the instances which I have just given to you are authentic. They may be verified in the columns of the daily press on the dates indicated. They are of some importance as indicating to you whether or not James M. Curley is a truthful man.

Curley Responsibility.

And this brings me to the second part of the discussion and that is:

James M. Curley as the man largely responsible for the present financial condition of the city.

You will remember that in the last week of December, 1933, there was such a wild scramble on the part of persons with land damage claims against the City of Boston to settle their claims and so many were being settled, that I objected. You will recall that the Clerk of the Courts refused to accept any more agreements in settlement of land damage claims. You will recall that I wrote a letter to James M. Curley who was then winding up the last days of his administration in which I protested against awarding so large a sum of money and against such unseemly, indecent haste, apparently, to get those cases settled and out of the way before I could be inaugurated as Mayor. And you will doubtless recall the very curt rejoinder which I received from James M. Curley who told me that being Mayor was his job until 10 o'clock on the morning of January 1, and added that until then he would be Mayor and that after that hour it would become my duty to be Mayor and not before. In other words Mr. Curley was telling me to mind my own business and he seemed to forget that the election to the office of Mayor made all public business my business to say nothing of my private interest in city affairs as a citizen. I might, with justice and I think with telling effect, say to Mr. Curley now what he said to me on December 22, 1933. I might remind him that I am now Mayor and that he had better attend to his affairs and let me handle the job of being Mayor of the city.

But I am not going to make that retort to him. This part of my address is going to be devoted to showing to you that the present very serious plight in which the City of Boston finds itself is due very largely to the extravagance and waste of Mayor Curley's former administrations. And, in passing, have you any idea of the amount involved in the land damage settlements which were put through in such haste after I was elected on November 7 and before I took office on January 1? Put through by express direction of, and in feverish haste by, Mayor Curley. The total amount involved, citizens, was over $1,376,000. Those were cases that were completed and settled and immediately became a debt owed by the city to the claimants, and everyone of these claims was settled and the money actually paid out to the claimants before I took office on January 1, 1934.

There was also unseemly haste in rushing through tax abatement claims and from election day until I took office on January 1, abatements were rushed through on a total of 1,748 separate parcels of real estate. The total assessed value abated on these 1,748 was over $23,000,000, and the amount of tax money actually abated was $759,000 and of this amount $188,000 was actually refunded to the claimants. In other words, the money had been paid into the City Treasury once in payment of the tax claims and out of the $759,000 allowed in abatement over $188,000 had to be taken out of the City Treasury and handed back.

Thus it will be seen that these two items of land damage cases rushed through to settlement and abatement of taxes cases, all hastily done between the day that I was elected and the day I took office, amounted to a total deduction from the city of over $2,000,000.

But this is only a small part of the picture. From January 1, 1914, when James M. Curley first became Mayor, to June 1, 1933, the city pay roll increased from 14,517 to 21,562—a 50 per cent increase. In 14 years the amount demanded for city pay roll increased from $10,000,000 to $21,300,000, an increase of 113 per cent. The Fire Department increased from 1,081 men when Mayor Curley first took office to 1,640 men in June, 1933.

The Health Department from 267 to 394.

The Hospital Department from 734 to 2,547, of which 381 are in the Sanatorium Division.

The Institutions Department from 258 to 511.

The Police Department from 1,679 to 2,424.

During all these years James M. Curley was Mayor for twelve years, Andrew J. Peters for four years, and Malcolm E. Nichols for four years. James M. Curley scattered the city's money with lavish hand. He put unnecessary employees at work in every department where he had power to do so.

On the 22d day of December, 1933, a week before I took office, he gave permanent appointments to forty-six inspectors and subforemen in the Public Works Department, the head of which informs me that not one of them was necessary for the business of the city.

He appointed under the designation of clerk-stenographer eighty persons who were not clerks and certainly were not stenographers, and today the Commissioner of Public Works was compelled by civil service order to discharge sixty-seven remaining of these employees.

In struggling to answer my charges of extravagance and padded pay rolls and lavish waste of the people's money the former Mayor claims that this did not occur during his administration and in support of that claim alleges that from 1930 to 1933 he reduced total appropriations under his control by almost five million dollars.

Actually, as I shall show later, this is a false claim and a fictitious comparison. But taking the figures at their face value for the moment, an analysis shows that about six million dollars of reduction in school appropriations are claimed. This alleged economy arises in large measure from the fact that about three and one-half millions was appropriated in 1930 for school land and buildings under the then pay-as-you-go policy. That policy was abandoned in 1932 and practically every dollar of that expenditure was being paid for with borrowed money. Moreover, such expenditures are practically outside the Mayor's control under the City Charter. Even if the limited veto power of the Mayor raises any question about that statement such a claim certainly cannot by any stretch of the imagination be sustained in connection with the reduction in the Police Department budget which amounted to $800,000.

Similar detailed criticisms might be made of this tricky and deceptive juggling of figures by the former Mayor but details and figures are only confusing and I must pass on to a larger and almost incredible aspect of those figures. The cold fact is that the total appropriations for all purposes in 1929, the last year of the administration of former Mayor Nichols, amounted to about $71,200,000, and four years later, in 1933, the last year of former Mayor Curley's administration, they amounted to seventy-three million dollars, and increase of $1,800,000.

And this total of $1,800,000 does not include four millions of dollars of money borrowed for welfare purposes which was not included in the current budget. A final portion of the savings claimed to have been made by Mr. Curley include $3,500,000 saved by a general pay cut, an economy which he strenuously resisted until circumstances and the financial condition of the city forced him to accept it.

When these three factors are taken into consideration his alleged reduction of five million dollars really becomes an increase of many millions of dollars. On this basis of accurate computation there does not remain much of the argument of the enormous efforts which Mr. Curley claims he made when meeting an increase of eleven million in the welfare expenses. Aside from these details, the figures which I now present to you, the most important thing to bear in mind is that the figures which Mr. Curley presented are not only faulty in detail but constitute a deliberate effort to mislead the public.

Mr. Curley then continued his speech by stating that these alleged economies were effected by not filling vacancies occasioned by death, retirement or other causes. Does this sound all right to you, radio friends? Not when you realize that one of the last acts of the dying administration in the closing days of December, 1933, was to add eighty-six new permanent employees with salaries totalling $135,000 annually to the pay roll. No satisfactory explanation was ever given, nor can be given, for this bold effort to handicap my administration. It would be interesting to have the real reason for those last-minute appointments.

Temporary Employees.

Mr. Curley's statement relative to his painless and humane method of reducing the number of employees fails to explain why the number of permanent and temporary employees increased by more than 1,300 in the four years from 1929 to 1933. But Mr. Curley thinks that cities are organized for the purpose of supporting upon the public pay roll people whose services are absolutely unnecessary and who do practically nothing in return for the money which the city pays them. He claims that the city should continue to keep such persons in its employ and says that many of them have been required to support the families of relatives during the entire depression and when thrown out of their positions they have no reserves to fall back upon.

No one rejoices when people are separated from their jobs. But what about the taxpayer, Mr. Curley? You totally ignored him in your attack upon me. You seem to forget that the people who pay city employees are taxpayers and that during the years of the depression they also have been compelled to support families of relatives, and during those years many of them have had no employment whatever, while the city employee has been employed steadily. You seem to forget, Mr. Curley, that this taxpayer who, during the years of the depression, and without employment, has been compelled to support himself and other relatives dependent upon him and he has also been compelled to support the city employee who has been living at the taxpayers' expense. But Mr. Curley is not interested in the taxpayer. Indeed if he had his way the burden upon the taxpayer would be immeasurably greater.

You will remember that in 1933 Mayor Curley brought forward and submitted for the approval of the State Board public work projects amounting to $26,400,000. After careful study the State Board reduced the limit of that program to ten million dollars, and this is what the State Board said about it at the time:

"Boston has in the recent past of its own accord undertaken expensive work projects to relieve unemployment, a great deal of which has been done by virtue of borrowed money which the taxpayers of the future must take care of. The work projects already undertaken have seriously increased Boston's debt burden and by so much have relieved the city from any extraordinary effort on its part now to carry out the spirit and intention of the N. R. A. As a matter of policy it does not have to, as a matter of finance should not do so. In brief, a high tax rate, inability of its citizens to pay tax now assessed, slow recovery of business, Boston's expenditures in its foresight of Public Works programs, lead us and should lead the government and citizens of Boston to caution at the present time."

This opinion, expressed by disinterested persons, is perhaps more forceful than anything I could say. I shall only add that I propose to cooperate with the National administration and President Roosevelt in his efforts to stimulate national recovery. I distinctly do not propose, however, to spend more than we can afford to and do harm by breaking down our credit structure in a crash which would cause great loss to multitudes of our citizens. I believe that the prudent course is a defense of the home owners of the city and I shall be helping to stop the movement of various business and industrial establishments away from Boston in order to escape impossible burdens of taxations.

Raised City Debt.

Remember also that borrowing for various purposes during Mr. Curley's administration has raised the city debt from $102,000,000 in 1929 to $136,000,000 in 1933 and that this debt will influence the tax rate for many years to come. We must remember that every dollar borrowed must be paid back. We must remember, for example, the tax rate of 1932 which far surpassed all previous rates and amounted to $35.50 per thousand. The citizens of Boston could not continue paying such tremendous tax rates with the depression hitting them so hard. Last year the rate was lowered to $32.80. But this reduction was brought about by Mayor Curley borrowing nearly eight million dollars to meet current bills of 1933, even though the Federal Government had handed the city a gift of $2,000,000. What does that mean this year? It means that my budget this year must provide $1,800,000 as the first of five annual installments, plus interest, which will be an extra load upon each of the four budgets which I shall administer and the first budget of my successor. If Mayor Curley had not indulged in borrowing in 1933 the tax rate would have been over $37 a thousand based on his actual expenditures. Thus you see that this year that the borrowings for only one year add another dollar to the tax rate. In other words, you must pay in your tax bill this year for some of the borrowings to defray the expenses of the last administration. And remember also that the percentage of delinquent taxes has continued to increase each year during Mayor Curley's last term even though the tax rate last year was smaller than during the previous year.

What I Am Trying to Do.

This brings me to the third part of my discussion and that is to tell you what I am striving to accomplish. Mr. Curley should be the last man in all the world to speak now when I am trying to clean the house that he left in such frightful disorder and trying to save the city that he brought to the brink of ruination and destruction, trying to save the positions of thousands of city and county employees whose salaries he reduced last year and the permanency of whose positions is now endangered as a result of his maladministration of Boston's affairs.

All the citizens of Boston and the citizens of the Commonwealth also who are interested in Boston's prosperity may rest assured that his talk will not deter me from putting forth my best efforts to save positions, to save homes from foreclosures of mortgages and from sales for nonpayment of taxes, to keep business establishments from bankruptcy and from moving to other parts, all because of the heavy burden of taxes put upon Boston and its people by former Mayor Curley. I know that the people will not take seriously the talk of the very man who put Boston in the financial condition where we now find it. They know that his reckless, wasteful and extravagant administrations are responsible for the present financial condition of their city, and that every city employee who suffers the loss of his job or full-time work, or a reduction in pay, has only Curley and no one else to blame.

Today, we read that Atlantic City, New Jersey, has defaulted on its bonds because its taxes are in arrears and the chairman of the Atlantic City Commission asks, in a clipping in the Boston Post, "What are you going to do about it?" Boston's former Mayor, Curley, some of Boston's present Councilors and some of Boston's present Representatives at the State House and all other critics of my administration will never have occasion to ask that question about Boston as they now know that I intend to make Boston absolutely solvent while they advocate a policy that would make it, like Atlantic City, bankrupt. When I took office our finances were so questionable that some of those who used to loan money to Boston in anticipation of taxes began to question Boston's credit. Only one year ago the City Treasurer who had asked for bids for $1,000,000 as a temporary loan to be dated March 24 and due last October to be paid out of taxes, did not get one solitary bid. This year I am glad to say that in three short months, confidence has been so much restored and our credit so improved that we have no difficulty in borrowing at the very low rates of 1.69 and 1.70.

I told the Municipal Bond Club yesterday in New York, where I made a special trip for the purpose, that I intended to give such an administration of Boston's affairs that its securities would top the list of American municipalities. Many of Boston's bonds are bought and sold through these New York houses and those men wanted to know something about the outlook for Boston's affairs. The rantings of those who think they are playing good personal politics when the contrary is apparent to every thinking man, will not divert me from my purpose. And that purpose is to reduce the cost of government in Boston. The tax rate must be brought down to a rate which the taxpayers can afford to pay. There is only one way in the world to reduce taxes and that is to reduce government expenses. And the only way to reduce government expenses is to reduce the amount which each city department is allowed to spend. I do not enjoy cutting budgets where the result must be suspensions of city employees. I do not want to see any city employee discharged, and I want the people to know what my program is. It's this. All temporary political appointments recently added to the municipal pay roll whose services are absolutely unnecessary, must go. The departments must carry on their functions with less money and that probably means that a great many of the employees, after the unnecessary political appointees are eliminated, must be reduced in compensation. I want to be humane about it. For this reason I am asking the heads of departments to consult with their employees and to agree upon the most humane way in which money may be saved and without discharging a single employee. This may be accomplished by payless furloughs, by part-time work, or by any other method which does not interfere with the civil service rights of any employee and which preserves their pension and retirement rights.

If I am prevented from reducing the budget cost of each department, or if I shall be compelled by law to restore the pay cuts put into effect one year ago, it is almost inevitable that the city employees would ultimately be forced to go without any pay whatever. There might be payless pay days. We find ourselves in the same boat as Chicago or Fall River. All that I am striving to do is to economize reasonably, not to injure anybody, to preserve the rights of every city employee who is not purely a political, unnecessary appointee, to reduce the tax rate, and to keep the ship afloat. How easy it would be to adopt the course of least resistance, to allow everybody to remain on the city pay roll at the old rate, to adopt former Mayor Curley's astonishing policy and appoint still more to the city pay roll. In short, how easy it would be to drive full speed ahead in a financial fog which would only result in total disaster.

I appeal to you, radio friends. I appeal to every decent citizen. I appeal to every city employee. I want your support. I want you to feel that there never was a time in the history of the world—surely never a time in the history of this country—when Mayors of large cities faced graver tasks than those which now confront us; that no Mayor of the City of Boston ever assumed office under such grim circumstances as those which surround me. I am doing all that I can to save the city. I am confident that my course is the only sound one. I do not propose to change it because certain men who have political ambitions and who think the course of criticism which they are adopting is the popular course to follow, choose to disapprove of what I am doing. I have said before and I now repeat that I am not a candidate for any office. I have no future political ambitions. I want to do a good job as Mayor of the City of Boston. With your cooperation and with God's help, that's what I shall do.

URGES ASSESSORS TO SEEK OUT NEW SOURCES OF TAXABLE PROPERTY IN ORDER TO RELIEVE REAL ESTATE — MAYOR MANSFIELD IN ADDRESS TO GROUP POINTS OUT THAT TANGIBLE PERSONAL PROPERTY IN POSSESSION OF CITIZENS SHOULD BE MADE TO PAY GREATER SHARE OF TAX BURDEN — ONLY 30,000 OUT OF 500,000 ADULT PERSONS IN CITY PAID SUCH TAX LAST YEAR — EVERY DOLLAR POSSIBLE NEEDED TO RELIEVE REAL ESTATE.

The following is the address of Mayor Mansfield to the assessors assembled in the Council Chamber, City Hall, on March 29, on eve of start of 1934 assessment of property:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen.

I don't suppose it is necessary for me to say this to assessing experts such as you are, but, seriously, I say to you that Boston is in a pretty serious condition, and that the tax rate and the ability to collect taxes are pretty important things to be considered, not only by you whose duty it is to make the assessments but by every citizen who has the welfare of Boston at heart.

I find it almost impossible to make certain people realize the condition that confronts us in Boston today. The truth of the matter is that the future has overtaken us, and that the day of reckoning that we heard many years ago would come sometime is here now and Boston must face it.

Boston has been an easy boss for a great many years. You know this has got to stop for the very welfare of the employees themselves, because if it isn't stopped there won't be any Boston to be a boss any more, and you and I will be facing payless pay days. It is an easy matter, you know, to spend other people's money. It is an easy thing with a gesture to put one hundred men on the pay roll on Christmas Eve and then walk out of office and leave it to the successor to remedy the disaster. But if we are going to keep this ship afloat we have got to practice economies such as never were dreamed of in Boston before.

Now, I am not the kind of a man who enjoys giving pain to people. I wasn't born with a silver spoon in my mouth any more than any of the rest of you. I had to work hard for anything I got, and I realize how difficult it is to cause these economies and to have to do these things, but they have got to be done.

Increasing Tax Rate.

Now, we are facing an increased tax rate in Boston. If the tax rate is increased too much the burden will be so great that the taxpayer won't be able to pay because already the taxpayer has had a great burden and has reached in many cases about the limit of his ability to pay.

You are about to go out now and reassess the property in the city. You have been doing it for many years. You know far more about the problems that confront an assessor than I do. It would be futile for me to advise you what to do and what not to do. That hasn't been my field. I only know in a general way what most lawyers know about assessing and the problems of assessing, and when it comes to intimate knowledge I think anyone here could teach me a great deal about it. So I don't pose as someone who knows all about this assessing business. I have no pride in the matter and I am perfectly willing to say that any man or woman in this room knows more about assessing than I do. But there are certain general principles upon which all can agree, I think. Because a certain piece of property has been assessed for a certain amount for many years is no reason why it should still be assessed for that amount if it isn't worth that any more. I suppose we can all agree on that. The property owner is entitled to a fair valuation of his property. That's a general principle we can all agree on. But, what is a fair valuation and how one is going to arrive at it is something for you women and men to decide yourselves? It is your problem; it's your job; it's your business, and you have become expert at it.

I have said many, many times that there is something wrong with our system of taxation where the real estate owner has to pay such a large proportion of the expense of government. I have here, for example, a little pamphlet issued by the Auditor's Department for April, 1932. I have one also for 1933, but it doesn't have these figures in it. Now, the tax levy for 1931 was as follows:

Real estate, $1,814,798,000
Personal property, $143,221,000

The proportion is absurd, that that tremendous burden should fall entirely upon the man or woman who owns visible real estate. Something ought to be done, if it is a possible thing to do, to compel the personal property owner to pay a fair share of the expense of government because it costs the City of Boston just as much to protect this personal property as it does to protect the real estate owner's real estate. He has to have the same police protection and the same fire protection. The person himself must get the same health protection; his children are entitled to the same school education, and all that. But just because one man puts his little earnings into real estate that is visible and cannot escape he is taxed heavily; but the other man who usually owns far more and has it in the form of personal property escapes with a very light tax. I know it is a difficult thing to find personal property in order to tax it, but I think there are cases as you go your rounds where you will come across large assortments of personal property that could be assessed. We must in following the law assess everybody equally and not let the entire burden fall upon a patient that is already overburdened, the tax-paying public.

Business Trends.

There have been changes in the trends of business in Boston. In down-town Boston, when you and I were younger, we remember places that were hives of industry that are now practically deserted, and places, when we were young, out further in different sections of the city that were practically unsettled have now become hives of industry instead. It may be that real estate in one place has suffered in value because of the trend of business somewhere else, and that real estate in those other places, towards which the trend has gone, has increased in value. That, I dare say, you will take into careful consideration.

There has been a drive for the relief of the suburban real estate owner. They say that they are over taxed. I don't know whether they are or not. I don't know whether they are over-assessed or not, but I think everyone here is capable of using the best judgment that God has given to all of you and determine in each case whether the property has been over-assessed or under assessed, or if it is fairly assessed, and I know you don't need any word of mine to say you would be entirely justified in using your own good judgment on these assessments so long as the assessment is fair. If it means a change in the former assessment, either lower or higher, don't let that disturb you at all. If you think that your valuation is just, based upon present conditions, upon circumstances, upon the income of the property, upon deterioration and all that, don't hesitate to make what you call a fair assessment regardless of how it may look as compared with other years. It may be necessary to readjust certain property values in order to correct this disproportion of assessments. That's something you have entirely within your power. If you think that readjustments are in order and that justice to the property owner demands it, by all means make the readjustments.

I have some notes here that were supplied to me, and it appears that we have an adult population in Boston in round figures of, say, 500,000 people. Now there must be at least one quarter of those, 25 per cent, who are in possession of some form of tangible personal property, and that should appear in the tax bill. I am not talking now about intangibles, I am talking about personal property. that can be seen and felt, a tangible thing. For the year 1933, out of the 500,000 adult population here, only 30,000 persons were assessed on personal property. Now, you know every dollar that can be obtained by assessments on personal property relieves the real estate owner of just that much assessment on the real estate, and I think you ought to, and I know you will, examine pretty carefully as you go around with an eye to personal property. You know, of course, those kinds that are exempt and those that are not.

I am informed there is a steady increase in the number of literary and similar societies which are entirely exempt from taxation. Now, it is the duty of the assessors to scrutinize carefully the occupancy of all these properties and not to allow the exemptions if the property is rented or used for any other purposes than those for which the society was formed. Private clubs are not exempt. The assessors must distinguish between them and societies established for the public good. I wonder if these non-exempt organizations, clubs and societies in Boston which own a large amount of valuable personal property are taxed as they ought to be taxed to relieve the burden upon the real estate owner.

DESERVE COURTESY.

Now, of course, I don't need to say that the taxpayers, the citizens, expect courteous treatment when you go to their homes and ask them questions. I do not need to say that the manner ought to be polite and not brusque or severe. A great many people resent questions anyway. You must take that into consideration and be patient with them, and you can get your information in a way that will leave pleasant feelings behind, I'm very sure. Not only that, but you can explain. If some want to know what you want to get this information for just tell them. If they want advice, give it to them. In that way you can simplify the work that is going to be done afterwards in the Assessors' Office and the Collector's Office in City Hall.

Now, there's something else I want to say that I had in mind. There have been in Boston, during the years of my recollection, a great many drives of various kinds. We have just completed the emergency drive for charitable institutions. There have been drives for universities and drives for various public projects extending over many years. Boston has always been pretty well up as a leader in responding to drives of all kinds.

Now, I am formulating plans for the biggest drive that Boston ever had, and I hope the biggest drive that Boston will ever have occasion to have. I want to organize a drive to collect uncollected taxes, money that belongs to the City of Boston.

When I took office on the first day of January there were uncollected $25,000,000 in taxes in round figures. We are cutting that down every day and the figures as of last night were as follows:

In 1933 taxes there were $13,249,000, leaving out the odd dollars and cents, uncollected.

In 1932 taxes, $4,839,000.

Prior to 1932, in 1931, there were $1,037,000, making the total uncollected taxes now upon our books $19,126,000. That means that six million dollars has been collected since the first of January and collections are coming in in such manner that probably at the end of business today it will be under $19,000,000, but there are in round figures $19,000,000 that are owed to the City of Boston.

I propose in these plans of mine, which are not quite finished to my notions now, to call together about twenty-five or thirty-five, or maybe fifty, of the largest taxpayers in Boston, composed of trustees, corporations, individuals, firms, banks and concerns of all kinds, and I am going to lay this problem before them. I am going to show them where, if our tax rate goes up $3, $4 or $5 this year, they have got to pay a proportionately larger tax than they did last year. For example, if our tax rate this year is 10 per cent more than last year, concerns that paid $5,000 in taxes last year will pay $5,500 this year, and a concern that paid $500,000 last year in taxes, if there is any such concern in Boston, would have to pay $550,000 this year. I am going to show them where all of the problems of the City of Boston regarding finances and taxes can be solved by collecting those back taxes or a good proportion of them. I am going to ask those big concerns to lend me at no expense to the city some of their very best men.

TAX COLLECTOR'S DRIVE.

I am going to organize a tax collector's drive here in this city. I propose in these plans of mine to divide the city into districts, maybe twenty-two or maybe forty-four—I don't know. That is a matter of detail. I propose to have these big organizations familiar with drives and finances and all that lend me some of their best men to be captains of districts.

We will have meetings, mass meetings. We will spend some money. We will advertise this drive in the cars, on the radio, and in the newspapers. We will start up some enthusiasm to get this money in that belongs to the City of Boston by showing the very people who are holding back that the only way to reduce their taxes is to pay them. I shall expect the support of the newspapers in the city and of every man, every woman and every child in the city of the age of reason, who understands this problem. In this tax drive of the collector, Mr. Doherty, and of mine, there is not going to be any politics, and the men who are going to run it are going to be impervious to all political influence. There will be a complete search of the records, a complete search of tax delinquents, of current debtors. There are a great many people that are able to pay their taxes now that are holding back, in my opinion. I received a letter this morning from one of them saying that she was ready to pay her taxes, and had written the letter but had not received any reply, and when she did she would pay the taxes, or words to that effect.

I am going to ask all of these large business houses in Boston, in addition to the twenty-five or fifty that I call in, to lend me some of their very best men and women to act as solicitors to go around and urge the people to pay their taxes. I am going to ask the cooperation of every city department and county department, of the schools, the police, and everyone else. Now, if that is done, it will help to relieve the burden here in Boston, that is, if we can collect these taxes. It will make your burden easier, and I think it will make the taxpayers, whom you are about to interview pretty soon in the course of your duties, see that by cooperating with you and by helping you in every way, and by not concealing any of their property, they thus will be accomplishing the very end that they think they are accomplishing by concealment. In other words, that really will reduce the taxes and lighten the burden upon them, whereas the opposite course merely piles up the taxes and it all comes in a bunch in the end as we saw in 1932 with the highest tax rate the City of Boston ever had, $35.50.

Now, I don't feel that I can say anything more that would be useful to you. I know you are all trained in this business over many, many years, that you are faithful and conscientious, and that you will do a good job for the City of Boston. I will do the best I can in my field, and every assessor may be very sure that if honest judgment is exercised they will be backed up if I have anything to say about it. Thanks very much for your kind attention.

Upon April 2 the Mayor approved contracts with firms as indicated for furnishing coffee to the various city departments from April 1, 1934, to October 1, 1934. Bids were publicly opened in the Supply Department on March 23, 1934. Proposals were requested on three months' and six months' needs and in view of the condition of the coffee market, which indicates higher prices. Each bidder submitted samples with his proposal and these samples have been examined and classified for quality by a coffee expert. The W. S. Quinby Company inserted a tax clause in their proposal which is against the best interest of the city and their proposal is, therefore, not acceptable, although this firm was the low bidder on the City Hospital, Long Island and Boston Sanatorium requirements.

Deer Island.—Dwinell Wright Company, $1,855.20.

This firm is second low bidder on this item, but submitted a sample which is considerably better than that of the low bidder whose price is one hundredth of a cent less per pound, or only $1.18 less on the entire order of 12,000 pounds.

City Hospital.—E. J. Butler & Co., $2,767.52.

This firm is the lowest bidder, figuring in 2 per cent cash discount, and quality is satisfactory.

Long Island.—E. J. Butler & Co., $2,421.58.

This firm is the lowest bidder, figuring in 2 per cent cash discount, and quality is satisfactory.

Sanatorium Division.—Dwinell Wright Company, $967.25.

This firm is second lowest bidder on this item, but the quality of the coffee they propose to furnish is enough higher in grading to more than justify the extra cost, which would amount to only $42.99 on the entire requirement specified.

Bids were as follows:

Approximate Amounts On All Items.

12,000 pounds coffee, Deer Island; 16,000 pounds coffee, City Hospital; 14,000 pounds coffee, Long Island Hospital; 1,500 3-pound bags ground coffee, parafin lined, 800 1-pound bags ground coffee, paraffin lined, Sanatorium Division.

HISTORICAL DATA ABOUT WARDS.

The term "ward" first appears in a fire-protection order, approved by the Town on August 29, 1679, dividing the Town into 4 quarters with 2 wards each. The 8 wards had previously been military districts.

On August 11, 1713, the Selectmen "agreed upon a distribution of the Town into distinct Wards or Precincts."

On February 1, 1715, it was "voted to make a new division of the Town into eight distinct Wards."

On March 9, 1735, it was voted to divide the Town into 12 wards to facilitate the work of the Overseers of the Poor.

On March 13, 1822, the Selectmen divided the Town into 12 wards on the basis of the U. S. Census of 1820.

By an ordinance which took effect on the second Monday of December, 1838, there was a revision of the wards.

On April 29, 1850, the City Council accepted Chap. 167 of the Acts of 1850, which altered the wards on the basis of legal voters rather than on the number of inhabitants.

By ordinance taking effect on November 15, 1865 new ward lines were established.

In the annexation period, 1865-1875, the number of wards was increased from twelve to twenty-one.

By Chap. 243, Acts 1875, the City Council was ordered to cause a new division of the City into twenty-four wards in the year 1875 in such manner as to include an equal number of voters in each ward. This division was made, taking effect on December 13, 1875. On May 27, 1876, the City Council, in accordance with Chap. 242, Acts of 1876, divided one of the wards in two, making a total of 25 wards for the City.

By ordinance passed April 20, 1895, under authority of Chap. 437, Acts of 1888, and Section 96 of Chap. 417, Acts of 1893, ward lines were established on the basis of the number of voters registered at the City election of 1894, there still being 25 wards.

The annexation of Hyde Park, effective January 1, 1912, made an additional ward.

By enactment of December 28, 1914, under authority of Chap. 630, Acts of 1914, the City Council redivided the City into 26 wards.

The latest redivision, established December 30, 1924, under authority of Chap. 410, Acts of 1924, consists of 22 wards.

MASSACHUSETTS BAY COLONY.

The first chartered colony in New England, charter granted by Charles I on March 4, 1629. About a year before, a patent had been granted to six prominent men of Dorchester, west of England, among whom was Capt. John Endicott. He sailed in June, 1628, with a party of fifty or sixty persons, arriving in September and settling at Naumkeag, afterward named Salem. In the spring of 1629, the Bay Company fitted out three ships conveying about four hundred persons and arriving at Salem in June. Endicott sent a small party to effect a settlement on the Bay in Mishawum, afterward named by the settlers Charlestown, the first town in New England to assume the town polity, Plymouth and Salem being governed by a governor and council. Endicott was appointed in London as the first resident governor on April 30, 1629. The Massachusetts Bay Company was reorganized in London on October 20, 1629, when John Winthrop was chosen as governor. He arrived at Salem on June 12, 1630, soon proceeded to Charlestown with a large following and finding that place unsuitable, finally settled in Boston. Winthrop served thirteen years as governor in four different periods ending in 1649 and Endicott fifteen years at various times ending in 1665. Other governors were Thomas Dudley, Richard Bellingham, John Haynes, Henry Vane, John Leverett and Simon Bradstreet, the latter serving twelve years until 1692 when the Bay Colony and the Plymouth Colony were merged, becoming the Royal Province of Massachusetts Bay, which existed eighty-two years to 1774, the governors being appointed by the King.

The name, Massachusetts, is Indian and signifies "near the big hills."

Previous attempts to incorporate as a city had been made in 1650, 1659, 1667, 1708, 1744, 1762, 1784, 1791, 1804 and 1815. The charter was revised in 1854, 1885 and 1909. Amendments to the 1909 charter were enacted in 1910, 1912, 1914, 1918, 1919, 1921, 1922 and lastly in 1924 (see "Municipal Register" for 1928, pages 19-43).

ADVANCE IN DATE OF GRADUATING EXERCISES, LATIN AND DAY HIGH SCHOOLS.

The Superintendent offered the following:

ORDERED, That for the current school year, the Superintendent is hereby authorized to advance the date of the graduating exercises of the Latin and day high schools from Friday, June 22, 1934, to the week beginning Monday, June 11, 1934.

The rules were suspended and the order passed.

Mr. Hurley: Do I understand that the purpose of that order is to avoid conflict with the College Entrance Board examinations?

Chairman: That is correct. In past years it has been necessary for many of the graduates to attend the College Board examinations on the day that they were to be graduated from high school. It seems unfortunate to deprive these graduates of the opportunity personally to receive their diplomas. Therefore, in order to permit the pupils of the high schools of the city to be present at the graduating exercises and receive their diplomas in person, we have advanced the graduating date to the week beginning June 11.

CLOSING OF TERM, BOSTON TRADE SCHOOL, EVENING CLASSES.

The Superintendent offered the following:

ORDERED, That the Superintendent is hereby authorized to appoint teachers of gardening to the following ranks for service during the season of 1934:

Supervisor of gardening
Garden teacher
Garden assistant
Assistant in school gardens

ORDERED, That the Superintendent is hereby authorized to make such emergency appointments as may be necessary for service in gardens during the season 1934.

ORDERED, That any teacher of gardening appointed for the season 1934 may be transferred by the Superintendent from one position to another for which said teacher holds the required license, and said teacher shall be paid according to the schedule established for the position actually filled during any session certified to by the Associate Director of Manual Arts.

ORDERED, That the hours of service of teachers and custodians employed in gardening during the season 1934, unless otherwise specified, shall be such portion of the time between 8 o'clock A. M. and 8 o'clock P. M. as the Superintendent may direct.

The five foregoing orders passed.

AUTHORITY OF SUPERINTENDENT TO MAKE APPOINTMENTS WHEN MEN'S OR WOMEN'S LIST IS EXHAUSTED

Dr. Lyons offered the following:

ORDERED, That when the eligible list in a given subject for service in the Latin or day high schools is exhausted, for either men or women, the Superintendent is hereby authorized, in his discretion, to appoint from the remaining list of the same group.

The rules were suspended and the order passed.

Dr. Lyons: I would ask the Superintendent if he will talk to that order.

Superintendent: The situation sometimes arises that the list of women in a given subject, for example, Science-Biology, is exhausted and there are one or two names left on the men's list. Under the Regulations, without the passage of this order, the Superintendent may not appoint from the men's list if the school already has its quota of men teachers, and as a result we may go on for two or three years with a temporary teacher where there should be a permanent teacher. This order will enable the Superintendent to avoid that very anomalous situation, in his discretion.

AMENDMENT TO SCHEDULE OF COMPENSATION FOR CUSTODIANS

A communication was received from the Business Manager, under date of Mar. 19, 1934, recommending, in accordance with the wish of the School Committee that the watchmen now employed by custodians shall be given one night off in seven, the passage of an accompanying amendment to the Schedule of Compensation for Custodians of School Buildings for regular day service to provide for the employment of an additional watchman by the custodian of the Supply Room, for the purpose of giving the three watchmen now employed (Supply Room, Administration Building, and Boston Trade School) one day off in seven, the balance of this additional man's time to be spent at the Supply Room.

Placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That Section 14 of the Schedule of Compensation for Custodians of School Buildings for regular day service—School Document No. 9, 1930—is hereby amended by striking out the paragraph applying to the Supply Room, 440 Brookline Avenue, and inserting a new paragraph as follows:

Supply Room, 440 Brookline Avenue. Seventy dollars ($70.00) per week in addition to the compensation allowed under schedule rates for the purpose of providing day and night service for the Supply Room as required by the regulations and also for the purpose of affording one night off in seven to watchmen employed in other buildings.

The Chairman stated that these watchmen have been working a seven-day week, and he thought the citizens of Boston would agree that even though the Committee is trying to economize, it is unfair to economize to the extent of having men work a seven-day week. For that reason the Committee has decided to grant these watchmen one night off a week.

PREVENTION OF PUPIL STRIKES

Dr. Mackey: Mr. Chairman, I have been viewing with alarm the growing tendency on the part of pupils in many of the surrounding cities and towns to enter into school strikes. I think that the Boston School Committee should tonight serve notice on the parents of all children housed within our system that any attempt on the part of pupils to foster any such activity in our system will result in immediate disciplinary action.

It is my intention, as a member of the Boston School Committee, to back up the school authorities to the very limit in stamping out any tendency in this direction on the part of our pupils. It would be very helpful to have every parent talk in good stern fashion with his sons and daughters about this question. Proper cooperation on the part of the parents and instant and firm treatment on the part of the school authorities the moment any such situation arises, will ensure the continued orderly operation of our Boston schools.

I would suggest a special meeting next Monday night for further discussion of the whole question, and in the meantime I would urge the whole-hearted cooperation of the parents of the school children of this city with the teachers and school officials, in order to impress upon the children the advantages which they today enjoy.

Chairman: The Committee, I know, is in entire agreement with you, Dr. Mackey, and the Chairman is prepared to call a meeting for next Monday night. I know that the Superintendent of Schools is ready to discuss this whole matter with all the Principals of the school system and I am very sure that after the Principals have talked with the students, there will be no school strikes in Boston.

The Committee adjourned.

Attest:

ELLEN M. CRONIN,

Secretary.

CITY RECORD

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 26. SATURDAY, APRIL 14, 1934. NO. 15

MAYOR MANSFIELD TELLS RADIO AUDIENCE, IN REGULAR WEEKLY BROADCAST FROM CITY HALL, HIS PROGRAM OF ECONOMY DOES NOT CALL FOR DISCHARGES OF EMPLOYEES EXCEPT THOSE OF PURELY POLITICAL NATURE MADE AFTER ELECTION AND BEFORE HE ASSUMED OFFICE FOR DEBT PAYING OR PURPOSES OF EMBARRASSMENT TO HIM — IS ADOPTING ONLY SAFE AND REASONABLE COURSE IN TASK THAT CONFRONTS HIM — ASKS FOR COOPERATION AND SUPPORT — DOES NOT INTEND TO CONTINUE DEBATES BUT TO FOLLOW DUTY'S COURSE.

The following is the radio address of Mayor Mansfield on Monday, April 9, at 2 p. m., from City Hall, over Station WNAC:

Just a word of reassurance today to the people of Boston and the larger audience listening in outside of Boston but who are intensely interested in our affairs here. And that word of reassurance is that I do not intend to carry on a running debate with Mr. Curley or with anyone else. So far as I am concerned and unless something unforeseen develops to cause me to change my mind, my debate with Mr. Curley is over. I have important work to do. I cannot devote any more of my time to arguing and wrangling with any person. I see before me as plain as a pikestaff the only possible course for me to pursue if we are to preserve the credit of the city, keep it solvent, and to reduce the tremendous cost of government.

So my last word to Mr. Curley is this: It was bad enough to have overloaded the boat, loosened all its seams and bored holes in the bottom — but to rock it afterwards is a little too much. Stop rocking the boat, Mr. Curley, and let me be about the business of the city.

I have repeatedly made known to the people of Boston what my problems are and what I am trying to accomplish. Practically the only way that municipalities can raise money to cover expenses is by taxing real estate. It is a pretty difficult thing to gather any of the expenses of government from any other source. In order to understand the great difference between the share of the burden borne by the real estate taxpayer and that by the personal taxpayer one has only to consider the figures for 1933. In the assessed valuation for 1933, the total valuation of real estate amounted to one billion, six hundred and fifty-one million, nine hundred seventy-two thousand, eight hundred dollars, and the personal property was assessed for only one hundred twenty-eight million, twenty-seven thousand, two hundred dollars, a total of one billion, seven hundred and eighty million dollars. This represents only 7 per cent of the total amount of all property value.

Highest Tax Rate.

In 1932 we had the highest tax rate in the history of the city — a rate of $35.50 per thousand. In 1933 the rate was reduced to $32.80, but as has been repeatedly explained the reduction was accomplished by borrowing money — and some of the money that we borrowed to accomplish that reduction last year must be repaid this year and goes in to swell our present tax rate.

Indications are multiplying on every hand that the real estate taxpayer has about reached his ability to pay. It will not avail the city anything to have a higher tax rate if the taxpayer finds himself unable to pay it. It seems absolutely necessary to hold this tax rate down and to gradually reduce it as we eliminate the sources of waste and extravagance.

In all the long history of government no way has ever been devised of reducing taxes except to reduce the cost of government. The only way to reduce the cost of government in Boston is to reduce the cost of each department in the government. That is what we call budget-making and it is imperative this year to reduce the budget of each department to the lowest possible point where efficiency will not be impaired.

I am not in favor of too drastic economy. I do not think, for example, that the people of Boston want me to adopt such stern measures as the press tell us have been adopted in Cleveland. In that city, according to recent news articles, over six hundred employees were discharged, about twelve hundred were reduced to part time, public comfort stations were closed, health department activities were curtailed, garbage collections were delayed and the Fire and Police Departments placed on half time. It may be that the resources of the City of Cleveland have been so far reduced as to make such drastic economies necessary, but I am glad to say that Boston has not reached that stage yet.

There has been a lot of commotion about my intent to reduce the budgets in city departments but I am happy to say that in no instance have I received criticism of any kind from taxpayers or citizens who apparently have the good of their city at heart. We have heard, of course, the loud complaints of men with political ambitions who think they are taking the popular side in this debate between some city employees and the taxpayers, the home owners and the rent payers. I do not think that I mistake the temper of the people when I say that when the show-down comes the taxpayer, home owner and rent payer will overwhelm in numbers and in influence that small portion of the city employees who seem to interest the small-time politician.

From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,

BROADCAST BY MAYOR.

Acts Meet Approval.

And the public must not think that all city employees are opposed to my plans. I am quoting from a letter, one of many, which I received today from one of that large group of city employees who have worked faithfully for years rendering service to the city. Here is what he says:

"I am writing this letter because I feel that you should know, that regardless of the uproar that is being made, the majority of city employees (who earn their salaries) appreciate the conditions and are willing to do their bit to help remedy the situation, and will give you their loyal support."

Every thinking person must have known that this day which we are now facing was bound to come. This is the day of reckoning which many years ago we could look forward to and could see coming. We have overtaken it and the future is upon us at last. No amount of fooling ourselves will solve the problems that confront us. No easy road of padded pay rolls and soft jobs will save our city. Retrenchment is necessary not only to save the city but to save the jobs of the very city employees who are loudest in their criticisms.

And I wish the people to understand that very few city employees have been or will be discharged. Only those purely political appointments made after election and before I took office solely for the purpose of paying political debts and to embarrass me, must go. All other employees are being asked to arrange in their departments the most humane way of saving some money. This program does not call for discharges. It does not interfere with the civil service rights or pension or retirement rights of any employees. Payless furloughs or working part time or the stagger system will produce the result without discharges. The people know, I think, that I take no pleasure in seeing the compensation of any employees reduced. I am sure they will know that I am adopting the only safe and reasonable course in this difficult task that confronts me. I ask for their cooperation and support and I am sure that I will have it regardless of the clamor and din that is being raised around me by men with political axes to grind.

LIFE-GIVING PATRIOTISM IS LOCAL.

By civic patriotism is meant the feeling and the taking of a deep, unselfish, earnest, ever-wakeful, active interest in the affairs of one's own city or local community, regarding it as having an autonomy, a distinct personality, a name and interests of its own, and, if one pleases, endowed with a sense of personal honor and with all laudable ambitions for the promotion of the welfare of its people.

Where such civic virtues exist the local community will neither suffer from the dry-rot of public indifference and neglect nor become tainted with graft or corruption. Its life will be healthful, and, like the ocean, will be kept pure by its own ceaseless flow and movement. All life-giving patriotism is local.

Show a good municipal citizen and one will see a citizen who loves his state, and who loves his nation, and who will discharge all the duties of this triple relation. Good government in local affairs is the best assurance of good government in state and national affairs.

A trial board consisting of Captains Campbell, McGrath and Daley, having heard by reference a complaint made by Edward W. Fallon, captain, Division 6, against William H. Evans, patrolman, Division 6, for alleged violation of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

Charge 1: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification: On March 23, 1934, at 11.40 p. m., while on duty and in uniform, in Dorchester street, the said Patrolman William H. Evans was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent that he was unable to properly perform his duties as a police officer.

Evans was assigned to route No. 10, first half duty, and failed to signal his station for orders between 10.15 and 11.40 p. m., when the rules of this department require him to signal his station every forty minutes. FINANCING SEWAGE WORKS BY SPECIAL ASSESSMENT IN IOWA.

The cost of constructing sewage disposal plants in a number of states, and in Iowa in particular, may be levied against the various lots, parts of lots or parcels of ground draining to, or susceptible to drainage to, the site of the disposal plant. Such assessments must be in proportion to the benefits to each property and must not, in any case, exceed one-fourth of the fair value of the property in question. These special assessments are payable in the same manner as other municipal improvement costs; that is, in ten annual equal installments, paid at the same time and place as the March 1 installment of ordinary taxes in Iowa. Any property owner may pay off the unpaid portion of such tax at any time. Interest on the deferred payments must not exceed 6 per cent.

RECREATION, ADEQUATE AS TO KIND AND AVAILABILITY.

Although the ratio of park acreage to population has been used as the simplest measure of the extent to which cities provide areas for the recreation of their people, it is by no means an accurate basis for determining this. If most of the total acreage is in one large park, if the parks are poorly distributed, or if they do not provide various types of recreation facilities, the park system may be inefficient even though the acreage is large. The efficiently planned park and recreation system will involve balanced relationship and well-distributed location of several types of properties, namely, children's playgrounds, neighborhood playfield parks, neighborhood parks, reservations, boulevards, and parkways.

REMOVAL OF RESTRICTIONS ON LAND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 2, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am submitting herewith a letter from Corporation Counsel Henry E. Foley, Esquire, relative to removing certain restrictions upon two parcels of land at the corner of Harrison avenue and East Newton street in this city. The letter with the order accompanying it is self-explanatory, and it appearing that the Park Department and the Commissioner of Public Works are not adverse to the adoption of the order and that the rights of the City of Boston are in no way adversely affected, I recommend that the order be adopted.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Law Department, April 2, 1934.

Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—Inclosed please find an order which if it meets with your approval is to be referred to the City Council for action.

As you will see, the order contemplates the releasing of certain restrictions upon two parcels of land situated on the corner of Harrison avenue and East Newton street in the City of Boston.

The Massachusetts Memorial Hospital, formerly the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital, a Massachusetts corporation, is the owner of the said two parcels of land and is desirous of building thereon hospital buildings adjoining the buildings it now owns in that vicinity.

Mr. Mason, the attorney for the above-named Massachusetts Memorial Hospital, informs me that the said corporation has asked for and is about to receive funds from the Federal Government to proceed with the erection of said buildings. The said corporation finds it, however, inadvisable and inconvenient to erect these additional parcels for hospital purposes unless the said restrictions mentioned in the order are released.

I am informed that the Park Department has no interest in the matter and that the Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston is not adverse to it.

If the matter meets with your Honor's approval, please have the order introduced in the City Council.

Yours very truly,
HENRY E. FOLEY,
Corporation Counsel.

Whereas, The City of Boston by deed dated January 18, 1873, and recorded with Suffolk Deeds, Book 1144, page 33, conveyed a certain parcel of land now numbered 748 Harrison avenue, and conveyed the said land subject to certain conditions or restrictions, two of said restrictions being numbered 4 and 5 and in the following words, namely:

"4. No dwelling house or other building except necessary out buildings shall be erected or placed on the rear of said lot."

"5. No building which may be erected on said lot shall be less than three stories in height exclusive of basement and attic, nor have an ell of more than two stories in height, nor shall said building or said ell have exterior walls of any other material than brick, stone or iron, nor shall be used or occupied for any other purpose or in any other way than as a dwelling house or a dwelling house and apothecary, dry goods, provision, grocery or hardware shop."

and

Whereas, The City of Boston by deed dated August 24, 1871, and recorded with Suffolk Deeds, Book 1066, page 13, conveyed a certain parcel of land now numbered 744 Harrison avenue and 55 East Newton street in said City of Boston, subject to certain conditions or restrictions, two of said restrictions being numbered 4 and 7 and in the following words, namely:

"4. No dwelling house or other building except necessary out buildings shall be erected or placed on the rear of said lot."

"7. The building which may be erected on said lot shall not be placed nearer the line of Newton street than six feet but bay windows and an open porch may be constructed on said building and said bay windows projecting to a line not nearer the said line of said Newton street than three feet therefrom and said porch projecting to a line not nearer the said line of Newton street than two feet therefrom."

and

Whereas, The Massachusetts Memorial Hospital, formerly the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital, a Massachusetts corporation, is the present owner of both of the above mentioned parcels, and is desirous of using the said parcels for new hospital buildings to be built upon the said premises; now, therefore, it is hereby Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be, and he hereby is, authorized, in the name and behalf of the City of Boston, by a written instrument in form satisfactory to the Law Department of the City of Boston, to release, in so far as the City of Boston legally can, the said land from said restrictions without interfering with the legal or equitable rights of others.

Referred to Committee on Public Lands.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 31, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I return herewith, with my disapproval, the order adopted in the City Council on March 19, 1934, that the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Old Morton street (both sides), from Morton street to River street, Ward 17. I am informed that there is a gravel or dirt sidewalk at this location and while irregular in width due to large trees growing in the sidewalk it is sufficient and adequate and there is no pressing necessity for the installation of an artificial stone sidewalk. I am further informed that the estimated cost of constructing this sidewalk is $6,400. Under these circumstances I must decline to approve the order.

Respectfully
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

Hon Frederick W. Mansfield,

Dear Mayor Mansfield,—In the absence of Commissioner Hultman I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 9 relative to an order of the City Council asking you to consider the advisability of having the police obtain information relative to the number of unemployed in Boston when the annual census is taken, and would advise that a census of the unemployed in Boston has recently been completed as a state C. I am informed that Mrs, Page, 169 Congress street, who is in charge of this project, will have the complete data available shortly, and undoubtedly the information that is desired can be furnished by her.

VETO OF RESOLVE ON CHAPTER 347.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 28, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am returning with my disapproval the resolve adopted on March 19, 1934, favoring the enactment of legislation extending the time limit of chapter 347 of the Acts of 1931 concerning municipal buildings in Charlestown. I beg to inform the honorable Council that examination of that act discloses that it is in full force and effect for a period of five years from the date of its passage which was May 21, 1931. Thus it appears that no action to extend the time limit of the act is necessary at least until 1936.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor

Resolved, That the Boston City Council goes on record as opposed to the disparaging remarks made by Mr. Joseph Lee, Jr., of the Boston Council of Social Agencies, as quoted in the Boston papers of yesterday relative to the character and conditions of the people of South Boston, Roxbury and other sections of Boston.

Coun. DONOVAN—Mr. President, in yesterday's press I was amazed to read that Mr. Joseph Lee, Jr., President of the Boston Council of Social Agencies, had spoken disparagingly of people whom I have the honor to represent in this honorable body. I want to say to Mr. Lee that from that district he speaks of, South Boston, have gone men who have become leaders in the social and financial affairs of this city, that from that district have come the late Congressman James A. Gallivan, the present District Attorney, the present United States District Attorney, Francis J. W. Ford, Michael J. Perkins, one of the outstanding heroes of the World War, and innumerable others who have become prominent in the business and public life of this city and state. I say to Mr. Lee that, while he may think that some of the people of that district are of a low type, they are clean of heart and do not deserve the characterizations he gave them. The social service agencies of Boston have done a wonderful work in the past four years, throughout this depression, and it is certainly too bad that at this late day this man should come out with such remarks against the character of our people. He is not the only man who has made derogatory remarks about the people of my district. In the last mayoralty campaign in Boston, we heard over the radio and from the public platform statements made against the character of some of our people. This sort of thing has gone too far, Mr. President, defaming decent, God-fearing men and women. From my district have come great political and public leaders, men who have made their mark in this city, state and nation; and let us have no more such defamation of those clean-minded, God-fearing people, who have always been an honor to the community in which they live and to the state and nation.

Coun. KERRIGAN—Mr. President, I also would like to say just a word upon this matter. I want to be recorded as resenting the remarks made by Joseph Lee, Jr. It is a very sad and discouraging thing to see such remarks emanating from the son of Mr. Joseph Lee, Sr., who has spent much of his money in the building up of public parks and in public welfare activities, not alone in the City of Boston but in the whole country. It is sad, indeed, that a son of his should come out with such unwarranted characterization as "low-grade Irish," the "low-grade Polish," and the "low-grade Lithuanians" in South Boston and other sections of the city. I think that this man, who has made such an uncalled-for and unjust criticism of good, respectable people of this city, should be called upon to make a public apology, and I demand a public apology. I wish to be recorded as vigorously protesting against such remarks by Joseph Lee, Jr.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, may I simply say in regard to the remarks that have been made in regard to the Irish and other people of this city, that where a man of his type makes such statements we must simply remember that where there is no sense there is no feeling.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, I am glad that this order has been introduced, because I believe censure should be passed upon any individual who issues documents containing any such language. It is that type of individual who promotes the principles of Hitlerism, and the sad thing is that such people should exist on the face of this earth. I am in accord with any man who stands up and defends his own people. Because these are hard-working people is no reason why they should be referred to as cheap or indecent.

The resolution was passed under suspension of the rule.

DISCHARGE OF EMPLOYEES BY MAYOR.

Coun. SELVITELLA offered the following:

Resolved, That the Boston City Council go on record against the wholesale and ruthless discharge of city employees by the Mayor of Boston.

Coun. SELVITELLA—Mr. President, in introducing this resolution there is no doubt in my mind that no member of this Council is in accord with the policies that have been put into effect by the Mayor of Boston. My purpose in introducing the resolution is to show to the people of Boston and to the 21,000 city employees that we do not encourage false economy. Last week we witnessed one of the worst spectacles in the way of discharging men and women in the employ of this city that has been seen since the days of the late Mayor George A. Hibbard. The Mayor saw fit to send out to city employees at a time when the Easter spirit was supposed to prevail, when every Christian heart was meditating, during Holy Week, cold-blooded, heartless notices to the effect that they, without any warning, had been suspended or discharged from the city's service. Such notices have been received in the past three weeks by scrubwomen, messengers of mercy, low-salaried clerks, whose services or abilities had never been questioned, people who had given the best part of their lives in the employ of the city, whose term of office ranged from six months to thirty-five years. I shall never forget last Thursday, when some of these men, with tears streaming down their cheeks, came to me as well as to other members of this body, asking for our assistance. I am told that one of the men in the Street Laying-Out Department collapsed when he received the notice. Another man, with thirteen children, living in my district but who has spent nineteen years in the service of the city, received his notice on Holy Thursday. It was the same with another man, after thirty years in the service of the city, a low-salaried worker, his wife with a six-months' old child and sick in bed. He told me that it was necessary for him to cash in his insurance policy in order to pay the doctor's bill, and this despite the fact that he had already told the Mayor of conditions in his home. We all desire economy, Mr. President, but let us be true to ourselves and to the people of Boston. There is the discharge of James P. Balfe, for thirty-five years an employee in the City of Boston, and one of the best men in the city's employ, who had created one of the most important departments in the city, the Statistical Department. Several weeks ago a committee was appointed to investigate the Public Welfare Department. Mr. Balfe had the record of every welfare recipient, and he came before our committee and gave information freely and voluntarily of cases upon which the committee wanted more information. I charge now that the reason why Mr. Balfe was discharged was because Mayor Mansfield wants to suppress an investigation of the Public Welfare Department. Before the Committee on Cities of the Legislature, in a hearing in which other members of the Council and myself were present, Mayor Mansfield made the astounding statement that 5 per cent of the expenditure to public welfare recipients was fraudulent, was a fake. It appeared from the figure given that over $700,000 was being taken improperly from the Public Welfare Department. I assumed that Mayor Mansfield knew what he was talking about, because he gave this information voluntarily to the Committee on Cities in connection with his bill to reorganize the Welfare Department. But it seems now that Mayor Mansfield does not want an investigation, because he does not want to take the responsibility for these frauds, and because Mr. Balfe gave to our committee freely and voluntarily this information, it appears now that the members of that committee will never be able to get further information in the same manner, freely and voluntarily, from the Statistics Department. Then we come to the case of Charles Bogan, for thirty-five years in the service of the city, who after the Spanish-American War entered the employ of the city. He was given his papers on Holy Thursday, because the Mayor wanted to vent his own personal feeling in regard to him. Then, I come to the case of the supervisor of ferries, John F. Sullivan of East Boston, a man close to sixty years of age, bearing a name that has been highly respected in East Boston for generations, a man whose father was a prominent figure in East Boston and who had a ferryboat named after him. With less than a year to go to receive his pension, he also was given such an Easter greeting on Holy Thursday. Is this the economy in which Mayor Mansfield wants the people to believe? Is he going to continue to be advised by these fake reformers, H. C. Loeffler and Bob Cunniff of the Fin Com.? If you want to know upon whom the Mayor of Boston is relying, any man in this room can wait downstairs from half-past five to six o'clock, and can see H. C. Loeffler and Mr. Cunniff going into the Mayor's office for consultation. They are the Mayors of Boston. I cannot understand by what authority these men have the right to be consulted as against men of long experience, such men as have been discharged, who could give the Mayor necessary information and wise advice. Then, there is the Boston Municipal Research Bureau. It is nothing but the old Good Government Association dressed up a little bit differently. I would simply call attention to these pamphlets that you and I have received, distributed by the Boston Municipal Research Bureau. Who is paying the cost of such an expensive document as this which we have all received? Some one is surely footing the bills, and some day we will probably get the complete picture. If Mayor Mansfield cannot run the city without the aid of these fake reformers, who have for some time been a thorn in the side of the people of Boston, he ought to resign and hand the reins over to somebody else. Certainly, he can get the information and the advice he needs from such men as Commissioner Fox, a man who has much better knowledge of city affairs than is possessed by the Municipal Research Bureau, and there are many others who could easily and properly give him the information he needs in running the affairs of the city; and certainly he could be engaged in better business than going around at a time like this and discharging such men as he has discharged from different departments with less than forty-eight hours' notice. Therefore, on this resolution, Mr. President, I am going to ask for a suspension of the rule, without reference to any committee. I believe the resolution should be passed at this time, because, although we have not the right or authority to stop the sort of thing that has been going on, we can serve notice that the members of this Council do not encourage any such ruthless, malicious and discreditable tactics as he has employed against the city workers.

The resolution was passed under suspension of the rule.

RESTORATION OF FORTY-HOUR WEEK, ETC.

Coun. SELVITELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to reconsider the restoration of a forty-hour week without reduction of pay for all employees in the Ferry Service.

Coun. SELVITELLA—Mr. President, several weeks ago the employees of the Ferry Service received notice that their hours would be increased from forty to forty-eight. This department is one of the few departments, I am informed, that will have to work forty-eight hours a week under the new system. My only interest in this matter is that President Campfield of the Boston Central Labor Union is a member of Mayor Mansfield's brain trust. President Campfield knows that more than sixty per cent of the employees of the Ferry Service belong to the same union that he is president of. I cannot understand the inconsistency of the man. He either ought to resign from the brain trust or resign as president of the Boston Central Labor Union, because he cannot act in such a dual capacity. Increasing the hours of employment of these men is contrary to every principle advocated by President Roosevelt, as well as being contrary to the rules and regulations of the Boston Central Labor Union.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

INFORMATION FROM DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE.

Coun. McGRATH offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct the Overseers of the Public Welfare and the secretary and other subordinates in the department to produce before the Special Committee on the City Council on Investigation of the Public Welfare Department, any documents, statistics, cards and other records of the department which the committee may by vote request to be produced.

Coun. McGRATH—Mr. President, my purpose in introducing this order is that I fear that the 3,000,000 cards which have been compiled by that valuable former employee of the city, whom the councilor from East Boston has just referred to, Mr. Balfe, may go astray. According to the ruling under the past administration, it was necessary to get a written order from the Mayor himself for any member of the Council to have access to the files. Therefore, I have been endeavoring, on behalf of the Public Welfare Committee which you recently appointed, sir, of which I was made chairman, to get the assistance of those files, to be able to look to them for very valuable information. I noticed as I came into the Council today that on the desk of every councilor there is a booklet which is entitled "Look Down Bleak Street." I don't know whether that is meant for the members of the Council or for the taxpayers and small home owners of Boston. It is a very worthy association that has put out this booklet, and they have put it out because the drive which they recently conducted to raise by popular subscription $4,500,000 fell down. It fell down to the extent of $1,800,000. Unlike the situation in other cities of the country, sir, the welfare for the City of Boston is taken out of taxes, so that the man who owns a small home must contribute not only his fair share of taxes for the general support of the activities of the community, but will now be forced to also contribute the $1,800,000 that this private association was unable to raise. I, of course, am interested in Mr. Balfe, who served here for over thirty years and who was peculiarly adapted to working out in the Bureau of Statistics the vast amount of information which was asked for by members of the City Council two and a half years ago under an order that I had introduced, which later was signed by his Honor the Mayor, and which established in the Statistical Department a means of obtaining not alone the most valuable information which we could gather, but the only information of the kind that could be collected from the different departments of the City of Boston, with a view to preventing duplication of payment to recipients of welfare of one character or another. You will remember, Mr. President, and so will the other members of the old Council how much trouble we had in attempting to get from the Public Welfare Department vital information. We would send for the chairman of the Board of Overseers and he would come into this room. We would ask him a question of vital importance to the people of the city who sent us here, and we would be told that he could not give us the information because the valuable secretary of the Board, Mr. McCarthy, was too busy to come with him, and he had all the records. We would postpone the thing for a week and send for them again, and on that occasion Mr. McCarthy would put in his appearance, and when we would ask him a question he would say that unfortunately he could not give us the information because Mr. Hecht was not present, and Mr. Hecht had the information. And so this Council and the former Mayor of Boston were used as a political football by the Board of Overseers of the Public Welfare, and we as elected officials were denied valuable and vital information. In the latter part of 1932 we made a valiant effort to get that information, and it was denied to us. It was denied to us as elected officials, but it appeared that information which was refused to us was given to people from Simmons College, who were allowed to look over even the most intimate records that the city possessed. The answer to us was, "We haven't time, even though you have passed an order through the Council requesting this information and it has been signed by the Mayor, to give it to the Council nor to the Board of Statistics upstairs." All through January, February, March, and up to the month of June, we could not get this information from a department that was then spending up to $14,000,000 a year, representing $7 on every $1,000 of tax rate in the city, which meant a tax of $70 on every man owning a $10,000 home in Boston. But we were told that we couldn't get the information, that they didn't have it compiled. And even the City Auditor, the grandest man who was ever employed by the City of Boston, Rupert Carven, did not have the figures beyond November, 1932. I raised the question, how was it that in the seven months past $7,000,000 had been spent in this department, and this man, this rock of honesty, Rupert Carven, could not in June get the information. And then he was discharged, thrown out, because he dared to ask in regard to the welfare; and when Rupert Carven left this City Hall the brains of the municipal government walked out through the door, and brainless men were left in charge. And then I wrote in to the Boston Council of Social Agencies, in charge of Roy M. Cushman, the man who has recently been appointed to a high position in the F. E. R. A., the man in whose office was found what the councilor from South Boston has just talked about, a plan describing certain sections of our city. The first opportunity that the citizens of the city ever had to get a true picture of welfare conditions here, a picture which has been denied to this Council, a picture which Mr. Balfe had endeavored to help make clear, was when the government of these United States formulated the C. W. A. They sent word to every city in America that they wanted the entire welfare roll, that they wanted the name, address and condition of every family receiving money from the city turned over to the man who was appointed C. W. A. director in each city. And so in Boston it seemed that at last we had come to a parting of the ways, that we had arrived at a point where some man would be appointed to spend Federal money and would have access to every record that Mr. McCarthy had in his possession. Mr. McCarthy could not come here when we wanted to see him, because his department had gone from an expenditure of a little over a million to an expenditure of $14,000,000 a year. He was the busiest man in Boston, and he told us so. He could not find time to come here; he was working nights, Sundays and holidays. And then there was a trip taken up the hill by Roy M. Cushman and Walter McCarthy. They visited Mr. Bartlett, and we were astounded to learn that the government C. W. A. man who was appointed in charge of government work for Boston, to investigate the rolls of McCarthy, was McCarthy himself. The check-up of McCarthy by the government was to be by McCarthy; and so once again we saw the workings of the powerful influences which were taking $14,000,000 a year out of the homes of people who could not afford it. And then a new light dawned on the horizon, and F. E. R. A. was put into effect, to be even a more complete check-up on welfare recipients in the cities of the country than was the C. W. A. and it resulted in the appointment of Mr. McCarthy, and it reacted so viciously that Mr. Bartlett got out of the position and a new man, Mr. Carney, took over the direction of the work for the government, and no Mr. McCarthy would get in under him. He would see to that! So he went far afield and appointed the man who had got McCarthy appointed, Roy Cushman! So we will have a real check-up now of the welfare! I was interested in getting one of these booklets, which they did not even trust the printer to print, but printed in their own office, back in 1933, to find this said by the Boston Council of Social Agencies:

"Our thanks are due to those organizations which have helped in the preparation of the material and in the supplying of data. We must mention the City Department of Public Welfare."

And I remind you again that our City Auditor, Rupert Carven, stated in June of 1933 that the records of expenditures of that department had not been brought up beyond November, 1932. He was asking for the information week after week, and he told me that the answer always was, "We haven't those records available." They were valuable records, and he was concerned about the matter. Still, we find on page 22 here this statement, about families receiving relief from the first of November, 1932, to the first of March, 1933. This is issued in April of 1933, and in obtaining the information the mailing list of the Public Welfare Department was used, and they speak of the case load for these four months showing a steady increase in the number of families receiving two types of aid—old age assistance and mothers' aid—as compared with some time in November. And then they say that figures for the two classes of dependent aid were received in seven lots, from the Welfare Department during the months of December, 1932, and January and February of 1933, "the chronic cases being the first to come through." In other words, in December, 1932, and in January, February and March of 1933, according to this booklet gotten out by a private association in April, 1933, the Welfare Department not only turned over their complete rolls but aided to the extent that they are thanked by this association for seven times giving them information which even showed the chronic cases that come first. Here were these millions being spent, and your City Auditor could not get that information. But by far the most interesting part of this entire book is contained in one of the last paragraphs, when, after showing every sort of a plan and map that it is possible to get out setting forth the types of people who live in the city—the infant mortality, deaths from tuberculosis, the number of people coming from the Irish Free State, Italy, Germany, Russia, and so forth and so on, to which I have no objection, understand; I never have been able to gather such valuable information in the years that I have been in politics as is contained in certain ways in this book, because I could not get the information from the city departments that they as outsiders can walk in and get—they say:

"Since the number of individuals aided by the Department of Public Welfare, while estimated, is not definitely known, no valid calculations can be made of the percentage of individuals in Boston and its areas who are receiving relief."

Here is an organization of experts vitally concerned with the giving of welfare aid, who can work out in the last detail vital statistics of every character in the City of Boston, who have accessible to them the entire roll, as they say here, the entire roll of the Welfare Department, being turned over to their possession, who can have seven conferences at which vital statistics are submitted by the Welfare Department during a period of three months, and yet in summarizing the thing in their booklet, having this vast mass of detail at hand, their conclusion is that there is no man living, not even they, who knows how many men there are on welfare. And that is what we have always contended. It is a very peculiar thing, Mr. President, that when three or four members of this Council left this body a couple of weeks ago and ventured up to Beacon Hill to the Committee on Cities to talk for the bill that had been introduced by Mayor Frederick W. Mansfield, his own Corporation Counsel was there that day to speak for it, his legislative agent was there to support it, three or four members of the Council including myself spoke for it, and the chairman of the committee has sent to your Clerk of Committees for a stenographic copy of what was said by the councilors, because it contained by far the most valuable information, the chairman of the Committee on Cities said, that they had received up to date. But several days later, the day before the Mayor marched up to the hill, several of the high-salaried employees of Boston laughed at me because of this futile effort to get some information from a department that spends $14,000,000 a year, representing $7 per $1,000 in the tax rate. They said, "Joe, they will reach your friend the Mayor, and when he goes up there tomorrow he will have rubber heels and will pussy-foot on this bill"; and I was astounded to hear the Mayor spend 90 per cent of his time criticizing the City Council, the members of which had supported the bill that he introduced. He introduced the bill, we did not, and we supported the bill, and yet he spent more time criticizing the members of the Council who went up there to talk in support of his bill than he did in talking upon the bill. Then he was questioned by a member of the committee. Since he started his campaign for Mayor he has had a tendency to talk statistics. That is bad, unless a fellow is an authority on statistics. He has a man named Loeffler who gives him statistics, the same man who got him to say that 65 cents of every dollar spent in 1933 went for three things—waste, graft and corruption. He was wrong then, as he has been wrong since. The same man issued the statement that Boston was a poor city to live in, as evidenced by the fact that only 25 per cent of the people here own their own homes. It seems that he had learned that out in Detroit while investigating conditions, and he believed it was true. That is what he was told. And he said that conditions in that respect were different here from what they were in Detroit. But he admitted that he had not been informed that 44 per cent of the people employed in Boston live outside of Boston and own their own homes outside, and when that was called to his attention he admitted that it was quite a different thing. But it seems that Mr. Loeffler again whispered in the Mayor's ear, when the Mayor himself admitted that he was not very well informed in the matter, that the graft or improper payments in the Welfare Department amounted to 5 per cent. But when I mentioned the figure of $700,000 per year in that connection, he said, "How ridiculous!" Well, let me see about that, sir. He himself had said that perhaps 5 per cent of the money spent for welfare goes into the hands of fraudulent recipients. But later on, when I mentioned the figure of $700,000, stating that it was an astounding thing to hear the Mayor say before the committee that $700,000 was going into the hands of fraudulent recipients of welfare, at a time when he had discharged forty low-paid city employees whose total salaries amounted to $37,600, and stating that he would have to discharge a great many more men and women city employees before that $700,000 that on his own statement was being wasted in the Welfare Department on fraudulent recipients would be reached, he looked at the figure of $700,000 and said "That is not true," and said, as stated in last Sunday's paper, that McGrath's conclusions, as always, were wrong, because his facts were wrong. Today I want to apologize for having taken his facts. I am supposed to be the man who is always wrong, not getting my facts from a man from Detroit, who does not know where East Boston or Dorchester are. And to this hour and to this day his Honor the Mayor insists that only 5 per cent of $14,000,000 goes into the hands of fraudulent recipients, objecting when I mention $700,000, but not seeming to realize that $700,000 is 5 per cent of $14,000,000. Now, sir, I have had little education. I was not allowed, did not have the opportunity, to go through the schools that some of the statisticians have attended. I have not even taken the necessary courses in night school. I am just an ordinary fellow, and I am very sorry if I was in error in stating that 5 per cent of $14,000,000 was $700,000. The Mayor says that a man whose facts are wrong must necessarily arrive at wrong conclusions. There is the situation today. We are getting statistics, we are getting percentages, but are not getting the actual figures in dollars and cents. We are seeing an association come in here advocating the saving of $5,500 by removal of the smallpox hospital, up in your ward, Mr. President, on Southampton street, which would mean that if a case of smallpox or leprosy should occur in the city and the victim should be put over into the South Department of the City Hospital, other patients would be brought in proximity to such diseases. That building, Mr. President, is the only place where the little fevered bodies of children with contagious diseases can be placed. If the Mayor had ever stood on Albany street up in your ward and seen those mothers looking across the yard to see the little white face of a child who had been fortunate enough to come through the scourge of diphtheria, scarlet fever, or some other contagious disease, appearing at the window, the poor mother hoping that the little child appearing at the window while she anxiously waited was hers, I think he could realize the importance of continuing the proper provision for such cases instead of taking Mr. Loeffler's advice, and saving $5,500 in this way, at the same time unnecessarily exposing other patients to serious hasards, and that he would feel that a much better solution would be to throw out some of the bums now getting thousands of dollars a year from Public Welfare. (Applause.) While Mr. Loeffler's suggestions might seem to save $5,500 for the moment, we can all understand that it would not be real economy to close up the smallpox hospital and put patients who might be brought in with these dangerous contagious diseases in close proximity to little children and others. We have heard the cry for the reorganization of the Health Department, sir, the valuable statistics of which will be found upstairs if they do not destroy our records. We have heard the cry to discharge thirty-two of those messengers of mercy, the nurses to motherless children, who have found in those women the only ones they could call mother, the only ones whose tender hands smoothed their pillows and tucked them away in bed. Was it economy, sir, to discharge those nurses, some of whom had been in the service for ten years or more? Is it economy to curtail work in this city which has so greatly reduced the great white plague with which years ago almost every family in Boston was afflicted? Some of us remember when at least one in almost every family was a victim, and was practically excluded from the society of his or her fellow beings. But as the years have gone on the health societies of Boston, the Health Department, working with the physicians and nurses, have made Boston the leading health center of the country and have reduced the great white plague in twenty years by 50 per cent. Is it economy to dispense with the tender touch of those nurses, is it economy to take away the bottle of milk from the poor children in large families where the advocates of birth control would say it would be better to have them die than to have them live without proper care and to suffer? Should not the care and supervision in such cases, for which this city has become famous in all these years, be continued? Mr. President and fellow members, looking ahead through the years and trying to realize what the great Bookkeeper above puts down on the debit and credit sides, trying to realize what the city owes to these little ones and to other unfortunates in the community, we should be willing to spend millions in that direction, and should not think for one moment of such petty ways to save. The bodies of these little ones are undernourished now, sir, and they are susceptible to communicable diseases. We have in this city a record of treatment of communicable diseases of which we may be well proud. Boston stands high in the treatment of those who have suffered from the white plague. If our efforts are to come to naught, if the work that we have carried on so splendidly is to be stopped, if children are to be placed in bedrooms with no outside windows, with the only ventilation perhaps on a hallway, the health of our people will go down, the deaths from tuberculosis will increase, and those who are required to sleep in rooms without ventilation will become stunted and feeble. These nurses, on their errands of mercy, have gone about our city and found out where the cancer spots are; they have sought out the sore spots and have done what they could to remedy conditions as they found them, and all money spent in such ways is well spent. And don't put men down at Long Island who talk only dollars and cents. You have people there who have given their all to society, who have fought the battle of life and who finally, through no fault of their own, have been sent down to the Island against their wishes, there to await the end. We have seen what has happened down at Long Island, when a poor, old fellow was turned out on the streets of Boston on a night when the thermometer was below zero, and when thirty or forty other inmates were allowed to go, and I understand that there will probably be a follow-up, that more will be discharged. I say that, instead of this Loeffler from Detroit, we should get a man who knows something about Boston conditions, a Bostonian. I say to Mr. Loeffler, no Bostonian would for one moment do the dirty work that you are carrying on. I say that some day soon you will sneak out of this city on a dark night, when people cannot see your face. In the meantime, the people of this city can hold responsible the man elected as Mayor, who is listening to the dictates of the Municipal Research Bureau, and when he has finished he will get nothing but a medal. We saw the cartoon in the morning's paper of the man who rose from the ashes and gave a warning to the present Mayor, that "When you are done they will throw you aside and give you a little medal, saying, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.'" I say to the Mayor of Boston today that you had better not go farther with discharges, denying thereby to children of this city proper attention and food, and doing things which will result in depriving the people of this city generally of the care and help to which they are properly entitled in a civilized community. And I say to Loeffler, "Go back to Detroit. They may want you there, but we in Boston are sick of you, and if you don't soon leave, you may be ridden out on a rail."

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

"SHARE-THE-WORK" STAGGER SYSTEM.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston be requested to discharge outright no worthy city employee until first he has vigorously exhausted the possibilities of the so-called "share the work" stagger system.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I agree wholeheartedly with many of the things that the previous speaker has said about discharging city help. Let us try to get this stagger plan put into operation. Otherwise, you will have hundreds, if not thousands, go. We can all appreciate the conditions that are confronting the city. How much good is all our talk here going to do? Last year we collected in this city—this is the amount to date—$44,683,000 to run the city. The taxes came due September 15, 1933. Almost six months have elapsed, and we find that out of the amount we have collected to date $44,162,000 have been paid out in salaries for the year 1933, leaving nothing for welfare, for hospitals, or to carry on municipal functions. There is the condition that we face. What are we going to do about it? In the light of that situation, I believe that the Mayor, unless we can sell to him this stagger plan, is going to discharge city employees by the hundreds and by the thousands. There seems to me no escape from that conclusion. We know what has happened in the great city of Chicago. They have had to resort to the stagger plan. I have a letter here from John A. Richert, under date of March 23, in which he states:

"While the city has not been able to employ additional help, it has not added materially to unemployment by cutting employees off the pay roll entirely. This has necessitated a shifting of employees from one department, or kind of work, to another, the reducing of time for those working, and cuts in salaries as above mentioned. Gradual reduction in the force has been obtained by not filling vacancies. In fact, the appropriations for 1934, in order to pay out, contemplate a progressive reduction in the force during the year by not filling vacancies."

The same situation obtains in Detroit. I have here under date of March 31 a letter from Mayor Couzens, stating that, "In some instances part-time schedules were adopted so as to spread the work among the greatest possible number of employees, and in some departments we still have employees working on three and four day schedules. At the present time there are approximately 1,900 former city employees on the classified list of the Civil Service Commission who have been laid off, due to lack of funds. In addition to this, several thousand day laborers in the various departments have been permanently dismissed." It also appears that in Detroit, as shown by a letter of March 30 from the City Comptroller,—and I was surprised to learn this,—they have employed 4,987 street railway employees, and the city of Detroit has also spread its work. He says that the city is "attempting to place employees on a five-day week basis in lieu of employing more people and paying less wages."

In Baltimore, we find the same situation,—"We have endeavored to give the labor thirty hours a week at 45 cents per hour, but each bureau has been held strictly within its budgetary appropriations and has operated its particular labor to the best possible advantage. Most bureaus work the stagger system of three weeks on and one week off, at forty hours a week, which gives a total of thirty hours per week. Others operate six hours per day, five days per week."

We get similar word from the city of Philadelphia. Now, in the name of humanity, instead of throwing thousands of people out, why can't we stagger the work? Before discharging men in any department, I believe that all those entitled to pensions should be pensioned. Half a loaf is better than no bread, and why not pension men who are entitled to it, rather than discharging them, giving something to live on until the great mediator, Death, comes along? Give them a chance to live, give them half a loaf. All married women whose husbands are working should be let go, in favor of those who have dependents. No person should be added to the city pay roll, and I would include in that statement men in the Police and Fire Departments, where the question arises, Where are we going to get the money to pay those we have got? About $44,500,000 has been collected up to date, and over $44,000,000 has been paid out in salaries, leaving nothing for welfare expenses, nothing for hospitalization. How long can that sort of thing go on, gentlemen? When orders come in to put on 200 more policemen or 200 more firemen, let us remember the conditions confronting us today. We simply have not the money, and the problem is to hold those whom we have. By adding 200 more policemen or firemen you are only hastening the day when we will have no money whatever for the men in those departments. In Philadelphia last year 300 policemen were fired, some of whom had been on the force for twenty years. I never want to see that day come to Boston, a time when we must fire our policemen, firemen, or other employees, when it is possible to stagger the work and to save them. Any officials receiving over $5,000 a year should pay back the amount over that, to go into the welfare fund. They could leave a statement with the City Treasurer by which all amounts over $5,000 should be automatically taken out of their checks, thus reducing their pay and putting it into the Welfare Department fund. Why should anybody working for the City of Boston today receive over $5,000 a year in salary? For four long years I have made this demand, and for four long years I have stood up here and advocated the cutting down of millions of dollars in expenditures. But we have gone along, and we are now faced with this calamity which may compel us to fire thousands of city employees, because we have no money to pay them. Ex-Mayor Peters is authority for the statement that 5 per cent of the city and county employees leave the rolls yearly on account of pension or death. If we stagger the work, the employees will not have to be reduced greatly in number. But we must recognize cold facts. We must realize the conditions that are confronting not only this city but every city in the country today. It is far better to take the bull by the horns in a matter of this kind, to face the situation, in the interest of all the employees, rather than to have payless pay days. We can pass a budget for one month, for instance, and try the thing out under the stagger plan, sharing the work, and the stagger plan is in line with liberal sentiment throughout the world. It is something that we should put into effect under the conditions now confronting us; and, what is more, it is your duty and my duty, if you will stand with me, to insist that a man who is within a few months of a pension, a man who has worked for the city for thirty years, shall at least, instead of being suspended or discharged, be put on the stagger system.

Coun. FITZGERALD—Mr. President, I don't think we should act so hastily on this proposition. The gentleman has been advocating a resort to the stagger system and all that sort of thing. I do not believe that at this time we should commit ourselves to the policy of the stagger system, advocated by the councilor from Hyde Park. There are a number of things to be considered in connection with that. I will agree with him that this Council has voted millions for tunnels widenings, a lot of things they should not have voted for, but I think many of us cast our votes on those matters in the firm belief that they would be carried out in an honest manner. I think any of us who voted for the East Boston Tunnel to please the late councilor from East Boston did so simply as a matter of sympathy, to assist him and his people, and did not realize how the thing was really going to work out. We did not realize in connection with this East Boston Tunnel proposition the amounts that would be stolen in these land-takings. A number of patriotic men advocated this and a lot of these things which were supposed to be done under the recovery administration. But let us remember one thing, that the Statute of Limitations has not expired on those so-called tunnel takings, and certain high-toned gentlemen in this town should now be required to pay back what they have received. But I feel that we should go slow in some of these things that are supposed to remedy present conditions, that we should not be carried too hastily off our feet. There are too many sides to these questions, and they must all be carefully considered. When you talk about putting into effect the so-called stagger system, I don't believe that a man who has been working thirty years for the city should be forced out, should lose his position. As the gentleman from Dorchester (Coun. McGrath) has said, why don't we hear more talk about trying to close up the leaks in a department of our city that is now spending going on $15,000,000 a year? For four years we have been told "Don't investigate that department," and even now there are records on file made from outside sources during the past four months which show, if my information is correct, men who have been out of the city for months, nobody knows where they are really located, who are recipients of aid in that department. Of course, there are city employees who are a great deal to blame for the situation there. It should have been taken hold of long ago. But the City Council has been ignored. Competent investigators should have been hired, as has been done in other cities. But they have not only got the money through taxes, but people all over the city have been appealed to, to contribute to that fund. It was under the guise of protecting the taxpayers, through some taxpayers' association, and the citizens—even schoolmasters, who are supposed to have some common sense—contributed to this fund. But I am afraid that if we pass the order offered by the councilor from Hyde Park, we will be making a mistake. I believe this is a matter upon which we should go slowly, that we should exhaust every other means and not put the Council at this time on record as the gentleman proposes to do. I don't believe a man who has given honest and faithful service to the city should be thrown out, when he has been here for thirty years and has done good work. We should take into consideration the fact that many of the departments have been depleted. Take the Public Works Department, yard after yard has been practically wiped out. Men have died and their places have not been filled. But there are many departments where you cannot at a moment's notice suspend with the services of employees, without at least going into detail, so that you will know what you are about, not acting hastily. I feel that a committee of the Council might well advise with his Honor the Mayor. I believe he is a reasonable man. There are, of course, certain things that ought to be done, certain things that will have to be overcome. It is a serious problem all along the line. But certainly we should not hastily pass an order here asking the Mayor to do these things without proper consideration. Let a committee of three or five members of the Council go into the proposition, and let them, if necessary, consult with the Mayor as to what they think ought to be done. I realize full well that the city is not receiving the money that it should receive in taxes. We realize also that there must come a day of reckoning. But let us not vote in a haphazard way for an order of this kind without proper consideration. It would be a mistake. Before we do that, it should be referred to a proper committee of three or five members, and they should be given time to look into it before the budget is passed upon, showing, if that is their conclusion, that certain reforms should take place. It may well be that some plan should be adopted, in view of the situation confronting the city, perhaps in the way of reducing salaries, or perhaps involving some other action; but why should we go on record at this time as saying that we believe in the stagger system without a proper examination into the facts? It may be said that the city departments have given the Mayor information, and that they are the ones responsible, but it may be that they have gone ahead in many instances trying to save their own hides. If that is the story, we can find out through investigation; if it is something else, we can find that out. I remember years ago, under the Hibbard administration, that there was talk about discontinuing certain yards, and at that time there was talk of throwing out 400 men. But there was a man at the head of one of those yards, a Mr. Low, who did not agree that that was the thing to do, and he walked into the Mayor's office and said, "Mr. Mayor, I can prove to you that I can do the work just as well as or better than it can be done by contractors, and save money for the city. Will you give me the opportunity?" The Mayor told him that he would give him a chance. Well, he called the men together and told them what was happening, what was threatened, and he said to them, "Here is our yard out here in the Roxbury district, and it is up to us to make good, and I shall expect every man to work with that end in view. I am convinced that we can do the work cheaper and better than it can be done by contractors." And so the men pitched in, went ahead and made good, and never lost a man. That was William S. Low, and that was the demonstration he made. Of course, these things are being put up to the Mayor, and there are problems that have to be met. But let us go slow on this matter. Let us give it some thought and consideration before acting as the councilor proposes. I have told you the story of one man who years ago went to Mayor Hibbard and proved that he could do what was necessary, and who did it. The others did not have the nerve, courage or ability to do it. But he did it, and he made good. There may be a similar way of handling the situation today; perhaps the same plan would work out. Let us go slow, and not follow the gentleman from Hyde Park in this matter without having it considered by a committee of the Council.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, I rather favor the order introduced by the councilor from Hyde Park, suggesting a plan whereby his Honor the Mayor before he discharges city help will look into the possibilities of the stagger system. In other words, there is at least the chance that this may help to solve the problem. I do not believe, however, in acting like a bunch of ostriches and buryng our heads in the sand in the face of impending disaster.

President DOWD here called Coun. McGRATH to the chair.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, there is no doubt in my mind, nor do I believe there is any in the minds of other members of the Council, that we are now facing a crisis and that something has to be done. The City of Boston is no different from any private enterprise that has to find ways and means of financing its particular business. What do we find outside? That employees have been discharged by the thousand in every private enterprise in the City of Boston, the State, and throughout the United States. We had hoped to be able to possibly escape any such disaster in Boston, and I am still in hopes that we may be able to avert any further firing of city help. But I say, if some help has to be fired, if 700 or 800 have to go, why should such ones be the only ones to suffer? Why cannot we find some ways and means of dividing among all the city employees some of the payless pay days? I hope the day will never come when Boston will see a payless pay day. I, for one, am against the dismissal of any employee if we can avoid it. I am with the Mayor, and I am sure that his heart aches when he has to discharge anybody, because I believe he is just as humane as any man in this body. I am not rising to his defence, but I believe any man who is trying to give the taxpayers of Boston a fair break should have our sympathy and support in all proper efforts to that end. It would indeed be an unhappy day if the tax bills of this city should go out at a figure of $42 a thousand, and in that case there would be only one responsible individual, of course, and that would be the Mayor of Boston. We have to cooperate with him. We all wish to keep in the city's employ every man, with the exception of those who do not do a full day's work. But there is, of course, this talk of padded pay rolls for years. I certainly do not wish to see, and I don't think any of us desire to see, widows and those in destitute circumstances losing their homes because of high taxes; and, of course, we cannot favor keeping on the pay rolls of Boston men who never did an honest day's work. I don't believe anybody in Boston sympathizes with that kind of man. But we do sympathize with the man who gives us eight hours' work for eight hours' wages, and we want to see such men saved. I am sure that every man in Boston is in accord with that. Let us not, however, be too hasty in judging whether or not the Mayor is carrying out his oath of office, that he is a cold-blooded, stony-hearted man, who is out to do malicious and unjust things. I don't believe any man here feels that the man in that office would ruthlessly and cold-bloodedly cut off the heads of honest employees. I have sat here and listened to what has been said. I am in sympathy with many of the statements that have been made. But let us not forget the worries in the hearts of the people of Boston generally at this time. Let us forget politics a little while, and try to do the honest thing by the honest people of Boston.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, I agree with many of the things that have been said by the two preceding speakers. The gentleman from Ward 3 (Coun. Fitzgerald) said, "Why pass all these resolutions without consideration?" The gentleman who has just spoken said, "Let us have a little cooperation." I believe these resolutions are flying about pretty thick and fast, most of them being acted upon under suspension of the rule, without debate, and apparently unanimously. This is a difficult question. The Mayor of Boston is in a tough spot. We cannot properly do our full duty if we act merely as knockers, as critics. We should be constructive as well. Here is a situation where we have to balance revenue against expense, and we have to have an equilibrium. There must be cooperation, if we are not to go the way of Fall River, Chicago and many other localities that did not stop to listen until they were over the precipice. Therefore, I believe we should study these things carefully, study them in committee, and that we should have cooperation here. We should be constructive in considering these things, and not simply knock, knock, knock.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, speaking very briefly, perhaps setting a late example, I believe there is a good deal in what the councilor from Hyde Park (Coun. Norton) advocates in this present emergency. I am, however, strongly impressed with the close connection existing between public welfare expenditures of $14,000,000 a year and this enforced reduction of salaries and discharge or suspension of employees. I don't think we need to have many investigations to clearly see that relationship. I don't think the Mayor and the department heads need to spend a lot of time on the question of whether employees in the departments need to be fired, if that particular leak is stopped. I was impressed with the figures that you quoted, Mr. Chairman (Coun. McGrath), and that the Mayor quoted before the legislative committee, setting forth a possible saving in the Welfare Department of at least $600,000 or $700,000 a year. Boiled down—I am not so good on statistics myself—that would mean the employment of a good many clerks and other employees of this city; and when you add to that the savings that can be made by pensioning certain employees and in other ways, it would result in quite a saving in the entire tax rate. But I am not going to quibble over this question, and I am not going to talk at this time on two minor orders that I am going to introduce later. I merely wish to say now that I agree with the suggestion that we should not tamper too much with these things without such investigation as one of our committees might make. It is all right to talk economy, but I still contend that before discharging men who are perhaps getting $2,000 a year or less from the city, we should look into the possibility of saving this $600,000 or $700,000 in the Welfare Department, money which is apparently now going out the window; and also that we should consider very carefully before crippling our Fire or Police Department, before taking action that may result in destruction of property or in increased highway robbery, before reducing valuable hospital and nursing activities. If we do not act intelligently on these matters, it might be like trying to get a cinder out of a man's eye while he is bleeding to death.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

RECESS.

The Council voted at 4 p. m., on motion of Coun. SELVITELLA, to take a recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The members reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by President DOWD at 5.15 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. WILSON, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

1. Report on order (referred March 26) that in addition to positions now set forth in ordinance concerning Clerk of Committees Department there be provided the further position of stenographer and clerk at $1,800 per annum, less 15 per cent, in accordance with chapter 121 of the Acts of 1933—that same ought to pass.

Report accepted; said order passed.

Report accepted; license granted on usual conditions.

2. Report on petition (referred February 12) of Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company for license to operate motor vehicles from Haymarket square to Revere line—recommending that license be granted.

Coun. WILSON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be, and he hereby is, respectfully requested to advise the Council forthwith concerning the recent discharge of Mr. Balfe of the Statistics Department and especially with reference to what precautions, if any, have been taken to prevent the removal or alteration of available detailed information in the Statistics Department relating to Public Welfare cases now being investigated by a committee of the City Council, or any tampering with said records.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

INSTALLATION OF CATCH-BASIN.

Coun. GLEASON offered the following:

Coun. KERRIGAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Traffic Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to make Belden street, Ward 7, a one-way thoroughfare from Dudley street to Holden street.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

President DOWD called up, under unfinished business, No. 2 on the calendar, viz.:

2. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor March 26, 1934, of Harold E. Pope and John R. McSorley, to be Weighers of Coal and Weighers of Goods.

The question came on confirmation.

Committee, Coun. Agnew and Selvitella. Whole number of ballots 20, yeas 20, and the appointments were confirmed.

APPROPRIATION FOR NORTHERN AVENUE BRIDGE.

On motion of Coun. GALLAGHER, the Council voted to take from the table No. 3 on the calendar, viz.:

3. Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 366 of the Acts of 1933, the sum of $1,000,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works, for Northern Avenue Bridge, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On February 12, 1934, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 20, nays 0.

President DOWD—The question now comes on the second and final passage of the order, and the clerk will call the roll.

Coun. TOBIN—Mr. President, this order asks the sum of $1,000,000 be appropriated for construction of the Northern Avenue Bridge under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works. I hope the order will not be adopted. The present structure was built some twenty-five years ago under the direction of Fay, Spofford & Thorndike. Mr. Fay, at that time associated with the City of Boston in the Engineering Department, and his partner, Mr. Spofford, who appeared before our committee today, are familiar with the old structure. According to their estimates, repairs of the present structure would cost in the vicinity of $100,000. The bridge, repaired at that figure, would then last for approximately twenty years. We will then have, with this expenditure, practically the same bridge that we have had for the past twenty-five years. During this time the bridge has served its purpose and with proper reconstruction, rebuilding, will probably carry on the same work for the next twenty years. It seems hard at this time, when we are talking economy, that the city must even reduce the wages and the number of its employees, to impose upon the city an expenditure of $900,000 for the building of a new structure; especially so, Mr. President, when we cannot trust the estimates of the engineers who have submitted this $1,000,000 figure for the consideration of the body. We cannot trust this figure, Mr. President, because, taking the history of the order in the Council this year, the first estimate for the repair of the structure was an innocent amount. The estimate of the J. R. Worcester Company for repair of this bridge was $325,000, the same company that gave us the figure of $1,000,000 for the new bridge. The estimate of our own bridge and ferry head was that the structure could be repaired and reconstructed in a proper manner at a figure of approximately $200,000. In this $1,000,000 figure, Mr. President, the engineers themselves say that $75,000 will be used for ornamentation of the bridge—$75,000 for ornament on a bridge used principally not for pleasure, but for heavy traffic, heavy trucks and railroad cars. We certainly need not spend out of this million dollars $75,000 for ornaments, Mr. President; neither need we appropriate $1,000,000 for the building of a new structure when the present structure can be repaired in a suitable manner by the proper authorities for the amount stated. It seems to me that the City Council should not at this time pass a $1,000,000 appropriation, even taking into consideration the fact that one-third of the cost will be borne under the C. W. A. plan by the Federal Government. We would still have over $600,000 to bear, probably $400,000 more than the cost of repairs; we would still have the carrying charges and interest rate on the $600,000 borrowed. It certainly seems that sound reason and judgment demand that this order should not be adopted.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, this order provides for the borrowing of $1,000,000, of which the United States Government would furnish about $300,000 and the City of Boston would furnish $700,000, for a new bridge. We have been told by both engineering concerns that have studied this question—Fay, Spofford & Thorndike and the J. R. Worcester Company—that this bridge could be repaired for $100,000 or $110,000, or that it could be reconstructed so that we would have a bridge similar to that built in 1918, and which has lasted during the twenty-six years since then, for $375,000. Furthermore, if we built the new bridge for $1,000,000, it appears that $75,000 of that million is to be for ornament, wholly unnecessary in that particular location. If there is a question, sir, of whether we can meet our pay roll, if there is a question whether we can meet the interest and installments on our debt, those are the first charges to be considered. I would not spend one cent for ornament; I would not spend one cent unnecessarily for a new structure, so long as there is any doubt about our pay rolls or about the payment of interest on our public debt. Let us spend every cent that is necessary for interest and pay rolls, not one cent for ornament, not one cent that is unnecessary. I am opposed to the order for that reason. I believe it can be resubmitted by his Honor the Mayor in an amount not exceeding $375,000, that the government would probably be willing to help out to the extent of 30 per cent on that amount, and that in the end we will get our reconstructed bridge for $262,500, as against the proposed $700,000. Therefore, sir, I shall vote against this order.

The order failed of final passage, yeas 7, nays 13:

Yeas—Coun. Donovan, Dowd, Finley, Fitzgerald, Gleason, Goldman, Kerrigan—7.

Nays—Coun. Agnew, Brackman, Doherty, Englert, Fish, Gallagher, McGrath, Norton, Roberts, Selvitella, Shattuck, Tobin, Wilson—13.

On motion of Coun. DONOVAN the rejection of the order was reconsidered.

Coun. KERRIGAN—Mr. President, I now move that we lay the matter on the table.

President DOWD—The Chair would remind the Council that this order, if laid on the table, will go into effect before the next meeting. The question is on Councilor Kerrigan's motion to lay on the table.

Coun. Kerrigan's motion to lay the order on the table was declared lost. Coun. DONOVAN doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to lay on the table was lost, yeas 7, nays 13:

Yeas—Coun. Donovan, Dowd, Finley, Fitzgerald, Gleason, Goldman, Kerrigan—7.

Nays—Coun. Agnew, Brackman, Doherty, Englert, Fish, Gallagher, McGrath, Norton, Roberts, Selvitella, Shattuck, Tobin, Wilson—13.

President DOWD—The question again comes on the passage of the order.

The order failed of passage, yeas 7, nays 13:

Yeas—Coun. Donovan, Dowd, Finley, Fitzgerald, Gleason, Goldman, Kerrigan—7.

Nays—Coun. Agnew, Brackman, Doherty, Englert, Fish, Gallagher, McGrath, Norton, Roberts, Selvitella, Shattuck, Tobin, Wilson—13.

PAYMENT FOR SNOW REMOVAL BY TRUCKS.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Passed under suspension of the rule.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. NORTON, at 5.35 p. m., to meet on Monday, April 9, 1934, at 2 p. m.

CHICAGO POLICE.

DISAPPROVAL OF PAYMENT TO JOHN DUCEY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 3, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am returning herewith with my disapproval the resolve adopted on March 19, 1934, wherein your honorable body approved the enactment of legislation to authorize the city to pay a sum of money for the benefit of John Ducey who lost an eye on account of an accident at the Franklin Park Golf Links. I am advised by the Corporation Counsel that there is absolutely no liability on the part of the city and that the records of the case disclose no negligence on the part of any city employee. Under these circumstances I must decline to approve of the resolve.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

CHECK-UP ON APRIL FIRST RESIDENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 3, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith a letter from the Acting Police Commissioner, relative to your order of March 26, 1934, concerning a careful check-up on April 1 of all residents in the city.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Police Department, March 31, 1934.

Mr. John F. Gilmore, Jr.,
Assistant Secretary, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of your communication of March 29 inclosing order of City Council, dated March 26, requesting that an extremely careful check be made of residents as of April 1, as the list is to be used as a basis for welfare payments.

I am inclosing herewith three copies of superintendent's order, dated March 29, 1934, directed to the members of the department for the purpose of impressing upon them the importance of performing the work in a thorough manner.

Very truly yours,
E. C. HULTMAN,
Police Commissioner.

Divisions 1 to 19.

Captain,—I am directed by the Acting Police Commissioner to call the attention of division commanders to the subject of Police Listing which begins on Monday, April 2, 1934.

It is important that officers doing the listing shall make every reasonable effort to procure the names of all persons twenty years of age and over, who are entitled to be listed, as by so doing the work of investigating supplementary applications of persons who were not police listed during the listing period will be reduced to a minimum; and thus avoid the necessity of performing work which could have been accomplished to a large extent during the listing period.

This, of course, calls for the exercise of sound judgment to insure that no person is listed who should not be listed as a resident as of April 1, 1934.

Division commanders will instruct officers as to their duty in this matter. If an officer should come to a building while listing, for which no master card (green card) has been written, he should make a green card and list the building.

JAMES McDEVITT,
Acting Superintendent of Police.

RESCISSION OF $1,000,000 NORTHERN AVENUE ORDER.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 9, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—Under date of February 12, 1934, your honorable body passed an order authorizing the city, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 366 of the Acts of 1933, to engage in the following public works project:

Reconstruction and replacement of Northern Avenue Bridge at an estimated cost of $1,000,000.

I am submitting herewith an order rescinding said authorization and authorizing the city to engage in the following public works project:

Reconstruction and repair of Northern Avenue Bridge at an estimated cost of $375,000.

I recommend adoption of the accompanying order by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

Ordered, That so much of the order passed February 12, 1934, and approved by the Mayor February 16, 1934, "that in accordance with the provisions of section 2, Part 1, of chapter 366 of the Acts of 1933, the City of Boston shall engage in the following public works projects:

relating to the reconstruction and replacement of Northern Avenue Bridge at an estimated cost of $1,000,000 be, and the same hereby is, rescinded; and

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of section 2, Part 1, of chapter 366 of the Acts of 1933, and acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, the City of Boston shall engage in the following public works project:

LOAN ORDER OF $375,000 FOR NORTHERN AVENUE BRIDGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 9, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I submit herewith a loan order providing for an appropriation of $375,000 to cover the estimated cost of reconstruction and repair of the present Northern Avenue Bridge. This important artery of traffic has been closed for several weeks pending a decision as to the nature and extent of the work which will be necessary in order to reopen the bridge.

In view of the action taken by your honorable body at its last session it appears that the members of the Council are opposed to the construction of a new bridge. This being so I am submitting an order which provides for the only other desirable alternative, namely, the reconstruction and repair of the existing structure. The amount provided in the accompanying order is that estimated by engineers and experts who have investigated the present condition of the bridge. I therefore recommend adoption of the accompanying order by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 366 of the Acts of 1933, and acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, the sum of $375,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works for Reconstruction and Repair of Northern Avenue Bridge, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

PUBLIC WORKS PROJECTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 9, 1934.

To the Honorable the City Council.

Gentlemen,—On February 28, 1934, your honorable body passed orders, approved by me on the same date, authorizing me to execute and deliver to the United States of America for and in behalf of the City of Boston three counterparts of five loan and grant agreements between the City of Boston and the United States of America relating to the following five public works projects:

1. Reconstruction of ten major streets, P. W. A. Docket No. 4205.
2. Nine-story fireproof surgical building at City Hospital, P. W. A. Docket No. 4207.
3. Replacing Brookline avenue water main by new 48-inch water main, P. W. A. Docket No. 4214.
4. Two fireproof school buildings, P. W. A. Docket No. 4217.
5. Construction and reconstruction of sewers, P. W. A. Docket No. 4193.

Inasmuch as said loan and grant agreements provided for the payment by the City of Boston of interest on said loans at the rate of 4 per cent per annum, and inasmuch as the City Treasurer has advised me that borrowing by the City of Boston from private sources can now be effected at lower rates of interest and more advantageously to the city, I have asked the Federal Emergency Administrator of Public Works if he would consent to the rescission of said loan and grant agreements and the substitution therefor of grant agreements relating to these projects in order that the city may secure Federal grants and at the same time receive the advantages of borrowing from private sources.

I have received from the Federal Emergency Administrator of Public Works with letter of transmittal dated April 5, 1934, forms of grant agreements relating to four of the above named projects, to wit:

1. Reconstruction of ten major streets, P. W. A. Docket No. 4205.
2. Nine-story fireproof surgical building at City Hospital, P. W. A. Docket No. 4207.
3. Replacing Brookline avenue water main by new 48-inch water main, P. W. A. Docket No. 4214.
4. Two fireproof school buildings, P. W. A. Docket No. 4217, one copy of each of which I submit herewith; and I have been advised by him that the form of grant agreement relating to the project of construction and reconstruction of sewers, P. W. A. Docket No. 4193 will be forwarded to the city this week.

I am submitting herewith four orders authorizing consent to the rescission of the loan and grant agreements relating to the four projects with reference to which the city has received forms of grant agreements, and approving and authorizing the execution and delivery to the United States of America of said four grant agreements, in accordance with the instructions of the administrator.

I recommend prompt consideration and passage by your honorable body of these four orders, because of the limited time available for the execution and delivery of these agreements and because of the desirability of commencing work on these projects without delay.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

BLOSSOM STREET BUILDING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 5, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith a letter from the Superintendent of Public Buildings relative to your order of February 12, 1934, concerning the completion of an additional story on the Blossom Street Wardroom and Municipal Building, Ward 3.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department, April 3, 1934.

John F. Gilmore, Jr.,
Assistant Secretary to the Mayor.

Dear Sir,—Referring to the attached memorandum regarding an additional story on the old wardroom on Blossom street, I am inclosing herewith three copies of a report of Building Commissioner Roemer which explains the situation in detail.

I would add that this information has already been given to Councilor Fitzgerald directly, hence my reason for not returning the memorandum to you.

Very truly yours,
ROSWELL G. HALL,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

City of Boston,
Building Department, March 1, 1934.

Mr. Roswell G. Hall,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Dear Sir,—In re Blossom Street Wardroom and Municipal Building, Blossom street, Ward 3.

On examination of the records and the original plans of the above described building, I cannot agree with the proposer of the order in the City Council that the original plans for this building included another story.

The original plans contain no provision for this additional story, and an examination of the design discloses the fact that the walls are not of sufficient thickness to sustain an additional story.

In order to build an additional story to this present structure it would be necessary:

First.—To investigate the soil under the foundations to determine their carrying capacity.

Second.—To reinforce the present walls.

Third.—To raise the entire roof as a unit to the desired elevation.

Fourth.—To determine the purpose for which the altered building will be used.

I want to call your attention to section 105, chapter 550, Acts of 1907, as amended, which states that a building containing a hall or assembly room with a capacity of more than eight hundred persons shall be of first-class construction. The present hall has a capacity of 467 persons, and it is fair to assume that if another hall is to be erected on the additional third story the aggregate capacity of both halls would be over eight hundred, and according to the provisions of the same section the aggregate capacity shall be considered as determining whether or not the building shall be of fireproof constructon, unless the several halls are inclosed by or separated from each other by fireproof walls, or floors, with fireproof doors in the same, in which case the building may be of second-class construction,

I would be pleased to go over the plans and computations made by the engineers in this department relative to this building at your convenience.

Very truly yours,
Edward W. Roemer,
Building Commissioner.

My dear Mr. Secretary,— In regard to the acceptance and laying out of Humphreys place, Ward 7, as requested by an order of the City Council under date of March 26, 1934, I wish to state that the plan for this street has been started but nothing further has been done.

This matter must take its place along with many other similar requests and petitions awaiting a decision on just how much new street construction may be undertaken during 1934. When that question is settled the acceptance and laying out of Humphreys place will receive consideration.

Gentlemen,— I transmit herewith a letter from the Police Commissioner, relative to your order of February 19, 1934, concerning the transferring of officers now on duty in the Municipal and District Courts, especially assigned to present and prosecute criminal cases, to more active duty.

City of Boston,

Mr. John F. Gilmore, Jr.,
Assistant Secretary to the Mayor.

Dear Sir,—Replying to your communication of April 2, 1934, referring to an order of the City Council dated February 19, 1934, that the Police Commissioner be requested to transfer to more active duty the police officers now on duty in the Municipal and District Courts to present and prosecute criminal cases, I wish to advise you that in accordance with Rule 40 of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, it has always been the practice to detail an officer of rank from a police division to attend the sessions of the Municipal and Superior Criminal Courts, from time to time, for general observation of the conduct of police officers and their presentation of cases.

The office of Supervisor of Cases was created in this department for the purpose of assisting the courts in providing greater efficiency and uniformity in the presentation of criminal cases, and this system, since it has been established, has received the wholehearted support and approval of the various justices sitting in the criminal courts.

For your further information I would say that many police departments outside of Boston assign a police official to present and prosecute criminal cases in their various jurisdictions.

Very truly yours,
E. C. Hultman,
Police Commissioner.

City of Boston,
Overseers of Public Welfare,
April 6, 1934.

Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—The following report is respectfully submitted in response to an order of the City Council which reads as follows:

Discrepancy between accounts of expenditures of the Welfare Department and Auditing Department, January, 1934.

The Public Welfare Department's statement of expenditures in any given month is a report of aid disbursements, including cash payments, grocery orders, orders for medicine, and other sundry items during said month. The bills covering many of these items are not actually paid, however, until the following month. The City Auditor's report for any given month is a report of actual cash expenditures by the City Treasurer for said month. The accounts of the Auditor's Department and the Public Welfare Department will necessarily differ in any particular month but the two statements become reconciled when the outstanding bills are presented and paid and there is in fact no so-called discrepancy.

Respectfully,
Walter V. McCarthy,
Executive Director.

Sect. 2. The salaries established in the preceding section shall be subject to any reduction made under the provisions of chapter 121 of the Acts of 1933.

Severally referred to the Executive Committee.

REINSTATEMENT OF ROLAND P. GREEN.

Coun. McGRATH offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation to authorize the reinstatement of Roland P. Green in the Police Department of said city, provided that such legislation includes a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REINSTATEMENT OF JOHN T. FLATLEY.

Coun. McGRATH offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation to authorize the reinstatement of John T. Flatley in the Police Department of said city, provided that such legislation includes a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

INFORMATION ASKED OF MAYOR.

Coun. McGRATH offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to furnish the Council with the following information in regard to statements made by him in the Boston Herald during October, 1933:

"During the past twelve years only 35 per cent of every dollar paid by the people of the city for taxes has been contributed to the support of the city government. The other 65 per cent has been stolen by political pirates. When you pay a dollar in taxes you should get a dollar of value in return. . . .

"But in the face of this situation which I contend was due to the riotous waste and extravagance during the Curley term, they are now spreading the foolish propaganda that if I am elected I will cut 6,000 city employees from the pay rolls and reduce the number of city departments from 37 to 22.

"There is absolutely no truth in these stories and no faithful employee of the city need have any fear of his job or his wages when I am mayor."

As the budget of 1933 was $36,750,000 as against the budget submitted by you for 1934 of $35,474,050.80, a decrease of slightly over 3 per cent,

1. Was the charge made by Frederick W. Mansfield that 65 per cent went to "political pirates" unwarranted and false?

2. Or is there an amount totaling 62 per cent of the budget of 1934 that represents waste, graft and corruption?

Passed under suspension of the rule.

RECESS.

The Council voted at 2.26 p. m., on motion of Coun. BRACKMAN, to take a recess subject to the call of the Chair. The members reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by President DOWD at 3.19 p. m.

HARMON STREET, WARD 18.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Street Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to accept and lay out Harmon street, Ward 18.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REDUCTION IN REAL ESTATE VALUATIONS.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Board of Assessors, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to consider the matter of reducing the present real estate valuation in Boston at least two hundred millions of dollars.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, the assessors of the City of Boston are now placing a value upon the real estate of Boston for the purposes of taxation in the year 1934. The law states that this valuation shall be the "fair cash value" of the property, the "market value." For years Boston's buildings and homes have been over-assessed. Hundreds of small home owners have lost their homes because of these high assessments. I represent a ward of small home owners. This year, in my ward, more small homes were sold for unpaid taxes than any ward of the entire city. Let us compare these valuations of Boston with those of other cities. In 1933 the City of Boston valued the entire real estate of the city for the purposes of taxation, as being worth $1,651,972,800. Philadelphia, with almost three times as many people as Boston, claimed that its total real estate value, for purposes of taxation, was $3,096,-415,851. St. Louis, with over 30,000 more people than Boston, valued its total real estate as being worth $962,551,683—almost one half that of Boston. Detroit, with almost double the population of Boston, valued its real estate, for taxation purposes, as being worth $1,884,016,460. These assessments are all based on 100 per cent values for the year 1933. Boston's homes and buildings appear to be paying much more in taxes than the same home or buildings would in other large American cities. On account of assessment troubles in the City of Chicago I am unable to present comparative figures for that city for the year 1933, since they have not as yet been declared. In the year 1932 Chicago, for purposes of taxation, declared that its real estate was worth $1,554,413,020. I must add that Chicago's realty is assessed at 37 per cent of its fair cash market value while Boston assesses at 100 per cent. Chicago, with over four times the population of Boston, in 1932 collected realty taxes on a total valuation almost $200,000,000 under that of Boston. In 1932 Boston, for purposes of taxation, assessed taxes on a total realty valuation of $1,753,824,300. High assessments plus the highest adjustable tax rate of any large American city has helped to ruin Boston. Business today is highly competitive. How can Boston's business compete with that of other cities with this situation existing? "The power to tax is the power to destroy." Is it any wonder that we are losing our business? Is it any wonder that we have the lowest percentage of home owners of any large American city, less than 26 per cent of the 179,000 odd families in Boston owning their own home, while other large cities can claim as high as 50 per cent? One section of my ward has become a veritable "Deserted Village" of homes that have been lost because the owners were unable to pay the highest adjustable tax rate of any large American city, plus the highest assessments of any large American city. I ask the Board of Assessors, through his Honor the Mayor, to take steps to remedy this situation at once.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

TAXES OWED BY CONTRACTORS.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston be requested to consider the advisability of directing the City Treasurer to pay no contractor for work performed for the City of Boston until taxes owed by that contractor to the City of Boston have been paid.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I understand that work has been done by certain contractors who have not paid all taxes on their property to the city. I believe the matter should be at least checked up to see whether or not contractors who are expecting work from the city have paid their taxes.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

STAGGER SYSTEM.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston be requested to consider the advisability of requesting that where the so-called "stagger system" is to be invoked, that everyone share and share alike, from department heads down.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I understand that there is one department where the head of the department is not to share with his men. I believe that from top to bottom everyone should share and share alike. In the Health Department the head of the department is sharing, the same as every other employee.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, since this is going on the record, I wish to present a few figures which I think have a bearing on this proposed stagger or sharing system. I would like to call attention to the fact that there are 21,562 city and county employees, all of whom have received a reduction ranging from 5 to 15 per cent in 1933 under the act of the Legislature, and this reduction has been continued for 1934; that there are employed in various departments where the stagger system cannot be put into effect, either through independence of the Mayor or for other obvious reasons, the following number of employees: County, 1,052, schools, 6,508, Fire Department, 1,640, Police Department, 2,424, Hospital Department, 2,547, Welfare Department, 308, and Library Department, 841, or a total of 15,320 who cannot be affected by the proposed stagger system out of the total of 21,562. So that would leave as the employees to whom this stagger system would be applied but 6,242, all of whom have been subject to reductions already, who have taken cuts, and who would be required to bear the entire burden of the stagger system. I would point out the obvious unfairness of requiring these 6,242 employees out of the total number of 21,562 to accept this system when it is not and cannot be applied to the entire body of employees, and also the fact that it would be applied whether employees have been twenty or thirty years in the city service or had been in the service but one or two years; also the obvious unfairness of expecting men in the city employ who are doing a certain kind of work to have to be subjected to this, while others doing the same kind of work were free from it—for example, elevatormen in City Hall as compared with those doing the same kind of work in the courthouse. So I think we should act slowly in this matter, that we should give it thorough consideration before going on record in favor of the stagger system.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, that order of mine refers only to departments that have been placed on the stagger system, where the head of the department is not being subjected to the same sort of thing that his men are subjected to. And I might say that I am not here to favor the stagger system except as an alternative to firing the men. It seems to me it is certainly preferable that a man should be paid for a four-day week rather than have no work at all. I would prefer to see John F. Sullivan working for four days in the week, a man who has had a long connection with the city service, and Mr. Balfe, who has been for thirty years or over in the city employ, working four days a week, instead of being thrown out and having nothing. I am only arguing for the stagger system as an alternative to firing men outright. Before they are absolutely discharged, I think the stagger system should be tried out. I am sorry that I cannot agree with the colleague on this matter. In other cities, instead of firing men outright, they have resorted to the stagger system. In Chicago, for example, as set forth in a letter I have received from the Committee on Finance of Chicago under date of April 6, employees of different departments, instead of being fired, are working part time. The police, for example, work six days per week, clerks, five days, inspectors, five days, mechanics of one group, five days, and another only four days, and so forth. All of a group are treated alike, even though a part of a group may be off duty on different days of the week. So I do feel that in Boston, as an alternative for firing the men, this stagger system or share-the-work system should be tried. I might add, Mr. President, that a few weeks ago I called upon Congressman John McCormack, Congressman Douglass, ex-Senator Joseph Mulhern and ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, to request the Mayor of Boston not to discharge worthy city employees in the employ of the city for many years, without first trying out the stagger or share-the-work system. I am pleased to report that all these men have gone the limit in taking the position that no faithful city employees should be discharged. I believe that, as a result of their work up to date, many discharges have been prevented. If any members of the Council wish to go into information I have at my disposal in this matter, I would be very glad to furnish them with that information.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

APPOINTMENT OF NONRESIDENTS.

Coun. SELVITELLA offered the following:

Resolved, That we, members of the Boston City Council, are unalterably opposed to the appointment of any nonresident to any position wherein the salary of which is taxable to the citizens of Boston.

Coun. SELVITELLA—Mr. President, while the Mayor of Boston has been firing men that had a long term of service in the city's employ, he has seen fit during the past three months to go beyond the limits of the City of Boston and appoint men who not only do not reside in this city, but who have given fictitious addresses in Boston. I have reference, for instance, to the case of one Warren A. Loomis, purchasing agent, who comes from Needham, and who has been appointed at a salary of $7,500 a year. I also have reference to Dr. Henry Clay, superintendent at Long Island, who comes from the City of Newton and who receives from the taxpayers of Boston $4,500 a year, in addition to board and lodging for himself and family. I am also informed that he has down there his brother-in-law and his family, also from Newton. Going further, we find Thomas A. Fitzgerald receiving $5,100 a year, and coming from Newton at the time of his appointment, and now hailing from Milton. We go further and find Timothy W. Murphy, a deputy assessor, getting $5,000 a year as secretary of the Board, and coming from Dedham street in Newton. Here is a man now asking widows in Boston to pay their taxes, where Mayor Curley last year remitted at least half of their taxes, and these widows are now receiving notices sent out by Timothy W. Murphy of Newton, as deputy assessor, taking away what Mayor Curley allowed through his Board of Assessors. Then we come to the name of Edward M. Richardson, property superintendent of the Public Works Department, who hails from Garrison street, Newton, and who is receiving a salary of $4,000 a year from the City of Boston. Then only recently upon examining into the matter last Saturday, we find Walter M. Driscoll, who has been appointed as assistant purchasing agent, coming from Taunton and giving a fictitious address in Brighton, and now we find a Wesley J. Backman appointed as cable inspector, who gave the address of 107 Marion street, East Boston, in my district, and who lives on Summit street, Everett. Only a few hours ago I called up his home in Everett and was informed that he would not be home until six o'clock tonight. I checked up with the Election Department and was told that his name does not appear on the police list nor on the election list of the City of Boston. Why this subterfuge? If the Mayor wishes to insult 800,000 residents of Boston, why does he not do so openly? Why is this subterfuge, this resort to fictitious addresses? So I believe this Council ought to go on record as opposed to any continued efforts on the part of the Mayor of Boston to enrich men coming from Newton and other places outside of the city. Some day I hope to get the real reason why Newton has been particularly favored. I am, therefore, going to ask for a suspension of the rule and the passage of the order.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

WARD 6 IMPROVEMENTS.

Coun. DONOVAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to repave with smooth pavement East Sixth street, from K street to Farragut road, Ward 6.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to repave with smooth pavement O street, Ward 6.

Severally passed under suspension of the rule.

REINSTATEMENT OF FULTON P. WESSON.

President DOWD offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation to authorize the reinstatement of Fulton P. Wesson in the Police Department of said city, provided that such legislation includes a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

ROPING OFF OF UNION PARK STREET.

President DOWD offered the following:

Ordered, That the City Messenger be, and he hereby is, authorized to rope off Union Park street, between 2.30 and 4.30 p. m. on Saturday, April 14, for the cross country run of the Cathedral Club, the expense incident thereto to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Flags, Ropes and Stakes.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

GAY HEAD STREET, WARD 10.

Coun. DOHERTY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to repave with smooth pavement Gay Head street, Ward 10.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Gay Head street, entire length, both sides, Ward 10, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of granolithic, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Severally passed under suspension of the rule.

REPAVING OF BELDEN STREET.

Coun. KERRIGAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to repave with smooth pavement Belden street, Ward 7.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

ARE CERTAIN APPOINTEES LEGAL VOTERS?

Coun. ROBERTS offered the following:

Ordered, That the Board of Election Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to check the residences of Walter M. Driscoll, of 16 Duncklee street, and Wesley J. Backman, of 107 Marion street, to determine whether said men are legal voters of the City of Boston.

Coun. ROBERTS—Mr. President, in light of what has been said about these two appointees by the councilor from East Boston (Coun. Selvitella), I believe that either the new election commissioners or the old ones should check up these men to see whether or not they are bona fide residents of the City of Boston, and report back to this body.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

EXTENSION OF TIME FOR REPORT.

Coun. TOBIN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Special Committee on Public Welfare of the City Council be granted an extension of time for the filing of its report.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

BUDGET FOR PUBLIC WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

Coun. TOBIN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Budget Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to send to the City Council immediately a copy of the budget for the Public Welfare Department as submitted to the Legislative Committee at the State House.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

PRINTING OF MAYOR'S RADIO ADDRESS, ETC.

Coun. WILSON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor's radio address of March 19, 1934, and the Boston Municipal Research Bulletin of June 13, 1932, each on the subject of "The Municipal Pay Roll," be printed in the minutes of this meeting of the City Council.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, at the outset, in taking up this subject of "Twice-Told Tales," I want to state my position squarely and to say very frankly, in all fairness, that the Mayor of Boston, in my opinion, came into office flush with good intentions. I am one of those who think he really believed in the campaign that 65 per cent of the money expended at City Hall went for graft, waste and corruption. But during the past three months that he has been in office, he must have learned how ridiculous that belief was. He, like members of the Council, has, of course, been feeling the pressure of taxpayers in angry protest against an increase in the 1934 tax rate, which events and influences far beyond his control, or that of former Mayor Curley, have made inevitable. As a matter of ordinary arithmetic, over $6 per thousand of the tax rate is due to the startling jump in welfare expense which has multiplied to over five times its 1928 figure, and that is the item which has finally broken the financial back of the city. The Mayor has had to do something. One logical alternative would have been the prompt and thorough purging of the padded welfare lists at the very outset of his administration. While members of the City Council have urged that at least 20 per cent of the list is bad, even the Mayor has estimated that 5 per cent, namely, $700,000 a year, or $2,000 each and every day, is being stolen from the city. Effective stopping of that tremendous leak would have eliminated the necessity for the recent discharges, would have helped the taxpayers and would have protected the honest welfare cases. I realize that any Mayor can afford to listen to helpful advice. The one danger is when the insistent advice of some one special element in the community begins to outweigh all others. And so I say to the Mayor of Boston, for years the State street crowd have let real estate carry the burden of taxation. They have kept their intangible personal property interests out from under. Now, real estate, over-taxed and over-assessed, has at last reached the breaking point, and the old State street crowd, instead of admitting that the time has finally come when intangible wealth, in the form of stocks and bonds, shall pay some fair share of the taxation burden, are using you, Mr. Mayor, as a decoy to start a back-fire. "Slash wages," they tell you, Mr. Mayor; "Fire some more nurses and laborers and clerks." And when you have finally fired or cut men and women employees to an extent aggregating $1,000,000 annually in wages, it will amount to just 57 cents on the tax rate. Meanwhile, on your own admission, three-quarters of a million will have slipped out the back door of the Welfare Department. And so I say, be fair with all elements in the community, Mr. Mayor. Above all, leave it to the Boston Municipal Research Bureau to preach their own gospel. I have in my hand Bulletin No. 5 of that organization, issued as long ago as June 13, 1932, which I ask to be printed as part of the record. The subject was "The Municipal Payroll," and it urged the 15 per cent reduction in municipal salaries and wages which was later effected, and which it was claimed would be $4,000,000 saved in 1933. I also have in my hand the City Record issue of March 24, 1934, which contains the Mayor's radio broadcast on March 19 of this year, which, even at the risk of duplication, I ask be also printed as a part of the record. The subject was "The Municipal Payroll." It might be well, while I am on this subject of "Twice-Told Tales," if I read, for example, the first paragraph from Bulletin No. 5 of the Boston Municipal Research Bureau, issued as long ago as June 13, 1932. It starts off as follows:

"It is futile to attempt any real program of economy in the city government while ignoring the imperative need of reducing the cost of the municipal payroll. At the present time the 21,000 employees of city and county departments receive more that $38,000,000 per year. That sum is equivalent to over $200 for every family in Boston. It represents almost one-half the annual cost of the municipal government. It has increased substantially since the depression began, although the ability of the public to meet the cost has been reduced severely."

That is the first paragraph of the Boston Municipal Research Bureau's bulletin of June 13, 1932, and even at the danger of boring you I will now read the first paragraph of the Mayor's radio address of March 19, 1934, as published in the City Record of March 24, 1934:

"It is futile to attempt any real program of economy in the city government while ignoring the imperative need of reducing the cost of the municipal payroll. At the present time the 21,000 employees of city and county departments receive more than $38,000,000 per year. That sum is equivalent to over $200 to every family in Boston. It represents almost one-half the annual cost of the municipal government. It has increased substantially since the depression began, although the ability of the public to meet the cost has been reduced severely."

And the record will show that there is not the change of even a comma, a period, a word or a sentence. And so I say, comparing that Bulletin of June 13, 1932, with the Mayor's radio speech of March 19, 1934, even though many things may have been changed in between, this statement of the Municipal Research Bureau, although it is two years old, is still their baby. Here it is, word for word, the arguments successfully used to effect the 15 per cent reduction of municipal wages back in 1932. Mr. President, I urge the Mayor of Boston—who, I repeat again, is trying hard, not to let himself be used by this particular element in the community as a mouthpiece to effect a further 20 per cent cut in municipal wages in 1934, to at least not do so until he has purged the Welfare Department and pruned a few of the high class help, and amputated a few hundred of our non-resident pay roll patriots.

Coun. McGRATH—Mr. President, I am glad that the councilor has brought the matter up at this time, and I wish he might have stressed even further than he did the point that the words uttered by his Honor the Mayor are those that have been given to him by the Municipal Research Bureau. At the time when I discussed this matter a couple of weeks ago, I suggested that we were all interested in the welfare of the city and that Frederick W. Mansfield, who had been elected Mayor, should not yield that office to a man who is not even a resident of the City of Boston. If you will remember, he answered at that time by saying that because McGrath's facts were wrong, necessarily his conclusions must be wrong, and he said that he was in no way connected with the Municipal Research Bureau. I was, therefore, amazed on picking up a Boston newspaper last Sunday to read, when he was questioned about the Municipal Research Bureau dictating policies, the Mayor's reply that this was an error; that they had absolutely nothing to do with him; that these thoughts were his thoughts; that these ideas were his ideas; that he had studied as a student of municipal government the various pay roll items, the various items of expenditures in the city, and that the speeches he was making were creatures of his own mind. I, too, had read this Bulletin of June 13, 1932, put out by the Municipal Research Bureau in the third year, one of the darkest years of the great depression. I had believed, as we all believed, and as was believed by every newspaper in Boston, as we have seen by their editorials, that in the year 1934 there was a New Deal, that there was a new President, and that the people of the country looked confidently to him and felt that he was doing a most efficient job. We know that in 1932 the purchasing power of the dollar was far greater than it is today. I have here a little article in which the figures have been worked out, showing how much greater the purchasing power of the dollar was in June of 1932 than it was in March of 1934. And yet his Honor the Mayor, in making his recent radio address, took that bulletin of June, 1932, issued by the Municipal Research Bureau. Apparently somebody placed it in his hand and he stood before a microphone and gave it to the citizens of the City of Boston as a speech emanating from and originating in his own brain—showing what a masterful group this Municipal Research Bureau is, when he could stand before the microphone and say, "Fred Mansfield speaking," and then give, purporting to be the result of his study of days and nights and the product of his research as a master of municipal government, what had been issued by the Boston Municipal Research Bureau and was two years old. As the councilor well says, there is not a word changed, there is not a change in punctuation. He took that bulletin two years old, that bulletin of another day, issued in the depths of the depression, and read it as if it pertained to today. That is conclusive proof that the Municipal Research Bureau, Mr. President, is running this city. There is no member of this Council who does not hear the appeal of the public for lower taxes and who is not willing to respond to it. That is just as trite as saying, "Feed the poor, minister to the sick." But I say that before this Council stops with the two words, "Reduce taxes," we should add two more words, saying, "Reduce taxes on homes." We know that in the past industrial property has gotten the better of the argument before the state-controlled Board of Tax Appeals, and homes have been discriminated against. That is a long story, but it is true. And so every member of the Council has had people coming to him from their homes at night and on Sundays and holidays, making an appeal to him to go before the Collecting Department or the Board of Tax Commissioners and ask either that they reduce the assessment, or that the home owners be given time to pay the taxes that are now overdue on their homes. It is on the method of reducing taxes that we differ. We don't say that the Mayor is wrong in saying "Reduce taxes," but we say he is absolutely wrong when he reduces taxes at the expense of the underpaid; that he is wrong when he says "Curtail the Hospital Department, Long Island, the Health Department." We say he is absolutely wrong when he does not apply his economy program to men holding two positions, men who are heads of departments and having an additional salary outside. When an appeal comes in for an economy that benefits those represented by the majority of this Council, he will find a welcome response here. But so long, gentlemen, as he simply follows the Municipal Research Bureau, when he goes to Detroit and gets a man who has lived there but who knows nothing about Boston to come on here, when he goes to St. Louis and does the same thing, and then comes here and puts out statements to the effect that 65 per cent of every dollar goes for waste, graft and corruption,—and we have never heard that denied by the gentleman who made the statement,—certainly he lays himself open to question; particularly when there is placed in the hands of the Mayor a pamphlet which is supposed to pertain to conditions today, when in reality it deals with a condition as shown by the gentleman from Ward 17 (Coun. Wilson), set forth in bulletin No. 5, issued by the Boston Municipal Research Bureau June 13, 1932, and he uses it in this way. Mr. President, we want to remove hypocrisy, we want to get back to sincerity.

Everyone of the twenty-two members here realizes the seriousness of the cry to "protect the homes of the people of Boston." We have spoken of it often, it is a matter that is uppermost in our minds. But stop fooling the public. Let us not have speeches delivered today that are simply quoted from a pamphlet issued two years ago. And let us remember that we have in our midst many able men competent to deal with problems that confront this city. Boston, a center of education, has always been able to find in its midst men capable of administering their own affairs and the affairs of the city. We don't have to go to Detroit, to Newton or Milton. We have here enough men of ability and standing. There is just one more statement I wish to make before closing, and it is this. We may be told that the Mayor wanted to select a purchasing agent who was competent for the job and that he could not find an honest man in Boston to administer that office. That is not true. He could not find an honest man in the 28 per cent of the voters who supported Frederick W. Mansfield.

Coun. ROBERTS—Mr. Chairman, I wish to add just a few words to what my colleagues have already said. About a month ago I said in this chamber that some of the acts of the Mayor were insincere; that they were not now in accord with things he said when he was campaigning last October or November, when every city employee received a certain letter. I am not going to offer that today, but we have seen how much he meant when he wrote that particular letter saying that workers would not be reduced; that conditions were such that, while cuts could not be restored, the policemen and firemen, however, would get their step-rate increases. That, first, was the statement he made at one time. Second, he appealed to the Legislature for sole authority to change the departments, to consolidate, telling them when that occurred discharges would have to be made. Several weeks after that when discharges were made and when you, Mr. President, and myself went before him in regard to the matter, he declined to take the responsibility, stating that the responsibility for such discharges lay with the department heads, that he had nothing to do in the matter, that it was up to them. And now he has made a third statement: That he had no connection with the Municipal Research Bureau, in spite of the fact that, as the councilor from Dorchester (Coun. Wilson) has stated, he quoted not a small part from the bulletin of the Municipal Research Bureau issued in 1932, but practically adopted all of it into his recent radio speech, dealing with his economy program. I certainly think it is time that his Honor the Mayor should be sincere with us. I hope he will read these proceedings and that from now on in his dealings with this body he will be frank and sincere.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I can't say that I find fault with the Mayor's position. We are told that the Mayor copies. We all copy. Public men are continually being accused of copying, when they are acting perfectly conscientiously. There is no newspaper in the country that has not been accused from time to time of copying something. (From the reporters' table, "Wrong!" and laughter.) Well, I except the Boston Globe. (Laughter.) Al Smith in the 1928 campaign delivered a speech on finance, and Franklin D. Roosevelt in the 1932 campaign delivered the same speech, practically exactly the same, and the explanation finally came out that the substance of it had come through Professor Moley or one of his colleagues. It simply meant that Mr. Roosevelt and Al Smith had been given the same dope from the same source. I believe the great German, Goethe, said there were but twelve jokes in the world, and no more. But that is a situation in which any man seeking information from different sources is apt to find himself. Governor Cox, when he was Governor of Ohio, was much flustered upon finding out on the day set apart for commemoration of the birth of former President McKinley practically the speech he delivered had been delivered ten years previous by some leading executive of the country. Sometimes these things come because of different people obtaining information from the same source, and sometimes because men's minds run in the same channel. I disagree with his Honor the Mayor in his action as it may affect the health and safety of the people of our city. I want to have the health of our people protected. I want to get the men and women who are out, back. I would like to see John Sullivan put back; would like to see Mr. Balfe put back, if not on full time, on part time. I don't want to see our hospitals or our health work generally curtailed; I don't want to see the work of any of our departments seriously impaired. If employees cannot be put to work on full time, stagger the work and put them on part time. Share the work. But many of them are out on the streets now. We are to have the Mayor for four years. What is the best way to handle these matters? Something must be done, money must be saved somewhere. Last year's taxes have not been collected. Where is the money coming from, for hospital, welfare, and other things? We cannot take it out of the air. We can appropriate money for a short period, and see how things work out, and then appropriate more, feeling our way along. But something must be done, and it certainly seems to me that the best solution will come through a stagger, share-the-work plan. But just remember, gentlemen, we have not started yet, have not scratched the surface.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

BULLETIN

Boston Municipal Research Bureau,
80 Federal Street, Boston, Mass.

Bulletin No. 5. June 13, 1932.

The Municipal Payroll.

It is futile to attempt any real program of economy in the city government while ignoring the imperative need of reducing the cost of the municipal payroll. At the present time the 21,000 employees of city and county departments receive more than $38,000,000 per year. That sum is equivalent to over $200 for every family in Boston. It represents almost one-half the annual cost of the municipal government. It has increased substantially since the depression began, although the ability of the public to meet the cost has been reduced severely.

In the years of prosperity preceding 1930, local governmental services expanded rapidly and new functions were added. Considerations of economy were not deemed important. The payrolls increased in each year both as to number employed and compensation paid. Since the depression the payrolls have continued on an inflated prosperity-time basis, and in addition hundreds of new employees have been added, and many salary increases have been granted. In the short space of the past fourteen years, the annual payroll appropriation of city departments alone jumped from $10,000,000 to $21,300,000, a 113 per cent increase.

There is always a great temptation to be liberal with the public money on the municipal payroll. But the time has come when the interests of the public who pay the bills must be considered. The city government cannot afford to keep a single unnecessary employee on the payroll nor to continue rates of compensation at pre-depression heights.

When the city budget was published last February, a four-fold policy for economy in the city payroll was announced. Unnecessary positions were to be eliminated; vacancies would not be filled, salary increases would not be granted; recipients of public welfare aid would be used instead of hiring many temporary employees; and no overtime payments would be allowed. As far as it went this policy had all appearances of genuine economy. But the facts prove that no substantial savings from the operation of this policy were expected or planned by city officials. The total 1932 payroll appropriations in city departments, including those for the Park Department which will be taken from Parkman Fund income, will exceed the amount actually expended last year.

These are unusual times. Mere lip-service to economy which is not followed by actual performance, will not appease a public which is being called upon to pay more in taxes than it can afford, and more than is necessary. We urge that the policies as to the municipal payroll already announced by the city administration be put into actual effect to the maximum possible extent and that the public be given the benefit of the savings which would inevitably result.

Furthermore, the city government must face squarely and fearlessly the question of reductions in salaries and wages. It can no longer be avoided nor can palliatives put off the inevitable. The financial emergency makes a maintenance of pre-depression salary levels an indefensible and unfair use of the power of taxation.

Public employees have enjoyed a certainty of employment which is enviable even in normal times. During the 40 months of the depression, they have been retained at full-time pay, with no lay-offs and with vacations and pensions. With the decline in the cost of living, the purchasing power of their incomes has increased steadily, so that at the present time they are receiving the equivalent of a twenty per cent increase in pay. On the other hand, most of those who must bear the cost of the municipal payroll, have suffered severe reductions in pay, are on part time, or have no jobs at all.

It has been argued that reduced wages in public employment mean lower buying power. The money to pay these wages comes from the public. It is worth just as much in buying power to them as to public employees. Moreover a reduction amounting to more than the decrease in living costs would leave intact the purchasing power which public employees had in the days of prosperity. If anything less than this is done, public employees will be permitted to profit from the distress of others. One of the principal causes of the larger purchasing power of public employees, is the lowered income of those privately employed. The public employee is now able to pay less to those in private employ who supply him with food, clothing, and other commodities. It is not unreasonable for the private employees to expect the public employee also to take a cut.

There is no danger that such action by the city government would establish a precedent and encourage private employers to follow. Private employment has not waited for any such precedent. The force of economic necessity has already compelled action. Nor should there be any fear that pay reductions would destroy the morale of public employees. Although they are in a position to attract strong political support and public sympathy, it is mistaken kindness to encourage them to believe that they are in a favored class that can demand immunity from economic vicissitudes at the expense of those on whom the burden of a depression inevitably falls.

In our opinion, a reasonable reduction in the rates of compensation in public positions is the most essential step toward governmental retrenchment. In no other way can so large a reduction in the cost of government be made without adding to the list of the unemployed. It will inflict relatively little hardship, whereas the increased or sustained level of taxation which will otherwise be necessary will be an intolerable burden upon the community.

Specifically, we recommend that an average reduction of 15 per cent in municipal salaries and wages be put into effect, commencing July 1, 1932, for the balance of the year, and that unless conditions improve measurably, the reduction continue for the entire year in 1933. This reduction is substantially less than the decline in the cost of living since 1929. Even allowing for exceptional cases where reductions are impracticable, the aggregate savings would be at least $2,000,000 for the remaining six months of 1932, and $4,000,000 for the entire year in 1933.

CITY RECORD.

Saturday, March 24, 1934.

Mayor Mansfield Discusses Municipal Payroll as Related to his Economy Program for City — Points to Futility of Any Attempt at Real Reductions in Burdens without Taking into Consideration the Imperative Need of Reductions in this Branch — Outlines his Efforts in Regular Weekly Broadcast from City Hall Station.

In his regular weekly broadcast on March 19, 1934, Mayor Mansfield discussed the municipal payroll as follows:

It is futile to attempt any real program of economy in the city government while ignoring the imperative need of reducing the cost of the municipal payroll. At the present time the 21,000 employees of city and county departments receive more than $38,000,000 per year. That sum is equivalent to over $200 to every family in Boston. It represents almost one half the annual cost of the municipal government. In the short space of fourteen years, the annual payroll appropriation of city departments alone jumped from $10,000,000 to $21,300,000, a 113 per cent increase.

There is always a great temptation to be liberal with the public money on the municipal payroll. But the time has come when the interests of the public who pay the bills must be considered. The city government cannot afford to keep a single unnecessary employee on the payroll nor to continue rates of compensation at pre-depression heights.

Unnecessary positions were to be eliminated; vacancies would not be filled; salary increases would not be granted; recipients of public welfare aid would be used instead of hiring many temporary employees; and no overtime payments would be allowed. As far as it went this policy had all appearances of genuine economy. But the facts prove that no substantial savings from the operation of this policy were expected or planned by city officials. The total 1932 payroll appropriations in city departments, including those for the Park Department which were taken from Parkman Fund income, exceeded the amount actually expended in 1931.

Performance Needed.

These are unusual times. Mere lip-service to economy which is not followed by actual performance, will not appease a public which is being called upon to pay more in taxes than it can afford, and more than is necessary. The policies as to the municipal payroll that were promised but not performed by the city administration be put into actual effect to the maximum possible extent and that the public be given the benefit of the savings which would inevitably result.

Public employees have enjoyed a certainty of employment which is enviable even in normal times. During the depression they have been retained at full-time pay, with no lay-offs and with vacations and pensions. With the decline in the cost of living, the purchasing power of their incomes had increased steadily, so that for a long time they had been receiving the equivalent of a twenty per cent increase in pay. On the other hand, most of those who must bear the cost of the municipal payroll have suffered severe reductions in pay, are on part time, or have no jobs at all.

It has been argued that reduced payrolls in public employment mean lower buying power. The money to pay these wages comes from the public. It is worth just as much in buying power to them as to public employees. Moreover a reduction amounting to more than the decrease in living costs would leave intact the purchasing power which public employees had in the days of prosperity. If anything less than this is done, public employees will be permitted to profit from the distress of others. One of the principal causes of the larger purchasing power of public employees is the lowered income of those privately employed. The public employee is now able to pay less to those in private employ who supply him with food, clothing, and other commodities. It is not unreasonable for the private employees to expect the public employee also to contribute something to the general welfare.

There is no danger that such action by the city government would establish a precedent and encourage private employers to follow. Private employment has not waited for any such precedent. The force of economic necessity has already compelled action. Nor should there be any fear that the morale of public employees would be destroyed. Although they are in a position to attract strong political support and public sympathy, it is mistaken kindness to encourage them to believe that they are in a favored class that can demand immunity from economic vicissitudes at the expense of those on whom the burden of a depression inevitably falls.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to repave with smooth pavement Chiswick road, from Commonwealth avenue to Chestnut Hill avenue, Ward 21.

A SQUARE DEAL IN ASSESSMENTS FOR TAXATION.

Many cities are finding it greatly to their advantage to have their tax valuations periodically overhauled. The first criterion of any assessment is equity. For every citizen who wants through "pull" or however else to get off easy, there are twenty, nay a hundred, who want a fair and square deal for all.

The appraisal of city real estate is a highly technical affair.

Few things are more important than the equalization of assessments. Particularly in cities that are cramped by an inflexible debt or tax limit, an honest, full value assessment may be a great boon. Without the slightest raise in the tax rate a substantially greater tax yield may be had.

CITY OF BOSTON PRINTING DEPARTMENT

CITY RECORD

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 26. SATURDAY, APRIL 21, 1934. No. 16

ALL GROUPS OF CITIZENS MUST REALIZE THEIR INTEREST IN PROPOSED DRIVE TO COLLECT TAXES — MAYOR MANSFIELD, IN RADIO ADDRESS, BROADCAST FROM CITY HALL STATION, PRESENTS FIGURES TO SHOW HOW URGENT IT IS THAT REVENUES DUE OVER PERIOD OF YEARS SHOULD BE PAID UP — NOW WORKING ON TAX COLLECTION DRIVE PLANS WHICH HE WILL SOON PRESENT TO PUBLIC AND FOR THE SUCCESS OF WHICH HE WILL ASK COOPERATION.

The following is the radio address of Mayor Frederick W. Mansfield over Station WNAC, Monday, April 16, from City Hall:

Good Afternoon, Radio Friends.

My talk to you today will be on the subject of collection of taxes. You will recall that I announced in the public press a few weeks ago the launching of a tax collection drive in Boston the object of which is to collect back taxes now owed to the city.

In pursuance of that plan I invited to my office about forty of the largest taxpayers in Boston and outlined to them the plans which I had in mind.

I have repeatedly brought to the attention of the people by radio and otherwise the serious problems of municipal government which exist in Boston. And yet here it is not as bad as in many other cities in the United States.

Municipal governments throughout the country are in many cases faced by a financial crisis which has crippled them very materially. In many cities schools and libraries have been closed, fire and police departments have been placed on part time, health activities have been curtailed, ashes and garbage have been uncollected and municipal employees have been discharged in large numbers, and those remaining have had their salaries reduced to the lowest possible livable limit. Many different things have contributed to bring about these results as seen in other cities. Welfare costs have been heavy and have been constantly increasing and the cost of paying off debts which have been incurred in more prosperous and extravagant years has constantly mounted until the expenses of government have become very great.

By Tax Collections.

But of all the important causes of the results which we now see around us probably none is more important than the failure of citizens to pay their taxes. The only way that a city can pay its debts is by money raised by taxation and if the taxes are not paid the necessary income required by the city is not only cut off but the city's credit is likely to be impaired.

I am trying to avoid in Boston the drastic retrenchment that has been found necessary in other cities.

I have attempted a reduction in the cost of government which has not been and will not be drastic and which will not impair the efficiency of any necessary city department. I am asking the cooperation of all of the people in this task and the tax collection drive which I have mentioned is one way in which we can obtain money without incurring any interest charges for it. Because this money belongs to the city and if it can be collected it will relieve our burdens to a large extent.

Here are the figures of uncollected taxes for January 1, 1934, when I became Mayor, and up to today, April 16, 1934:

Outstanding Taxes April 16, 1934.

	Polls.	Real Estate.	Personal.	Total Outstanding.

BOSTON'S PATRIOTS' DAY CELEBRATION SETS RECORD FOR BRILLIANCE OF PAGEANTRY AND CEREMONIES—MAYOR MANSFIELD FEATURES DAY WITH FLAG-RAISING AT CITY HALL, SHARING IN PROCESSION TO NORTH SQUARE, ADDRESS THERE AND SPEEDING OF MODERN PAUL REVERE OVER HISTORIC ROUTE TO CONCORD.

Patriots' Day, 1934, will go down in the history of such celebrations by the City of Boston as one of the most elaborate and spectacular ever known. The ceremonies were featured by an unusual pageantry and splendor, from the raising of the flags at City Hall by Mayor Mansfield to the conclusion of the exercises at North square, from which point the modern Paul Revere was speeded on his way over the historic route to Lexington. The parade was the longest arranged for in several years.

The city celebration began when Mayor Mansfield raised the Stars and Stripes at City Hall. Lieut. Peter F. Cartoni of the Signal Corps of the Massachusetts National Guard, was chief marshal of the parade, which started at North square, moved to City Hall and returned to North square for exercises involving the rider representing Paul Revere, Sergt. Irving Moore of the 110th Cavalry, Massachusetts National Guard, and Mayor Mansfield. The parade then moved back to City Hall.

At North square Mayor Mansfield recited the historical importance of the day and then handed Paul Revere a cardboard tube containing a message. The rider then galloped off for "every Middlesex village and farm." His first stop was in Somerville, where he delivered tidings to Mayor Hagen.

A feature of the North square exercises was the appearance of Benjamin Leonardi, son of Dr. Frank Leonardi, chairman of the program there. The youngster was dressed as Paul Revere, Jr., and he rode a pony in the parade.

A flag-raising band concert and a salute fired by veterans opened the observance at Eliot square, Roxbury. Frankland Miles, associate judge of the Roxbury Court, made the address from the balcony of Norfolk House. William Dawes, impersonated by Edwin C. Parr of the 110th Cavalry, took his papers from Comdr. Charles F. Morrill of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, and began his long ride.

The complete Boston program was as follows:

RECREATION, ADEQUATE AS TO KIND AND AVAILABILITY.

Although the ratio of park acreage to population has been used as the simplest measure of the extent to which cities provide areas for the recreation of their people, it is by no means an accurate basis for determining this. If most of the total acreage is in one large park, if the parks are poorly distributed, or if they do not provide various types of recreation facilities, the park system may be inefficient even though the acreage is large. The efficiently planned park and recreation system will involve balanced relationship and well-distributed location of several types of properties, namely, children's playgrounds, neighborhood playfield parks, neighborhood parks, reservations, boulevards, and parkways.

FINANCING SEWAGE WORKS BY SPECIAL ASSESSMENT IN IOWA.

The cost of constructing sewage disposal plants in a number of states, and in Iowa in particular, may be levied against the various lots, parts of lots or parcels of ground draining to, or susceptible to drainage to, the site of the disposal plant. Such assessments must be in proportion to the benefits to each property and must not, in any case, exceed one-fourth of the fair value of the property in question. These special assessments are payable in the same manner as other municipal improvement costs; that is, in ten annual equal installments, paid at the same time and place as the March 1 installment of ordinary taxes in Iowa. Any property owner may pay off the unpaid portion of such tax at any time. Interest on the deferred payments must not exceed 6 per cent.

Intensive Drive Soon.

So that you can see we are making some progress even without the intensive tax drive which I hope to inaugurate very soon.

It is my intention to interest all of the large business firms in Boston who pay taxes, and who do business here, to divide the city into districts by wards and precincts and to urge upon the people who can possibly do so to pay their back taxes or as much of them as they can afford to pay. This drive is not directed at the property owner who cannot afford to pay his taxes. It is merely an endeavor to induce persons who can pay their back taxes to do so at once instead of delaying the payments.

All questions of abatement or reductions of taxes will be considered promptly and impartially by the Board of Assessors and every person with a real grievance will have a chance to be heard and to have his grievance adjusted fairly and in accordance with the law.

A committee was appointed from among the large taxpayers who conferred with the City Collector and with me relative to the most practical means of organizing the tax drive. That committee is to report back its views and recommendations based upon the special circumstances that are existent here in Boston. Other cities throughout the country have organized tax collection drives with varying success, but in all of them I think it is safe to say that the drives were more than justified by the results.

But no tax drive, and no effort like this, can be successful unless we have the full cooperation of all classes in the community because all are equally interested.

Thus, no one could be more interested in the success of a tax collection drive than the city employee; because the more taxes that are collected the more money there will be to apply to the expenses of city government, the tax rate can be lowered and the city employee can feel secure against payless pay days and the unfortunate experience of other cities chiefly caused by failure or refusal to pay taxes.

The taxpayer himself is also greatly interested in the success of a tax collection drive; because if a large portion of the taxes are not collected there must be a higher rate to make up the difference and the taxpayer himself already overburdened is the very one who has to stand the additional burden. The taxpayer must realize that the one way to keep taxes low is by paying taxes promptly.

The local business man is also intensely interested in the success of a tax collection drive; because a successful drive means the reduction in taxes and a reduction in taxes means a lessening of the burden upon all taxpayers so that they will have just a little more money which they will be free to spend with local business men.

And I am sure that the average citizen will realize that he also is intensely interested. The average woman and man in Boston, the average parent, does not want to see health facilities curtailed, schools and libraries closed, fire departments and police departments placed on half-time as has been the case in other cities less fortunate than Boston. They will realize that it is to their best interests and the interests of their children and their city to cooperate with me in making this drive a success.

What form the tax drive will take is at present undecided until the committee reports and until a study has been made of that report. Whether there will be an intensive drive, such as in the last emergency fund campaign with speakers, advertising, radio addresses, or a more modified form, will be decided when that report comes in. But you may be sure that every reasonable effort will be made to get in these back taxes, to the end that our current yearly tax rate may be kept as low as possible.

General Order No. 461.

A trial board consisting of Captains Campbell, Casey and Daley, having heard by reference a complaint made by Harry N. Dickinson, captain, Division 11, against Neil A. McDevitt, patrolman, Division 11, for alleged violation of Rules 38 and 41 of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

Charge 1: Absent without leave.

Specification: In that on the thirty-first day of March, 1934, the said Patrolman Neil A. McDevitt did absent himself from the roll call at 5.45 p. m., and from his duty in reserve, in the station, without the permission of the commissioner, the superintendent, or his commanding officer.

Charge 2: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification: In that on the thirty-first day of March, 1934, the said Patrolman Neil A. McDevitt while in uniform and absent from his duty, was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent that he was unfit to perform police duty,— has submitted the following finding and recommendation:

"The Board, having heard and carefully taken into consideration all the evidence presented, accepts the plea of guilty made by the said Patrolman Neil A. McDevitt.

"Patrolman McDevitt appeared before a trial board in October of 1933, and received a suspension of twenty days and two hundred and ten hours of punishment duty. At that time he took a pledge with his spiritual adviser to refrain from the use of intoxicating liquor. As testified to by the captain, lieutenant and sergeant, they had had no occasion to warn him of the use of intoxicating liquor since that time. Patrolman McDevitt has testified that on March 30, at about 5.45 p. m., which was the evening previous to his being complained of, that he responded to an accident call in which a child was struck by a truck in Dorchester; that he took the child in his arms and while proceeding to the hospital, the said child died in his arms, and his nerves became so affected that the incident preyed on his mind and as a result, the following day he took two drinks of intoxicating liquor to quiet his nerves. Patrolman McDevitt impressed the Board as being a highly nervous type of person, caused, probably by being gassed while serving in the United States Army during the World War.

"The Board does not approve of officers becoming intoxicated either on or off duty, and would be inclined to inflict the extreme penalty, but inasmuch as Patrolman McDevitt has been in the department for a period of fourteen years and never appeared before a trial board until October of 1933, respectfully recommends that the said Patrolman Neil A. McDevitt be suspended for a period of ninety days with loss of pay, and that at the expiration of said period of suspension, that he be ordered to perform two hundred and ten hours of punishment duty."

The commissioner accepts the finding and the recommendation of the Trial Board and hereby orders that the said Patrolman Neil A. McDevitt be suspended from duty for a period of ninety days, effective as of April 2, 1934, at 5.45 o'clock p. m., and that at the expiration of the said period of suspension the said Patrolman Neil A. McDevitt perform 210 hours of punishment duty.

Civil Service Rule 23, Section 3, requires approval of the Civil Service Commission before reinstatement.

Rule 23.

"Section 3. With the consent of the Commissioner upon good cause shown, an appointing officer may reinstate in the same position or in a position in the same class and grade any person who has been separated from the service; provided, however, that the Commissioner shall

7. Commanding officers are to take notice that it is of the greatest importance also, that the patrolmen herein detailed report at the polling places in the various precincts promptly according to schedule.

Failure for any reason of an officer to be on hand at a polling place at the appointed time delays the sergeant in the motor vehicle in his delivery of the ballot boxes, ballots, etc., and interferes, as is plainly seen, with the balance of the delivery schedule.

8. This detail of patrolmen at the various precincts will continue until the ballots are counted and the results declared. The officers are then to bring the ballots and returns to the Election Commissioners' Office.

9. Cards with the ward and precinct number and location of voting booth printed thereon have been forwarded to the several police divisions, on which the division commander will write the name, the division number, and the number of the officer detailed at the time stated on the morning of April 24, 1934, at the voting booth of each respective precinct on his division. This card, to be given to the officer so detailed at the voting booth, will be retained in his possession until delivered by him to an employee of the Board of Election Commissioners, who will arrive accompanying a sergeant on motor vehicle from the Election Commissioners' Office on the morning of April 24, with the ballot boxes, ballots, etc., as hereinbefore stated.

This card, when returned by such employee to the office of the Election Commissioners, will be its receipt that the ballot boxes, ballots, etc., have arrived at their proper destination.

10. On receipt by the patrolman from the sergeant, detailed on motor vehicle, as herein provided, of registering ballot box, ballots, voting lists and such other documents, as may have been received from the Election Commissioners, the patrolman detailed at polling place will deliver same to the warden or clerk of the precinct, allowing no person to take or handle them before such delivery, and hand the key of the registering ballot box to the warden. On delivery of the ballots to the warden, the patrolman will take from him a receipt for the same, which receipt will be returned to the Election Commissioners.

11. After the warden has opened the box and allowed the election officers and the public to see that it is empty, the box is to be again locked and the key given to the patrolman who is to retain it until after the polls have closed, except that, at the request of the warden, the patrolman may allow him to open the box for the purpose of pressing down the ballots, in order to make room for more ballots, after which the patrolman will see that the box is again locked, and the key returned to the police officer.

12. The patrolman will obtain from the warden copies of poster, which will be sent to the latter, in relation to smoking and the use of liquor in polling places, and post same in conspicuous places where they may be easily read. Tacks will be sent for the purpose.

13. The warden will deliver to the patrolman detailed at the polling place for his use at that place a copy of the descriptive voting list, which must be returned to the warden at the close of the polls.

14. When the polls are opened, the patrolman will mark in the place indicated on the tag attached to the key the figures which the register shows before any ballots are cast.

15. At 8 p. m., Tuesday, April 24, when the polls close, one sergeant will report in each of the 22 wards (excepting Ward 1, East Boston, for which two sergeants and two motor trucks are provided), to meet motor vehicle at last point of morning distribution; thence to proceed to each of the several precincts in his respective ward, and receive registering ballot box (which must be locked) and key thereof, voting lists envelope, signed by the warden and other election officers, receipts for ballots, unused ballot envelope, sealed and certified (containing unused and spoiled ballots), stamps for marking spoiled ballots, receipts for ballots and check lists, carry them to the Election Commissioners' Office and deliver same to some member of the Board of Election Commissioners.

16. When the polls are closed, the patrolman will mark on the same tag the figures which the register shows after all ballots have been cast. He will then hand the key to the warden, who will open the box and take out all the ballots to be sorted and counted. The warden will then cause the voting lists, including the list used by the police officer, to be sealed up in an envelope and the envelope certified by the signatures of himself and the other election officers and the same returned to the Election Commissioners, as described in Section 15 of this order. The patrolman will not allow this envelope to be put into the ballot box. The sergeant who will report on motor vehicle will keep it about his person until delivery at the office of the Election Commissioners. The unused and spoiled ballots are then to be put in the envelope for unused ballots, and the envelope sealed and certified.

17. When returning from polls, all motor vehicles must drive to the easterly side of City Hall Annex, Court square, where ballot boxes will be conveyed by chute to the basement.

18. It is important that the patrolman sees that the voting lists envelope is signed by the warden, clerk and all the inspectors. The patrolman will also see that the special book for signatures of voters is returned in the registering ballot box.

19. In case a patrolman is detailed to relieve another after the close of the polls, the commanding officer will see that he is properly instructed as to the duty of bringing the official returns, the box of ballots cast, and the press return to the Election Commissioners' Office as soon as they are delivered to him by the election officers.

20. When the ballots have all been counted, the ballots thus counted, tally sheets and nothing else, shall be placed by the warden in the leatheroid box for that purpose (the ballots to be in their separate party envelopes), which must be sealed up and signed by all the election officers. The patrolman will particularly see that this box is properly sealed up and that all the election officers have signed their names to the certificate on the box. The patrolman will then bring the box, official return, record book, and press return to the City Hall Annex, Court square, and deliver same to the Election Commissioners. The patrolman is directed not to allow the official return, press return or record book to be placed in the leatheroid box.

21. While the polls remain open, an officer of rank will visit the polling place in each division at stated intervals, to be designated by the captain, and in case of any disturbance will report the fact to the commanding officer of the station house without delay. If additional men are needed beyond the number available in that division, the officer in charge will communicate immediately with headquarters.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

officer and of the warden on duty at the polls, that the official return, press return and record book are not to be placed in the leatheroid box.

They shall be handed to the police officer who will deliver them as set out in the paragraph immediately following.

2. The officer going to the office of the Board of Election Commissioners with the leatheroid box, after the counting of the ballots, will take with him, in a separate package, the official return, press return and record book, which he shall safely deliver to the election commissioners with the leatheroid box, as provided in Section 20 of this order.

3. The police shall enforce the order that smoking is prohibited within the confines of the polling places, during the entire day, while the polls are open, as well as after they are closed.

The Board of Election Commissioners makes special request that the officers detailed at the 362 precincts be instructed to see that this is enforced.

As polling places and their approaches and exits are, in many instances, in buildings used for places of religious worship, to say nothing of the danger to valuable property from careless persons, the importance of these instructions is apparent.

Commanding officers will take notice, and provide means to correct, the following conditions set out in a paragraph of a letter received by the Police Commissioner from the Board of Election Comsioners:

"May we again call your attention to the law which prohibits smoking in any polling place, and ask you to have the officers who are detailed to the three hundred and sixty-two (362) precincts make a special effort to see that there is no smoking during the entire day, while the polls are opened, as well as after they are closed."

4. The following matter has been brought particularly to the attention of the Police Commissioner in writing by the Board of Election Commissioners.

Commanding officers will see that this cause of complaint is corrected.

"During the hours from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m. there has been a large increase in the number of persons who congregate outside the polling places. This makes it disagreeable to voters who are entering and leaving the polling places. May we ask that the police use every effort to relieve this congestion."

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Eugene C. Hultman,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 463.

By authority conferred upon the Police Commissioner by law, Patrolman Henry J. Demers of Division 6, charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and violation of law, was dismissed from the Police Department, effective as of April 12, 1934, at 5.45 o'clock p. m.

Written notice of such dismissal, with the reasons therefor, was duly and specifically given in hand on April 12, 1934, to the said Henry J. Demers.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Eugene C. Hultman,
Commissioner.

RE-ELECTION OF ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT

Chairman: The term of office of Assistant Superintendent, Miss Mary C. Mellyn, expires Aug. 31, 1934, and the election of an Assistant Superintendent is therefore in order.

I would like to propose to the members of the Committee the re-election of Miss Mary C. Mellyn, who has performed outstanding work in the system during her entire period of service.

Miss Mellyn is a graduate of the Boston Normal School and Boston University. When, in 1925, Boston College conferred on Miss Mellyn the honorary degree of Doctor of Education, she was the first woman to be thus honored by this College.

She began her work as a substitute teacher in the Boston public schools in 1890, was appointed to the first grade in the Rice School in 1891, and was promoted, successively, to the position of first assistant at the Wells School, teacher at the Boston Normal School where she served for ten years; and then to the principalship of the Dillaway School, Roxbury.

In 1906, Superintendent Brooks appointed Miss Mellyn Supervisor of Substitutes, and asked her to organize the large group of substitute teachers, to assign them and train them for permanent service. In 1912 the practice work of the Normal School was added, and Miss Mellyn became Director of Practice and Training.

In 1916, she was elected Assistant Superintendent of Schools.

Miss Mellyn has given courses in Education at Boston College, Boston University, Emmanuel College and The Teachers College of the City of Boston.

Miss Mellyn is beloved throughout the system and it therefore gives me great pleasure at this time to propose to the members of the Committee the re-election of one of our Assistant Superintendents who has done outstanding work which I think should be recognized in a practical way by re-electing her for another term.

Mr. Hurley: I second the motion.

Dr. Lyons: I cannot let this occasion go without saying a word. It is a source of very great pleasure to me to be given this opportunity upon my return to this Committee, to pay my humble tribute to Miss Mellyn who is among the outstanding educators of the country. With this brief testimonial, I will take great pleasure in voting for Miss Mellyn.

A roll call was ordered for the election of an Assistant Superintendent with the following result:

For MARY C. MELLYN—Messrs. Hurley, Lyons, Mackey, Sullivan and Tobin—5.

The Chair declared Miss Mary C. Mellyn re-elected Assistant Superintendent for a period of six years, beginning Sept. 1, 1934, by unanimous vote.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

CITY RECORD

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 26. SATURDAY, APRIL 28, 1934. NO. 17

MAYOR MANSFIELD DELIVERS MESSAGE OF HOPE TO HOME OWNERS OF BOSTON—CALLS ATTENTION OF THOSE WHO FEAR LOSS OF PROPERTY THROUGH INABILITY TO PAY INTEREST, TAXES, OR OTHER ASSESSMENTS TO OPPORTUNITY OFFERED BY HOME OWNERS LOAN CORPORATION—POINTS TO FACT THAT MANY PERSONS IN COUNTRY HAVE BEEN AIDED AND RELIEVED THROUGH THIS AGENCY AND EXPLAINS HOW TO PROCEED TO SECURE HELP.

The following is the radio address of Mayor Mansfield, broadcast from City Hall, Monday, April 23, over WNAC.

Good Afternoon, Radio Friends.

This is the Mayor speaking from City Hall, Boston. My message today is, I think, a most important one. It is directed to the home owners and to all of those persons in the community who at the present time own their own homes or who have recently lost them because of inability to pay interest, taxes, insurance, or other necessary payments under the terms of their mortgages.

Not only is what I am going to say of importance to the home owner who has lost his home but is just as important to the home owner who fears that he may lose his home, and this message is one of encouragement and hope.

There is located in Chicago an organization called the United States Conference of Mayors, of which the Mayor of Boston is a member. The purpose of this association is to gather information and disseminate it throughout the country by frequent bulletins sent to its members.

The subject of my talk today is taken from a circular letter sent out last week by this United States Conference of Mayors. It is because I think that the distressed home owner does not thoroughly understand the opportunities that are open to him to redeem his home that I am relaying to you the information contained in this circular letter. The title of the letter is "Home Owners Loan Corporation and Delinquent Taxes." This letter shows that a conservative estimate indicates that about twenty million dollars of property taxes have been paid through the operation of the Home Owners Loan Corporation since its establishment by the Government in July, 1933. This represents loans made to less than 150,000 small home owners. This seems to me to indicate that the people do not understand the workings of the Home Owners Loan Corporation because if they did there would surely be a much larger number of home owners throughout the entire country taking advantage of the opportunities presented by this corporation to enable people to hold their homes. It seems as though the home owners of the country are overlooking this proffered assistance of the Federal Government and if the home owners do not take advantage of this assistance the city suffers because the home owner cannot find the money to pay his taxes. In addition to that, the banks, the insurance companies, and the holders of the mortgages are deprived of their rightful income.

Provides Relief.

The Home Owners Loan Corporation was created by an act of Congress to provide emergency relief with respect to home mortgage indebtedness, to re-finance home mortgages, to extend relief to the owners of homes occupied or maintained by them as homes and who are unable to pay off their indebtedness elsewhere.

A home owner who effects an exchange of his present mortgage for a loan from the Home Owners Loan Corporation is simply refunding for a period of not more than fifteen years an indebtedness which otherwise might mature within a relatively short time, or which perhaps is already overdue and payable.

On all loans the corporation required that all taxes, liens, and assessments against the property be paid in full. In general, the corporation may advance cash to pay taxes and assessments on the real estate, to provide for necessary maintenance and make necessary repairs, and to pay the incidental expenses of the loan.

The corporation may even make loans on homes where a part of the premises is used as business or income property. In such cases, and indeed in any case, the real estate dealt with must not exceed $20,000 in value. This means actual value as computed by the Home Owners Loan Corporation, and does not mean assessed value. A home designed for not more than four families, a property consisting of more than one dwelling, but not exceeding accommodations for four families, or even a boarding house, may be taken as security by the corporation.

MAYOR MANSFIELD ASKS HIS DEPARTMENT HEADS AND ALL OTHER HIGHER PAID CITY OFFICIALS TO VOLUNTARILY CONTRIBUTE 10 PER CENT OF THEIR BASIC SALARY TO CITY IN ORDER TO MEET 1934 BUDGET REQUIREMENTS — CONSIDERABLE SAVING THUS PROVIDED.

In view of the necessity to reduce municipal expenses and the contributions that are being made to this end by the small salaried employees, I am asking department heads, members of boards and commissions, chiefs of divisions, deputies and other city officials and employees whose present compensation by reason of the reduction required by law is in excess of $4,250 a year, voluntarily to contribute during the remainder of 1934 an amount equal to 10 per cent of their basic compensation. This contribution of 10 per cent plus the 15 per cent reduction required by the 1933 statute make a 25 per cent reduction from the basic salary in each case.

These contributions will affect about fifty persons and will provide a saving of approximately $37,000 for the current year and is intended to take effect on May 1. I need not say that I am very sure that I shall receive full cooperation from all persons affected.

My own contribution stands as I originally stated, namely, a reduction from $20,000 to $15,000, or 25 per cent, and from this the reduction of 15 per cent required by the statute is to be made, leaving my net salary $12,750.

CLASSES OF LOANS.

There are three definite classes of loans which can be made by the Home Owners Loan Corporation, and they are as follows:

First. Loans up to 80 per cent of the value of the property may be made to retire mortgages, contracts or liens; to redeem or recover homes lost by the owners by foreclosure or by voluntary surrender to the mortgagee within two years prior to the loan. In both cases this involves the voluntary acceptance of the corporation's bond in exchange for the mortgage notes or other existing evidence of the indebtedness. Such loans must not exceed $14,000 and they bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent a year.

Second. Cash loans up to 40 per cent of the actual value of the property may be made to retire an existing mortgage where there is imminent danger that the home will be lost by foreclosure and where the mortgage cannot be satisfied by the acceptance of Home Owners Loan Corporation's bonds. This second class of loans must be approved by the authorities at Washington and bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent a year.

Third. Cash loans up to 50 per cent of the value of the property in cases where there are no mortgages or other incumbrances for the purpose of paying taxes and assessments against the property, to make necessary repairs and to provide for necessary maintenance and upkeep, and to meet the incidental expenses of the transaction. Interest on this class of loan is 5 per cent a year.

Let me go over these three classes of cases again very briefly so that you may clearly understand the differences between them.

The first class lends up to 80 per cent of the value of the property to refund or retire mortgages or to redeem or recover homes which have been lost by foreclosures within two years. But in this first class of cases where 80 per cent is advanced there must be a voluntary acceptance of the corporation's bond by the person holding the mortgage or title to the property.

In the second class of cases the loans are in cash and not in bonds of the corporation. In such cases where cash is supplied by the Government to pay off the indebtedness only 40 per cent of the value of the property is allowed instead of 80 per cent under the first class where the indebtedness is paid off by bonds of the corporation. And the interest is 6 per cent instead of 5 per cent as it is in the first class.

The third class is also a cash loan where there is no mortgage on the property but money is needed to pay taxes and to make repairs and the like. Cash being needed for those purposes it is plain that the bonds of the corporation would not answer the purpose. But in all three classes of cases the limit of the value of the property is $20,000, the loan cannot exceed $14,000, nor can it run longer than fifteen years.

ELIGIBILITY FOR A LOAN.

In order to qualify for a loan from the Home Owners Loan Corporation the following things are necessary:

1. No property appraised by the corporation at more than $20,000 is eligible for a loan. In other words, if you apply for a loan on your property and the corporation's appraisers report that it is worth more than $20,000 you cannot obtain a loan on it.

2. No loan of over $14,000 will be granted.

3. Only home mortgages and other liens recorded or executed prior to June 13, 1933, can be refinanced by the corporation. There is one exception to this rule, however. If your mortgage is dated later than June 13, 1933, and you can show that it is not a new mortgage but is merely a refunding of an older mortgage then the corporation is authorized to advance money on loan exactly as though the date of the mortgage was prior to June 13, 1933.

4. The corporation must have a first lien. You know what this means, of course. It means that all mortgages and incumbrances of every nature must be cleared away so that the Home Owners Loan Corporation will hold the first mortgage.

5. The property must be the home of the applicant, even though temporarily not occupied by him. This means that even if you have lost your home and have been ousted from it by foreclosure proceedings and are no longer living in it, you may still obtain relief if you act within the time specified, even though at the moment you are prevented from using the property as your home.

6. Applications for these loans may be filed and will be accepted up to June 13, 1936.

7. No loans will be granted where the major purpose is to reduce interest rates. In other words, the object of the legislation is to extend relief to home owners who are in danger of losing or who have lost their homes. It is not intended to provide an easy way for a debtor to obtain a new loan written at a lower rate of interest.

8. Where the present holders of mortgages are willing to make equitable arrangements to continue existing indebtedness no loan will be granted by the corporation. In other words, it is only in those cases where the holders of the mortgage refuse to extend further time or make readjustments that the corporation comes to the rescue of the home owner.

9. No application will be considered where there is evidence of collusion between the applicant and any of his creditors to obtain a loan through the corporation.

REPAYMENT OF LOANS.

All loans must be repaid within fifteen years from their date. Payments may be made on either a twelve-year or a fifteen-year plan. At the option of the borrower, interest only may be paid until June, 1936, if he chooses the twelve-year plan. If he chooses this plan and pays nothing on the principal until June, 1936, he must pay interest monthly and it has been computed by the corporation that this monthly interest will amount to only 42 cents per month for each $100 of mortgage. Thus, if your mortgage was $1,000 you would be required to pay $4.20 a month for interest. After June, 1936, you would be required to pay interest and principal and in that event the Government has computed that the monthly payment on principal and interest together would amount to 92 cents for each $100 of mortgage. Thus, if your mortgage was $1,000 your monthly payment of interest and principal combined after June, 1936, would be $9.20.

State offices of the Home Owners Loan Corporation have been established in every state, with district offices located in important centers. You can obtain full information about this whole matter from your state or district office or by writing to the Home Owners Loan Corporation, Department of Commerce Building, Washington, D. C. In Boston the district office is located at 82 Devonshire street.

Let me urge every home owner who has recently lost, or feels that he may soon lose his home to take advantage of these wonderful opportunities offered by the Government to give them relief.

Specification: In that on the 3d day of April, 1934, the said Patrolman Thomas H. Tierney, having been ordered by his commanding officer to report at 7.45 a. m., for police listing, did fail to so report, without just cause or excuse for his absence.

Charge 2: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification: In that on the 3d day of April, 1934, the said Patrolman Thomas H. Tierney was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent that he was unable to properly perform police duty if called upon so to do, and that, by so doing, he was guilty of an act contrary to good order and discipline of the department and tended to bring into disrepute and criticism his associates on the force and the department as a whole,—

"The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented, accepts the plea of guilty by Patrolman Tierney. In view of the fact that this is Patrolman Tierney's third time before a trial board for the same offence, and that he has been warned many times by his commanding officer, who states that he does not believe that Patrolman Tierney can refrain from the use of intoxicating liquor, the Board respectfully recommends that the said Patrolman Thomas H. has submitted the following finding and recommendation:

"The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented, finds the said Patrolman John H. General Order No. 468.

A report entitles "Return A, Monthly Return of Offenses Known to the Police," is forwarded to Mr. J. E. Hoover, Director, Division of Investigation, Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

This monthly return is composed of the following offenses:

1. Criminal Homicide:
   - a. Murder and non-negligent manslaughter.
   - b. Manslaughter by negligence. (Assault with intent to murder.)
2. Rape. (Abuse of female child.) (Rape, assault to.)
3. Robbery (assault to, robbery armed and unarmed).
4. Aggravated assault (assault and battery with dangerous weapon, mayhem).

Divisions of this department reported on the above-mentioned offenses collectively for the month of March as follows:

Division.	Number of Offenses Reported.	Unfounded.	Actual.	Cleared	Per Cent Cleared.
7	16	0	16	10	62.50
15	71	6	65	28	43.07
1	90	8	82	31	37.80
6	83	5	78	28	35.89
9	209	12	197	61	30.96
14	43	2	41	12	29.26

2	121	10	111	31	27.92
16	112	10	102	27	26.47
13	27	3	24	5	20.83
18	15	0	15	3	20.00
10	105	3	102	19	18.62
11	86	3	83	6	07.22
17	27	2	25	1	04.00
19	38	4	34

These statistics are furnished the Department of Justice monthly by police departments of cities with a population in excess of 100,000, and are published in bulletin form by the United States Government, and are transmitted to law enforcement agencies, commissions, etc., throughout the United States.

Therefore, the accuracy of these reports is of supreme importance to the reputation of this department, and, furthermore, they bring the department into direct competition with all other police departments in the United States.

It will be noted upon examination of the percentage of cases cleared by the various divisions that Division 7 has the highest score in the clearance of the above-mentioned offences. The efficiency of a division may be determined by the per cent of reported offences that are cleared monthly, and a careful examination of the percentage of offences cleared by each division will show the comparative standing of divisions.

The Inspectors of Divisions will also carefully note the percentage of offences reported cleared monthly by the divisions under their supervision for the purpose of recommending or initiating any constructive measures that may be necessary to improve the rating of those divisions that are comparatively poor.

The following percentage of cleared cases represents the combined averages of divisions by districts:

	Per Cent Cleared.
District B: (Divisions 1, 2, 7, 15 and 16)	39.55
District C: (Divisions 4, 6, 9, 10 and 11)	24.19
District A: (Divisions 13, 14, 17, 18 and 19)	14.82

In the future there will be a monthly report published for the information and instruction of the department, giving the rating of each division and district in regard to the number of serious crimes reported and the number cleared by arrest, for the purpose of increasing the efficiency of the department.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 469.

A trial board consisting of Captains Campbell, McKinnon and Dickinson, having heard by reference a complaint made by William Lewis, captain, Division 19, against Joseph R. Madden, patrolman, Division 19, for alleged violations of Rules 27 and 41 of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department, to wit:

Charge 1: Neglect of duty.

Specification: In that on the tenth day of April, 1934, Patrolman Joseph R. Madden of this division did fail to pull his "on duty" calls between the hours of 9.30 p. m. and 10.55 p. m.

Charge 2: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification: In that on the tenth day of April, 1934, Patrolman Joseph R. Madden of this division, while in uniform and on duty, was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent that he was unable to perform police duty, thereby tending to bring into disrepute and criticism his associates in the Boston Police Department,— has submitted the following finding and recommendation:

"The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented accepts the plea of guilty made by Patrolman Joseph R. Madden. Patrolman Madden was before the Board on a similar complaint on February 16, 1934, and at that time on the recommendation of his former commanding officer, Deputy McDevitt, and with a pledge card from his spiritual adviser to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquor in the future, he was given a chance to redeem himself. It is the opinion of the Board that Patrolman Madden has amply manifested that he is no longer of use as a member of the Boston Police Department, and therefore respectfully recommends that the said Patrolman Joseph R. Madden be dismissed from the Police Department."

The commissioner accepts the finding and the recommendation of the Trial Board and hereby orders that the said Patrolman Joseph R. Madden be dismissed from the Police Department, effective as of April 18, 1934, at 5.45 o clock p. m.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposals for Repairing Pavements with Bituminous Materials," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. on Monday, May 7, 1934, with a certified check for three thousand (3,000) dollars for each district, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. There will be a charge of two dollars ($2) for each set of plans and specifications taken out. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price. The boundaries of the districts are to be determined by the Commissioner so as to make the amount of work done in each district about equal. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best.

Improving instruction in rural schools through promoting the efficiency and professional growth of teachers is the most important function of supervision in connection with the rural school movement. In the accomplishment of this purpose supervisors use different means and procedures usually designated as supervisory measures, according to the United Stated Office of Education. Among those found particularly successful in rural communities are: County-wide teachers' meetings, circular letters, group conferences, visitations, individual conferences, and help rendered by teachers to colleagues.

OPINION OF CORPORATION COUNSEL ON POLICE DEPARTMENT EXPENDITURES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 12, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith an opinion of the Corporation Counsel upon two questions submitted to him on February 19, 1934, as follows:

1. Whether the Police Commissioner could properly expend money or involve the City of Boston in a contract for the future payment of money in excess of appropriations therefor; and

2. Whether certain contracts dated February 15, 1934, between the General Electric Company and the City of Boston, and between R. J. Connolly, Inc., and the City of Boston were invalid on grounds specified in the inquiry.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Law Department, April 2, 1934.

Committee on Finance,
City Council.

Gentlemen,—I have received a letter, dated February 19, 1934, from John E. Baldwin, Clerk of Committees, in which he has advised me that you have requested my opinion with reference to expenditures and contracts of the Police Department of the City of Boston.

It is my understanding from Mr. Baldwin's letter that you wish my opinion with regard to the following matters:

1. May the Police Commissioner properly expend money or involve the City of Boston in a contract for the future payment of money in excess of appropriations therefor; and

2. Are the contracts, dated February 15, 1934, between General Electric Company and the City of Boston, relating to a two-way radio telephone system, and R. J. Connolly, Inc., and the City of Boston, relating to building alterations to provide a communication control room at police headquarters, respectively, invalid on the ground that they purport to obligate the city for the future payment of money in excess of appropriations?

I.

Section 8 of chapter 291 of the Acts of 1906, as amended, provides that the City of Boston shall pay the salary of the Police Commissioner and the secretary, and the expense of such rooms, "suitably furnished, as shall be convenient and suitable for the performance" of the Police Commissioner's duties, that the city shall provide all such accommodations for the police of the city as the Police Commissioner may require, and that

" . . . All expenses for the maintenance of buildings, the pay of the police, clerks, stenographers and other employees, and all incidental expenses incurred in the performance of the duties of said commissioner or in the administration of said police shall be paid by the City of Boston upon the requisition of said police commissioner."

Section 9 of said chapter 291, as amended and now in force, authorizes the Police Commissioner to employ legal assistance and to incur expense therefor to a fixed amount, "which expense shall be paid by the City of Boston upon the requisition" of the Police Commissioner.

There are no other statutory provisions expressly purporting to impose upon the city an obligation to pay expenses of the Police Department.

If the obligations imposed by sections 8 and 9 were unlimited by other provisions of law, it would seem clear that the city would be obligated to make the expenditures required of it under these sections even if there were no appropriations available therefor and that the expenses directed by said sections to be paid by the city could properly be incurred in the absence of such appropriations.

See in this connection Batchelder v. City of Salem, 4 Cush. 599 (1848).

Two subsidiary questions must, therefore, be considered before an opinion can be given as to the matters concerning which you have inquired.

The first is—What expenses are included within the words contained in section 8 "all incidental expenses incurred in the performance of the duties of said commissioner or in the administration of said police"?

The second is—Are the obligations imposed on the city by sections 8 and 9 limited by other provisions of law, and, if so, to what extent?

1. As to the expenses covered by section 8: The above-quoted words in section 8 "all incidental expenses" are susceptible of at least two interpretations. They may be interpreted to include all expenses incidental to the performance of the commissioner's duties or the administration of the police, or, in other words, all expenses of the Police Department, or they may be interpreted to include all expenses of a minor or subordinate character. As there has been no judicial determination of the proper interpretation of these words, their meaning is not free from doubt. I am of the opinion, however, that these words should be interpreted to include only expenses of a minor or subordinate character and not expenses of major or independent significance. To construe these words as including all expenses incidental to the performance of the commissioner's duties or incidental to police administration is to treat as surplusage the word "incurred" and also as unnecessary and surplusage other specific provisions of sections 8 and 9 (e. g., provisions with referance to the pay of the police, stenographers and clerks).

2. As to the limits on sections 8 and 9: In this connection the following statutory provisions must be considered:

Section 3 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, as amended, which provides that:

"All appropriations, other than for school purposes, to be met from taxes, revenue, or any source other than loans shall originate with the mayor, who within thirty days after the beginning of the fiscal year shall submit to the city council the annual budget of the current expenses of the city and county, and may submit thereafter supplementary budgets until such time as the tax rate for the year shall have been fixed. The city council may reduce or reject any item, but without the approval of the mayor shall not increase, any item in, nor the total of a budget, nor add any item thereto, nor shall it originate a budget. It shall be the duty of the city and county officials, when requested by the mayor, to submit forthwith in such detail as he may require estimates for the next fiscal year of the expenditures of the department or office under their charge, which estimates shall be transmitted to the city council. . . ."

Section 16 of said chapter 486, which provides that:

"No official of said city, except in case of extreme emergency involving the health or safety of the people or their property, shall expend intentionally in any fiscal year any sum in excess of the appropriations duly made in accordance with law, nor involve the city in any contract for the future payment of money in excess of such appropriation, except as provided in section six of this act."

Chapter 320 of the Acts of 1889, which provides that:

" . . . at the beginning of the financial year, to meet the liabilities of the several departments incurred in the carrying on of the work entrusted to them, until the city government shall otherwise order, expenditures may be made, liabilities may be incurred and payments made from the treasury from any funds therein, and the treasurer may borrow money in anticipation of taxes to provide funds. Such expenditures and liabilities shall not exceed for each department, one third the entire amount appropriated for the department the previous year, and shall be considered and reckoned as a part of the expenditures of, and the money paid therefor as a part of the appropriations for, the current financial year."

Section 1 of chapter 206 of the Acts of 1891, which provides that:

"The City of Boston shall not borrow any money for purposes taken into account in determining its debt limit, unless the mayor shall in writing certify upon the order authorizing the loan that the amount intended to be so borrowed is not, in his opinion, to meet a current expense, or that such money is to meet a current expense, but that public necessity requires the borrowing of the same."

In a letter to Stephen O'Meara, then Police Commissioner, dated December 8, 1910, Dana Malone, as Attorney General for the Commonwealth, stated it to be his opinion that, notwithstanding the provisions of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, the Police Commissioner could properly "make requisition upon the City of Boston for all expenses for the maintenance of buildings, the pay of the police, clerks, stenographers and other employees and all incidental expenses incurred in the performance of the duties of said Commissioner or in the administration of said police, without regard to the amount of money previously appropriated by the City Council," that requisitions of the Police Commissioner need not be based on estimates of the probable expenditures of the department, and that the Police Commissioner was not an "official of said city" within the meaning of these words in section 16 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909.

That letter was written prior to the decisions in such cases as Flood v. Hodges, 231 Mass. 252 (1918), Decatur v. Peabody, 251 Mass. 82, Parkhurst v. Revere, 263 Mass. 364, and Burt v. Taunton, 275 Mass. 535, hereinafter referred to, and, while the matter is by no means free from doubt, I cannot advise you that you can rely on the conclusions in that letter.

If the opinion in that letter is sound then we are led to the conclusion that there is no legal technique for fixing the limits of police departments' expenditures in connection with determining the tax rate for the year and that, even after the tax rate is determined, further expenses may be incurred for current purposes, which expenses can only be met by borrowing — in other words, if the opinion in that letter is sound, the tax rate cannot be intelligently determined and the Police Commissioner has the broad power, in effect, to involve the city in debt for current expenses. I do not believe that he has such broad power.

Sections 3 and 16 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, chapter 320 of the Acts of 1889, and section 1 of chapter 206 of the Acts of 1891 should, in my opinion, be read together in determining the limits, if any, of sections 8 and 9 of chapter 291 of the Acts of 1906.

Section 3 of chapter 486 requires the mayor to submit to the City Council an annual budget of the current expenses of the city and county (other than expenses for school purposes — special statutory provisions existing with reference to such expenses) and permits the submission of supplementary budgets thereafter until the tax rate is fixed. It contemplates that appropriations for current expenses shall not exceed the amounts set forth in the budgets, and provides for estimates by "city and county officials" to aid in preparing the annual budget. Section 16 forbids any "official of the city" making, or contracting for, expenditures in excess of appropriations. Section 1 of chapter 206 of the Acts of 1891 contemplates that there shall be no borrowing by the city for current expenses, unless the mayor determines that public necessity requires it. Chapter 320 of the Acts of 1889, provides for expenditures before appropriations based on the budget can be made and fixes the limit of such expenditures.

The policy underlying these statutory provisions is readily discernible and is the same as that underlying the similar statutory provisions now contained in section 32 of chapter 44 of the General Laws dealing with budgets of cities other than Boston. Discussing the policy underlying the latter statutory provisions the Supreme Judicial Court said, in Flood v. Hodges, supra:

"The manifest purpose of the framers of the act was to set rigid barriers against expenditures in excess of appropriations, to prevent the borrowing of money for current expenses, to confine the making of long time loans strictly to raising money for permanent improvements, and in general to put cities upon a sound financial basis so far as those ends can be achieved by legislation. The budget system was one of the means adopted. The responsibility for framing and presenting the budget is placed on the mayor. He is required, within a brief time after the annual organization of the city government, 'to submit to the city council the annual budget of the current expenses of the city.' The budget consists of an itemized and detailed statement of the money required to meet all the current expenses of the city for the year, with clear specifications of the amounts to be expended for each particular purpose. The preparation of a budget of necessity implies a comprehensive survey of all the needs for expenditures for the ordinary municipal operations and an intelligent and discriminating calculation of necessary charges. That is made an executive function. The power of the mayor in this direction, even by way of supplementary budgets, comes to an end when the tax rate has been fixed for the year. . . . The manifest design of these provisions is to provide early in the municipal year a complete schedule of appropriations for the general uses of the city and to discourage a tendency to spend more than the municipal income," and in Burt v. Municipal Council of Taunton, supra:

"As has been held repeatedly, the design of the budget law for cities was to set rigid barriers against expenditures in excess of appropriations, to cultivate municipal thrift, to prevent the borrowing of money for current expenses, and in general to put cities upon a sound financial basis so far as those ends can be achieved by legislation."

No exception is made, in the statutory provisions with regard to Boston's finances, heretofore quoted, for police expenditures and no other limits are fixed for such expenditures, as in the case of expenditures for school purposes. The budget referred to in section 3 is a budget of the "current expenses of the city and county." Current expenses of the Police Department are clearly current expenses of the city. It would seem, therefore, that Police Department expenses were intended by the Legislature to be included within the budget.

Doubts which have been expressed as to the applicability of section 16 to the Police Commissioner have generally arisen from the use of the term therein "official of said city."

While the Police Commissioner is an official appointed by the Governor and may for some purposes be properly described as a state officer (see Sullivan v. Lawson, 267 Mass. 438 (1929), Attorney General v. Brissenden, 271 Mass. 172 (1930), it is not at all inaccurate to describe him also as a city official.

See, in this connection:

Trustees of Public Library v. Rector of Trinity Church, 263 Mass. 173, 179 (1928), where the Court said:

"It is plain, therefore, that groups of individuals exercising local or internal powers and duties may be deemed to be acting as departments of a municipality, irrespective of the degree or kind of control over them possessed by the Commonwealth as contrasted with the local government. The fact that the members of the licensing board and finance commission are appointed by the governor . . . and that the amount to be appropriated annually for the finance commission is fixed by the Legislature . . . do not determine whether or not the licensing board and the finance commission are departments of the city of Boston."

. . . "Although policemen are public officers, a police department may be a department of a municipality. Adams v. Selectmen of Northbridge, 253 Mass. 408, 409. If the police commissioner, who is appointed by the governor, St. 1906, c. 291, sec. 7, notifies the city of Boston that land is needed as a site for a building to be used as police headquarters, the land may be taken under St. 1909, c. 486, sec. 31, which provides in part as follows: "At the request of any department . . . the board of street commissioners, in the name of the city, may take in fee for any municipal purpose any land . . . " Police Commissioner of Boston v. Boston, 239 Mass. 401, 407, 408. "Police officers perform certain duties strictly local, including the enforcement of the city ordinances."

See, also,

Police Commissioner of Boston v. Boston 239 Mass. 401, 407, 409.

Police Commissioner of Boston v. Commissioner of Civil Service, 278 Mass. 507 (1932).

Prince v. Boston, 148 Mass. 285, 289, (1889).

The policy underlying our budget laws calls for a construction of the term "official of the city" as including the Police Commissioner. Furthermore, it should be borne in mind that section 3, which by its terms requires the budget to provide for current expenses of the city and therefore, by implication, of the Police Department, also requires city officials to furnish estimates of expenditures. If the Police Commissioner is not one of the "city officials" required to furnish estimates the budget must be prepared without his assistance. It is hard to believe that this was intended. Moreover, if the Police Commissioner is one of the "city officials" referred to in section 3, it would seem to involve no strain to hold him to be an "official of the city" within section 16.

While the language of sections 8 and 9 of chapter 291 of the Acts of 1906 is mandatory it is my opinion that, in view of the statutory provisions with reference to the city's finances heretofore discussed and the policy underlying those provisions sections 8 and 9 should not be construed to give the Police Commissioner power to incur expenses and obligate the city without regard to budgetary provisions of law.

Two decisions are helpful in determining the limits of sections 8 and 9. These are Decatur v. Peabody, 251 Mass. 82 (1925) and Parkhurst v. Revere, 263 Mass. 364 (1928).

Decatur v. Peabody (supra) involved a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the payment of salary increases voted to the petitioners by the School Committee of Peabody. The Court said:

(Page 83.) "The great question in this case is whether, when the school committee of a city other than Boston has voted to increase salaries of teachers in the public schools according to its own conceptions of the public needs, and has transmitted the estimate of the annual expenses of the school department based on such increase to the mayor in conformity to the budget requirements of G. L., c. 44, sec. 32, the mayor and city council are bound to provide appropriations based on such increase. Stated more concisely the question is, whether the ultimate power to establish the salaries of teachers in the public schools, giving instruction in the branches required to be taught by G. L., c. 71, is vested in the school committee or in the mayor and city council of cities outside of Boston."

(Page 86.) "In dealing with municipal finance, by St. 1913, c. 719, the General Court provided in substance and effect that in all cities except Boston there shall annually be prepared and presented for consideration by the legislative department a budget which shall consist of an itemized and detailed statement of the money required for the several municipal departments and other city charges. The legislative department of the city may reduce or reject any item, but cannot increase any item nor add new items. It also was provided that no department should incur liabilities in excess of the appropriation made in the budget as finally established, with exceptions not here material. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the municipal indebtedness act were repealed by sec. 22 of that act."

(Page 86.) "The main provisions of the municipal indebtedness act are in G. L., c. 44, ss. 32 and 31. All the previously existing provisions of the statutes respecting school committees and their powers were reenacted in substance in G. L., c. 71. The special and hitherto unlimited power of the school committee to contract with teachers is in s. 38, and the committee's general authority over schools, in s. 37. These provisions are in almost the same words as those long familiar in our statutes.

"There are thus in the General Laws two provisions, which, if treated as detached and separate enactments, seem to be contrary one to the other. The chapter on municipal finance appears to give to the mayor and legislative department of the city absolute power over the budget, with complete and exclusive control over appropriations, and thus to require every municipal department to yield to its determination as to the amount of money available for any public expenditure. The chapter relating to public schools appears to vest in the school committee complete and exclusive control over the salaries to be paid to teachers in the public schools without being required to consult with any other public board.

"These respective provisions were combined in the revision of statutes known as General Laws. There is no indication of legislative thought that there was any inconsistency or repugnancy between the several statutes thus consolidated. There is every presumption that this body of statute law was intended to be consistent and harmonious."

(Page 87.) "A statute, such as that dealing with municipal finance, commonly carries with it an implication that all other provisions of law are to yield to its terms. Its general scope and its main purpose are directed toward uniformity, clarity and economy in the use of public funds. Several commissions have been appointed in recent years to study municipal finance and to report to the General Court. The importance attributed to the subject is thus accentuated. All municipal activities must be supported out of the public treasury. They are all dependent upon appropriations made by the legislative department of cities. They naturally would all be put upon the same footing.

"One consideration and one alone puts the school committee with respect to salaries of teachers upon a basis different from that of other municipal departments. There is contained in G. L., c. 71, s. 34, a provision long in our statutes, in these words, 'Towns shall raise by taxation money necessary for the support of public schools as required by this chapter.'"

(Page 88.) "It is clear that the design of section 24 was to make the observance of certain requirements of G. L., c. 71, imperative upon municipalities and not subject even to the limitations of the provisions of law as to the budget. This compulsion imposed by the General Court is peremptory and unequivocal. It is something more than the simple permission to one board of public officers to make contracts, or to fix salaries. These are to be found in other statutes. See, for example, G. L., c. 111, s. 27. All such general provisions are subject to appropriations made under the provisions of the budget law. With reference to public schools there is both the power in the school committee and the express legislative mandate to the municipality to 'raise by taxation' the necessary money. It follows from the provisions of said s. 34, touching the public schools, that it is the duty of those framing the budget under G. L., c. 44, s. 39, to conform to G. L., c. 71, s. 34, and to provide for the salaries of teachers in the public schools as voted by the school committee."

(Page 99.) "We do not go so far as to hold that the school committee has power to disregard the provisions of G. L., c. 44, s. 31, and involve the city in debt in excess of appropriation. A different remedy is set forth in G. L., c. 71, s. 34, for failure to raise money necessary for the support of public schools as required by said c. 71. The question presented by this record has been one of genuine difficulty about which municipal officers of integrity and zeal for the public welfare well might and doubtless have differed. But it cannot be assumed that any mayor and city council, when the law has been interpreted, would fail to make the necessary appropriations."

This case indicates that, when a city is subject to the budgetary provisions of the Municipal Indebtedness Act, even though the statutes also provide that the city in question "shall" raise by taxation money for the support of its schools and confers upon the school committee authority to incur expenses necessary for such support, the latter provisions are restricted by virtue of the budgetary laws relating to appropriations, but that, in view of the mandate to "raise by taxation," the necessary money, it is the duty of those framing the budget to provide for items determined by the school committee to be necessary and included in the estimates of expenditures submitted by the school committee.

Parkhurst v. Revere, 263 Mass. 354 (1928), involved an action of contract for the purchase price of books alleged to have been sold to the City of Revere. The school committee at the beginning of the year submitted an estimate of its expenditures to the Mayor including an item for text books and supplies. Of the amount estimated only part was appropriated. Further estimates were later submitted but the full amount of the estimates was not appropriated. At the time the books in question were sold to the city the appropriations for text books and supplies were exhausted and no further appropriations were made. The Court said:

(Page 570.) "At the outset the question is presented whether under the circumstances the school committee has the power to involve the city in debt in excess of an appropriation therefor. G. L., c. 71, s. 48, provides in part that 'The (school committee shall, at the expense of the town (town includes city, G. L., c. 4, 2. 7, cl. 34) purchase text books. . . . .' This provision is mandatory, Decatur v. Auditor of Peabody, 251 Mass. 82, 88, 89. St. 1914, c. 657, s. 49, provides in part that 'Unless otherwise required by law, the school committee shall cause no liability to be incurred . . . beyond the aggregate appropriation granted by the council . . . '

"However, the provisions of G. L., c. 44, entitled 'Municipal Finance,' were intended to place municipal expenditures upon a strict budget basis. The school committee is required by s. 49 of St. 1914, c. 887, to submit in January of each year an estimate of the amount of money necessary for the proper maintenance of the schools during the succeeding financial year; it is thus required to plan for its expenditures in advance. Obviously the legislative purpose cannot be accomplished if any department is allowed to make expenditures which were not included in the estimate submitted by it.

"It remains to be considered whether the school committee in the case at bar included in its estimate for the financial year 1921 an amount sufficient to pay for text books reasonably required during that year. The case was tried on an agreed statement of facts by a judge without a jury. No other evidence was introduced by either party. It is impossible to determine from the agreed facts whether the estimate submitted by the school committee did or did not include an amount sufficient to pay for all the text books alleged to have been purchased from the plaintiffs. The burden was on the plaintiffs to establish that the estimate included an amount sufficient to pay for the text books in question.

"Without intimating whether under any circumstances the school committee has the power to charge the city for a debt incurred in excess of an appropriation, it is plain that the submission of an estimate for an amount sufficient to pay for the text books sold by the plaintiffs is a prerequisite to the imposing upon the city of a binding obligation."

This case indicates that, where a city is subject to budgetary laws, even though the statutes provide that the school committee shall, at the expense of the city, purchase text books, such text books can not properly be purchased by the school committee without an available appropriation therefor at least unless the school committee submits an estimate including this expense in connection with the formulation of the budget. The Court expressly left open the question of whether, if such estimate is made but no provision is allowed in the budget therefor, the purchase can properly be made.

One case deserves specific mention in this connection, namely, Police Commissioner of Boston v. Boston, 279 Mass. 577. This case was before the Court upon writs for mandamus and a writ for certiorari. The writs were denied on the ground that the remedy sought was not proper. Step-rate increases were involved. The Police Commissioner had included in his estimate of expenditures sums sufficient to pay these increases and while no specific appropriations were made for such increases the appropriations made were sufficient therefor. The Court said by way of dictum:

"It is not alleged that no appropriation is available for the payment of patrolmen, though the letter from the mayor to the police commissioner indicates that no specific appropriation for step-rate increases in their pay was included in the budget. We do not intimate that, in view of the absolute duty of paying the police upon requisition of the police commissioner imposed by statute upon the city, an appropriation available for the purpose is a condition precedent to liability of the city to a patrolman for pay for his services. See St. 1909, c. 486, ss. 3, 16. Compare Police Commissioner of Boston v. Boston, 239 Mass. 401; Batchelder v. Salem, 4 Cush. 599; Charlestown v. Gardner, 96 Mass. 587; Decatur v. Auditor of Peabody, 251 Mass. 82. But this question need not be considered in this proceeding. . . . "

It is submitted that, while this case in no way indicates that if an expense provided for by sections 8 and 9 of chapter 291 is not included in a budget estimate it can be incurred without appropriation, it gives some indication that the Court might hold that if such expense is included and no appropriation is made it may be so incurred. The point was not argued before the Court by counsel for the city and was not necessary for the decision, so that not much, if any, reliance may be placed on the inference which can be drawn from the language of the Court.

In view of the foregoing it is my opinion with reference to your first inquiry:

1. The Police Department expenses not provided for in sections 8 and 9 of chapter 291 of the Acts of 1908 (assuming that not all expenses are provided for in said sections) cannot properly be incurred in the absence of an appropriation therefor except in cases of extreme emergency involving the health or safety of the people or their property, unless they are incurred within the limits of section 330 of the Acts of 1889, and

2. That Police Department expenses provided for in sections 8 and 9 of said chapter 291 cannot properly be incurred in the absence of an appropriation therefor, except in cases of extreme emergency involving the health or safety of the people or their property, unless they are incurred within the limits of section 320 of the Acts of 1889, with the following possible further exception —that if the Police Commissioner includes in his estimate of expenditures as necessary expenses, expenses included within the provisions of sections 8 and 9, the city may be obligated to pay said expenses if the same are subsequently incurred in the year for which the estimate was submitted even though no appropriation be made therefor.

II.

The answer to your first inquiry prepares the way for an answer to your second and more specific inquiry with regard to the agreements entered into by the Police Commissioner under date of February 15, 1934, with General Electric Company and R. J. Connolly, Inc.

It is my understanding that at the time these agreements were entered into $75,000 had been duly appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Police Commissioner for a police radio system, the necessary funds to be borrowed by the city. It is also my understanding that this was the only appropriation in effect at the time the contracts were entered into available to meet the payments called for thereunder.

I further understand that when the Police Commissioner presented his budget estimates for 1934 he included an item of $350,000 for a police communication system and that, after the execution and delivery of the agreements in question, the sum of $350,000 was duly appropriated to be expended under the provisions of chapter 366 of the Acts of 1933, as amended, for such a system.

Under the terms of the agreement with General Electric Company it was provided that, subject to certain additions and deductions therein described, the city should pay to General Electric Company the sum of $89,800 and General Electric Company should furnish all labor, material and equipment required for certain work described in paragraph six of the proposal incorporated in the agreement and to complete said work in three hundred fifty calendar days.

It is my opinion that the expenses to be incurred under this agreement are not "incidental expenses" within the meaning of these words in section 8 of chapter 291 of the Acts of 1906 and are not included within the expenses provided for by chapter 320 of the Acts of 1889. It is, therefore, my opinion that the expenses so to be incurred properly could not be incurred without appropriation therefor except in case of extreme emergency involving the health or safety of the people or their property. While the Police Commissioner must determine with reference to his expenditures and contracts what constitutes such an emergency, his determination is not necessarily conclusive. I have not been advised that the Police Commissioner has determined that the contract in question is needed because of such an emergency but I do not believe that such a determination, if made, would be sustained by the courts. As the agreement in question calls for payments in excess of the amount appropriated it is my opinion that it is not binding upon the city.

If a court should hold that the term "incidental expenses" includes all police department expenses, I am inclined to believe that it would not hold that the city authorities were under a duty to appropriate all sums requested by the Police Commissioner. In other words, I am inclined to believe that, if a broad interpretation were given the words "incidental expenses," the courts would hold that the Police Commissioner was subject to all the limitations of our budget law.

While an order has recently been made appropriating $350,000 for a police communication system, it should be noted that this order was made after the General Electric Company contract was apparently executed and delivered and authorizes expenditures only in accordance with chapter 366 of the Acts of 1933, as amended. Chapter 366 as amended authorizes cities to engage in certain public works projects but only "in case the proper federal authorities have approved a grant therefor" and authorizes cities to carry out such projects "in all respects subject to the provisions of" the National Industrial Recovery Act. The federal authorities have not as yet officially approved a grant for the police communication system and the General Electric Company contract does not comply with federal requirements made prior to the provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

In view of the foregoing I am of the opinion that the adoption of the above-mentioned appropriation order of $350,000 does not make the General Electric Company contract a binding one upon the city.

Under the terms of the agreement with R. J. Connolly, Inc., it was provided that the city should pay to R. J. Connolly, Inc., the sum of $1,539, and that R. J. Connolly, Inc., should provide all the labor, materials and equipment required to perform certain work described in certain specifications referred to in the agreement and entitled "Specification P, Building Alterations to Provide Communication Control Room at Police Headquarters."

As the amount to be paid under this contract was within the amount appropriated for a Police Radio System and as the subject matter of the contract was incidental to such a system, I cannot advise you that the contract is invalid as in excess of appropriations.

Very truly yours,
HENRY E. FOLEY,
Corporation Counsel.

The message was placed on file and the opinion, on motion of Coun. TOBIN, was ordered printed as a city document.

RIGHT OF WAY FOR FIRE APPARATUS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 10, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith a letter from the Law Department, with an attached letter from the Fire Commissioner, relative to your order of January 29, 1934, concerning the issuance by certain members of the Boston Fire Department of summonses to motorists not giving the right of way to fire apparatus en route to a fire.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Law Department, April 9, 1934.

Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—Under date of February 13, 1934, you called my attention to the following order of the City Council and have asked my opinion as to the advisability of the legislation therein suggested for consideration:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to consider the advisability of requesting legislation so that certain members of the Boston Fire Department might be given the right to issue reckless driving summonses to motorists not giving the right of way to fire apparatus en route to a fire, since the majority of accidents involving fire apparatus is caused by the motorists not giving the right of way.

I have taken the liberty of calling the matter of the proposed legislation to the attention of the Fire Commissioner and inclose herewith a letter from him with regard to the same.

In view of the fact that the Fire Commissioner, whose department would chiefly be affected by such legislation, does not consider such legislation necessary or desirable, and because the objections stated by him in his inclosed letter appear to me to be substantially sound, I do not believe that you should ask for such legislation at the present time.

Yours truly,
HENRY E. FOLEY,
Corporation Counsel.

City of Boston,
Fire Department, March 24, 1934.

Henry E. Foley, Esq.,
Corporation Counsel.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Isidore H. Fox, Legislative Counsel for the City of Boston, has asked me to write to you concerning the following order:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to consider the advisability of requesting legislation so that certain members of the Boston Fire Department might be given the right to issue reckless driving summonses to motorists not giving the right of way to fire apparatus en route to a fire, since the majority of accidents involving fire apparatus is caused by the motorist not giving the right of way.

I appreciate very much the splendid intentions and worthy purpose of the City Council in passing this order but, in giving my opinion at the request of Mr. Fox, I would like to emphasize the fact that the authority requested by the order has received consideration from me several times in the past. My study of the situation and my conception of the purpose for which the Fire Department is organized leads me to believe it would be most unwise to give the members of the Fire Department not only the authority but the obligation to issue summonses to motorists who interfere with the response of apparatus to fires. I base this opinion on the fact that I believe this is purely a police and court function.

When this department has information to identify the drivers of automobiles who maliciously and deliberately interfere with the response of the apparatus to fires, it has been the custom to report them to the police or the Registrar of Motor Vehicles. Placing the additional obligation on the members of the department to stop and issue summonses would only tend to delay the response of the apparatus and at the same time cause further confusion of a police and court function.

Yours very truly,
EDWARD F. MCLAUGHLIN,
Fire Commissioner.

McLEOD BILL.

Coun. AGNEW offered the following:
Resolved, That the Boston City Council favors the passage of the McLeod Bill, which provides that the National Government shall take over the assets of all closed banks which were Federal Reserve System members, issue currency on these assets, and repay the depositors in full at once.
Coun. AGNEW—Mr. Presdent, speaking briefly on this resolution, the matter referred to, which is now pending before Congress in Washington, is, I understand, going to be voted upon one week from today. It is a thing that will, in my opinion, largely help a great number of people in this city, whose money is now tied up in banks that were connected with the Federal Reserve System. The bill now pending in Washington proposes to free both the liquid and frozen assets of the banks concerned, so that the depositors may have access to their money. I believe that the residents of Boston whose money is tied up in these various banks will, through this action, have an opportunity to get it back, and the city in general will be somewhat benefitted.
Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, I am not sure that I got the drift of this order, but I thought it had something to do with the indorsement of a measure before Congress, with which, of course, the city government of Boston has nothing whatever to do. I believe we should at least see the bill and study it before we pass any indorsement of it. Therefore, I move that this resolution be referred to the Executive Committee.
President DOWD—Objection being raised, the Chair will refer the matter to the Committee on Rules.
The order was referred to the Committee on Rules.

RE-REGISTRATION OF WELFARE RECIPIENTS.

Coun. AGNEW offered the following:
Ordered, That the Public Welfare Department, through his Honor the Mayor, order the immediate re-registration of all recipients of public welfare aid. Such re-registration to take place in the district in which the recipient resides.
Coun. AGNEW—Mr. President, it was interesting last week to read in the Boston newspapers that a recipient of public welfare was brought before the bar of justice in our municipal court, and I wish to read a part of what Judge Zottoli, the presiding justice, said, in making his findings:
"This particular draining of the welfare funds has been going on for some time, and where the annual sum of $13,000,000 is spent as aid is involved, there should be a more thorough investigation into the needs of welfare recipients."
At the present time, we read and hear a great deal about the impending threatening financial condition of the City of Boston. We also realize that the Mayor of Boston in his sound wisdom and judgment is endeavoring to strengthen the financial structure of Boston, and has taken various steps. While we may not entirely agree with some of the things he has done, in the last analysis we do believe that the financial structure of the city is apparently toppling and that some action is needed so that the finances of Boston will be put back into such a condition that the discharge and suspension of employees may not be necessary. If there is a re-registration of recipients of welfare, it will, in my opinion, relieve somewhat the burden placed upon the taxpayers. This is, in my opinion, a necessary and a very simple order. It calls upon the Mayor to direct the Welfare Department to order the immediate re-registration of all welfare recipients. It simply means a little vision and a little foresight applied to this problem. We are soon to consider the budget of the city, and when such of it as concerns the Welfare Department is presented to us we should be prepared to vote intelligently on the question of whether or not the appropriation asked for by the department is warranted. I feel, as many other members of the body feel, and as they have stated in the past, that the Welfare Department of the city is the largest spending department we now have. I might liken the City of Boston and the Mayor to a ship on a stormy sea, with a leaking bottom, and the Mayor at the helm trying to bring the vessel through safely. That is the position of Boston, as it is presented to us today. To properly understand the budget of the Welfare Department, we will have to obtain much more information than we have today. We should first be convinced that those receiving welfare are worthy cases. I have said nothing in the order about how the investigation should be conducted. I have merely asked that re-registration take place in the districts in which the recipients live. It is obvious that there must be some means by which those conducting the investigation may determine whether the present recipients of welfare are worthy or unworthy. I firmly believe that if the suggested action is taken, and taken immediately, before the budget is submitted to the Council, the burden now upon the shoulders of the Mayor, the City Council and the taxpayers will be somewhat relieved. I believe this offers a solution for the taxpayers, and that it will result in greatly benefitting the financial structure of the City of Boston. Therefore, I ask that the order be passed under suspension of the rule.
The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

FEES FOR STORAGE OF GASOLENE, ETC.

Coun. FISH offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to recommend establishment of graduated fees, under authority of chapter 297 of the Acts of 1931, for permits for storage of gasolene and other fuel oils.
Passed under suspension of the rule.

PERMIT OF COLEMAN DISPOSAL COMPANY.

Coun. KERRIGAN offered the following:
Ordered, That the Health Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to cancel the permit of the Coleman Disposal Company to dump refuse and waste matter along the South Boston waterfront as it constitutes a menace to the health of residents of the district and, if allowed to continue, will pollute the waters of the bathing beaches in South Boston.
Coun. KERRIGAN—Mr. President, during a recent period millions of dollars have been expended to build up the Strandway, which extends for two miles along the shores of Dorchester Bay, with the result that today it is one of the beauty and health-giving spots of the country. During the summertime thousands upon thousands of men, women and children visit this spot to enjoy God's sunshine and a cool, refreshing dip. It would be a calamity if now anything should interfere to stop this custom. I am, therefore, calling attention to the prevalent conditions of those waters today. The Coleman Disposal Company has docking facilities adjoining Dorchester Bay, with the result that a lot of garbage, rubbish and refuse matter that should go to the dump gets into the water, causing pollution and contamination. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and so I am calling upon Doctor Mahoney to stop this practice of the Coleman Company that is going on at the present time. It semes an outrage that the City of Boston should spend millions of dollars to build up that section of South Boston into one of the finest spots in the country, and to then allow the Coleman Disposal Company or any other company to spoil it.
The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

INTEREST ON DELINQUENT TAXES.

Coun. BRACKMAN offered the following:
Ordered, That the Legislative Committee of the Boston City Council petition for legislation reducing the amount of interest on delinquent taxes from eight (8) per cent to five (5) per cent.
Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, I have introduced this order because I understand that the Legislature has control of the question of what the amount of interest to be paid on delinquent taxes should be. I notice that this year there have been two conferences in the Legislature, one giving the cities and towns the right to settle the amount of interest to be paid on their own delinquent taxes, which was referred to the next annual session, and the next to reduce the amount of interest to 2 per cent Personally, I believe that 2 per cent is too low, and that 8 per cent is really confiscatory. In some previous years when people were compelled to pay a high rate of interest on their delinquent taxes, I think it might at times have been fair to require them to do so, but we now have thousands of cases where taxes are not paid because the people do not have the money with which to pay them. Therefore, I say that 8 per cent is an atrocious amount to charge those who have not the money to pay their taxes. I hope, therefore, that we will put ourselves on record and in favor of payment of 5 per cent, as a compromise measure, rather than 8 per cent.
The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

ABATEMENTS ON REAL PROPERTY.

Coun. SELVITELLA offered the following:
Ordered, That the Board of Assessors be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to furnish the City Council with the following information:
1. Total of abatements on real property, January 1, 1933, to April 15, 1933, and number of parcels involved.
2. Total of abatements on real property, January 1, this year, to April 15, this year, and number of parcels involved.
3. Total abatement on real property for entire year 1933.

Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council, in writing, as follows:

1. Whether or not records of tax abatements, current or otherwise, made by the Board of Assessors, are matters of public record.
2. Whether or not such records are available for inspection by members of the City Council or individual taxpayers of the city, and if so, is there any restriction on the time, place or manner of such inspection?
3. Whether or not the original petitions for abatements are open to public inspection by members of the City Council or by individual taxpayers.

Ordered, That the Finance Commission be requested to investigate all abatements made by the assessors from January 1, 1934, to April 15, 1934, and report to the City Council concerning the granting of such abatements on all properties valued in excess of $20,000, and report also on the names of the firms or individuals petitioning for such abatements.

Coun. SELVITELLA—Mr. President, the main question with which these three orders are concerned is the abatements that have been approved by the Assessing Board of the City of Boston. There seems to be a question raised in that Board as to the right of an individual taxpayer or of a City Councilor in pursuance of his duty to examine the records of abatement that have been approved by the administration. I have been interested to determine the amount of abatements that have been allowed to this so-called State street gang, because during the past month, while these discharges of city employees have taken place, the Mayor's justification for the discharges has been that he had a particularly sympathetic and compassionate feeling for the small real estate owner. I had almost arrived at the point where I believed that the Mayor was determined to relieve the small real estate owner by giving to that particular group the attention that has been denied to it in the past. Accordingly, I went downstairs to the assessors' office and asked if I could examine the records, and Mr. Kelly, the chairman of the Board, consented to the examination. But I had not been on the books for more than possibly seven or eight minutes when the secretary of the Board, Mr. Murphy, in a very excited and hurried manner, came over and virtually took the books away from me. He said that that was none of my concern, that I had no right to examine the records of abatements that were approved by his department; that he wanted to make sure in the matter, and asked that I postpone the examination until such time as the Corporation Counsel could render an opinion as to my status. So I consented, and waited. Several hours afterwards the Corporation Counsel called me up and said I had a right to examine the records; so I immediately went downstairs and started my examination again. But Mr. Murphy once again took the books away and said I had no business with them, that regardless of the opinion of the Corporation Counsel I could not examine the records. But in the short time that I did have the opportunity of examining the records I was able to get information which justified my suspicions regarding this sympathetic feeling for the small real estate owner, because I was astounded to learn that the majority, the vast majority of the petitions pertaining to the banking district were signed by the firm of Warren, Garfield, Whiteside & Lamson. I think it would be interesting to learn who these gentlemen are who have been able since the first of January of this year to receive hundreds of thousands of dollars of abatements on property located in the banking district of Boston. Bentley W. Warren is the president of the Boston Municipal Research League, an organization that apparently is the organ and mouthpiece of this administration. Mr. Warren is president of this league, and as such is advocating and successfully putting into effect in the City of Boston his economy measures, at the expense of the small real estate owners. This is the gentleman who preaches one thing and practices another. Next we come to the name of Alexander Whiteside, who ex-Mayor Curley has referred to as "Public Enemy No. 1," the greatest tax-dodging racketeer we have here in Boston. These gentlemen are able to get these large abatements of taxes under petitions that have been presented in the years 1931, 1932 and 1933, and there were a number of these petitions pending before the Board of Tax Appeals at the State House, but before that body had an opportunity to pass on the merits of the appeals they were withdrawn by this administration and settled. The National Shawmut Bank received an abatement on its assessment of $750,000. The First National Bank, together with the Old Colony Trust Company, which is a subsidiary of the First National Bank, received, as I discovered in the short time that I was able to gather this information, close to half a million dollars reduction of its valuation. I venture to say that if it were possible to examine every petition that has been withdrawn and settled by the administration, we would find that over $2,000,000 of assessments have been handed over to this State street gang, because this morning I examined the records at the State House, in the office of the Board of Tax Appeals, and found there on file at the present time over eight hundred petitions covering parcels of property in the City of Boston signed by the firm of Warren, Garfield, Whiteside & Lamson. I also found that the firm of Stone & Webster received an abatement of close to $180,000. Now, isn't it about time that we unmask these men, especially those associated with the Municipal Research League, Mr. Warren, and Alexander Whiteside, Public Enemy No. 1? Who are paying the expenses of the Municipal Research League? It is claimed that Mr. Loeffler receives $6,000. He is not in the nonpaid group. Someone must be paying the expenses of these gentlemen, and I would not be at all surprised if the Boston Chamber of Commerce is behind the group and is asking the Mayor to discharge city employees and to lengthen the hours of the scrubwomen, on the one hand, while they are getting hundreds of thousands, yes, millions of tax abatements, that will eventually have to be apportioned among and paid by the small real estate owners, for whom the Mayor has shown such sympathetic and pathetic feeling. I heard him on numerous occasions say that he was sorry for the plight of the small real estate owners, and I say to him now, is there any justification for your withdrawing these petitions before the Tax Appeals Board has had an opportunity to pass upon their merits? So I hope these three orders will pass and that we will have a determination of the question whether members of this Council can go downstairs and examine these records in order to determine just who of this particular group are fortunate in getting these large abatements, while the poor widows and other poor home owners in this community must pay every cent on the dollar.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I agree with the councilor that the books of the Assessing Department should be open to the members of the Council. We never have been able to obtain access to the Welfare accounts, either, although I understand that members of City Councils in other cities are able to look at such lists. But I shall have to disagree with the councilor in the matter of assessments in Boston. The law says that if I own that building out there I shall be assessed on the basis of the fair market value, and a recent court decision is to the effect that I shall be assessed on the basis of the cash value. The building is either worth a quarter of a million or it is not. That is the whole story. We must give the devil his due. Out in my ward, a ward of small home owners, 400 homes were sold last December because the owners were unable to pay the taxes. While I am no panegyrist or protagonist of the present Mayor of Boston, I understand that he has given instructions to reduce assessments in that district. I understand that that is so through the Assessing Department. Therefore, I am going to stand up here and make that statement to his credit, if that represents the position that he desires to have taken in this matter. Our city is over-assessed and over-taxed, Mr. President. The present administration has been criticized for abating taxes. It must abate taxes because real estate assessments have been much too high in Boston. $200,000,000 to $400,000,000 must be written off in assessed valuations on Boston's real estate at once. In 1933 Boston valued its real estate for taxation purposes at $1,651,972,800. I doubt if it is worth $1,200,000,000 today. The law states that our real estate shall be assessed at its "fair market value." Point out an office building or a home that can be sold at the price it is assessed for in Boston today. Cleveland with over one hundred thousand more people than Boston, valued its realty at $901,028,431 for taxation purposes in 1933, a valuation of $750,944,369 under that of Boston. In St. Louis in 1933 the total real estate valuation upon which taxes were levied up to 100 per cent of the valuation amounted to $962,551,683. Detroit, $1,884,016,460. St. Louis has about thirty thousand more people than Boston, while Detroit has almost twice as many. The 87,000-odd homes and dwellings in Boston, plus our 5,000 buildings and factories, are today higher assessed and pay a higher adjusted tax rate than they would pay in any other large American city. The last month that ex-Mayor Curley was in office, December, 1933, his Board of Assessors abated $220,197.95 in taxes, and for the year 1933, $34,319,900 was abated in assessed valuations. As of February 7, 1933, for the year 1932, ex-Mayor Curley's Board of Assessors abated $61,895,000 in assessed valuations, while the State Board of Tax Appeals for the year 1932 abated $7,868,500 from Boston's assessed valuations. The State Board of Tax Appeals up until November 30, 1933, decided that real estate in Boston, in 322 cases, assessed for $114,740,305 was over-valued by $24,839,321.32, and allowed an abatement of $805,090.19 in taxes. The State Board found real estate in Boston to be over-assessed by more than 20 per cent. The brilliant "John Bantry" of the Boston Post has pointed out time and again that real estate in the downtown section of Boston is in difficulty. On December 11, 1932, he stated: "Look at all those vacant buildings hardly more than a stone's throw from City Hall. See the forest of 'To Let' signs on the once thriving business streets. . . . Taxes on all this idle property are higher than when every foot of it was profitably rented. Take a look at the big office buildings in the city and see if you can find any one of them that is being operated at a reasonable profit at the present time." The late Martin Lomasney stated in the Boston Herald, December 4, 1932: "Walk down State street or through the district where values are very high and you will see conditions that demand remedy immediately." Mr. Graham Aldis, an expert in realty values, writing in "Current History" for February, 1934, informs us that Chicago has cut its assessments by 45 per cent as compared with 1928. Los Angeles has reduced assessments by 22 per cent as compared with the peak. The Fall River peak, in 1926, was $214,000,000. In 1934 it is $112,000,000. Boston's peak year in real estate valuations was 1930, when our realty was assessed as being worth a total of $1,827,460,600. In 1933 this figure was reduced to $1,651,972,800. It is not enough of a reduction. The Boston Finance Commission in its report to the Legislature, dated December 31, 1933, states:

"The real estate valuations (of Boston) . . . regardless of changed conditions, . . . remain at figures such that the taxes thereon amount almost to confiscation."

Walter R. Kuehule, chief assessor, Chicago, states:

"If valuations are economically unsound, . . . the tax structure . . . must inevitably collapse . . . those cities which have as yet not reached this stage had better not congratulate themselves too soon, they may be on the way."

Mr. Aldis, in the article referred to above, states:

"In Boston . . . When the administration is advertising a new bond issue, proudly points to a remarkably low percentage of delinquent levies, but without mentioning, what every real estate man there is observing, the number of the city assessors' valuations carried for reduction to the Massachusetts Board of Tax Appeals, . . . and the practical unanimity with which the Board grants reductions . . . ."

Boston's buildings and homes are tremendously over-assessed today. When one dares to question excessive valuations he should not be branded as an "enemy of the people." A building or home is either worth so much or it is not, the facts can easily be ascertained. We must encourage our Mayor to reduce the assessments on homes and buildings in Boston. Come to my ward and see the small homes that have been lost because over-assessed and over-taxed.

Coun. McGRATH—Mr. President, I don't want to inject myself into this discussion, because I think it is getting a little bit stale, but I think, if I read the order introduced by the councilor from East Boston (Coun. Selvitella) aright, it asks that there be made available to the members of the City Council any and all records pertaining to abatements given by the Board of Assessors. If that is the spirit of the order I think we should certainly favor it. I am glad that in the order he said properties assessed for more than $20,000, in order that we would not have to parade the shortcomings of some of our home owners in the suburbs who have been forced to get abatements, and also home owners who would not want it generally known that they were in such financial stress. But may I say to the members of the Council that a year ago I made a radio address on the subject of abatements on real estate and said that when a person says "Reduce taxes," it strikes the same responsive chord today in the hearts of all property owners as it would if we said, "Feed the sick," or "Cloth the poor." But I would again insert after those two words "Reduce taxes" two more words, "On homes,"—"Reduce taxes on homes." When the State Board of Tax Appeals was formed, it was possible for those who owned large pieces of property to employ the services of attorneys on a contingent fee basis. In other words, if an attorney could save $1,000 in actual money, he would receive $500 as a fee. They were getting 50 per cent of what they saved. If he failed to make a saving, there was no obligation on the part of the home owner. Contrary to the ethics of the business—and I had understood that all attorneys were ethical—it has been rumored that there are attorneys who solicit this type of business. Of course, not being an attorney, I cannot believe that. But when it seems that one attorney will have 400 such cases and another 386, it would seem doubtful if the clients all simply walked in the door and asked them to do this business. It would seem that through devious channels they contacted men, saying to them, "Here you have nothing to lose and everything to gain. We will take your case and go before the State Board of Tax Appeals, and if we are not successful it will not cost anything except $2, but if we are successful you will pay us 50 per cent of every dollar we get back from the city." On this basis the Koppers Company, that owns the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, was successful in getting its tax valuation reduced $3,000,000, and over $100,000 that had been paid into the city by the Koppers Company had to be paid back. At the time I remarked that this meant that 3,000 homes in Boston must have their properties increased $1,000 in valuation, or must be denied a decrease to that amount. Mr. President, on the theory that we must maintain a Hospital Department, a Health Department, Fire Police, Sewer and School Departments, there must be a certain amount of money raised each year for the conduct of our city business. Over 70 per cent of the amount raised today comes out of real estate, and there are two types of real estate, industrial and home property. There are 95,683 homes, from the smallest house to the largest apartment hotel in Boston, and the lawyers who have obtained these abatements are not much interested in most of such property, because, say, if you get the valuation of a $7,000 home reduced to $5,000, a reduction of $2,000, through the State Board of Tax Appeals, that will simply mean a reduction of about $70 in taxes, allowing $35 to the home owner and $35 to the lawyer, to say nothing about local experts who might have to be employed to testify as to the valuation. Because of that, there are few petitions presented by these home owners. But when you stop to think of the effect that this additional assessment has on the individual home owner, the $70 represents over $5 a month, which, of course, has to be passed along to the tenants; and that is a fact that many tenants lose sight of when they say, "What do I care? I don't own a home. I pay rent. Why should I be interested in what the taxes of the city are?" Let me ask every tenant in the City of Boston, if a landlord has his taxes increased, do you suppose he assumes the full burden? Don't you suppose that that additional $70, say on a two-family house, is passed along to the two tenants in the form of additional rental of $3 a month, or in the case of a three-family house, $2 a month to each of the tenants? I say to you that every rent payer in the City of Boston contributes to these taxes. But, as I say, there has been no incentive for attorneys to take up the abatement of taxes on this home-owned property on a contingent basis, because there was not enough in it for them. So such property has been discriminated against. I take the ground, therefore, that when we say "Reduce taxes," we should first say "Reduce taxes on homes," because homes have been discriminated against. Depending on memory, I would say that of $1,800,000,000 of taxable property in the entire city, $600,000,000 is down here in Ward 3, but I would also say that in Ward 3 we have had reductions to the extent of over $100,000,000, not on home property but on business property. We are apt to lose sight of the fact that such huge reductions on business property re-act on the other side in the home-owning ward of Boston. The section that the gentleman from Ward 18 (Coun. Norton) represents has perhaps more single and two-family houses than any other ward in Boston, more than 6,000. But with 70 per cent of all the revenue of the city coming from the real estate of the city, if the assessments on the industrial real estate are very largely abated, the amount so represented must be transferred to home real estate, which will suffer accordingly. We should, therefore, be particularly careful to favor home real estate, which has been discriminated against in the past. I hope that what the councilor from Ward 18 says is true, that they are going to reduce the valuations of homes, but the inspectors and the assessors with whom I have talked tell me that they have been instructed to go out and look at any piece of property, whether home or industrial, and if they believe the assessment is too high, reduce it, and if they believe it is too low, increase it; and I do not look for any great decrease in the valuations of home property in my ward. I hope there will be. I have seen people who have owned homes for twenty years and have had them taken away in the last three or four years. I am not going to place the responsibility for that on the present administration or on the past administration. There is this condition that has been going on and getting worse through the years. But I do know that homes have been discriminated against, and that business properties have been favored. It is all right to say that you can determine the valuation of property by the income for a given year. But suppose that was the ground taken by the State Board of Tax Appeals, that that was the only basis for valuation, and that it was shown that the property had been vacant for some time and probably would be for some time to come? You would not say in that case that the property was absolutely valueless! It is only on the basis of the normal year that we should assess property. Take the case of Alonzo W. Perry, of Rockland. I remember when Perry came to Boston. He didn't have much money. But I saw him take property which was at a very low ebb, renting, say, on the basis of 25 cents a foot, build it up and change it over until it rented on the basis of $5 a foot, and still go on paying assessments on the old basis, and I never heard him say, "My assessments are low and should be increased." But I did see him get back reductions of valuation of $2,300,000 in 1931, when the rentals, which used to be on the basis of 25 cents a foot and had gone up to $5 a foot, had fallen to something like $3 a foot. I know that some of the smartest, ablest lawyers in Boston will give their services on a contingent basis of 50–50 for what they get in the way of abatements on properties that are big enough to make it worth while; but, while there is nothing to prevent the home owner also going in before that Board and claiming an abatement, not one person in one hundred of the home owners knows that as the law now stands they have that right. I have spoken to people in my ward, people who are over-taxed, trying to get them to go before the Board of Tax Appeals and receive their fair share in the way of abatements. But as a general rule the home-owning class do not avail themselves of such right of appeal, while the owners of business and industrial property do. And there is another matter, in regard to which I have spoken in the past, and upon which I have been misquoted, which I wish to refer to at this time. I made the statement awhile ago that none of our tax-free property which is occupied for purposes other than those originally intended, occupied for purposes from which it is deriving an income, should be tax-free. The present Mayor picked it up. He was a candidate for Mayor and he rushed in and said that McGrath would tax churches and parochial schools. But the City Record—and we will keep that record forever—said, "Properties owned but not occupied for the purposes intended." My statement was plain, and it seemed to me the meaning of the statement was plain, but although I sent the record of my speech to him and asked him to apologize, he has never yet had what we call the intestinal fortitude to apologize. Now, sir, when you think that there is $459,000,000 of non-taxable property in Boston, totaling more than the entire real estate in thirteen of the twenty-two wards, you realize the importance of the thing. In other words, every home, every store, every business lot, in thirteen of Boston's twenty-two wards, is offset by this $459,000,000 of non-taxable property. Of course, you are not going to tax a Catholic church or a Protestant church, nor a synagogue. Only an insane man would advocate that, and I hope that even after twenty years in politics I am not to be classed as insane. I may be slightly, but not completely insane. But only an insane man would advocate taxing church or charitable properties used for church or charitable uses. When, however, we see such property as the Exeter Street Theatre, which advertises in every paper that it will show a picture running from Monday to Saturday, listed as a religious building and untaxed; when, going farther afield, we see private schools charging as high as $1,000 tuition coming in as charitable institutions, and when we see buildings held as charitable institutions in which every foot is rented out for purely commercial purposes and which are not taxed, there must be something wrong. In other words, I contend this, sir, that if in Raymond's store on Washington street there are three buildings, identically the same, one of them owned by John Jones, who lives in Dorchester, another by Tom Brown, who lives in West Roxbury, and the third is owned by an institution, whether it be religious, charitable or educational, if the rental is paid to each of these three by the same concern for the same purpose, the properties should be taxed on the same basis. I say, sir, that unless the property is used for the purpose intended—if religious, used as a place of worship, if charitable, used in its entirety for charitable purposes, if educational, used in its entirety for educational purposes—it should not be tax-exempt. And so I repeat, and still have sufficient intestinal fortitude to say, that when things have reached the point where the real estate in thirteen wards of the twenty-two in Boston is offset in its entirety by tax-exempt property in this city, and when I know the story behind the payment of taxes on hundreds of homes, when I know that children have been taken from school because the parents could not afford to pay both the taxes and for the child's education, when I know that many families have been obliged to give up their homes because they could not retain them, and when I know the story that has been written on the pages of political Boston in the last three years, I have the courage to say to you that every building in Boston that is not occupied for the purpose intended by law should not be tax-exempt; that the time has arrived when religious, charitable or educational organizations should purge themselves of that type of building, and should come forward and pay their taxes if the property is used for commercial purposes. I say that the order that the gentleman from East Boston (Coun. Selvitella) has introduced is a good one. I say that those books should be opened. I make no criticism of the men who do this business, and I assume that they make no criticism of me when I am trying to protect the hospitals, the Health Department and Long Island, and find I cannot protect them because this sort of thing to which I have referred has been eating into the very vitals of our financial structure. But I do say that these men should appear in their true colors, and should not take the position that they are worried about the financial condition of the city when they are dipping into the treasury. I hope that what the gentleman from Ward 18 (Coun. Norton) has said is true, that when the tax bills come out for Ward 13—and I feel the same way about other wards of home owners—the assessments will be reduced. But I do feel that when these men interested in industrial real estate are securing these huge abatements there is only one other place in which that loss can be made up, to which it can be transferred, and that is to homes, and I believe that there will be little reduction in taxes in the fourteen or fifteen home-owning wards of this city. Waiting until next October, when the tax bills come out, let us then see if we are to have reduced taxation on homes. If we find that such is not the case, it will be because of the fact that the gentleman from East Boston (Coun. Selvitella) brings out that we are favoring, as in the past, those who have been making millions on real estate, and who are the first to fight for abatements when the pinch comes. Let us fight to reduce taxes, but let us make it a fight to reduce taxes on homes, and it will then be a popular contest.

Coun. FITZGERALD—Mr. President, I know of no man who can equal the previous speaker when it comes to questions of real estate. I know that he has been recognized as a real estate expert for years, that he has testified in court, and I know from personal experience, through my association with him, that he knows real estate. I agree that the books should be opened, but I do not agree with the councilor from East Boston (Coun. Selvitella) that this is a time to array class against class. I venture to say that very few people of this city knew that when 300 home owners made their appeals to the State Tax Appeals Board, the last administration put $10 against their $5 and held the thing up for two years. I have the honor to represent the district on which the attack has been made. I am not here to defend the State street bankers, Mr. Whiteside or others. But I do know the history of Ward 3, and I know that other members of this Council know full well that that has been the one ward where, when money was wanted, they sent out word to "soak them," and not only the property owners in the banking section, but throughout the West End, North End and South End. Everybody knows that a raw deal has been given to those people. If it wasn't for the old-time Yankee people in this city, who developed all this down-town property, where would we be today? I am not speaking of Perry of Rockland, but I refer to the old, honorable families who built these buildings fifty, seventy-five and one hundred years ago. Many of them are now feeling the pinch of poverty, their purses are empty. They have always been liberal to charitable funds, have helped to build these hospitals, all these years their activities have been of a charitable nature. Yes, they even furnished money to build the Catholic Cathedral on Franklin street. Their property is no longer bringing in money, and they find it hard to even pay the taxes. We have all read Bantry's articles, and nobody knows the situation better than he does. Houses that you could not have bought some years ago for $25,000 or $30,000, you can purchase today practically for a song. I know a piece of property that was built within twelve years at a cost of $60,000, that was assessed for $50,000, and that sold within a few weeks for $12,000. The present Mayor of this city owes it to himself and to the people to give us a true assessment. The Assessing Department has been absolutely to blame. I talked with one of the local assessors in my district and he told me he was given orders to reduce the assessment in the section he had charge of. I don't know whether he was giving me a gesture or not, but I served notice on him that I was going to try to assure every property owner in that section that they had that recourse to the State Tax Appeals Board. The trouble is this. We will never get reduced taxes if we raise class against class. That is the argument that is being put forward today. The small property owner is told, "You are not getting a fair deal because the large owner is getting it." The only way is for the rich as well as the poor property owner to join hands, and I certainly hope class hatred will not be aroused, but that the truth will simply be known. Everybody knows the situation in regard to taxes last year. Nichols was the first man who told the truth in his first inaugural, stating cold-bloodedly that he had to raise the tax rate $5. The situation is deplorable here, Mr. President. But the Tax Appeals Board simply decides cases that are brought before it. I know of one case that I personally investigated, where I know the city got a fair deal, and where the thing couldn't go otherwise. And you can't say that only certain men are taking up this tax abatement business. There are a number coming into it now. We have heard nothing said here about a man who has been prominently identified with the city for several years, who has occupied a most prominent position in this city, and has now gone into the business, and, connected with a great law firm, he is looking for tax abatement practice. Put him alongside of Whiteside and the rest of them. This is a time when we cannot afford to have people in this city arrayed against each other. People are hungry, they are in a state of mind, and they should not be worked upon to the point where they are hostile to their neighbors. We ought to join hands now for one common good. Let us help save the city employees, let all of us join hands to help the home owners, to help everybody who needs help; let us find ways of putting men at work, instead of raising a cry against these men who own property. As far as property owners are concerned, we all know men in this city who have been very prosperous in the past, and who now could hardly sell the property they own for a song. This Council was told by a former Corporation Counsel that we only had a right to investigate in connection with our budget functions. I have always disagreed with that opinion. I believe that we have full power, that we have the right to summon any head of a department. We can summon them in here through the City Messenger's Department, the same as they are summoned in the State House through the sergeant-at-arms. Heads of departments can be placed under arrest and can be detained by order of the Council. But we have been swayed from our duty. The gentleman from East Boston (Coun. Selvitella) is honest in his intentions, and I believe we have the power for which he asks. Let us examine in full into abatements of all assessments of the last four years. Let us bring in books and papers. We have the power, and let us go into the matter. It has been a racket, and everybody knows it. It is not merely a question of Mr. Whiteside or Mr. Garfield on the one side or Mr. Flaherty, Mr. Fitzgerald or Mr. McGrath on the other, or anybody else who may appear before that Board. We all know of individuals, not always lawyers, who stand outside of the City Hall Annex and solicit business. When some of us have interested ourselves disinterestedly for our constituents in this matter, we have found some of these outside persons getting in touch with them, approaching them, and if they were able to do business for them, dividing up with them whatever abatement was received, taking half of it, while the man in public life, who went there in the interest of his constituency and of his ward, was given no consideration. The gentleman from Ward 1 (Coun. Selvitella) owes it to himself to follow up and demand an investigation. He is an attorney-at-law. The former Corporation Counsel would say that you had no right to look at these books. But I believe Mr. Foley is an honest man and he says, "Yes, you have a right to look at the books." And I believe his Honor the Mayor will not stop anybody from looking at the books, because he owes it to himself not to do so. We all owe it to ourselves to see that proper action is taken in these matters. If there is a false tax rate, if there are false assessments, have the thing corrected, because people may not only suffer from an increased tax rate but from an increased valuation as well. Therefore, I sincerely hope and trust that the order will pass. I believe in it, but I do not believe in raising class against class.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, I believe, sir, that this body should have information on any subject pertaining to the City of Boston in which it is interested, and therefore I have no objection to this order. I would prefer to have it somewhat broader, to cover, as the gentleman who just sat down said, a longer period of time and the entire situation. I think, however, we are dealing with the disease after it has taken place rather than the remedy. The fact is that the entire assessment situation in the City of Boston should be reviewed. That has been a need of many years. Values have changed. Of course, there has been a settling of values generally in the last few years. Some districts have gone down more than others, and a few localities have gone up. The result is that assessments were never more out of line with real values than they are today. I don't think we ought to give out slanderous remarks about persons who have had no hearing, and on ex parte examination. Probably all of these reductions that have been made were justified by actual values. Certainly, in many cases it will probably be found on investigation that the city has done much better to settle than it would have done to go before the Board of Appeals, that they would have hewed much closer to the line than one would do in settling, because, as a rule, anybody presumably will settle for less than they might get if they went into a long fight. Unless the city is prepared to take the attitude of considering real values it is taking people's money to which it is not entitled, and if they go to the bat on the question the city will have to simply give back illegally collected money in such cases. Now the assessments are illegal in that no attention whatever is being paid to values, and the law says that they shall pay attention to values. Therefore, sir, I believe we will never have a satisfactory solution of this question unless the long agitated request for a general review of all assessments in the City of Boston be met.

Coun. GOLDMAN—Mr. President, I shall ask Councilor Selvitella to add to one of his orders the words "that the assessments and abatements for the entire year 1933 be included." I understand that he kindly consents to that. The reason why I make the suggestion is that the great raiding that took place on abatements started the latter part of November and continued to the end of December, 1933, and if we use merely the figures for January, February, March and April of 1933, as compared with the late months of the year, we will not have the real facts. By having this proposed basis of comparison it will be disclosed whether his Honor the Mayor is correct or whether the ex-Mayor is correct with regard to that $188,000. Ex-Mayor James M. Curley in his radio address stated that the $188,000 was awarded by the Board of Tax Appeals, whereas the fact was, as the Board of Assessors tell me, that it was not awarded by the Board of Tax Appeals, but that the abatement was obtained directly from the Boston Board of Assessors. So ex-Mayor James M. Curley deliberately lied about that $188,000. I have also learned that one of our former assistant Corporation Counsels, working for the City of Boston, for five weeks, secured in a short, limited time, $140,000 in cash, commencing with November and ending December 27. There was one case of a restaurant between School and Court streets where the taxes on a small piece of property were $79,000, and on December 27, 1934, exactly four days before the new administration came into office, there was an abatement for one year of $20,000 as a gift to a going restaurant. I find, looking over the City Council records, that one of our colleagues suggested that city assessments be abated to the extent of $200,000,000. Computing that, I find that in that event the tax rate of necessity would have to be $3 and some odd cents additional. I have talked with the Mayor and the Board of Assessors, and I can assure every member of the Council that the tax assessments on property, especially on small home owners, will be less this year than in previous years. Secondly, there will be a reassessment of every single home owner, to the end that every single home owner in his 1934 taxes will get a "break," in the parlance of the street, to the extent of $35 to $100 on his property; that this administration does recognize the small home owner, as two of the other speakers have said, and will give him a "break." I am going to ask to have my amendment inserted in Councilor Selvitella's order, so that we will get the information for the entire year 1933, as well as the information for the months he referred to.

President DOWD—Does the councilor accept the amendment?

Coun. SELVITELLA—I do, Mr. President.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, the disability under which the small home owner labors in this matter of abatements and contingent fees has been referred to. I represent the little man. I don't want to see the taxes of the little man increased but decreased; but for four long years millions upon millions have been wasted in this city, on rose gardens, Prados, pleasure undertakings of one kind and another, using money that should have been used to feed children, to take care of the poor, in various philanthropic ways. All we could think of in those four long years was building streets, building sewers, spending immense sums upon rose gardens, roads around Castle Island and along by the mud flats of East Boston, and upon a $500,000 Prado, with hundreds of families living along by the Prado hungry and needing care and attention. Still we must have a Prado, like Havana, probably with statues and fountains contemplated! There was no thought of the poor home owner, no thought of reducing his burden. In spite of the decision of the courts of the Commonwealth that assessments should represent the fair market value, property in Boston has been assessed $200,000,000 to $400,000,000 too much; and the moment State street lawyers representing their clients protested, they were considered racketeers and public enemies. The moment anybody has started to touch the pocket nerve of municipal finance he has been considered a public enemy. Well, now, Mr. President, that Waterman Building across the street is either worth so much or is not. If the State Board of Tax Abatement says that it is worth only a certain amount, why should the lawyers appearing in behalf of the property be attacked as "the State street gang"? Millions upon millions have been spent here during these years for non-essentials, and now the day of retribution is coming. You would think that this is the first time we ever heard of abatements. Here is a list of abatements in the last month of the previous administration (holding up sheet). I don't find any small home owners here. They are all big property owners. Now, Mr. President, I stood on the floor of the Council and drew attention to the Exeter Street Theatre. There was a religious denomination owning this property and advertising and running shows from which it was deriving a profit, untaxed upon the property because they were holding there occasionally a religious ceremony. That is unfair, Mr. President. If I had my way, we would tax the Harvard University Stadium. In New Haven, Connecticut, they are taxing the Yale Stadium, and I see no reason why we should not do the same thing here in Boston. I agree with the order introduced by the councilor from East Boston (Coun. Selvitella), every word of it. The only exception I take is to the assumption that some of these assessments that have been reduced should not have been reduced There should be a square deal in this whole matter, for high and low, not only for the in-town section but for the suburban wards. We must be fair in the matter. Last year there were abatements in the City of Boston amounting to $61,895,000 in assessed valuations by the City of Boston's Board of Assessors; while the State Board of Tax Appeals abated $7,868,500 from Boston's assessed valuation. At the same time, in the city of Cleveland, a city with 100,000 more people than Boston, all their realty was valued for taxation purposes at $901,028,431, or a valuation of $750,944,369 under that of Boston.

So Boston was taxing her real estate at over double the amount that Cleveland taxed hers, to run her city government. Of course, comparisons are not always fair, and perhaps this one is not fair but I merely propose the question: Should not our leaders at least doubt the wisdom of some of our municipal expenditures, when we see such a tremendous difference between the cost of our city government and the cost in other cities of like size in the country?

Coun. GREEN—Mr. President, the question under discussion seems to be the merit or demerit of Councilor Selvitella's order. This is my first appearance in the body in four weeks. I have no axe to grind with the gentleman on the second floor, but I think I would be remiss in my duty to the former Mayor of Boston if I did not rise in my place at this time to say a word in his behalf. It seems to be one of the chief indoor sports to draw his name through the muck and mire. This is not the Curley administration, but that of Fred Mansfield. I think, however, that it is our duty, when we sit here and listen to and discuss orders placed before the body, to consider them on their merits, not merely attacking any administration but trying to decide what will bring about the greatest happiness, comfort and relief to those on the city pay roll and to the citizens of Boston in general. I do think, however, that it ill behooves any member of the body, by innuendo or otherwise, to cast aspersions on the former Mayor of Boston. My mind is wide open and I am willing to play ball with the Mayor of Boston, so long as he plays ball with me. I do not know what has happened in my district or in our fair city in the last four weeks, but I rise at this time in defence of a great Mayor, the former Mayor of Boston. During his term of office as Mayor of this great city, nobody was dropped from the City of Boston's pay rolls in any department. It is now our duty, under a new administration, to rectify any wrongs that are going on in this great city, whether through taxes or otherwise, and just so long as the Mayor of Boston plays with me I will play with him.

Coun. McGRATH—Mr. President, I just want to add a last word. The thought that we should at this time keep uppermost in our minds is that it will take every single dollar of taxes raised on $400,000,000 worth of Boston real estate to take care of our Public Welfare Department for 1934. For a few years I have been harping on public welfare, and we now hear that in this city, where the real estate was assessed for $1,800,000,000, the assessed value has been put down to $1,600,000,000. But let us not forget that the taxes on one-quarter of that $1,800,000,000, or $400,000,000 in taxes, will go this year to recipients of public welfare. It is not fair to suggest at this time that when Springfield has just cut its public welfare in half, when Worcester has cut its public welfare in half, our public welfare for March, 1934, is a little higher than it was in March, 1933; that apparently no reduction is being made in our public welfare expenditures, which take all the taxes raised from $400,000,000 of assessable property, one-quarter of our entire revenue going into the hands of recipients of welfare, of many of whom Judge Zottoli said, in sending a man to jail this last week for improperly obtaining money from that department, "The rolls of the city should be purged"? Let us be game enough in all common sense, to lessen that burden upon the taxpayers and home owners of this city. At the present time the owner of a $10,000 home in Dorchester, West Roxbury or Hyde Park, pays $70 this year for just the welfare item. If it is a single home, it is costing the tenant who rents it or the owner $5 a month, if it is a two-family home $3, and if it is a three-family house $2 a month more than it should cost. Of course, we cannot and do not wish to wipe out all that fund; we do not wish to decrease it to the extent that there will not be a proper amelioration of human suffering. But we should purge those rolls of graft and corruption. The gentleman who is now Mayor of Boston started out courageously in favor of a one-man head of Welfare, and he should certainly back up any effort that may be made along that line through the Legislature. There should be one good, responsible head of Welfare, to protect the entire welfare situation in this city, and to see that the interest of the property owners, the taxpayers, are not disregarded.

The orders were passed under suspension of the rule.

NECESSITY FOR RELIEF OF REAL ESTATE.

Coun. SHATTUCK offered the following:

Ordered, That the attention of his Honor the Mayor be called to the following communications to the President of the United States and to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts relative to the need of relieving real estate from excessive taxation, both by all possible economies in local government expenditures and by making available to local governments, including the City of Boston, additional sources of revenue:

Boston, March 26, 1934.

Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt,
Executive Mansion,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President,—As a citizen of Boston and member of the City Council, may I call your attention to the plight of our cities and towns. They are between the upper and the nether millstone. On the one hand, welfare expenses have enormously increased, and unwieldy debt structures are becoming more unwieldy through demands for more borrowing to provide for P. W. A. projects and the like. On the other hand, real estate taxes, which form the principal source of municipal revenue, have reached the point of diminishing returns. Economies have been made by cutt ng salaries and wages, dropping employees from the pay roll, leaving vacancies unfilled, deferring and otherwise curtailing expenditures for maintenance, supplies, etc., but these economies are offset, or more than offset, by increased debt-service charges and welfare expenditures.

Notwithstanding increased employment and C. W. A. expenditures, there has been little diminution in welfare expenditures. In Boston, these reached their peak in November, 1933. They sagged off a little in December and January, but are now rising again, and have reached a point near the November peak. They are running at about $1,100,000 a month, or about seven times pre-depression figures.

It is true that some relief can be obtained through new taxes created under state legislation or under the very limited municipal authority to impose license fees and the like, and there are some unnecessary employees on the pay rolls who can be dropped if the political pressure is not too great. But for the most part we are, as it were, in a blind alley, from which there is no escape. Our credit has reached the breaking-point, and the Federal Government has absorbed most of the large sources of taxation. It monopolizes the import taxes. It takes the lion's share of the possible revenue from important excise sources, such as tobacco and liquor. It also takes the lon's share of what can be collected through income taxation; and it takes a considerable part of what may reasonably be collected from estate and inheritance tax sources. It has invaded the field of the gasolene sales tax, and has pretty well pre-empted the most available forms of so-called nuisance taxes. Furthermore, through its control of gold and currency, and of the banking system, the Federal Government can provide itself with funds by printing money and by other devices closely akin to that, a resource which our local governments do not have.

In the reading of the communication Councilor Shattuck interpolated the following: "I do not mean to advocate such a measure but it is a resource which the Federal Government has and the state and local governments do not have."

The forces of deflation are still operating to keep down real estate values, and a leading cause is the mounting burden of taxation which, even on fully rented and unencumbered property, absorbs so much of the rent that there is little value left. If this process is allowed to continue it will mean ruin to many investors, including home owners, and also to savings banks and insurance companies, by reason of the large proportion of their portfolios invested in mortgages and municipal bonds.

I believe that it is desirable that our states and municipalities continue to carry on their customary functions. I do nor see how democracy can survive if we are to center in far-off Washington the control of those affairs which we have been accustomed to regulate in town meeting and in city and county council. If democracy is to survive, those functions of government which affect the daily lives of the people must be kept near to them. The unit must be small enough and near enough to the home so that the ordinary man can take part in and have influence upon the discussions and decisions.

But day by day it is becoming clearer that our states and municipalities cannot continue to carry on their customary functions unless either (1) there is a slackening of the Federal Government's grip on the sources of taxation,—which would doubtless require lower Federal expenditures, to be secured by a reduction in veterans' benefits and in other ways; or (2) credits or distributions from the Federal income tax (and perhaps also from other Federal taxes) are granted to the states for their own use or for distribution to their political subdivisions, such as are now made to a limited extent under the Estate Tax Law. I prefer the former alternative, since I deplore the increasing dependence of local government on the Federal Government. Nevertheless I think there is much to be said for such sharing, in the case of the income tax at least, by reason of the difficulty of establishing effective state income tax systems inherent in the competition between states and the ease with which large taxpayers can change their residence from state to state. For carrying out any such plan, Federal legislation would be required, and after that state legislation, and in some cases state constitutional amendments in order to take advantage of the credits. In the interval, direct grants might be necessary. If made, these should, so far as possible, be in such form that they can be used only toward meeting budgets—say not exceeding those of the previous year—so that real relief will come to hard-pressed real estate, and the money will not be used as so much extra for an expanded program.

The Federal income tax is now very light in the lower brackets. If extended so as to allow for credits to the states, these lower brackets should be substantially increased. Increases in the higher brackets may also be required. In addition, higher inheritance taxes may be necessary. If higher income and inheritance taxes are needed to save the social fabric of which real estate, directly or indirectly, forms so important a part, and to rescue our local governmental units from their dilemma, I am in favor of them.

I am opposed to Federal grants in aid of education and of other specific local government functions. Such grants I believe tend to undermine local government and to centralize all authority in Washington.

Should any of these suggestions seem to you worthy of consideration, perhaps you will refer them to the Treasury Department or some other appropriate agency.

Very truly yours,
HENRY L. SHATTUCK.

Boston, April 4, 1934.

His Excellency Joseph B. Ely,
Governor of Commonwealth.

My dear Governor,—I am taking the liberty of inclosing a copy of a letter which I recently sent to the President. I believe that some of the relief required by the cities and towns should come through new revenues established by state legislation. I should much prefer to have all the relief come in that way and through economy in municipal expenses, as I dislike very much getting into the hands of Washington. Mayor Mansfield is doing the best he can in paring the expenses of Boston. For new revenues I specifically suggest a supplement of 50 per cent for two years on the corporate and individual income taxes for distribution to the cities and towns. I suggest two years because I doubt the wisdom of so large a permanent increase, surrounded as we are by states having lower rates or no income tax at all. This would give substantial immediate help, and would give time to explore the possibility of obtaining credits from the Federal income tax collections.

There is precedent for such temporary supplements. In smaller percentage, such supplements were adopted to help pay for the state soldiers' bonus, and later to refund taxes illegally collected from the banks.

I suggest income taxation because it seems to me that the relief must come from those who have the income. I believe that the estimated receipts for this year from individual income taxes and business corporations are about $25,490,760. A 50 per cent supplement would bring in $12,745,380 toward relief of cities and towns.

The present tax burden on real estate is so serious that it is a real threat to our social system. It seems to me, therefore, that large sacrifices from those individuals and corporations that have the income are in the public interest.

Yours very truly,
HENRY L. SHATTUCK.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, this is an important question. It involves some matters we have been debating this afternoon, further relief from real estate taxation both by economy and by making available to the cities and towns, including Boston, additional sources of revenue. I believe that both are necessary in order to bring about the required relief and, with your leave, I shall read a copy of a letter on the subject which I wrote to the President of the United States and a copy of a letter which I sent to the Governor, inclosing a copy of the letter to the President.

Now, sir, I will give simply a brief summary of this situation, which I believe is a very serious one.

1. Local government is being strangled by the progressive encroachment of the Federal Government on all major sources of revenue except that from real estate.

2. Real estate is being subjected to a crushing burden for the support of municipal and state governments.

3. Municipal and state governments must do their part toward solving their own problems, by eliminating all waste and all unnecessary activities and by increasing departmental receipts, so far as possible, for services rendered and from license fees and the like.

4. We should demand that the Federal Government practise economy in its own expenditures, and loosen its strangle hold on the tax resources of the nation.

5. In the meantime, as a temporary measure to tide over the present emergency, I suggest a supplement of 50 per cent on the state corporation and individual income tax for a period of two years.

Coun. SELVITELLA—Mr. President, if I understand the contents of the letters made and the remarks made by my colleague, this is merely a criticism of the relief program of President Roosevelt. I am going, therefore, to move that the order be referred to the Executive Committee.

President DOWD—If there is no objection by the Council, the Chair will refer the matter to the Committee on Rules.

The matter was referred to the Committee on Rules.

Coun. MURRAY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Council now proceed to the election of two stenographer-clerks in the Clerk of Committees Department, to serve until otherwise ordered by the City Council, at an annual salary of $1,800 a year each, subject to the reduction of 15 per cent, established under chapter 121 of the Acts of 1933.

The order was passed. The Clerk called the roll and the members announced their choice as follows:

2. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor April 9, 1934, of minor officers paid by fees, as contained in City Document No. 47.

The question came on confirmation.

Coun. ROBERTS—Mr. President, I understand that Document 47 has not been published yet, is not available. Therefore, we don't know whom we are voting for.

On motion of Coun. FISH, the appointments were assigned for one week.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORT.

Coun. GREEN, for the Committee on Finance, submitted the following:

Report accepted and the order was passed, yeas 18, nays 0.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege, if there is no objection, on this last vote. I voted "yes" with a reservation as to how I may vote two weeks from today, with the understanding that before the final vote is taken, I shall wish to go into the question of whether or not the railroad which has passed more than 28,000 freight cars over that bridge should not bear some proportionate part of the burden.

Coun. McGRATH in the chair.

2. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred April 9) appropriating $375,000 for reconstruction and repair of Northern Avenue Bridge—recommending that same ought to pass.

Coun. WILSON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Civil Service Commission, through his Honor the Mayor, be and said commission hereby is respectfully requested to extend the present list for possible appointment of patrolmen on the Police Force of the City of Boston for one year.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC WELFARE.

Coun. GREEN—Mr. President, I would like to find out for my own information when you are going to have the first meeting of the Special Committee on Public Welfare, appointed in my absence?

Chairman McGRATH—It was agreed by the members of the committee, Councilor Green, that when the budget was submitted and we actually had it under consideration, we would have more power in that matter, and Councilor Tobin last week introduced an order to have the budget of the Welfare Department submitted earlier than the regular budget. As soon as that comes in, I think the committee will start its hearings.

Adjourned at 5.36 p. m., on motion of Coun. MURRAY, to meet on Monday, April 23, 1934, at 2 p. m.

ADDITIONAL SCHOOL ACCOMMODATIONS

RELEVANT EXCERPTS FROM LETTER FROM THE CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF THE CITY OF BOSTON, UNDER DATE OF APRIL 9, 1934.

Under date of March 29, 1934, the School Committee of the City of Boston forwarded to the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings the following proposed orders:

ORDERED, That in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 206 of the Special Acts of 1919, as amended by Chapter 524 of the Acts of 1920, as amended by Chapter 488 of the Acts of 1923, as amended by Chapter 327 of the Acts of 1925, as amended by Chapter 314 of the Acts of 1926, the following appropriations are hereby made:

Item 3, Beethoven District, West Roxbury: Plans for two-story, thirteen-classroom building, of which six rooms and kindergarten are to be finished for occupancy, the second story to remain unfinished until the classrooms are needed.....$	9,000.00
Item 4, Beethoven District, West Roxbury: Construction of two-story, thirteen-classroom building, of which six rooms and kindergarten are to be finished for occupancy, the second story to remain unfinished until the classrooms are needed	145,000.00
Item 5, Beethoven District, West Roxbury: Furnishing of six classrooms and kindergarten of thirteen-classroom building	4,000.00
Item 6, Joseph H. Barnes Intermediate District, East Boston: Plans for nine-classroom addition to East Boston High School	9,000.00
Item 7, Joseph H. Barnes Intermediate District, East Boston: Construction of nine-classroom addition to East Boston High School...	145,000.00
Item 8, Joseph H. Barnes Intermediate District, East Boston: Furnishing of nine-classroom addition to East High School	6,000.00
Total	$318,000.00

In other words an appropriation of $158,000. for a new elementary school building in the Beethoven District, West Roxbury, and an appropriation of $160,000. for a nine-classroom addition to the East Boston High School.

This is the first appropriation order for land and building items submitted by the School Committee to this Board this year and we appreciate that it requires immediate attention so that the projects can be started without delay in order to furnish the accommodations as near September 1, 1934, as is possible.

In relation to the first order set forth above for a two-story, thirteen-classroom building in the Beethoven District, it is apparent that this district needs additional school accommodations, as a number of portables are being used and the district is growing. It is proposed to finish six classrooms for occupancy September 1, 1934, if possible, and to erect a second story of the building with unfinished classrooms for later occupancy. We approve this order.

The second order above set forth is for the erection of nine additional classrooms to the East Boston High School. We find difficulty in deciding that the accommodations represented as needed in the East Boston High School are any more pressing than several other pressing needs. We are, however, willing to abide by the decisions of the Superintendent of Schools and his advisers that the East Boston High School situation is more pressing than some of the others.

Placed on file.

CHICAGO POLICE.

Although the numerical strength of the Chicago police department has been reduced in the last two years from approximately 6,700 to 6,000, the number of men on foot patrol has been increased 150 per cent, or about 1,900.

RECREATION, ADEQUATE AS TO KIND AND AVAILABILITY.

Although the ratio of park acreage to population has been used as the simplest measure of the extent to which cities provide areas for the recreation of their people, it is by no means an accurate basis for determining this. If most of the total acreage is in one large park, if the parks are poorly distributed, or if they do not provide various types of recreation facilities, the park system may be inefficient even though the acreage is large. The efficiently planned park and recreation system will involve balanced relationship and well-distributed location of several types of properties, namely, children's playgrounds, neighborhood playfield parks, neighborhood parks, reservations, boulevards, and parkways.

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 26. SATURDAY, MAY 5, 1934. NO. 18

ARBOR DAY AND ITS SIGNIFICANCE DISCUSSED BY PARK COMMISSIONER WILLIAM P. LONG, WHO SUBSTITUTED FOR MAYOR MANSFIELD IN REGULAR WEEKLY BROADCAST FROM CITY HALL STATION OF WNAC—DISCUSSES TREE PLANTING AS A NECESSARY MEANS OF PRESERVING THE FOREST LAND AND POINTS TO WHAT CITY HAS DONE AND WILL DO TO PRESERVE TREES—BOSTON HAS MANY VERY RARE TREES FROM VARIOUS LANDS IN COMMON, PUBLIC GARDEN, AND OTHER PARKS.

Upon Monday, April 30, the Mayor, because of the press of other duties, furnished a substitute to broadcast in his stead in the person of Park Commissioner William P. Long, who spoke as follows:

His Honor, Mayor Frederick W. Mansfield who was to have addressed you today on the subject and significance of Arbor Day has, owing to the urgency of official duties in connection with what is known as City Council day, been deprived of that pleasure and he has requested me to deliver this broadcast.

I oftentimes wonder if at the present time the public are as keenly interested in the ceremonies in connection with Arbor Day as were their parents before them. This thought comes to me when I see so few public ceremonies taking place in the nature of tree planting on that day, this notwithstanding that in this state it is obligatory by law for the Governor to annually issue a proclamation setting aside the last Saturday in April as Arbor and Bird Day and recommending its observance by the public in the planting of trees, shrubs and vines, also when I find, as I do in my official capacity, the ruthless mutilation and destruction that takes place each year, particularly in the public parks, not only to the ornamental flowering trees and shrubs but to other ornamental structures, such as monuments, statues, buildings, etc., placed or erected therein for their convenience and comfort.

This practice has become so prevalent that great sums of money have to be expended each year to repair or replace the structures damaged by this vandalism. I take this opportunity to diverge from the subject of Arbor Day and its significance to implore of the public to refrain from such practices not only on park reservations but on private lands as well, and thus during these periods of depression assist public officials in saving the expense of restoring or replacing damaged property. This year in Boston we were fortunate in having as Mayor a man who visualized the importance of what Arbor Day signified and who in compliance with the Governor's proclamation did himself take time, as also did his wife, Mrs. Mansfield, to plant a tree on historic Boston Common as well as deliver a stirring speech as to the importance of the day that occasioned the event.

Now as to Arbor Day and a brief history of its adoption.

ARBOR DAY.

Arbor Day, an annual tree-planting day appointed by nearly every state and territory of the Union, sometimes as a legal holiday and sometimes merely advisory, to assist in foresting or reforesting scantily-wooded tracts or shading or beautifying towns. It is generally in special connection with schools, to impress children with the importance of forestry and natural beauty in our civilization. The date depends on the climate of different sections and is absolutely fixed in but few; most Northern States hold it in April or early in May; here in Massachusetts the last Saturday in April is fixed as Arbor Day. It is not a legal holiday but is generally observed by state, city and town officials as well as by various civic organizations who, in connection with public ceremonies, plant trees, dedicating them as living monuments to commemorate some person or event; in Arizona, Texas and Alabama it comes in February, the two latter on Washington's Birthday; Florida in January, Georgia in December and New Mexico in March; many make it optional either with the state or with localities, and West Virginia holds it twice a year, in spring and fall.

It arose from the alarm felt by most far-sighted public men over the rapid and reckless deforestation of many parts of the Union, and the prospects of its extending to all the states, and a realization of what that deforestation meant to the future welfare and development of the United States.

Most civilized governments at different times have looked after their forests to assure a supply of timber for naval construction; New Hampshire and New York, even in the colonial period, felt it needful to check the inroads on them; the United States Government at the beginning of the nineteenth century bought timber lands and a quarter of a century later authorized the President to take measures for their preservation; and about the same time the Massachusetts Society for Promoting Agriculture offered prizes for forest planting.

But the first widespread realization of its importance was caused in 1864 by the notable book of George P. Marsh, the eminent American scholar and diplomat, entitled "Man and Nature"; the chapter on "The Woods" aroused special attention and in 1865, Birdsey G. Northrop, then secretary of the Connecticut Board of Education, suggested that states might profitably plant trees every year at the proper time, or supervise their planting. The subject brought out several books and many articles; the late Dr. Franklyn B. Hough, the first Forest Commissioner, publishing a work upon it as early as 1873.

BROADCAST BY PARK COMMISSIONER.

But the first to propose a regular Arbor Day for the purpose was J. Sterling Morton, late Commissioner of Agriculture, then of Nebraska, who in 1872 succeeded in inducing his almost treeless state to set apart a day for the purpose. Great enthusiasm was aroused and over a million trees were planted that year. In 1885 it was made a legal state holiday on April 22, Mr. Morton's birthday.

The movement did not at first spread very rapidly, though some localities took it up; the first states to copy the legal enactments were Kansas and Tennessee in 1875, and the next year Minnesota.

It was six years before another joined, Ohio in 1882, followed by West Virginia in 1883; then the tide began to rush in and within five years twenty more states and territories had adopted the observance. In Massachusetts a resolve (chapter 32) of the year 1886 was approved on April 9 of that year, requesting his Excellency the Governor to set apart in each year the last Saturday in April as Arbor Day, and to issue his proclamation recommending it be observed by the people of this Commonwealth in planting of trees, shrubs and vines, in the promotion of forest growth and culture, in the adornment of public and private grounds, places and ways, and in such other efforts and undertakings as shall be in harmony with the general character of a day so established.

Wide Observance.

Practically all states in the Union observe Arbor Day, either as a legal holiday or as a day set apart by their governors.

Arbor Day has entered Canada and Mexico, and crossed the seas to Great Britain and India.

It is important that Arbor Day should be celebrated in the schools, for, much as we may hope to influence the present generation toward tree preservation, it is among the children that the greatest work must be done. Only by arousing a tree-planting sentiment among them can we hope for forests in the future. In addition, we must also look to the people, and the people must be taught through the schools.

In towns or cities where children can plant trees the day may be celebrated out of doors, by instructing the scholars how to plant trees previously selected, and for which holes have been carefully prepared. Poems may be read and songs sung relating to their beauty and growth, thereby investing them with an interest and affection that always follows a knowledge of their life, habits and value.

The child who has thrown his handful of earth about the roots of a tree will ever watch its growth, and through the love of one will come interest in the woodlands.

Children's boundless activities find their outlet in destruction, because of their ignorance. Give the average child the rudiments of knowledge concerning the value of trees and the destructive energy becomes protective. Let the celebration of Arbor Day infuse into our school system—reaching, as it does, the heart and life of every child—the purpose and the will to exert every influence to change this destructive process to one of increase, and teach those habits of thought regarding the benefits and uses of trees that will deter the children from careless setting of woodland fires, and thoughtless mutilation of street and park trees.

Tree planting is educational in the largest sense; the handling and planting encourages observation and cultivates a love of all natural objects, and, above all, teaches unselfishness in seeking to enrich the future.

It is quite as essential that the adult citizens celebrate the occasion by advocating an intense campaign of tree planting, not alone on Arbor and Bird Day, but throughout the year.

In honoring Hon. J. Sterling Morton of Nebraska City, the originator of Arbor Day, two eminent citizens of Boston, John Boyle O'Reilly and Francis Parkman, expressed their admiration for him in the following communications:

From John Boyle O'Reilly:

Boston, April 9, 1888.

Editor Nebraska "Press."

Your purpose of honoring the man who has originated the beautiful and beneficent practice of systematic tree planting is of interest to every one who loves nature and knows enough to thank God for giving us all an opportunity of increasing his blessings. The best and highest things a man can do in a day is to sow a seed, whether it be in the shape of a word, a tree, or an acorn. Last year, on less than half an acre of ground, at my summer home by the seaside at Hull, I planted 227 individual lives of creeper, shrub and tree. All through the winter, from the city, my mind reached out, as it were, to observe and care for the young things in their strange soil. Last week I went to see them, and Mr. Morton will know the thrill of pleasure, unlike all other pleasures, which came from the signs of health and growth in the plants.

I thank you for allowing me to express my admiration for a man who has started one of the loveliest practices of the country and century.

I am, respectfully yours,

John Boyle O'Reilly.

From Francis Parkman:

Boston, April 2, 1888.

Dear Sir,—The practice of systematic tree planting is a most excellent one, and those who have encouraged and promoted it deserve well of their country. I am very glad that the West has been roused to a sense of the importance of planting trees, and hope that all parts of the country will soon feel the necessity of preserving them.

Yours very truly,

Francis Parkman.

While on the air in connection with Arbor Day, and having a little time to spare, I will give you a few words about some of the trees on Boston Common and the Public Garden, as well as some of the units which go to make up the Park System.

Boston Common and the Public Garden are both familiar to every citizen of Boston. The Common contains about 1,100 trees, the older trees are the American Elms, English Elms and European Lindens. The most noted tree, known by historians as the Great Tree, and sometimes called the Great Elm and the Old Elm, was entirely destroyed by a storm on February 15, 1876, although it was badly mutilated by severe storms in 1860-69.

In 1855 the City Engineer's report showed a tree 72 feet 6 inches high and a girth, 1 foot above the ground, of 22 feet 6 inches, the average diameter of the spread being 101 feet. It is believed that this tree existed before the settlement of Boston, although many individuals have attempted to prove that it was planted in the early days of Boston by some of the early settlers, probably someone to whom they traced back their ancestors.

The trees on the Tremont Street Mall, or more popular, the Lafayette Mall, were all destroyed by the building of the subway. Those not actually taken down during the construction period were so weakened by the drouth and lack of proper nourishment that they have since succumbed. Great care is given to the remaining trees,—they are being properly nourished by watering,—the addition of fertilizer and careful pruning and the treatment of wounds. One of the best known trees now standing is the Ginkgo tree on the Beacon Street Mall, almost opposite Joy street. This tree was transplanted from the garden of Gardener Greene in the year 1835, when Pemberton Hill on the side of the present Pemberton square was taken down.

On the Public Garden a very fine collection of trees is to be found. There are at present 1,000 trees—among the different varieties are the Ginkgo Biloba or Maiden Hair. This specimen is considered by experts to be one of the finest in the world, and as this tree is a native of Japan, the department has been asked a number of times for scions from this tree to be sent to Japan by Japanese students. It is situated near the Ether Monument. There are a number of excellent specimens of the Copper Beech. There is a particularly fine tree of this type on the Beacon street side of the Garden. We have also a very rare specimen of the Golden Elm, situated about 100 feet from the Washington Monument. There is also a Judas tree, which is very easily distinguished in the spring of the year by its red buds, and whose history is very interesting. There are a number of extremely fine specimens of the Kentucky Coffee tree; also a very rare specimen of the Catalpa tree—it being a Japanese Catalpa, grafted on to a variety of speciosa.

CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 8.

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR, April 25, 1934.

To All Department Heads.

In view of the necessity to reduce municipal expenses and the contributions that are being made to this end by the small salaried employees, I am asking department heads, members of boards and commissions, chiefs of divisions, deputies and other city officials and employees whose present compensation by reason of the reduction required by law is in excess of $4,250 a year, voluntarily to contribute during the remainder of 1934 an amount equal to 10 per cent of their basic compensation. This contribution of 10 per cent plus the 15 per cent reduction required by the 1933 statute make a 25 per cent reduction from the basic salary in each case.

This contribution is not intended to be permanent. Just as soon as the financial conditions of the city warrant it, salaries will be restored to their former levels. I earnestly urge upon all persons affected the need of their cooperation. Department heads are requested to confer at once with all persons affected in their various departments and to inform the Mayor forthwith if they will voluntarily make this contribution.

Yours truly,

FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

CONSTRUCTION WORK APPROVED.

The Mayor has approved the following requests of the Public Works Department:

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT,
BOSTON, April 20, 1934.

To the Honorable Mayor.

Everett court, off 250 Everett street, East Boston, at the present time has an old private sewer of wood and brick which is practically filled up to such an extent that the Board of Health has threatened to order the six houses in said court abandoned until the sewer conditions are improved.

The Public Works Department has on file a petition from the abutters for the construction of a sewer or house drain in said court. The length of house drain to be laid is approximately 120 linear feet of 12-inch drain pipe at an estimated cost of $900, and a portion of this expense will be returned to the city from assessments against the property benefited by said house drain construction.

I respectfully request your permission to proceed to install a 12-inch drain pipe in Everett court, East.

Respectfully,

C. J. CARVEN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, April 20, 1934.

To the Honorable Mayor.

The repairing of asphalt road surfaces under the maintenance of the Public Works Department, said surfaces being out of guaranty, is directly under two contracts, said contracts being publicly advertised and awarded to the low bidder, the city being divided into two districts having approximately the same road surface area.

Consideration should now be given to have the advertising and awarding of the contracts preparatory to the season's work and I respectfully request your permission to proceed to advertise the two contracts for repairing of asphalt surfaces.

The approximate amount of each contract will be about $50,000. The payment of these contracts go under the Reconstruction of Streets loan and will be paid for out of this loan.

Respectfully,

C. J. CARVEN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, April 17, 1934.

To His Honor the Mayor.

Construction work on the state highway in East Boston and Revere will necessitate the assembling of a number of 12-inch gate valves in the existing bridge system in the above boulevard. The Water Division of the Public Works Department has on hand the rough castings, both cast iron and composition.

For some years past the McCulloch Manufacturing Company has assembled the 12-inch gate valves and are thoroughly equipped to perform this class of work. Said company has offered to assemble 12-inch gate valves at a price of $30.30 per gate valve.

I respectfully request approval to give an order to the McCulloch Manufacturing Company for the assembling and delivery of twelve 12-inch gate valves at a price of $30.30 per gate valve at a total cost of $363.60.

Respectfully,

C. J. CARVEN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, April 23, 1934.

To the Honorable Mayor.

The Public Works Department has received a petition from the property owners on Keith street, West Roxbury, between Alder and Carroll streets, to construct a house drain for the purpose of caring for houses now being built or under construction in said street.

The length of drain pipe to be laid is 240 linear feet of 10-inch drain pipe at an estimated cost of $1,700. Keith street is an accepted street.

I respectfully request permission to proceed to advertise and award contract for the laying of house drain pipe, etc. This expense is charged to Sewer Loan and a portion of said expense is returned to the city under assessment in accordance with the Lien Law.

Respectfully,

C. J. CARVEN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, April 23, 1934.

To the Honorable Mayor.

In the construction of the state highway in East Boston and Revere under contract between the Commonwealth and A. G. Tomasello & Sons, Incorporated, due to change of street lines and grades it will be necessary for the Water Division, Public Works Department, to make various changes in the present pipe system in Saratoga street and cross streets which will be included in the new highway. This work could not be performed previous to the awarding of the contract by the Commonwealth as the street line and grades were not conformable to the line and grades as established for the new highway.

After a contract is awarded by the Commonwealth the state officials know only the contractor involved and do not grant permits for any other party to enter and interfere with the state contractor. In such cases also the contractor objects to an outside contractor interfering with the progress of his activities, he being bonded to the Commonwealth and held directly responsible for all work on the highway. The work to be done in the area affected is shown on the accompanying schedule and A. G. Tomasello & Sons, Incorporated, the contractor who is constructing the state highway, is submitting a lump sum of $1,985 for doing the entire work required, and this price is fair for the work involved.

Your permission is respectfully requested to have the Public Works Department enter into a contract with the A. G. Tomasello & Sons, Incorporated, for executing the necessary work at a lump sum of $1,985, without advertising.

Respectfully,

C. J. CARVEN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Charge: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification 1: In that on the thirteenth day of April, 1934, about 8.15 p. m., Patrolman Nicholas J. Waters of Division 9, while not on duty and not in uniform, was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent as to be unfit to perform his police duties if called upon so to do.

Specification 2: In that on the thirteenth day of April, 1934, about 8.15 p. m., Patrolman Nicholas J. Waters of Division 9, while in and about the vicinity of Arthur's Lunch and Taproom at 19 Stoughton street, Dorchester, and in company with a drunken married woman, conducted himself in such a boisterous manner as to attract the attention of the public in general and the police officer on the route and which necessitated his being taken to Station 11 in the patrol wagon, these acts being contrary to good order and police discipline and which tend to bring into disrepute his brother officers and the department as a whole,—

has submitted the following finding and recommendation:

"The Board having heard and carefully considered all the evidence as presented accepts the plea of guilty by the said Patrolman Nicholas J. Waters. The Board feels that Patrolman Waters was a victim of circumstances, as he was indiscreet in accepting an invitation from a brother officer to accompany him and an unknown woman to a restaurant. In view of the fact that Patrolman Waters was highly recommended by his commanding officer, Deputy Superintendent Livingston, and the lieutenant in whose platoon he had been working for the past six years, and the fact that he had never previously been warned about the use of intoxicating liquor, that he is a first-class police officer and was recently commended in General Orders, and further his promise to the Board in the presence of his commanding officer that in the future he would abstain from the use of intoxicating liquor on and off duty and in the event that he should break his promise he would immediately place his resignation on the captain's desk, the Board respectfully recommends that the said Patrolman Nicholas J. Waters be suspended from duty for a period of twenty days effective as of April 16, 1934, at 7.45 o'clock a. m., and at the completion of this suspension he be ordered to perform 105 hours of punishment duty."

The commissioner accepts the finding and the recommendation of the Trial Board and hereby orders that the said Patrolman Nicholas J. Waters be suspended from duty for a period of twenty days, effective as of April 16, 1934, at 7.45 o'clock a. m., and at the expiration of the said period of suspension the said Patrolman Nicholas J. Waters perform 105 hours of punishment duty.

Civil Service Rule 23, Section 3, requires approval of the Civil Service Commission before reinstatement.

Rule 23.

"Section 3. With the consent of the Commissioner upon good cause shown, an appointing officer may reinstate in the same position or in a position in the same class and grade any person who has been separated from the service; provided, however, that the Commissioner shall not allow reinstatement of a person discharged for cause.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EUGENE C. HULTMAN,
Commissioner.

They shall notify the commanding officers of the divisions to which they are assigned the number of the vacation drawn.

LIFE-GIVING PATRIOTISM IS LOCAL.

By civic patriotism is meant the feeling and the taking of a deep, unselfish, earnest, ever-wakeful, active interest in the affairs of one's own city or local community, regarding it as having an autonomy, a distinct personality, a name and interests of its own, and, if one pleases, endowed with a sense of personal honor and with all laudable ambitions for the promotion of the welfare of its people.

Where such civic virtues exist the local community will neither suffer from the dry-rot of public indifference and neglect nor become tainted with graft or corruption. Its life will be healthful, and, like the ocean, will be kept pure by its own ceaseless flow and movement. All life-giving patriotism is local.

Show a good municipal citizen and one will see a citizen who loves his state, and who loves his nation, and who will discharge all the duties of this triple relation. Good government in local affairs is the best assurance of good government in state and national affairs.

HISTORICAL DATA ABOUT WARDS.

The term "ward" first appears in a fire-protection order, approved by the Town on August 29, 1679, dividing the Town into 4 quarters with 2 wards each. The 8 wards had previously been military districts.

On August 11, 1713, the Selectmen "agreed upon a distribution of the Town into distinct Wards or Precincts."

On February 1, 1715, it was "voted to make a new division of the Town into eight distinct Wards."

On March 9, 1735, it was voted to divide the Town into 12 wards to facilitate the work of the Overseers of the Poor.

On March 13, 1822, the Selectmen divided the Town into 12 wards on the basis of the U. S. Census of 1820.

By an ordinance which took effect on the second Monday of December, 1838, there was a revision of the wards.

On April 29, 1850, the City Council accepted Chap. 167 of the Acts of 1850, which altered the wards on the basis of legal voters rather than on the number of inhabitants.

By ordinance taking effect on November 15, 1865 new ward lines were established.

In the annexation period, 1865-1875, the number of wards was increased from twelve to twenty-one.

By Chap. 243, Acts 1875, the City Council was ordered to cause a new division of the City into twenty-four wards in the year 1875 in such manner as to include an equal number of voters in each ward. This division was made, taking effect on December 13, 1875. On May 27, 1876, the City Council, in accordance with Chap. 242, Acts of 1876, divided one of the wards in two, making a total of 25 wards for the City.

By ordinance passed April 20, 1895, under authority of Chap. 437, Acts of 1888, and Section 96 of Chap. 417, Acts of 1893, ward lines were established on the basis of the number of voters registered at the City election of 1894, there still being 25 wards.

The annexation of Hyde Park, effective January 1, 1912, made an additional ward.

By enactment of December 28, 1914, under authority of Chap. 630, Acts of 1914, the City Council redivided the City into 26 wards.

The latest redivision, established December 30, 1924, under authority of Chap. 410, Acts of 1924, consists of 22 wards.

TAX LEVY, 1932.

Total, $67,574,773 ($5,414,540 more than in 1931) or $62,260,762 on realty, $4,834,415 on personalty, and $479,596 on male polls.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, April 23, 1934.

Regular meeting of the City Council in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 p. m., President DOWD in the chair. Absent, Coun. Gleason.

VETO OF RESOLUTIONS FOR REINSTATEMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 12, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I return herewith without my signature and with my disapproval the following three resolutions adopted by your honorable body:

Resolution in favor of legislation for the reinstatement of Roland P. Green in the Police Department.

Resolution in favor of legislation for the reinstatement of John T. Flatley in the Police Department.

Resolution in favor of legislation for the reinstatement of Fulton P. Wesson in the Police Department.

After several years of consideration of applications for special legislation for the benefit of individuals who desired reinstatement in the employment of cities and towns the Legislature in 1933 enacted chapter 320, which provides a simple method of procedure applicable to all cases, and I see no reason for approving or seeking further special legislation. Accordingly I am disapproving the resolutions.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

Placed on file.

VETO OF SIDEWALK ON GAY HEAD STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 23, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am returning herewith without my signature and with my disapproval the order adopted April 9, 1934, that the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along the entire length and both sides of Gay Head street. I am informed that at the present time the sidewalks are of mixed construction, part being of artificial stone, part of brick and part of gravel, and that while some parts are in poor condition the remainder of the sidewalks are in fair or good condition. I am further informed that the cost of installing artificial stone sidewalks in accordance with this order would entail an estimated expense of at least $2,200.

Under these conditions and in view of the necessity of curtailing municipal expenses I cannot approve this order.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

Placed on file.

PROGRESS OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 23, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—On March nineteenth last an order was adopted by your honorable body that a special committee of five members be appointed to investigate the Public Welfare Department of the City of Boston and to report to the City Council on or before the ninth day of April, 1934. This order was passed under suspension of the rule and the committee of five councilors was appointed by the President of your honorable body.

May I venture to inquire what progress has been made by this committtee? I am intensely interested in the Public Welfare Department and would like to have whatever information may have been obtained by the committee. If I may have this information at the earliest convenient time I will be greatly obliged to you.

Yours truly,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

FORTY-HOUR WEEK, FERRY SERVICE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 18, 1934.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith a letter from the Commissioner of Public Works, relative to your order of April 2, 1934, concerning the reconsideration of the restoration of a forty-hour week without reduction of pay for all employees in the Ferry Service.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. MANSFIELD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department, April 16, 1934.

To His Honor the Mayor.

I beg leave to acknowledge receipt of the order of the City Council dated April 2 and reading as follows:

"Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to reconsider the restoration of a forty-hour week without reduction of pay for all employees in the Ferry Service."

The restoration of a forty-hour week in the Ferry Service will either compel an increase in the present personnel or a reduction in the number of ferryboats operating daily between the hours of six a. m. and ten p. m. The budget allowance will not permit an increase in the personnel and a reduction in the number of ferryboats operating at the present time is not considered advisable, keeping in mind that the public is entitled to the best possible service. Consequently until the opening of the East Boston Tunnel a forty-eight hour week for the Ferry crews will have to be maintained. After the opening of the tunnel it may be found that the number of boats necessary to operate can be reduced and at that time a reconsideration of the restoration of the forty-hour week can be determined.

Respectfully,
C. J. CARVEN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Placed on file.

TENEAN BEACH IMPROVEMENTS.

Ordered, That the Park Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install drinking fountains at Tenean Beach, Dorchester.

Severally passed under suspension of the rule.

RECREATION PIER, WARD 1.

Coun. SELVITELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner be reuested, through his Honor the Mayor, to arrange under the F. E. R. A. for the building of a recreation pier at the site of the North Ferry slip in Ward 1, East Boston.

Coun. SELVITELLA submitted the following statement in explanation of the order:

The proposed project is of a highly beneficial nature to the welfare of the City of Boston. It will in the first instance relieve the Welfare Department of Boston to the extent of approximately $125,000. It will also supply the needy with 150 cords of firewood, the value of which is approximately at $2,000. The congested area in the vicinity of Maverick square, East Boston, is sorely in need of such a spot. The relief these people would receive during the hot summer months would be immeasurable. The object of the proposed project is to remove the present City Fuel Company buildings and one of the buildings maintained by the Bridge and Ferry Department of the Public Works of Boston, and to replace the surface area occupied by buildings with recreation grounds which would consist of numerous benches, slides, swings, and sand boxes, which can be built from the lumber to be found on the site at present, and entirely inclose the park with a 6-foot wire fence. The exact details can be found on the prepared plans. At the present date, a survey has already been made as to the exact area, location of buildings, etc., approximate total of number of board feet on hand, what tools and materials will be required, and all other information such as would be required for the intelligent procedure of the work. The findings of this survey are shown on the specifications and plans. As far as the necessary tools are concerned to carry on the work of this project, which is in reality an extension of Project 6187-34, a large percentage of them are already on hand as equipment for the projects being handled by this division. Most of the material will be obtained from the wreckage of the existing structures. With the cooperation of the City Fuel Company allowing the labor force to tear down their structures and repair their wharf, the use of waste lumber for firewood, and allowing us to use the material derived from this source, the City of Boston will be obliged to pay only a very small amount compared to the expenditure by the Government. The estimates that you will note both on labor and material have been arrived at after a very careful survey was made of the location and you will also see by the play and layout that the figures are quite accurate in regard to the ferry house there. The present project now being carried on, allows only a very cramped area to be used for the proposed project. By this additional supplementary project being accepted, it will allow ample room to take care of the immediate neighborhood, which without argument is very badly in need of a place of this kind for the health and welfare of the residents. Nearly twenty-five per cent of the working personnel to build this structure consists of unskilled labor, all of which could be drawn from the Welfare lists. Approximately another twenty-five per cent of their personnel will be semi-skilled labor, practically all of whom could be drawn from the Welfare. It is the specific idea of the Bridge and Ferry Division to have supervisors and a plannng board to carry on this work strictly on a contract basis of procedure calling in the working personnel as it is needed, and using the same only as needed, so in listing out the number of man hours required you will notice that there is a difference in these figures, namely, the workmen will vary as to the number of hours required to finish their respective duties on the project. It is figured that it will take on the different classifications of workmen approximately one hundred eighty-six men, but all of these will not be working on the project at the same time. With this procedure the cost of the project will be much more satisfactory to the government and also will proceed in a much smoother and uniform manner.

The order was passed under a suspension of the rules.

LOCKER BUILDING, AMERICAN LEGION PARK.

Coun. SELVITELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That the Park Commissioner, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to arrange under the F. E. R. A. for the erection of a suitable locker building and shower facilities at American Legion Park, Ward 1, East Boston.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

JOHN H. L. NOYES PLAYGROUND.

Coun. SELVITELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That the Park Commissioner, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to arrange under the F. E. R. A. plans to enlarge the right field area of the John H. L. Noyes Playground in Ward 1, East Boston, which has been filled in and suitable for increasing the playing surface of said field.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

AUTHORITY FOR CLOSING SMALLPOX HOSPITAL.

Coun. McGRATH offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor inform the City Council by what authority he proposes to abandon the smallpox hospital on Southampton street or to transfer the said hospital from the custody of the Health Commissioner without the consent of the City Council, in view of the provisions of chapter 111, section 92, of the General Laws, and chapter 16, section 3, of the Revised Ordinances of 1925.

Coun. McGRATH—Mr. President, I have introduced this order, referring to the Ordinances and to the General Laws, under which supervision of that building on Southampton street, which is in an isolated section for the purpose of handling cases of smallpox and leprosy that arise in our city, is specifically placed under the supervision of the Health Commissioner rather than of the Hospital Trustees. We have been told, sir, that there has been no case of smallpox or of leprosy for a period of years, but we find that in the last ten years there have been fifteen cases of smallpox and five cases of leprosy that were handled in that smallpox hospital on Southampton street. Two weeks ago, sir, when I took the floor in this Council and said that the Mayor proposed abandoning the smallpox hospital on Southampton street, it raised a storm of protest from those who were friendly with the present administration. They said that no man in his wildest dreams would close that smallpox hospital and put those poor unfortunate people afflicted with that disease in the same South Department which is the only unit handling cases of contagious diseases of children. They said, "How far afield McGrath has gone in order to criticize, when he will make such a riduculous charge as that, that the Mayor was proposing to close the smallpox hospital and put people with this dread malady in the unit established for the care of the little fevered bodies of children afflicted with contagious diseases! But last week we found the Mayor using the term "abandon"— "I will abandon the smallpox hospital on Southampton street." My idea of the word "abandon" is that he proposed to close up, discontinue this unit, and so I took issue with a policy of economy that would save $6,000 a year by placing the lives of the little children in the South Department in jeopardy. The next day the Mayor said, "Where does McGrath get that idea? Why, all I am doing is to take from the supervision of the Health Department and place under the supervision of the Hospital Department that Southampton street smallpox hospital." The greatest argument that can be used in favor of continuing the smallpox hospital is the very argument used against it by the Mayor—that there are no cases of smallpox or of leprosy, and therefore the hospital is not needed. I take that very argument as the reason why it should be continued. You would not say to a man who has life insurance, "Give up your life insurance, because you will never die." I say if there was not in 1933 a fire in a certain area containing a firehouse, you would not say, "Close the firehouse," because there has not been a fire in the neighborhood during 1933. But I go farther than that, Mr. President. I say that under the General Laws, and under the Revised Ordinances controlled by this Council, his Honor the Mayor has not the power to take that hospital away from the Health Commissioner. On December 2, 1872, when smallpox was rampant in this city, the old Board of Aldermen and Common Council in their wisdom erected and turned over to the Health Department the control of an isolated institution for the treatment of smallpox and of leprosy. The wisdom of the action then taken is apparent today, when we can point to the proud record that not since 1931 has there been a case of leprosy or smallpox in Boston. But surely it is not economy, sir, surely it is not wisdom, for his Honor the Mayor at this time, merely to save $6,000, to close up that hospital. It seems, however, that the Hospital Department is the department that the Municipal Research Bureau has set their minds on curtailing, a department that caters to the welfare of the poor and the middle class people of our city. We find that within the last week forty-one men were let go at the City Hospital, men who will now be able to go to the Welfare Department and get as much money working three days a week as they had been getting six days a week in the hospital. I might say again, also, that if the tax rate this year is $35 on a thousand, it will take the income from $400,000,000 of real estate to maintain the Welfare Department. So why discharge those small paid employees, whose only other recourse is to the fastest growing roll of the city, that of the Welfare Department? About ten days ago there was great acclamation throughout the city when his Honor the Mayor announced that he was going to meet the present emergency by curtailing the salaries of department heads, that every man who was getting over $5,000 a year would be reduced to $4,250. What happened? There was no action whatever. But that statement was given out to the general public, and 90 per cent of the small taxpayers of Boston today believe that the Mayor cut his own salary by a greater amount than it would cost to maintain this smallpox and leprosy hospital, and they believed that every head of a department had his salary cut to $4,250. That, however, is not the fact. The fact is that they have been protected and that forty-one poor fellows working in the hospital, working six days a week and getting only what they would obtain for three days on the Welfare rolls of the city, but still retaining their pride and independence, are the ones who have felt the axe. I say to you, Mr. President, that after thirty-five years the superintendent in charge of that smallpox unit is entitled to protection, and I say to you that the woman who for seventeen years has worked there for $17 a week, and who during the last ten years has submitted herself to contact with five patients with leprosy and fifteen patients sick with smallpox, is entitled to some reward. What incentive is there for any person in the city to go into that smallpox hospital and submit himself to contact with these maladies, if as a reward he is simply to be summarily discharged? And his Honor the Mayor, who not only is Mayor of this city but also an attorney, certainly should know something about the General Laws and about the ordinances that govern this city. It is the province of this City Council, if necessary, to take away from the Health Commissioner and transfer to the Hospital Department the authority over that smallpox hospital. When they do that, they are also discharging by that same vote these faithful servants, one of seventeen years and the other of thirty-five years service. His Honor the Mayor, however, is powerless to act in the matter without our concurrence. Apparently, however, the Municipal Research Bureau are provoked at the fact that there are twenty-two men sitting in this body who will not turn over their powers to that body. What difference does law make, what difference do regulations make, to them? They are in control in this city. They hold the Mayor in their power and they are annoyed by this Council. They wonder how twenty-two elected officials should dare to place themselves on the same level with them. What right have the representatives of the people to speak? I say, sir, that when they are going so far as to take powers from this Council, powers established under an ordinance enacted into law by the City Council in the past, under which the responsibility in this matter was definitely placed, the time has come to call a halt. We twenty-two members here sit with the combined votes of 112,000 people, and the Mayor sits downstairs with the combined votes of 70,000 people. We express the voice and sentiment of 42,000 more voters, collectively, than he does, and yet he apparently shows a willingness to turn over the powers given to us by a solemn mandate of the people to this Bureau of Municipal Research. I say that when they so far flaunt this Council, in direct violation of the ordinances and the laws on the statute books, in the matter of that smallpox and leprosy hospital, saying, "Abandon it and place those poor unfortunate people in that hospital in contact with the little fevered bodies of children with contagious diseases," it is going pretty far. Let us stand up in our shoes, Mr. President. Let us show a little courage. Let us go forward and make a fight for those people who cannot fight for themselves. I am not against economy, sir, I am not against reduction of taxes, but if a reduction in taxes comes, let it not be at the expense of the children and poor people of our city. It is too much of a price to pay. No economy is ever justified when it is at the expense of the public health. Let us lay the cards on the table and let us find out what has happened to the proposed reduction of the Mayor's own salary, what has happened to the proposed reduction of salaries of certain heads of departments, and why forty-one underpaid employees were let go in order to protect the heads of departments?

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. KERRIGAN, for the Committee on Soldiers' Relief, submitted report recommending passage of order for payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in the City of Boston for the month of April, 1934.

Report accepted; said order passed.

TELEPHONE METERS.

Coun. BRACKMAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Legislative Committee be authorized to petition for legislation making it necessary for telephone companies to install meters with all telephones registering the number of telephone calls made by the subscriber, without charge to the subscriber.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, a recent legal battle in New York City has disclosed what has been done by the telephone companies mulcting the public out of many hundreds of thousands of dollars through charging them for calls that were never made. I believe a similar situation exists in Boston. You have noticed on your personal telephone bills that you are simply charged with so many calls, with nothing itemized but the number of calls. It is impossible under the present system for a man to check up on the number of calls he makes or to know whether he is being charged for a considerable number more calls than he makes. The system now in vogue in Massachusetts, if you feel that you are being unjustly billed, is too cumbersome for the ordinary person to resort to, because it necessitates an appeal to the Public Utilities Commission and from there to the courts. I don't believe many men want to go to the courts to test out cases of this sort. In the New York case, the man proved that he had been charged in a small period of time for many more calls than he actually made. A recent editorial in one of the Boston papers called for meters. And why should there not be meters for measured service of one kind and another? The City of Boston has water meters to register the number of gallons of water used by customers, and there is no reason why the telephone company cannot install some sort of meter here by which we can check up on the number of telephone calls made. There are such meters, Mr. President, which I understand can be installed only at the cost of the subscriber. I am asking here that the Legislature pass a bill that will compel the telephone company to install meters without charge to the subscriber. I believe the subscribers are at least entitled to that service.

Coun. ROBERTS—Mr. President, I want to congratulate the member for bringing this matter up. For several years I have been interested in attempting to reduce the rates charged by public utilities in the Boston area, particularly the special charges made. I am glad that the gentlemen has introduced this order, and I think he will be glad to know that in several cases in the Boston municipal courts decisions have been made in cases against the utilities companies in favor of the subscriber. It is important in all these matters to arouse and centralize public opinion. The recent investigation in Washington has shown something about the make-up of the telephone company and how hard it is for each state to get back of the holding companies to the operating companies in establishing a proper rate. While, of course, this is no business of the Council, I do hope that the order will pass, so as to help focus public attention on this bad situation.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

MINOR OFFICERS PAID BY FEES.

President DOWD called up, under unfinished business, No. 2 on the calendar, viz.:

2. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor April 9, 1934, of minor officers paid by fees, as contained in City Document No. 47.

The question came on confirmation.

Coun. SELVITELLA—Mr. President, I see that there are close to four hundred of these jobs here, minor officers to be paid by fees. These names do not mean a thing to me. There are no addresses listed alongside of the names, and, for all I know, these men may be non-residents of Boston. I think the Council should have at least some statement from the Mayor's office as to whether or not the persons mentioned in this City Document 47 are residents of Boston.

President DOWD—The Chair will state that the men named in Document 47 are paid by coal dealers, hay dealers and others, and are not in any case paid by the city. Under the General Laws it is not necessary for them to be residents of Boston, because the amounts received by them are no burden upon the Boston taxpayers. The Chair, however, awaits any action that may be desired.

On motion of Coun. SELVITELLA, it was voted that action on the matter be postponed until after the meeting of the Executive Commitee.

HOSPITAL CONDITIONS.

Coun. SHATTUCK offered the following:

Ordered, That the Health Commissioner is hereby requested, through his Honor the Mayor to inform the City Council whether it is necessary in the interest of public health that a separate building or special ward be maintained for cases of leprosy and smallpox.

Ordered, That the Trustees of the City Hospital, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to inform the City Council as to whether the persons whose services have recently been dispensed with are necessary for the operation of the hospital.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, I have offered these orders in order that we may get the facts, that in debating the question of the smallpox and leprosy hospital and of letting people at the City Hospital go, we may know whether this separate unit for smallpox and leprosy cases is necessary for the public health, and whether or not those people who have gone are necessary or unnecessary to the operation of the hospital. My impression is, although I would like to have some medical or expert testimony on that point, that it is not necessary to the public health that we have a separate building or separate unit for smallpox and leprosy cases. Leprosy is a disease about which there is a good deal of misinformation. For example, I have been told by doctors, and I believe it to be a fact, that when recognized, it is not dangerous to other people. To become dangerous to others, personal contact with the individual who has leprosy is necessary; and if the fact that it is leprosy is known, such a case is just as easily handled in a general hospital as in a special building or hospital. I understand the same thing to be true of smallpox and other contagious diseases, such as scarlet fever, that they can be and are handled in contagious wards of large hospitals that also treat other diseases and ailments. On the matter of the employees, if it is a fact that the number of employees at the City Hospital is in excess of the number required to carry out the work of the hospital, we ought to know it. If such is the fact, are we prepared to say that the the City of Boston should continue to pay persons who are unnecessary in carrying out the services for which our city institutions are established? If we are prepared to say that the City of Boston is to employ persons who are unnecessary to carry out those services, we might as well say that the city is prepared to take on anyone who needs a job, and that the city is prepared to take and keep on the Welfare rolls anyone who would like to be on Welfare. In other words, we might as well be prepared to say now that we are prepared to spend the city's money freely, even if it means going into bankruptcy,

Coun. McGRATH—Mr. President, although this is not the same order that I introduced, I might say that I was informed by those in charge of the City Hospital that every man employed there was necessary. The nature of the work makes a constant change in personnel undesirable and unfortunate, and, while it is perhaps not necessary to employ new employees, it is necessary to employ others to take the place of the faithful employees going off the rolls. The training of employees in our hospital work takes time, and the training they get there in the course of time makes them valuable. This Council has provided the money for a surgical building that will be erected perhaps a year or more in the future. But it is a well-known fact that it takes a couple of years for such an employee to attain his full usefulness, and that we will need in the next two years faithful employees for that work, if the plans now contemplated are carried out. In the order I introduced in favor of retaining the Southampton street building, I referred also to the General Laws and to the ordinances, my point being this, that this Council has certain powers; that those powers are very well defined; that unfortunately they are very much limited; but in the matter of ordinances passed by this Council we are all-powerful. The City Council long ago passed an ordinance, sir, that placed under the direct supervision of the Commissioner of Public Health the full control of the smallpox hospital on Southampton street. There is no power that can change that except the vote of the majority of the members of this Council. Those people served in the dark days, at a time when there was leprosy and when there was smallpox, one serving for thirty-five and another for seventeen years. It is a pretty poor reward, when they have been successful in their fight in stamping out these dread diseases, to now recognize their services by discharging them. But an even more underlying question than that is the question I raised today when I referred to the former ordinance by which full control of the smallpox hospital was placed in the hands of the Health Commissioner from which control it cannot be transferred by Mr. Loeffler or by Mayor Mansfield, even under the guise of economy, to the Hospital Trustees, until a majority of this Council so vote. I am sorry to have to say on the floor of this Council that I believe the ordinances passed by the City Council should be respected even by the Municipal Research Bureau.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, even if it is a fact that any change with respect to this hospital must be made by a change in the ordinances, it will certainly do no harm to know whether the hospital is necessary. That might help us in the vote we may have to take on the question of change of ordinances. So far as the people whose services have been dispensed with are concerned, I believe we should not stand first on one foot and say, "We must not discharge them because they need the money or do not have another job," and then stand on the other foot and say, "We must not discharge them because they are necessary." Let us know what the facts are, and let us then decide whether we propose to keep them when they are not necessary, because they need the job, or whether we propose to keep them because the city needs them. I believe that the answers to these inquiries will give us some further facts upon which we can deal more intelligently with this question.

Coun. SELVITELLA—Mr. President, having in mind the wording of the order of my colleague from Ward 5 (Coun. Shattuck), asking the Mayor whether or not those discharges from the City Hospital are necessary, I can conceive of but one answer. There isn't any doubt in my mind that that answer is going to be in the affirmative, because if otherwise it would be inconsistent and would not answer the cries of the number of men and women who have been discharged from the City Hospital. I am interested not only in this week's City Record, but in the issue of every week, where we find the changes that have been made at the City Hospital. This week's issue of the City Record contains twenty names of new persons who have been given employment at the City Hospital, and in each week's issue of the City Record we find a similar number, if not more, of new employees at the City Hospital. That, to my mind, means only one thing,—that the Municipal Employment Office is used by the Mayor to send employees to the Boston City Hospital, and I have also in mind a number of people who have been given slips to go to work at the City Hospital from the Mayor's office. Now, it may be that there is no inconsistency in this, where the Mayor discharged forty-one City Hospital employees last week and appoints twenty-two new persons, according to this new issue of the City Record, and others in other issues, when week after week we find new employees appointed to take the places of those who have been discharged. We found in the Street Laying-Out Department during Holy Week a wholesale discharge of inspectors, but it seems that the Mayor found out that three of his workers had been discharged, and within the next few days after finding out his mistake, those men were back on their old jobs. Now, was that economy, or was it politics? This is a similar case of discharging certain employees and placing others in their place. So I am going to ask that the Council have in mind that this order will have but one effect—that of discharging one day and then hiring the next day.

Coun. SHATTUCK—Mr. President, I think the gentleman misunderstood the purport and language of my order. I asked the question not of but through his Honor the Mayor, as I believe is necessary under our procedure. I did not ask the question of the Mayor, but of the Trustees of the Boston City Hospital. They ought to know.

The orders were passed under suspension of the rule.

ARC LIGHT AT CENTRAL AND CENTRE STREETS.

Coun. FINLEY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install an arc light at the corner of Centre and Central streets, Ward 20, with a view to preventing further accidents to pedestrians crossing the street at this point.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

STREET PAVING.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to direct the Public Works Department and the Park Department to take such steps as may be necessary to insure fair and competitive bidding for street paving contracts; and also to direct said departments to prepare specifications for less expensive paving on minor streets, as has been recommended by the Boston Finance Commission.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

PAYMENT OF DELINQUENT TAXES.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to inform the City Council as to the progress of the committee, headed by William Minot, Esq., which he appointed in April to stimulate payment of delinquent taxes, said information to include the actual work of the committee to date, and the daily collection of taxes since the appointment of said committee.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I think the City Council before passing on the budget this year should have the benefit of the advice of this committee of experts in regard to back taxes.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

RECESS.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CONSTABLES.

Coun. GOLDMAN, for the Committee on Constables, submitted report recommending confirmation of the following constables:

Miller, Harold C. Mitchell, Bernard M. Mullen, Andrew W. Murphy, Patrick H. Murphy, Nathan Neitlich, Fred K. Nopolitaro, Elmer S. Nyman, Edward Ober, Michael W. Ober, Bert Oppenheim, Louis H. Oppenheim, Frederick Partridge, James G. Peters, David I. Rattet, Abraham Rosenberg, Maurice Rosenberg, William T. Rosengarten, Samuel Shain, Frank Shaw, Sidney J. Sheinfeld, Isaac Shulman, Joseph Simansky, Henry J. D. Small, John Sualich, Ulysses T. Sullivan, Jerome Suvalle, George J. Swidler, Benjamin J. Tackeff, David Tobey, Francis J. Tobin, Joseph Todisco, Joseph M. Torr, John J. Walsh, Harry A. Webber, John A. Wragg, Frederick J. Wright, Louis Yacker, Maurice Zeeman.

The question came on confirmation of the list submitted by the committee.

Coun. GOLDMAN—Mr. President, might I state that of the about one hundred thirty names, we have O. K.'d and recommended the confirmation of some one hundred and twelve, I believe, at this time. The O. K. is alongside the names of those so recommended.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, with reference to this constable situation, upon which we have had a more or less hectic session in executive meeting, it was my honor or otherwise to serve as chairman of the Committee on Constables three or four years back, in the happier days, and at that time it was the custom to take the list of constables, containing many who had served in previous years, for ten or fifteen years, and in some cases thirty or forty years—when the list was sent to the Council, and send out questionnaires to those up for reappointment. They appeared before the committee, and if there were complaints against a man he was allowed to tell his side of the story. That usually resulted in clearing up cases where there might have been some vindictiveness shown or blackmail attempted. It appears that this year there has been some variation in the procedure, and that some names have not appeared at all, while others have been held up. As the names are read, I recognize many familiar names on the old list of constables and, having in mind the way that the list has been held up and the way in which the matter is being handled today, it occurs to me that this whole constable situation in the City of Boston is being turned into something of the nature of a football game. I was never aware in previous years of the fact that hearings or so-called hearings were held in advance by the Mayor. Taking the situation as it appears, taking the list as we have it, and having in mind that some of the men on the list today are constituents of mine, competent and good men, presumably more or less of them Mansfield men in the last election, I am going to move that the list be laid on the table, although I would be glad to accede to a suggestion that we return it to Executive Committee. I think, on the whole, having in mind the way it has been handled, and reserving the right to go back into executive and consider at greater length some of the names, I will move that the entire list be laid on the table today.

Coun. Wilson's motion to lay on the table was declared lost by a rising vote, 10 to 11.

Coun. GREEN—Mr. President, I further doubt the vote and ask for the yeas and nays.

Coun. Wilson's motion to lay on the table was defeated by roll call, yeas 10, nays 11:

Yeas—Coun. Donovan, Englert, Fish, Gallagher, Green, McGrath, Murray, Norton, Selvitella, Wilson—10.

Nays—Coun. Agnew, Brackman, Doherty, Dowd, Finley, Fitzgerald, Goldman, Kerrigan, Roberts, Shattuck, Tobin—11.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, I now move reference of the list back to the Executive Committee, feeling that probably many of the negative votes cast against laying on the table were so cast due to a desire not to leave this matter tied up until beyond the first of May. I feel that there is no particular reason why we should not send it back to the Executive Committee. The Committee on Constables, I assume, has full information in regard to the various constables. Many of them, even before the last mayoralty campaign, had served the City of Boston for years as constables, and a limited number by wards perhaps could be reported back thereby not leaving the City of Boston without the doubtful value of the services of many of these constables for seven days. Feeling that the suggestion I am now making is a fair one, I move reference back to the Executive Committee.

Coun. BRACKMAN—Mr. President, I see no advantage of sending these names back to the Executive Committee. We have just spent three-quarters of an hour going over the situation, and I don't think the Council will benefit by sending the names back. We have no power except to confirm or not confirm the names before us. In regard to names not sent in, of course we have no power to do anything, whether we like that situation or not. There are still a great many vacancies to be filled. If certain men have been unjustly discriminated against, the matter can be brought before the Mayor and he can send other names in if he chooses to do so. Of course, it is within the province of the Mayor to act in that respect as he sees fit, and any action taken by this body will not change his mind on names that he refuses to send in. I think by delaying we will simply be holding up men appointed by the Mayor, who have no records or complaints against them, and who should be confirmed without further delay.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, I had an understanding when I was voting here that these were paid constables of the city.

President DOWD—Unpaid.

Coun. NORTON—I have no objection to passing them. The Mayor is acting in accordance with his prerogative in this matter, the same as other Mayors. I suppose some have been out four years, and now others will be out for four years more. We should not be selfish in this matter. He is entitled to his constables, the same as other Mayors.

Coun. WILSON'S motion to refer to the Executive Committee was lost, yeas 9, nays 12:

Yeas—Coun. Donovan, Englert, Fish, Gallagher, Green, McGrath, Murray, Selvitella, Wilson—9.

Nays—Coun. Agnew, Brackman, Doherty, Dowd, Finley, Fitzgerald, Goldman, Kerrigan, Norton, Roberts, Shattuck, Tobin—12.

The question then came on confirmation of the names reported by the committee. Committee, Coun. Finley and Fitzgerald.

Coun MURRAY—Mr. President, I move that the vote be taken on the names singly.

President DOWD—The motion is out of order.

Coun. MURRAY—On what ground?

President DOWD—The tally is now being made.

The appointments were confirmed, 13 to 7.

CONFIRMATION OF MINOR OFFICERS.

President DOWD called up, under unfinished business, No. 2 on the calendar, viz.:

2. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor April 9, 1934, of minor officers paid by fees, as contained in City Document No. 47.

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Selvitella and Norton. Whole number of ballots 20, yeas 20, and the appointments were confirmed.

DECENTRALIZATION OF WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Mayor of Boston be requested to consider the advisability of requesting the Board of Public Welfare to decentralize the work of the department.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

Adjourned at 4.35 p. m., on motion of Coun. KERRIGAN, to meet on Monday, April 30, 1934, at 2 p. m.

RECREATION, ADEQUATE AS TO KIND AND AVAILABILITY.

Although the ratio of park acreage to population has been used as the simplest measure of the extent to which cities provide areas for the recreation of their people, it is by no means an accurate basis for determining this. If most of the total acreage is in one large park, if the parks are poorly distributed, or if they do not provide various types of recreation facilities, the park system may be inefficient even though the acreage is large. The efficiently planned park and recreation system will involve balanced relationship and well-distributed location of several types of properties, namely, children's playgrounds, neighborhood playfield parks, neighborhood parks, reservations, boulevards, and parkways.
